Next morning, however, saner counsels prevailed. An exceedingly remunerative offer was made me by a prominent trust company, which at any other time I should have had no hesitation in immediately accepting. Fate, however, which is generally more responsible for these matters than most folk imagine, had still a card to play upon Messrs. Kitwater and Codd's behalf, and it was destined to overthrow all my scruples, and what was more to ultimately revolutionize the conduct of my whole life.

CHAPTER III.

Towards the middle of the morning I was sitting in my office, awaiting the coming of a prominent New York detective, with whom I had an appointment, when my clerk entered to inform me that a lady was in the outer office, and desired to see me if I could spare her a few minutes.

"Who is she?" I inquired. "Find out that, and also her business."

"Her name is Kitwater," the man replied, when he returned after a moment's absence, "but she declines to state her business to anyone but yourself, sir."

"Kitwater?" I said. "Then she is a relation, I suppose, of the blind man who was here yesterday. What on earth can she have to say to me? Well, Lawson won't be here for another ten minutes, so you may as well show her in." Then to myself I added: "This is a development of the case which I did not expect. I wonder who she is—wife, sister, daughter, or what, of the blind man?"

I was not to be left long in doubt, for presently the door opened and the young lady herself entered the room. I say "young lady," because her age could not at most have been more than one or two-and-twenty. She was tall and the possessor of a graceful figure, while one glance was sufficient to show me that her face was an exceedingly pretty one. (Afterwards I discovered that her eyes were dark brown.) I rose and offered her a chair.

"Good morning, Miss Kitwater," I said. "This is an unexpected visit. Won't you sit down?"

When she had done so I resumed my seat at the table.

"Mr. Fairfax," she began, "you are the great detective, I believe?"

I admitted the soft impeachment with as much modesty as I could assume at so short a notice. She certainly was a very pretty girl.

"I have come to talk to you about my uncle."

She stopped as if she did not quite know how to proceed.

"Then the gentleman who called upon me yesterday, and who has the misfortune to be blind, is your uncle?" I said.

"Yes! He was my father's younger and only brother," she answered. "I have often heard my father speak of him, but I had never seen him myself until he arrived in England a month ago with his companion, Mr. Codd. Mr. Fairfax, they have suffered terribly. I have never heard anything so awful as their experiences."

"I can quite believe that," I answered. "Your uncle told me something of their great trouble yesterday. It seems wonderful to me that they should have survived to tell the tale."

"Then he must have told you of Hayle, their supposed friend" (she spoke with superb scorn), "the man who betrayed them and robbed them of what was given them?"

"It was for that purpose that they called upon me," I answered. "They were anxious that I should undertake the search for this man."

She rested her clasped hands upon the table and looked pleadingly at me.

"And will you do so?"

"I am considering the matter," I said, with the first feeling of reluc-

"GOOD MORNING, MISS KITWATER," I SAID. "THIS IS AN UNEXPECTED VISIT; WON'T YOU SIT DOWN?"

tance I had experienced in the case. "I have promised to give them my decision this afternoon."

"So they informed me and that is why I am here," she replied. "Oh, Mr. Fairfax, you don't know how I pity them! Surely if they could find this man his heart would be touched, and he would refund them a portion, at least, of what he took from them, and what is legally theirs."

"I am afraid it is very doubtful whether he will," I said, "even in the event of his being found. Gentlemen of his description are not conspicuous for their pity, nor, as a rule, will they disgorge unless considerable pressure of an unpleasant description is brought to bear upon them."

"Then that pressure must be brought to bear," she said, "and if I may say so, you are the only one who can do it. That is why I have called upon you this morning. I have come to plead with you, to implore you, if necessary, to take the matter up. I am not very rich, but I would willingly give all I have in the world to help them."

"In that case you are one piece in a thousand, Miss Kitwater," I said, with a smile. "Your uncle is indeed fortunate in having such a champion."

She looked at me as if she were not quite certain whether I was joking or not.

"You will do this for them?"

TRUTHFUL PROCIOUS

Old Man Tells His Chums What a Busy Man Can Do.

Felt Justified as a Master Wood Cutter in Reproving the Crowd of Rank Amateurs Around the Country Store Stove.

"I calculate that I've done the biggest day's work to-day that was ever done in this neck of the woods," said Wilson, with a sigh, as he sat down on a soap box.

"I don't know," said Old Man Procious, taking a chew of fine cut, "what have you done?"

"What have I done? I've split and piled three and a half cords of stove wood since sun-up."

"Pshaw! That's nothing," said the storekeeper. "When I was a boy, many's the time I've done the same thing and half a cord better."

"Talk about chopping wood," said the drummer. "When I was a lad I lived on a farm down in Stone county. I was keeping company with a girl and intended to marry her if her old man ever consented. Well, one day when I was hanging around her house the old gent told me that if I would clear up the back lot in one day he would go to Smithville and get the license for us.

"The back lot had about two acres of the toughest kind of second growth of hickory you ever saw. It looked like a big job, but I wanted Nell pretty bad and I decided to try it. I started in next morning at sunrise, and what I did to that hickory was a plenty. I thought I'd surprise the old man and do a little more than he had required, and when the sun went down—Say, what do you suppose I'd done?"

"Can't guess," piped old Procious.

"Give it up," said Wilson.

"Well, sir; I had cut all that hickory, hauled it up to the house on a stone-boat, piled it in the woodshed, grubbed out all the stubbs, plowed and dragged the lot and sowed it to buckwheat."

"WHEN I WAS A BOY."

"M-m-m," muttered Procious in his whiskers.

Wilson spat at the stove and asked: "Why didn't you harvest the buckwheat while you were at it?"

The drummer lit a cigar, and, clasping his hands over one knee, leaned back and gazed at the ceiling.

"Talking about chopping wood," began old Procious, "you fellers don't know anything about it."

Wilson winked slyly at the storekeeper and looked pityingly at the drummer.

"When I was a boy," continued the old man, "we thought nothing of eight or ten cords a day. There was consid'ble betting in the neighborhood as to who was the best man with the ax. Sam Morris beat them all with a record of 11 cord from sun-up to sun-down. I 'lowed I could go him one better, and put up a new rifle to that effect. Now I knowed that a man can't do his best when he is in a hurry, so I took things easy—in fact, didn't take off my coat till noon—and 'long 'bout three o'clock I reckoned that I'd cut about all I could pile before dark. Well, it measured up a little over eight cord. I knew there ought to be more than that, so I went back to see if I hadn't skipped some wood when piling. Nary a stick could I find. At last, while standing by the stump of the first tree I'd cut down in the morning I noticed something bright sticking in it. It was the head of my ax, and, gents, I'd cut eight cord of ash stovewood with nothing but the helve."

The silence that followed, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, was broken at last by the drummer asking the storekeeper if the village went dry last election.

Faithful Even Unto Death.

A remarkable story, which is really true, is told of an affectionate son in Buda-Pesth. His age was 88, and in a fit of despondency he leaped from a bridge and committed suicide because of his inability to longer support his father and mother, aged, respectively, 115 and 110 years.

Latest Thing in Meters.

A telephone meter has been invented by Thomas Baret, of Sydney, N. S. W. It begins to record time the moment the telephone is used, and ceases when the receiver is hung up. The object is to make each patron pay for the exact time he has used it, and not for the number of messages.

OPPONENTS DID NOT APPEAR

SO THE PRINCIPAL BASKET BALL CONTEST WAS NOT PLAYED.

Y. M. C. A. Second Team Was Defeated by Leal's School Boys.

Only one of the two basket ball games, scheduled to take place at the Y. M. C. A. last evening, was played. What was intended to be the chief contest, that between the first team of the local association and the Warren A. C., of Jersey City, was called off owing to the non-arrival of the latter. The game was accordingly given to Plainfield by default and the Jersey City team will be called upon for an explanation.

The game played was that between the Leal school team and the Y. M. C. A. second team. The latter was defeated by a score of 33 to 4, a great surprise to the constituents of both. It was nevertheless an exciting contest and well played. The first half was noticeable for its rough work but in the second both sides had toned down, somewhat, and the playing was conducted on different lines.

The line-up and summary was as follows:

Leals,		Y. M. C. A.
R. Schoonmaker	RF	Smith
Abbott	LF	McNaughton
Hall	C	Zimmer
W. Schoonmaker	RG	Brokaw
Rogers	LG	George

Score—Leal's School, 33; Y. M. C. A. 2d, 4. Goals from the field—R. Schoonmaker, (4); Hall, (3); McNaughton. Goals on fouls—McNaughton. Fouls—Leals, 5; Y. M. C. A. 2d, 5. Referee—C. E. A. Heywood. Timer—C. B. Egan. Scorer—John H. Doane.

The first team played a practice half with the High School team, winning by 18 to 3. It was merely for exhibition and was not completed. The game was witnessed by a good-sized audience. The proceeds will be donated to the International Y. M. C. A. training school at Springfield, Mass.

Saved From Jail.

Oscar Jenkins, the young colored man who engaged in a little target practice on Somerset street Saturday evening, escaped jail after all. He was about to be placed on a train bound for Elizabeth to serve twenty days when his brother, Sherman Jenkins, whom he shot at, appeared on the platform and paid the $10 fine.

An Operation Was Necessary—Prominent Man in the South—Interested in Railroads.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Whitehouse, Jan. 14—John F. Pidcock, thirty-eight years old, president of the Georgia Northern Railroad, died here Sunday night, after an illness of more than two months.

He came here from his southern home to be married, and was obliged to undergo an operation. An hour before he submitted to it he married Miss Jeanette Davis, daughter of Justice and Mrs. John P. Mr. Pidcock went south and with his brothers built the Georgia Northern Railway, which runs from Moultrie, Ga., to Pidcock, a thriving town which is named after the family. Mr. Pidcock was president of the Quitman Lumber Company, which has headquarters at Moultrie. He leaves three brothers, James Nelson Pidcock, Jr., of this place, Frank and Charles Pidcock, of Moultrie, Ga., and one sister, Miss Nellie Pidcock, who also lives in the south.

Mr. Pidcock was always known for his liberality and was very popular both at the homestead here and in his southern home.

DON'T BE AN OLD FOGY!

Keep pace with your day and generation.

The man who does not avail himself of modern methods is right at the outset giving himself a handicap that scarcely the wit of a Mark Twain or a genius of an Edison can overcome,

He who writes his correspondence with a pen instead of using a New Century Typewriter is "behind the times." He is making himself a plodder when he might be a leader. If you are using another typewriter—one of the slow, nerve racking kind, get rid of it quick.

The New Century economizes time and does PERFECT WORK.

It does more work and BETTER WORK than any other typewriter. It wears longer and is a better investment. It is the twentieth century method of handling correspondence.

Easiest to operate—safest to buy.

SENATOR REED FOR TREASURER

Somerset County's Senator Has Announced His Candidacy for the Treasurer.

HAS STRONG SUPPORT.

Announcement Was Made at Trenton Yesterday—Has Support Pledged in Both Senate and House—Considered a Strong Candidate.

"Yes," said State Senator Charles A. Reed, to a Daily Press reporter this morning, "I am a candidate for State Treasurer." His candidacy was first announced at Trenton, yesterday, after a conference with some of the prominent Republicans of the State. Already most of the Republican members of the Senate are pledged to support him and many of the Republican Assemblymen have declared in his favor.

SENATOR CHARLES A. REED.

Former Mayor Frank O. Briggs, of Trenton, was appointed by Governor Voorhees to fill the place until the Legislature shall elect a new one for the full term of three years. While Mr. Briggs has support in the city of Trenton, the Mercer county organization has not favored his candidacy and will not support him for the full term as State Treasurer.

It is understood that the Mercer county delegation will be strongly in favor of Senator Reed's candidacy. Other friends in both north and south Jersey have signified their intention of backing Mr. Reed so that he is today the strongest candidate in the field despite the fact that his boom was only publicly launched yesterday.

Senator Reed's name has, in the past, been mentioned for a number of prominent places but at no time by his sanction. He was regarded as a gubernatorial or perhaps a Congressional possibility and has been considered as available timber for a vice chancellorship. This will be his seventh year in the State Legislature. He was elected to the Assembly by Somerset county for one year and then went into the State Senate where he is now closing his second term. During the six years he has been in the Legislature, he has been president and Republican leader in the Senate and has held positions of importance on both Assembly and Senate committees.

Society Wedding.

Considerable interest is manifested in the approaching marriage of Miss Sue Milne, daughter of Mrs. Isabel Milne, of Willow avenue, to Edward T. Wilson, of Crescent avenue. Both Miss Milne and Mr. Wilson are well-known society people in the city and borough. The event will be celebrated in the First Baptist church Tuesday, February 4.

Results of Revival.

Since the commencement of the evangelistic services at Mt. Olive Baptist church last week forty-one persons have come forward. These services are held every evening and are well attended by the colored citizens. It is the intention of those in charge to continue the services during the remainder of the month.

INSTALLATION HELD AT WINFIELD SCOTT POST

Joint Ceremonies Held Publicly With the Woman's Relief Corps Last Night.

VERY PLEASANT AFFAIR

LIST OF OFFICERS INSTALLED BY BOTH OF THESE ORGANIZATIONS.

Good Attendance of Members at the Meeting Last Evening—Meeting Was Followed by an Entertaining Programme.

The installation of the officers-elect of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief Corps, No. 10, took place last evening. While the affair was public there were not many outsiders present, the room being well filled with the members of the two organizations. As usual, the installation was attended with many pleasant features.

The officers of the Post were installed first by Past Senior Vice Department Commander Oscar F. Gifford, of Lincoln Post, No. 11, of Newark. The officers are as follows: Commander, Dr. J. F. Berg; senior vice commander, Charles B. Stephens; junior vice commander, William Hand; officer of the day, Isaac L. McVoy; chaplain, John Goodman; surgeon, Israel Compton; quartermaster, John Naylor; officer of the guard, Albert G. Perry; adjutant, Andrew Cox; sergeant major, William H. Day; quartermaster sergeant, Edward Townley; council of administration, William C. Smith, M. C. Dobbins and William Hand.

The officers of the corps were installed by Past Commander James Atwood, of Trenton, as follow: President, Mrs. V. W. Nash; senior vice-president, Mrs. William R. Mattox; junior vice-president, Mrs. Andrew Cox; treasurer, Mrs. Caspar Bolsterli; chaplain, Mrs. Anesta Corwin; conductor, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins; assistant conductor, Mrs. Jennie Brokaw; guard, Mrs. Charles B. Stephens; assistant guard, Miss May E. Howlett; secretary, Mrs. William C. Smith. The installing officer was ably assisted by Mrs. Sadie Baglin, who acted as conductor.

After the installation there were short speeches by the installing officers and other members of the organizations. A feature was a delightful programme of music rendered by Martin A. Korff's orchestra of seven pieces. A number of popular selections were given interspersing the remarks by the veterans.

RELIC HUNTERS HERE.

Preparations Being Made to Dispose of Col. Scott's Collection.

During the past few days a number of prominent relic hunters from various parts of the country have been inspecting the collection owned by the late Col. Scott. As yet no arrangements have been effected for a sale of the articles. Several things have been sold, but it is the purpose of H. P. Scott to sell the Indian collection without breaking it in any way. Some persons want to make selections, but Mr. Scott will not sell that way if it can be helped.

—Edward Uhrahan, of Somerset street, has resigned his position with H. A. Voehl, of the borough.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA IS GIVEN OVER AGAIN

Successful Production of the Cantata "All Hail" at First Presbyterian Church.

GIVEN LAST EVENING.

PRETTY SINGING OF CATCHY SONGS BY YOUNG PEOPLE IN COSTUME.

A Complete List of Those Who Participated in the Affair—Committees in Charge of the Different Parts.

In the repetition of the Christmas cantata "All Hail" which was given at the First Presbyterian church, last evening, nothing was lost, in fact the cantata was enjoyed more, if that is possible, than when first given. The church was completely filled with an appreciative audience, every seat being occupied and many being obliged to stand.

The catchy music, the bright costumes, the happy faces of the participants and the fine singing, both solo and chorus, all combined to give an evening of exceptional pleasure. Every one of the parts were well taken and the full orchestra under the direction of Martin A. Korff, added much to the production.

The cast of characters and those assisting in the chorus were as follows: "Josie," Miss Helen George; "Lou," Miss Bertha Englehart; "Tom," Harold Luckey; "Joe," Howard George; "Dora," Miss Mildred Ulrich; "Agnes," Miss Ethel Boice; "Mattie," Miss Freda Grey; "Emily," Miss Leah Hammond; "Mrs. S. Claus," Miss Ada Dunham; "Snow Flower," Miss Grace Doty; "Snow Ball," Clifford Braider; "Liberty," Miss Jessie McKillop; "Jack Frost," E. Douglas Murphy; "Santa Claus," Charles Hummer.

Other parts were "Filipinos," William McKillop, N. Hill, Fred Lounsbury, Lester Radford, E. George and H. and M. Messersmith; "Japanese," Miss Beatrice Miner, Miss VanFleet, Miss Fannie Mills, Miss Bertha Englehart; "Cubans," the Misses Helen Monroe, Belle Williams, Ella Lounsbury and Emma Line; "Five Boys," Willie Bailey, Chauncey Murphy, David Wagner, Willie Giese and Walter Grey; "Jolly Craftsmen," Charlie Line, Earl Vanderbilt, Fred Grey, Richard Day, Alvah Dunham; chorus, the Misses Leontine Huntsman, Bertha Hill, Jessie Hill, Mary Cain, Mabel Townley, Grace Knight, Grace Cranston, Ida Englehart, Mrs. Charlotte Ross and Miss Kate Lounsbury.

The committees in charge were as follows: Stage decorating, Clarence Bond, chairman, Fred Cranston, Edward Knight, Fred Bettman, Frank Hazeltine, A. V. Searing, Jr., E. O. Hinman, Mrs. Harry Williams, Miss Flora Petrie.

During an interimssion in the programme, Edgar Williams made a few remarks of a humorous nature, and in a most amusing way asked those present to contribute liberally toward meeting the expenses of giving the cantata. A collection was taken after the remarks by Mr. Williams.

FOUND GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Salvatore and Lenonardo Verlardo Were Tried at Somerville Yesterday.

CHARGE OF ASSAULT.

Complainant Was Gietano Dantz, Who is Now on Trial for the Same Offense—Trouble Happened on Watchung Avenue, North Plainfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 15—The indictment against Salvatore and Leonardo Verlardo for atrocious assault and battery on Gietano Dantz, who is a brother-in-law of the Valardos, occupied the attention of Judge Schenck all of yesterday in the criminal courts here. Late in the afternoon the lawyers made their pleas. This morning, after court had convened, the Judge charged the jury, which went out at 11 o'clock.

All the parties are from North Plainfield and the case and the one to follow are both the result of a bitter quarrel.

Salvatore Valardo was employed by Charles M. Meeker, a contractor in North Plainfield, and was the foreman of a gang of Italian workmen. Leonardo Velardo was also employed by Meeker. A number of the men of the gang boarded at the home of Dantz. December 6 Salvatore and Leonardo met Dantz in a saloon in Plainfield. While there Dantz claimed that Salvatore had discharged a lot of men that boarded at this house. Dantz also contended that Salvatore owed him some money and demanded it.

When they left the saloon to go to their respective homes the brothers went down the east side of Watchung avenue and Dantz went on the west side with a friend. All were practically intoxicated. As they were walking down the street they talked back and forward to each other in Italian. When on the Somerset county side of the bridge Dantz crossed the street to where the Velardos were. They claimed he had an open knife in his hand.

After reaching the point where the Velardos were a fight ensued. Dantz claimed they had invited him over to pay the money which he said they owed him. He said they attacked him, stabbing him in the side and beating him on the head with a stone.

It was admitted on the part of the defense that he was hit on the head with a stone, but the stabbing was denied.

The Velardos claim he attacked one of them with a stilleto, cutting through three coats, and what they did was only in self defense. They denied inviting him across the street.

Walter L. Hetfield, of Plainfield, was counsel for the defense and Prosecutor Griggs appeared for the State.

After the jury had gone out this morning the case of Gietano Dantz, charged with atrocious assault and battery on Salvatore Velardo was taken up. It is the result of the same scrap. John A. Frech, of this place, is defending Dantz.

After being out for an hour the jury in the case of the Verlardos came in with a verdict that both were guilty of simple assault.

An order has been posted in fire headquarters to the effect that truck No. 1 will hereafter respond to all first alarm from box 89, which is at the corner of West Front street and Rock avenue.

HOPE CHAPEL WILL GIVE MINSTREL SHOW

The Young Men's Association Made Plans for It at Last Evening's Meeting.

TO RAISE NEEDED FUNDS

ARTHUR DENTON TEMPORARILY ENGAGED AS PHYSICAL DIRECTOR.

Other Business of Importance Was Discussed at the Meeting—Several Committees Were Also Appointed.

Preliminary arrangements were made at a business meeting of the Young Men's Association, of Hope chapel, last evening, for an entertainment to be given under its auspices Tuesday evening, March 11. The idea of the affair is to raise $150, pledged as an annual contribution by the association to the trustees of the Crescent Avenue church. This amount will be due in several months and these steps are taken as a means of discharging the obligation.

The first part of the entertainment will consist of a minstrel show and the other part of a one act play. The talent will be taken from the organization solely. City Judge William N. Runyon, the president of the organization, will act as instructor. James Murray, John H. Cose and Gus Fiering, Jr., were appointed as a committee to perfect details. Practices will be held weekly, commencing Saturday night.

The report of the secretary showed that there are seventy-seven members in the association at present. A number of bills outstanding were ordered paid and when this is done there will be a balance in the treasury. Charles Smith, John H. Cose and George McComb were named as a committee to stir up delinquent members with a view of increasing the funds of the organization. Several matters in the nature of routine business were transacted before adjournment.

Preceding the meeting Arthur Denton, who has been engaged, temporarily at least, as a physical instructor for the association, put the newly-formed class through a gymnastic exercise. There are fourteen young men in the class and this number will be increased it is believed at the next meeting of the class Friday evening. Mr. Denton will meet the boys regularly in the gymnasium twice a week for a period of one month.

NEARLY A CENTURY.

Mrs. Emily C. Connett Died at Her Home Yesterday in Her Ninety-Fifth Year.

In the death of Mrs. Emily C. Connett, widow of the late Benjamin Connett, which occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lambert, of Manning avenue, the borough has lost one of its oldest residents.

Mrs. Connett was in her ninety-fifth year, but despite her advanced age she was possessed of all her faculties and enjoyed excellent health to within a few days before her demise. It was then a simple complaint but the weight of years told.

She was the daughter of Samuel and Mary Doblier, who formerly lived near Scotch Plains, where she was born in 1807. She became a member of the Scotch Plains Baptist church and sang in the choir when she was fifteen years old. On her marriage she moved to Alton where she always lived until a few years ago when she came to this city.

She was the mother of ten children but three of whom are living. They are Mrs. DeCamp, Mrs. Mary Stevens, of this city, and Frazee Connett, of Alton.

The funeral services will be held from her late residence, 34 Manning avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillside.

Mr. Stephens' Organ Recital.

Ward Stephens, organist at the Crescent Avenue church, has been obliged to postpone his free recital until Saturday evening, January 25. As this may be the last opportunity afforded Plainfielders for some time of hearing Mr. Stephens render his choice selections, it is hoped the attendance will be large.

Car Collided With Wagon.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Monday evening a trolley car on the West Fourth street line collided with Howard D. Allen's delivery wagon, at the corner of West Fourth and New streets. The fender of the car was badly smashed.

SOUTH AFRICAN WAR FROM BOERS' POINT

Former Field Cornet Hercules D. Viljoen Addressed Audience at Washington Hall.

WAS MUCH ENTHUSIASM

DECLARED THAT ENGLAND WILL NEVER WIN IN THE FIGHT.

Pointed Out Gold as the Original Cause of the Whole Trouble—Stereopticon Views of the Land of the Boers.

Hercules D. Viljoen, formerly field cornet of the Free State army, lectured last evening in behalf of the Boer cause before an audienc which completely filled Washington Hall. From the frequent applause accorded the speaker it was evident a Boer spirit was prevalent.

Mr. Viljoen was introduced by Cornelius vanHerwerden, who with James E. Martine, Frank M. Bacon, Robert Jahn and S. B. Wheeler, occupied seats on the platform. He at once entered upon his subject with much force and earnestness. The difficulties and disputes which the Transvaal has had with England every time gold or diamonds were discovered in the Free State borders since

HERCULES D. VILJOEN.

1854, up to the present contention, were thoroughly reviewed. Mr. Viljoen said that, leaving all else aside, the avarice of the English for the gold found in south Africa was the direct cause of the struggle now going on.

He pictured the Jameson raid as the outcome of jealousy on the part of Cecil Rhodes and his anxiety to annex the Transvaal to Rhodesia. Rhodes, he said, had declared the two spots on the African map, the Transvaal and the Orange Free State would be conquered or be painted red. "They have been painted red," said Mr. Viljoen, "but they are black spots on England's flag."

England, he said, commenced the war with the intention of conquering the Boers inside of six months at least. It has now lasted two years and four months and instead of approaching the close is going on with renewed fervor on the part of the south Africans. England now only controls the coast lines and the railroads and it is daily becoming a harder problem to hold these. The army is steadily becoming depleted while there are no recruits to fill up the ranks.

On the other hand, Mr. Viljoen said, the Boer army is steadily increasing, being daily added to by new men from Cape Colony. It now numbers 23,000 men whom the British are feeding, supplying with ammunition and furnishing money. This is done through the capture of British trains, carrying munitions for the invading army.

In summing up the reasons why England could not conquer the republics, Mr. Viljoen said her coffers have already been drained, she has made heavy loans in order to carry the struggle on and yet the Boers are firmly intrenched as ever and willing to fight three years more if necessary.

The saddest part of the whole war, the speaker declared, was the maltreatment the Boer women and children suffered at the hands of the British soldiers. Their homes have been burned over them and driven to the open veldt without protection, they have suffered starvation and exposure. The only course left to them is the British camps and these they shun owing to the unspeakable indignities offered them. The martial law of the few coast cities the English control, he said, was almost as cruel and his own wife is penned up in one of them and being subjected to all manner of ill treatment.

LEGISLATURE IN SESSION

Both Houses Were Convened at Trenton Yesterday Afternoon at 3 o'Clock.

OFFICERS WERE CHOSEN

After the Receipt of the Governor's Message and the Appointment of Committees—Talk Regarding the Senatorial Election.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 15—The one hundred and twenty-sixth session of the New Jersey Legislature was opened yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Bradley was nominated for speaker of the Assembly by Horner, of Burlington, the majority leader, and Tennant, the minority leader, nominated Dennin, of Hudson.

The officers of the House, selected in accordance with the Republican caucus, are:

Speaker, William J. Bradley, Camden; clerk, James Parker, of Passaic; supervisor of bills, George A. Grover, of Essex; sergeant-at-arms, Frank Tantum, of Monmouth; bill clerk, George P. Powell, of Essex.

The speaker announced that he had named Upton Jeffries, as his private secretary, and Charles R. Bacon, as assistant private secretary. Both are Camden newspaper men.

In the Senate the work of organization began at the same time. McCarter, of Essex, the majority leader, was sworn in by Secretary Edge and, in turn, swore in the other senators. The caucus list of officers, which are as follows, was adopted:

President, C. Asa Francis, of Monmouth; secretary, Walter E. Edge, of Atlantic; supervisor of bills, Jesse R. Salmon, of Essex; sergeant-at-arms, John A. Garwood, of Cumberland.

Concurrent resolutions were adopted by both houses calling for the selection of a joint committee to make arrangements for the inauguration of Governor-elect Murphy on Tuesday.

In the appointment of committees the Union and Somerset county representatives fared fairly well. Senator Cross, of Union, is chairman of the committee on elections, municipal corporations, and public buildings and grounds. He is also a member of the committees on appropriations, public health and sinking fund.

Senator Reed, of Somerset county, is chairman of the committees on boroughs and townships and on corporations, and he is a member of the committees on judiciary, revision of the laws, and State library.

Assemblyman Miller, of Union, is a member of the committees on appropriations, elections, game and fisheries, and riparian rights, and he is also a member of the house joint committees on Reform School for Boys, School for Deaf Mutes and Soldiers' Home.

Assemblyman Hall, of Union, is a member of the committees on bill revision, labor and industries, and public health. He is also a member of the house joint committee on public buildings and grounds. Assemblyman Newcorn is a member of the committees on boroughs and borough commissions and revision of laws. He is also a member of the house joint committee on Industrial School for Girls.

Assemblyman Hoagland, of Somerset, is chairman of the committee on public health and is a members of the committees on agriculture, and unfinished business. He is also a member of the house joint committee on sinking fund.

The fight for the vacant seat in the United States Senate is being waged fiercely. Dryden's supporters are making big claims, but Republicans of prominence claim that the man stilled to be feared in the contest is Former Senator Edward C. Stokes, of Cumberland. It is said that north Jersey in the event of not landing Griggs or Dryden would throw its strength to Stokes, in preference to Baird.

Addressed True Reformers.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, delivered an address at the annual meeting of the True Reformers, a beneficial organization, in New York. The meeting was held in the Wendell Phillips hall in that city.

Demand for Vaccine Points.

There has been a great demand at the local pharmacies for vaccine points. The physicians have been urging vaccination and as a result there has been a demand for pure and fresh vaccine points. Many persons object to being vaccinated at the Board of Health office and they either call on their physician or have him call at their homes.

Child Worth Millions.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird, of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. L. W. Randolph.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Senator Kean has become a leader in the social life of Washington. With large business and official responsibilities, the Senator manages to have all the time for social functions demanded of him. Washington likes that kind of a Senator, and, consequently, Senator Kean has become popular among all classes at the national capital. Senator Sewell was less social in his ways than his colleague.—Newark Advertiser.

The New Brunswick editors should be cautious in commenting upon the organization of young women in that city, the object of which is to restrain the members from marrying for a period of ten years. They should profit by the experience of Editor Haskins, of the Manasquan Coast Star Democrat, who tried to give a little friendly advice to the Young Girl Bachelors' Club formed there. In return, the girl bachelors snowballed the editor, and later forced him to print a poem telling the public how nice they were.—Newark News.

Certain trolley magnates in New Jersey would be more popular if they paid as much attention to the demands of the public as did General Manager Edward H. Radel to the appeals of three pretty Bound Brook girls, who had become stranded at midnight in New Brunswick. The millionaire acted as motorman and conveyed the girls to their homes in more than schedule time, and no doubt felt amply repaid for his midnight trip by the smiles of his handsome passengers. A few pretty girls on protesting committees might work more wonders than an army of strapholders in securing better trolley service.—Newark News.

The senatorial situation, as it appears today, is even more mixed than ever, though conferences at Trenton tonight may tend to simplify it. The report that Passaic county is divided on Griggs is strenuously denied by the Paterson Press. But the report that Bergen county was a unit for Griggs is now flatly denied by one assemblyman, who says he will never vote for the Passaic candidate. The most important of all the rumors now flying fast and furious is to the effect that Griggs is practically out of the race and that nearly the whole South Jersey contingent will support Dryden, of Essex. This is said to be the meaning of the Stokes-Baird-Loudenslager-Gardner combine in South Jersey. Stokes will take the senatorship if he happens to get enough votes, which is a possibility, but not a probability. If he finds he cannot quite make it—and he'd a little rather not—then his strength will go to Dryden. The quid pro quo is to be delivered three years hence, when the Essex delegation will strongly favor Stokes for governor. This is the substance of the report from Trenton this morning. By tomorrow it may he confirmed or it may be dissolved into thin air. It leaves Gummere out of the situation, and for this reason it may be received with a grain of salt. Yet stranger things have happened.—Elizabeth Journal.

MORTGAGE TAX.

Senator Stranahan's Bill Discussed at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 15.—The Stranahan mortgage tax bill will probably be amended in many important respects as a result of the joint hearing given by the senate and assembly committees on taxation. The members of the committee were impressed by the arguments made by the representatives of co-operative building and loan associations and charitable and religious organizations and may decide to exempt mortgages made by them. An effort will also be made to have insurance companies likewise exempted from the provisions of the law, and in his speech before the committee Senator Grady paid a high tribute to life insurance companies and the benefits derived from their operation by the people.

Almost every speaker had a different amendment to propose, and all these amendments were handed to Senator Krum, who said that the committee would give due deliberation to each. From the tenor of the chairman's remarks there seems to be no doubt but that the mortgage tax bill of Senator Stranahan will go through, with but few changes in relation to exemptions. "The consensus of opinion," said Senator Krum, "is that the bill is a good one and ought to pass."

Senator Stranahan expressed himself as pleased with the results of the afternoon's work and said there seemed to be no reason to believe that the bill would fail to pass unchanged in any essential point. When asked regarding the assembly measure, which provides for a tax of 1 per cent on mortgages and provides that one-third shall go to the state, one-third to the county and one-third to the city, town or village in which the mortgage is held, Senator Stranahan said that he had no interest in any bill but the one which he introduced himself and which contains the suggestions of Governor Odell.

At the conclusion Senator Hill asked that the hearing be adjourned, but Senator Krum said that sufficient notice had been given of the present hearing. After the bill is reprinted, if applications are made, another hearing may be given.

NEW TRIAL DENIED.

Syndicate Miller Must Serve Out Ten Year Sentence.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The court of appeals has reversed the order of the appellate division of the supreme court, second department, granting a new trial to Miller of Franklin syndicate fame.

The court has affirmed the judgment of the trial court, convicting him of larceny.

The opinion was written by Judge O'Brien, and all concur. The defendant's first appearance before the public was as a member of a prominent church in Brooklyn, in the work of which he seems to have taken an active part.

William F. Miller was convicted of grand larceny by a jury in the borough of Brooklyn. He was charged with defrauding depositors who placed their money in the Franklin syndicate, of which he was the head, to whom he agreed to pay 520 per cent per year on all deposits.

He was sentenced to prison for ten years. The appellate division granted a new trial, but the court of appeals holds that his first trial was a fair one.

HOAR WANTS FACTS

Senator From Massachusetts on the Philippines.

HE FAVORS A FULL INVESTIGATION.

Senator Lodge Says His Committee Is Perfectly Able to Handle the Subject—The House Discusses Pensions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—For the first time this session the Philippine question was touched on in the senate The interest taken indicates that it will occupy the attention of the upper branch of congress for some time when the tariff bill is reported. The Philippines were the subject of an address by Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts, who spoke on his resolution introduced Monday providing for the appointment of a senate committee to investigate the administration of those islands. Mr. Hoar spoke at some length regarding the unreliability of statements which have been made from time to time regarding the situation in the Philippines and the causes which led to the outbreak.

He urged that there should be a place where any senator in his official capacity could go and ask for two witnesses to prove the correctness or incorrectness of any question upon which light is desired.

Among other things Senator Hoar said:

"I do not know of any one able to give a statement of the truth as to the differences between Governor Taft and General Chaffee. I get some dreadful stories from brave soldiers and officers of high rank about the manner in which the war is conducted. I have heard of an investigation now going on in regard to one transaction which, if true, has covered with a foul blot the flag which we all love and honor. I think there should be a place where any senator who makes such a suggestion in his official responsibility can go and say, 'I want two witnesses on that subject brought here,' and then we shall know."

He said he had been taunted by newspapers for three or four years with a statement attributed to General Lawton to the effect that if certain people at home would hold their tongues there would not be any difficulty with the islands. But what the general is understood to have said was that we should "stop this accursed war. It is time for diplomacy, time for mutual understanding."

There is no one, Mr. Hoar declared, who can tell whether General Lawton said that or whether it is a forgery or whether he said the other or it is a forgery.

General Otis had shocked the country by saying we should keep 40,000 troops in the Philippines for a considerable time, but instead of that number we have 70,000, and Mr. Hoar asked how long were we going to keep them there. "If General Chaffee is right," he said, "there is not a man in these islands who is not conspiring against the government and eager for his liberty. Now, give us a little light. Take the most zealous men in this body and give us a committee that will hear the evidence, put questions, hear both sides and let us know what is the truth. We are engaged in the unholy office of crushing out a republic, the first great republic ever established in the eastern hemisphere. If we had dealt with this people as we dealt with Cuba, we should have had today a civilized, happy, peaceful republic sending their youths to our schools, studying our laws, imitating our examples, animated by a love and affection and a gratitude such as no one people on earth ever yet felt for another."

One of the great events of history, he said, was the civilization of Japan. Another was the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. Japan has just celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of taking her place among free nations, at which the declaration had been made that everything that Japan was she owed to the United States, and yet in half a century she had encountered China as a superior and Russia as an equal.

That came, Mr. Hoar said, from the application of a world power that he should like to have his country exercise; that came from the application to the affairs of modern life of the great doctrine of the immortal declaration.

Mr. Lodge, Mr. Hoar's colleague, said he regarded the resolution as a reflection on the Philippine committee, of which he was chairman, and the necessity for the latter would cease were this resolution to be adopted. His committee, he said, was perfectly able to handle any investigation which might be conducted. Mr. Carmack (Dem.) agreed with him. The discussion was leading rapidly to an opening up of the whole Philippine question, when it was agreed that the resolution should go over until today. Mr. Mason of Illinois made a speech in favor of reciprocity with Cuba.

The house continued the debate on the pension appropriation bill and devoted much time to the proposition advanced by Mr. Rixey of Virginia to open the doors of the soldiers' homes to ex-Confederate veterans. Two notable speeches were made in support of the proposition, one by Mr. Gardner, a Michigan Republican, and the other by Mr. Dearmond, a Missouri Democrat.

Mr. Dearmond's eloquence aroused both sides of the house. The Republicans, with the exception of Mr. Gardner, took no part in the discussion of the Rixey suggestion, which met with much opposition on the Democratic side on the ground that it was utterly impracticable. Mr. Lamb of Virginia read a number of telegrams from prominent ex-Confederates of Richmond protesting against it.

THE HAVANA TRIALS

Sensational Episode Between Rathbone and Reeves.

LATTER SAYS HIS CHIEF IS A LIAR.

Cuban Papers Speak Disparagingly of Reeves' Conduct During the Trial—He Is an Enthusiastic Government Witness.

HAVANA, Jan. 15.—The examination of Estes G. Rathbone, formerly director general of posts of Cuba, was continued yesterday, when the trial of the charges growing out of the Cuban postoffice frauds was resumed. Private correspondence between Rathbone and former Postmaster General Smith was introduced. Rathbone said he did not take part in any campaign having for its purpose his appointment as civil governor of Cuba. Some overzealous friends began one, but he did not indorse it and wrote to the president and postmaster general saying he did not want the position.

The government introduced Charles F. W. Neely's letter, with a petition to the president asking for the appointment of Rathbone. Rathbone said he did not know of its existence until six weeks ago.

A dramatic incident of the trial in the afternoon was the confronting of Rathbone with Reeves with regard to the statement Reeves alleges Rathbone made after Rathbone's return to the United States in November, 1899, and two months after the stamps were burned.

When Reeves took the stand, Rathbone was sitting opposite him. Reeves said that Rathbone told him that Neely had arranged the matter with regard to the burning of the surcharged stamps, so that fraud would not be discovered. Rathbone here asked Reeves if he was willing to swear to this statement. Reeves replied, "Yes," to which Rathbone said, "God help you!"

Reeves occupies himself during the trial with making copious notes. He is a most enthusiastic witness for the government. La Lucha refers to him as unprepossessing, evasive and guarded, apparently willfully stupid, and says he has inspired his listeners with the idea that he is trying to save himself, that he is unsatisfactory to the purpose of the investigation and contradictory.

Rathbone admitted having received the letter from Neely after his arrest. He said it was in answer to a cablegram he sent him to return when Inspector General Charles Burton reported a shortage in the postal accounts. On the bottom of this letter was written, "Destroy this letter."

Fatal Explosion of Dynamite.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 15.—A dispatch from Karthaus, Clearfield county, says that three negroes were blown to pieces and seven others hurt in a dynamite explosion yesterday. The explosion occurred in one of the shanties occupied by negro laborers employed on the new West Branch railroad. Several of the negroes, who were to go to work in the new tunnel at Karthaus on an early shift, arose and began thawing dynamite at a wood stove. About a dozen other negroes were still asleep in the shanty. Soon afterward the dynamite at the stove exploded, and three negroes who were about the stove were literally blown to pieces.

Big Fire In Manchester, N. H.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 15.—The Kennard, the finest business block in New Hampshire, has been totally destroyed. The adjoining Smyth block containing two banks and the Park theater, also caught fire. The losses may reach $400,000. The walls of the Kennard fell shortly after 11 o'clock. One wall fell against the extension of the Derryfield clubhouse, setting it on fire. The Kennard had fully two score tenants, who have lost nearly all their effects. The Park theater was occupied by J. Z. Little's "The World" company, and its equipment is lost.

Balloonists Landed In Russia.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The meteorologists Berson and Elias, who ascended in a balloon during a high wind last Thursday to try for the long distance record, write from a village of southern Russia, in the government of Poltava, that they made 868 miles in twenty-nine hours. They say the wind slackened and that their travels were mostly above the clouds. The highest altitude reached was 16,250 feet. The aeronauts failed to beat Count de la Vaulx's long distance record of 1,116 miles.

Walla Walla Raft Found.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 15.—A raft of the ill fated steamer Walla Walla has been brought into port by the steamer Melville Dollar. The raft was picked up on the 9th sixteen miles southwest of Crescent City and seventy-five miles north of the scene of the disaster. On the raft were found a coat, jacket, two life belts and a felt hat. The pocket of the jacket contained papers showing that the owner was W. J. Shiel, a waiter on the Walla Walla.

Big Shipment of Scotch Potatoes.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The Wilson line steamer Ohio, just arrived from Hull and Dundee, brought 26,587 sacks of Scotch potatoes, weighing nearly 2,000 tons. This is the largest consignment of potatoes ever brought to this port by any steamer.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Governor Odell yesterday celebrated his forty-eighth birthday. On his desk reposed a large bouquet of roses, the gift of Mrs. Roosevelt.

THE CHINESE POLICY.

First Week at Peking Throws Little Light on the Subject.

PEKING, Jan. 15.—The first week of the rehabilitation of the Chinese court and of its resumption of authority at the capital has been a period of the most intense interest for all classes of Chinese and foreigners. But the week has hardly sufficed to furnish proofs from which deductions regarding the policy of the empress dowager under the new conditions can be drawn. That the empress dowager governs as absolutely as before the attempt to crush progress, that she recognizes that foreign interests and opinions must be respected, is apparent. That considerations other than the fear inspired by the evidence of foreign dominance actuate her will continue to be questioned by the Chinese officials nearest the throne and by foreigners unless time proves the contrary.

Two powers are gaining ascendency in the council of the empress dowager. The first of these is Yuan Shi Kai, who is pro-foreign to the extent of appreciating the strength of foreign nations and the necessity for China's adoption of the instruments by which such strength was attained. The second power is Yung Lu, the imperial treasurer, who is the most influential among the advisers of the empress dowager, who is literally hostile to foreigners, but who is temporarily impressed with the advisability of conciliating them. Yuan Shi Kai, the governor of Chili province, having 10,000 or 12,000 of the best troops in China in and about the capital, is the personage the empress dowager must consider.

It has not yet appeared that the modernization of the court is more than skin deep. All the old methods of corruption and intrigue for office, the purchase of favors and bribery to secure audiences have been resumed with a vigor indicating that officialdom is trying to make up for lost time.

CORN KING FLOORED.

Phillips of Chicago Cleaned Out by Break In Rye.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—A notice was posted at the opening of the board of trade calling for the closing of all open deals with George H. Phillips, the former corn king.

A heavy call for extra margins is said to have been the cause of the posting of the notice. The call was made Monday afternoon, and Phillips and his staff worked all night over the firm's books.

Phillips opened negotiations with elevator men before the opening of the board in an endeavor to dispose of his rye outside the pit. The negotiations fell through, and May rye, which closed at 66¾ cents, opened with sales from 61 to 60 cents. The whole Phillips line was dumped into the market. Brokers acting for Armour & Co., however, bought nearly all of it, and the market in consequence rallied sharply to 65 cents.

Later Jacob Ringer, attorney for Mr. Phillips, gave out a statement saying that his client had been practically wiped off the financial slate.

Rich Diggings in French Guiana.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—During October and November last 2,000 pounds of gold were brought down to Cayenne, French Guiana, from placer gold diggings in the Inini river district of that colony. This fact has been reported to the state department by United States Consul Mounton, at Demerara, who says that the consular agent at Cayenne states that the diggings are rich and are attracting many prospectors. Other large consignments of the precious metal are expected at Cayenne.

Davis, chairman of the United States delegation to the pan-American congress in the City of Mexico, before leaving for home telegraphed a gift of $100,000 to his only grandson, born a few days ago. The baby is the son of John T. Davis of Elkins, W. Va., the former senator's only son.

TEN MINERS DEAD.

Killed by Explosion In Indian Territory Shaft.

SOUTH M'ALESTER, I. T., Jan. 15.—Ten miners are now known to have lost their lives in the explosion Monday evening in mine No. 9 of the Milby & Dow Mining company at Dow, I. T.

The ten men who lost their lives were the only persons in the pit. All the bodies were recovered, and as none was burned the conclusion is that death was due to after damp. The explosion did not injure the shaft, which was a new one, and the fire that followed was put out before it did much damage.

The sound of the explosion was heard plainly at the surface, and rescuers immediately went to work. The explosion occurred at a depth of 240 feet. The machinery was not injured, and miners working at the mouth of the pit descended as soon as safety would permit.

The bodies were found close together. The fire was extinguished before it had reached any of them. The victims had been in the employ of the company for some time, and most of them were men with families.

The mine had not yet been thoroughly opened. Experienced mining men say it is remarkable that gas should have accumulated in sufficient quantity in a new mine to cause an explosion.

THE PRINCE'S VISIT.

Date For Sailing of Kaiser's Brother Not Fixed.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—A telegram from the North German Lloyd Steamship company at Bremen says that the date of Prince Henry's sailing has not yet been fixed. This telegram concludes as follows:

"It is probable that the company will send a fast liner not in the published sailing schedule to convey Prince Henry to New York."

An arrangement has been made between the German admiralty and the North German Lloyd Steamship company by which the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, when she arrives at Hoboken, will be freshly painted in order to remove all traces of her long voyage and that she may present her handsomest appearance for the festivities.

German newspapers print long cablegrams from New York dwelling on the interest evoked by Prince Henry's projected visit, describing the tentative plans for his entertainment and giving the comment of the New York press on the matter. These latter have created the best impression here. Prince Henry will arrive at Berlin next Thursday, where he will remain for the court festivities.

Oppose Concessions to Cuba.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 15.—A lively all day convention of the New England Tobacco Growers' association held in the Connecticut senate chamber resulted in the overthrow of President H. S. Frye's plans to have the association indorse resolutions favoring tariff concessions to Cuba. Instead, resolutions were passed urging the New England representatives in congress to oppose any reduction in the duties on tobacco imported from Cuba and any reduction on tobacco from any other source. A committee of three members was elected to go to Washington and present these views to congress.

Ten Citizens Under Arrest.

TECUMSEH, Neb., Jan. 15.—At the instance of J. G. Woolsey, a merchant of Hubbell, Neb., ten citizens of that place were arrested and brought here for trial on a charge of threatening. All were arraigned and their trials set for next Friday. Woolsey claims the men under arrest drove him and his wife from town at the point of revolvers and threatened them with harm should they return. The trouble is said to have been caused by a marriage of Woolsey under circumstances not to the liking of the citizens.

French Colony In Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 15.—A French company has bought a large tract of land on the Papalopam river, in the state of Vera Cruz, and will sell ranches to native and foreign settlers. The company will aid colonists in furnishing them implements and machinery. Coffee, vanilla and tobacco will be cultivated. American capitalists are also negotiating for large tracts of land in the states of Vera Cruz and Tabasco for rubber culture.

INSURGENTS GIVE UP.

Unconditional Surrender In Batangas Province.

GENERAL BELL ORDERS RELEASE.

The Filipino Force Included Twenty-one Officers, With 219 Rifles and a Cannon—Government Employees Breaking Down.

MANILA, Jan. 15.—The full surrender of the forces of Colonel Marisigan, who, with Major Cabrera and a renegade priest named Castillo, gave themselves up unconditionally Jan. 10 to General Bell, who is conducting the campaign against the insurgents in Batangas province, occurred yesterday at Taal. The insurgents created a surprise by bringing in sixty more rifles than the authorities thought Marisigan could command in the district of Toael, which he controlled.

The Filipinos who surrendered included three colonels, a major, five captains and twelve lieutenants. They gave up 219 rifles and one cannon. All the insurgents who surrendered did so unconditionally. General Bell ordered the men to be released.

Colonel Marisigan says he can prevail on many more men to surrender during the next few days and also obtain possession of a number of additional rifles.

General Bell says the surrender pacifies for the time being all the eastern part of Batangas.

Breakdowns of government employees have been frequent recently, including members of the United States commission. They are feeling the effects of overwork. A meeting of the commission will be held to consider the matter, and a Saturday half holiday will probably be inaugurated.

Canadians Sail For South Africa.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 15.—The first detachment of the Canadian mounted rifles for service in South Africa embarked and sailed yesterday in the steamer Manhattan. The detachment consisted of three squadrons and one troop, the rest of the corps remaining to go by the steamer Victorian. The embarkation was at the dockyard, the troops from the camp, with two bands, being stationed at the embarkation pier with a guard of honor. Colonel Biscoe, commander of the imperial troops in British North America; Major General O'Grady-Haly, commander of the Canadian militia, and other officers witnessed the departure. Major Merritt is in command of the Manhattan detachment.

Embassador Cambon to Speak.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 15.—His excellency M. Jules Martin Cambon, embassador of the French republic to the United States, has been secured by the Hon. William B. Hornblower, president of the State Bar association, to deliver the annual address before that organization at its convention to be held in this city Tuesday, Jan. 21. M. Cambon has chosen for his subject "Relations Between Diplomacy and Public and Private Law." He will speak in the assembly chamber at 8 p. m. He will be followed by the Hon. James M. Beck of Philadelphia, who will talk on "Suppression of Anarchy."

Morse Buying Maine Bank Stock.

GARDINER, Me., Jan. 15.—That Charles W. Morse of New York is buying stock in national banks in Maine quite generally is shown by changes made in directorates of three Gardiner banks. C. W. Morse and J. T. Morse were elected directors in one bank, and later in the day business men heard the report of a proposed consolidation of three banks. Inquiry showed that Mr. Morse had purchased of a savings bank here all its holdings in national bank stocks, which included shares of Augusta banks and of others in the state.

Expelled From Western League.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 15.—A. B. Beall of Minneapolis, chairman of the Western league circuit committee, has been expelled from membership in the league. He was charged with transferring his Minneapolis park to George Tebeau of the American association. Beall sought to make an explanation, but was not permitted to do so and left the meeting.

Governor Shaw's Last Act.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 15.—One of the last official acts of Governor Shaw was the paroling of A. L. Wood of Winterset, who has been confined in the penitentiary at Fort Madison for perjury. Wood served in the legislature, was a prominent editor and was postmaster at the time of his conviction. His term was half out.

Killed by a Train.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Jan. 15.—Christian Weiner was killed and his son George fatally injured by a train at a railway crossing of the Chicago and Northwestern road at Dousman, near here. VOORHEES' LAST MESSAGE.

The last annual message of Governor Foster M. Voorhees to the New Jersey Legislature was presented yesterday afternoon. As Governor Voorhees states in the opening section of his message, it is simply prepared in accordance with the State Constitution which requires the governor to send a message to the Legislature at its opening concerning the condition of the State and to make such recommendations as he may see fit.

The Governor makes a number of recommendations, some of which are on the same lines as made by him at the beginning of his administration and others which have been brought about by the exegencies of the present situation. He urges relief from the present tangle caused by the unconstitutionality of the Stokes School Law. He also has something to say regarding anarchy and anarchists. The Passaic river pollution is not forgotten. There are a number of other recommendations which are all of interest to Jerseymen.

It is probable that many of these recommendations will be called to the attention of the Legislature when Governor-elect Franklin Murphy comes to power. His message will be presented to that body shortly after his inauguration and may be expected to contain a general summary of the present situation with his ideas concerning the legislation which is deserving of immediate consideration.

It will doubtless be an interesting document.

HOW TO FIND THE TRUTH.

Regarding the appearance of the small pox in this city The Daily Press has chosen to pursue a policy of giving the exact facts without concealment or exaggeration. There have been many who have tried to persuade us to have nothing to say on the subject for fear of alarming the people of Plainfield or injuring the fair name of the city. A statement of the real facts in the case will tend, we believe, to reassure the people rather than alarm them. As it is, all sorts of strange rumors are current. These stories, heard at the street corner, are without any foundation. The people of Plainfield may rely on The Daily Press to give them the true facts in the case.

The Plainfield Board of Health, through its president, Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, has declared that it will suppress no detail. The Daily Press will co-operate on those lines and keep its readers posted as to the progress of the disease and the measures which are being taken to combat it. Do not, therefore, depend on idle talk on the subject but realize that the true facts of the case will be published in these columns.

We are assured by Dr. W. E. Honeyman, secretary of the North Plainfield Board of Health, that the policy of the borough health authorities will be similar to that of the city board and that the truth, whatever it is, will be told concerning the subject.

There will be a public demonstration tomorrow evening in honor of Rev. P. E. Smyth, who has been in charge of the parish at St. Mary's church for so many years and has now resigned that charge to accept a more important one in Jersey City. During the years that Rev. Father Smyth has been in Plainfield, he has made many fast friends who are by no means confined to the denomination to which he belongs. He has won the honor and respect of the entire community. This reception in his honor, tomorrow evening, is not a denominational affair but one to which all his friends are invited. No cards of invitation have been issued but it is expected that all those who have met and known this earnest worker will assemble, if possible, and take part in the formal farewell.

Critics who assume that the "hurrah" method of advertising books is not likely to influence book buyers will be embarrassed by the report of Harper & Brothers on their attempt to learn the results of display newspaper advertising, declares the Philadelphia Record. The replies to their question as to what led readers to buy a certain much-advertised book have not been compiled, but it is affirmed that a majority of readers were led by the display "ads" in the newspapers.

It was not expected that Assemblyman Fred Miller would be placed on any important committees in the Legislature. The party leaders desired to put him somewhere where he will not be in the way of his co eagues and where his speech making talents will not be called upon too often. Those who listened to his master effort at the county convention will not forget for a while.

Contrary to the expectations of many of New Jersey's citizen soldiers, the members of the State militia will not receive pay for the time they spend at the inauguration ceremonies. They will have to be content with their expenses only.

There is no doubt that the Young Men's Association of Hope chapel has an excellent field for its labors. Its plan of benefitting its members mentally and physicially is an excellent one and should meet with great success.

There are some great bowlers in Roselle. If they win the Daily Press trophy again this winter, it will only be by their superior work. A third win will give that club permanent possession.

A very active press agent seems to be an important factor in the contest for United States Senator.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The annual reception and installation of Redwood Camp, No. 10,262, Modern Woodmen of America, on Monday evening, recalls some interesting facts about the organization. It is very strong in the west, especially in the State of Illinois. The present membership is 685,000 and an effort is being made to make it 700,000 by February 1. Another Camp will soon be instituted at Cranford, and within a short time a sister lodge called Royal Neighbors will be organized in this city. Redwood Camp will meet the second and fourth Mondays in the month.

As an evidence of the fact that it is possible for a person to live in Plainfield and not be acquainted with general happenings of any importance, was shown a few days ago, when a young man inquired of a newspaper man about the doings in town. He was told that everything was just as quiet as it looked, when the young man replied that he did not pretend to keep track of Plainfield events any more. "Why," said the young man, "it is only a few days ago that I learned that Captain Grant was dead and that his place is now held by Captain Kiely." The two men enjoyed a good hearty laugh over the incident and the newspaperman was convinced that his friend spoke truly when he said he did not keep track of affairs about town.

In Justice Hand's Court.

In Justice Hand's court, yesterday afternoon, judgment for $25 and costs was rendered for the plaintiff in the case of A. M. Griffen against Martha Suydam. The contract case of J. D. Spicer, et als against Thompson, which was to have been heard yesterday in the same court, was settled without coming to trial.

—When you buy ham, you want good ham. That's Armour's Star Brand. Neuman Brothers will fill all orders.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Three performing bears and a baboon, in charge of some traveling gypsies who have been encamped in North Plainfield, passed through here yesterday noon and the animals were put through their tricks, one of which was the climbing of a large telegraph pole. The owners gathered in a shower of pennies and nickels. There is a stringent law against giving exhibitions of this sort without permission, but those who gave the one yesterday were lucky and escaped without being caught.

In future the two highest grades in Whittier School will not be allowed the customary fifteen minutes recess in the morning. A short period will be taken for singing and marching each morning in place of the recess, and the two grades will be dismissed fifteen minutes earlier in the afternoon. It is planned to have dumbbell exercises and calisthenics take the place of the singing and marching as soon as the necessary dumbbells can be procured.

Ed. VanNess, of Neshanic, who has been employed by Walter Runyon was taken sick Monday and has gone to Westfield to stay with his sister until he recovers. John Runyon is taking his place.

BIG TIME AT INAUGURATION

NATIONAL GUARD ORDERED OUT BUT GETS NO PAY.

The State Will, However, Provide Transportation and One Day's Rations.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 15—The inauguration of Governor-elect Franklin Murpy, which takes place Tuesday, January 21, will be one of the most elaborate affairs of the kind in the recent history of the State.

The entire division of the National Guard has been ordered out, the expense of which will amount to about $10,000 as the State must furnish transportation for over 3,000 men and officers and furnish one day's rations.

Those who come out for the inaugural do not get their per diem day, whch the new military law peculiarly avoids for some reason. The general impression prevails that the National Guard will be paid for the inaugural, and for the day that they devoted to the sham battle, but this is not a fact. In this way the bills are kept down over 100 per cent.

The total figures for transportation have not been computed and cannot be until after the inaugural is over. It is possible that there will be a large quota of the guard out. It is hard to tell because the Second Brigade officers and men have been ordered out three times in one month for an unusual series of military events. The plan for sustenance of the troops has not been completed.

TO CONTEST CASE.

Plainfielders Object to Treatment by Bound Brook Authorities.

James McElvoy and James Shea, of this city, have retained Lawyer William G. DeMeza to object to the manner in which they were arrested and fined in Bound Brook, Sunday night. The men were taken into custody in the trolley waiting station on an alleged charge of disorderly conduct, and arraigned before Justice Brampton. Each were fined $10 but was later released without paying. Fred Coombs of the Berkley Hotel becoming security for them. It is the contention of both men that their arrest was unjust, and that it was illegal to try them Sunday.

FIREMEN VACCINATED.

Chief Doane Set the Example and Instructed Others to Follow.

In response to a request by the Mayor, Chief T. O. Doane issued an order for the firemen to be vaccinated. He set the example himself and was treated by Dr. Jenkins, yesterday afternoon. In the evening three of the men at headquarters and one each at the other two houses were vaccinated. As soon as it is certain that the operations have been successful in these cases, the other men will be operated upon.

'Phone Operators Vaccinated.

Among those who believe that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure are the young women at the local telephone exchange. Yesterday they were vaccinated and if they appear a trifle irritated in answering your call you will know the reason and can be lenient for a time.

It Is Easy to Say

"Be careful" but we must all go from heated houses into chill outer air, and the change sets us coughing and wheezing. Avoiding winter colds is difficult; curing them is not hard if you take Allen's Lung Balsam. Better begin when the cold is young and not wait until it settles deep into the lungs, for then, even with Allen's Lung Balsam, complete relief will be slower.

U. S. MARINE BAND.

Famous Musical Organ zation Had Small Beginning.

Francis Scala, an Italian Musician of Note, Was Its Founder, and Sousa Added to Its Great Renown.

[Special Washington Letter.]

CHARLES EGAN, born in Ireland, now grizzled and gray, served as cornetist in her majesty's service, came to this country when near his majority, and was band master of the Second infantry during the civil war. For several years he has been a clerk in the surgeon general's office, but still he revels in memories of his musical days.

"John Philip Sousa's father was a tuba player in the Marine band," says Mr. Egan, "and the boy heard nothing but music at home and music at the barracks. His mother was also a musician, a vocalist, and young Sousa was a born musician. I have watched his development with considerable interest and a degree of pride, for I was one of his instructors for awhile. He was always a good boy and always ambitious.

"In those days I also knew Francis Scala. I suppose that you never heard of him, did you? Well, he was the leader of the Marine band before the civil war, and for some time afterwards. Sousa's father played in the band under Scala's leadership, and the present popular Sousa took many a lesson from Scala, who was in his day celebrated as a composer as well as a band leader. He was born in Italy and enlisted in our navy as a third-class musician while the old frigate Brandywine was in the bay of Naples, about 20 years before our civil war. Within a month after his enlistment he was playing the clarionet solos, and inside of a year he was bandmaster of the frigate.

"Francis Scala used to be called the founder of the Marine band, and I believe that he is entitled to that distinction. When he arrived in this country in 1842 he enlisted in what was then known as the Marine band, and he soon became leader of the little organization. No provision had ever been made by congress for a Marine band, so that the ten members were enlisted as fifers and drummers. They played one flute, one clarionet, one French horn, two trombones, one bugle, one bass drum, one kettle drum and one pair of cymbals. That was the miserable nucleus out of which Scala developed the national musical organization which has achieved so much of fame during the past 30 years. The congress never gave any encouragement to his work, either.

"Do you know how many years it has been customary for the Marine band to give public concerts in the white house grounds? The people of this city come forth by thousands every Saturday evening during the summer season and promenade the beautiful grounds while the band plays, but they do not know to whom they are indebted for that custom. Francis Scala inaugurated these public recitals during President Tyler's administration. The first grand public recognition of the existence of the band was in March, 1845, when Scala led the procession at the inauguration of President Polk. Ever since then the Marine band has held the right of line on all such occasions. The great feature of that day was the playing of a cornet by Scala; an instrument which he had purchased on credit with long time for payment.

"During the brief time that Gen. Taylor was president, he inaugurated the custom of having the Marine band play at public receptions. In those days the public receptions were not attended by so many people, because the population of Washington was small. Gen. Taylor would send word to Scala to bring a piano player and a couple of reed instrument players as accompanists; and that small coterie would make enough music in the great east room to satisfy and gratify the president's guests, whereas nowadays naught but the grand orchestration of the big band will satisfy public expectancy and demand.

"During the Fillmore administration Scala's Marine band performed a public function which added greatly to its fame. Louis Kossuth, the famous Hungarian patriot, came to Washington and was received by a procession with Scala's band at the right of line. There were then 16 pieces, and they played so well that the newspapers gave room for considerable comment, partly because the courtly Kossuth complimented the band and personally spoke to Scala, thanking him for the playing of national airs. Still there was not much fame coming to the patient founder of the band until Buchanan's inauguration. Scala's band on that occasion played a march of his own composition which he dedicated to Miss Harriet Lane, who presided over the social functions of her uncle's administration. That march had a large sale, for those days, and Scala's fame enlarged.

"Scala told me that Miss Harriet Lane keenly realized the advantage of good music and extended her aid to the band in many ways. It was by reason of her patronage that the band membership was increased to 25; that being the number at Lincoln's first inauguration. During that administration the prince of Wales came to this country, and was received with great formality in the little capital city of the young republic. Miss Lane required Scala to come to the white house every morning during the visit of the prince, and arrange with her the music for each day. When Buchanan and a distinguished party accompanied the prince to the tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon, Scala's band accompanied them, and while at the tomb the band played a dirge which Scala had written for the occasion. The prince was so impressed with the original music that he sent the duke of Newcastle for a copy of the dirge. It was forwarded to the queen, was played before her majesty, and became popular in Europe.

"Thus, during Buchanan's administration the band grew and the bandmaster's reputation was enhanced. But still the musicians were enlisted as fifers and drummers as they had been for so many years. It was known as 'Scala's band,' and might have been known by that designation as long as the leader lived, or even longer. But the ambitious leader did not care so much for the perpetuation of his name and fame as he did for the permanent organization of a national band, and it was he who insisted upon having it always officially designated as the Marine band.

"The last march composed by Scala and publicly performed by his band was rendered in the new treasury department building on March 4, 1869, when Grant was first inaugurated. The general and his wife were both pleased with it, and its popularity lasted for a number of years. The band had then grown to proper proportions, and there were many musical men ambitious for the leadership. They sowed dissensions in the band, annoyed Scala, irritated him, accused him of lack of discipline, and made him so angry and irritated that he said and did things alleged to be insubordinate. Finally, in a moment of anger, Scala wrote his resignation, in December, 1871, and retired from the leadership of the band for whose development he had toiled for 30 years. He said: 'Republics are ungrateful to the makers of their melodies.' In later years he said: 'I sometimes wish that I had allowed it to continue to be called Scala's band.'"

"I have since seen the band grow unto approximate perfection," continued Mr. Eagan. "Sousa worked hard, very faithfully and successfully to that end. But he left the band in an unhappy frame of mind, just as Scala did, feeling that his services were not appreciated. Sousa and his friends for several years beseiged the congress to enact a law making him a lieutenant in the navy; but to no avail. He remained an enlisted man designated to the leadership, and hence had no real military authority over the band. His successor, Fanciulli, spent five years endeavoring to keep the band up to the high mark which Sousa had set for it, but gladly retired at the end of his period of enlistment. During McKinley's first inauguration, a lieutenant of marines dictated to Fanciulli what music should be played. Inasmuch as Fanciulli had drilled his band on a particular programme for that occasion, he declined to obey the orders of a lieutenant. Being only an enlisted private, he was ordered out of the parade, sent to the barracks in disgrace, and came near being dishonorably discharged. It is no wonder that he was glad to be rid of such environments.

"The present leader of the Marine band is Prof. Santelmann, who was leader of the band at the Annapolis naval academy, declined the leadership until he was assured of complete leadership and authority over the band. Under existing circumstances he is able to do well and is doing well. The band is a credit to the republic, and will increase in value and popularity. But it will be a long time, if ever, before dear old Scala receives a monument or other token of appreciation of his services as founder of the marine band."

SMITH D. FRY.

Diamond Cutting.

New York city, it is said, leads the world in the cutting and polishing of diamonds, there being 200 skilled workmen employed in the industry. Amsterdam formerly had almost a monopoly of the business, with a little competition in London and some small continental towns. But all this has been changed. There are about 20 diamond cutting establishments in Gotham, in which some 200,000 carats of rough stones are polished each year. The best cutters earn from $40 to $90 a week. The price of diamonds has not fluctuated much in the last year, Maiden Lane experts say, although last winter there was a slight rise, and some people believed, or pretended to believe, that stones would go so high as to be out of reach of many persons who wear them now.—Detroit Free Press.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Everybody's memory is awfully short about the favors other people do for him.

Experience would always be worth what we pay for it, if we didn't go and run up the same sort of bill again.

A woman likes to send for the doctor once in awhile, even if nobody is ill, to make him see that her trade is worth having.

A woman's idea of an honest butcher is one who weighs the meat before cutting out all the bones and then weighs it again, no matter which weight he charges for.

An engaged girl always has some part of her trousseau lying around handy, so that whenever he comes she can grab it up and be surprised to get caught working on it.—N. Y. Press.

HEPBURN & CO.
Dear Sirs—Two years ago I had very bad corns and callouses on my feet, I went to a chiropodist and paid him $5.75 for taking them off. In less than a month they were back again. I then tried your CORN CURE and used only three bottles, costing 45c, and am happy to say it has taken them off completely. They have not troubled me now for over a year. I consider your HEPBURN'S CORN CURE the best I have ever used.—Yours truly, R. O. RUNYON, 629 LaGrande Ave.

RIPANS
Mrs. M. Hailey, a housekeeper, twenty-three years old, living at No. 1455 East Montgomery avenue, Philadelphia, writes: "I have been suffering for two years or more from what I thought was dyspepsia, for I had such a distressed and bloated feeling after eating I was forced to live on very light food. I would have to get up in the night and apply hot water bags and drink hot water. I could hardly get my breath, and I had much pain; it would go around to my back and up under the shoulder blade. I had tried different medicines, which did me no good. I was about to consult a physician, when on my way to the doctor I met a friend who had been troubled the same as I was, and she said that Ripans Tabules had done her much good. I thought I would give them a trial, and after several boxes I feel that I am entirely cured. My husband is also taking them for constipation, and they are a great benefit to him. I think they are worth their weight in gold, and I would not be without them in the house."
WANTED:—A case of bad health that R.I.P.A.N.S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R.I.P.A.N.S on the package and accept no substitute. TEA GOWNS.

Beautiful Adaptations From Historical Models.

Tea gowns have become very important. There is not a fashionable woman who does not possess one or more of these artistic creations. Any model is permissible provided that it outlines the figure and gives no hint of being a wrapper. Historical models are largely followed, principally those of the empire period. Many watteau models are also used and models which belong to no period at all, but combine the best points of each. The finest handwork is seen upon these tea gowns, and hand painted medallions of chiffon or lace are not infrequent.

A pretty model is shown in today's cut. The material is pale green peau de soie, with a full, soft front of chif-fon of the same shade. It is made with tight fitting sides and a graceful watteau plait in the back. Wide bands of yellow insertion ornament the entire gown and are disposed so as to give the best effect to a tall figure. The short waist is in a bolero effect, composed of tucks and bands of the insertion. A novel feature is formed by the two knots of narrow black velvet having long streamers of the velvet. The neck is cut V shape both back and front. The sleeves are elbow length, ornamented with three bands of lace and a ruffle of chiffon. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHITE FOR EVENING WEAR.

It Is the Height of Fashion This Winter.

One of the latest materials for evening coats is white corduroy. A recent model was built very simply and loosely. For sole ornamentation it had a great collar of lace edged with bands of dark fur. The whole effect was charming and a great relief to the overtrimmed creations of brocade which we have seen so much of this season.

White cloth is being much worn this winter, and there are few costumes more chic than one of this material trimmed with sable or black velvet. White frieze frocks are charming for young girls.

A white crepe de chine or broadcloth skirt is almost indispensable to wear with the light silk and chiffon waists which are so smart this winter. If made of crepe de chine, the skirt should have a tucked upper and a flounce ornamented with insertion or velvet ribbon. A charming model is one where the flounce is laid in graduated folds stitched invisibly. With such a two piece costume the belt should invariably match the waist.

The pretty evening waist here shown is of accordion plaited white chiffon. It has a bolero of white mousseline de sole figured in black and silver. This bolero rises in a point both back and front showing the accordion plaited underblouse. A bow of panne ribbon is carelessly fastened across the front of the decolletage. JUDIC CHOLLET.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

What was I to say? What could I say? I had well-nigh decided to have nothing to do with the matter, yet here I was, beginning to think it was hard upon me to have to disappoint her. My profession is not one calculated to render a man's heart over tender, but I must confess that in this case I was by no means as adamant as was usual with me. As I have said, she was an unusually pretty girl, and had she not been kind enough to express her belief in my powers! After all, detectives, like other people, are only human.

"Your uncle and his companion have promised to call upon me this afternoon," I said, "and when they do so, I think I may promise you that I will endeavor to come to some arrangement with them."

"I thank you," she said; "for I think that means that you will try to help them. If you do, I feel confident that you will succeed. I hope you will forgive me for having called upon you as I have done, but, when I saw how disappointed they were after their interview with you yesterday, I made up my mind that I would endeavor to see you and to interest you on their behalf before they came again."

"You have certainly done so," I answered, as she rose to go. "If I take the case up, and believe me I am not at all sure that I shall not do so, they will owe it to your intercession."

"Oh, no, I did not mean that exactly," she replied, blushing prettily. "I should like to feel that you did it for the reason that you believe in the justice of their cause, not merely because I tried to persuade you into it. That would not be fair, either to them or to you."

"Would it not be possible for it to be on account of both reasons?" I asked. "Let us hope so. And now good morning, Miss Kitwater. I trust your uncle will have good news for you when you see him again this afternoon."

"I hope so, too," she answered, and then with a renewal of her thanks and a little bow she left the office.

I closed the door and went back to my seat, almost wondering at my own behavior. Here was I, a hard-headed man of the world, being drawn into an extraordinary piece of business, which I had most certainly decided to have nothing to do with, simply because a pretty girl had smiled upon me, and had asked me to do it. For I don't mind confessing that I had made up my mind to help Kitwater and Codd in their search for the villain Hayle. The Trust company would have to look elsewhere for assistance. And yet, as I had the best of reasons for knowing, that piece of business was likely to prove twice as remunerative as this search for the traitorous friend. Happily, however, money is not everything in this world.

During the remainder of the day I found myself looking forward with a feeling that was almost akin to eagerness, to the interview I was to have with Kitwater and Codd that afternoon. If the two gentlemen had faults, unpunctuality was certainly not one of them, for the clock upon my mantelpiece had scarcely finished striking the hour of four, when I heard footsteps in the office outside, and next moment they were shown into my own sanctum. Codd came first, leading his friend by the hand, and as he did so he eyed me with a look of intense anxiety upon his face. Kitwater, on the other hand, was dignified, and as impressive as ever. If he were nervous, he certainly concealed it very well.

"Good afternoon, Mr. Fairfax," he said, as Codd led him to a seat. "According to the arrangement, we came to yesterday afternoon, we have come here to learn your decision which you promised to give us at four o'clock to-day. I trust you have good news for us."

"That depends upon how you take it," I answered. "I have made up my mind to help you on certain conditions."

"And those conditions?"

"Are that you pay my expenses and the sum of £500, to which another £500 is to be added if I am successful in helping you to recover the treasure of which you told me yesterday. Is that a fair offer?"

"An exceedingly fair one," Kitwater replied, while little Codd nodded his head energetically to show that he appreciated it. "We had expected that you would charge more. Of course you understand that it may involve a chase round half the world before you can find him? He's as slippery as an eel, and, if he once gets to know that we are after him, he'll double and twist like a hare."

"He'll not be the first man I have had to deal with who possessed these characteristics," I answered. "And I have generally succeeded in running them to earth at the end."

"Let's hope for all our sakes that you will be as successful in this case," he said. "And now, if I may ask the question, when will you be ready to begin your search? We shall both feel happier when we know you are on his track."

"I am ready as soon as you like," I rejoined. "Indeed, the sooner the better for all parties concerned. Nothing is to be gained by delay, and if, as you say, the man has now been in England two months, he may soon be thinking of getting out of it again, if he has not done so already. But before I embark on anything, you must answer me some questions."

"A hundred, if you like," he returned. "You have only to ask them and I will do my best to answer."

"In the first place, I must have a description of this Mr. Gideon Hayle. What is he like?"

"Tall, thin, with brown hair, and a short, close-cropped beard; he carries himself erect, and looks about 38."

"You don't happen to have a photograph of him in your possession, I suppose?"

"No," replied Kitwater, shaking his head. "Gideon Hayle is not the sort of man to allow himself to be photographed, and what's more you must remember that when we reached Nampoung, the station on the frontier of Burmah, we had scarcely a rag upon our backs. Any goods and chattels we might once have possessed were in the hands of the Chinese. They had robbed us of everything, except what that arch thief, Hayle, had already stolen from us."

As he said this, another look such as I had seen on the occasion of his previous visit spread over his face.

"The robber, the thief," he hissed, almost trembling in his sudden excess of rage; "when I get hold of him he shall rue his treachery to the day of his death. Upwards of a quarter of a million of money he stole from us, and where is it now? Where is my sight, and where is Coddy's power of speech? All gone, and he is free. 'Vengeance is Mine,' saith the Lord, but I want to repay it myself. I want to—"

Here he leant across the table and turned his sightless eyes upon me.

"This is certainly a curious sort of missionary," I said to myself as I watched him. "He may be smitten on one cheek, but I scarcely fancy he would be content to turn the other to the striker."

At this moment Coddy leant forward in his chair, and placed his hand upon his friend's arm. The effect was magical. His fit of impotent rage died down as suddenly as it had sprung up, and immediately he became again the quiet, suave, smooth-spoken individual who had first entered my office.

"I must beg your pardon, Mr. Fairfax," he said, in a totally different voice to that in which he had just spoken. "When I remember how we have been wronged, I am apt to forget myself. I trust you will forgive me?"

"I will do so willingly," I answered. "You have certainly won the right to be excused if you entertain a feeling of resentment for the man who has treated you so shamefully. And now to resume our conversation?"

"What were you about to say?"

"I was about to ask you the number and description of the stones of which he robbed you. You told me they numbered 93 in all, if I remember aright. Can you tell me how many there were of each?"

"Forty-eight rubies and 45 sapphires," he replied without a moment's hesitation. "The rubies were uncut and of various sizes, ranging perhaps from ten to eighty carats. They were true rubies, not spinels; remember that. The sapphires ran from 15 carats to 60, and there was not a flaw amongst them."

"Has Hayle any knowledge of the value of precious stones?"

"There's not a keener judge in the east. He would be a cunning man who would succeed in taking him in about the value of anything from a moonstone to a ruby."

"In that case he would, in all probability, know where to place them to the best advantage?"

"You may be sure that was his intention in coming to England. But we have tried Hatton Garden and can hear nothing of him there."

"He may have disposed of some of them on the continent," I said. "However, we will soon clear that point up. The size of the larger stones is so unusual that they would be certain to attract attention. And now one other question. Are you aware whether he has any friends or relatives in England?"

"So far as we know he has not a single relative in the world," Kitwater replied. "Have you ever heard of one, Coddy?"

The little man shook his head, and then, taking the other's hand, tapped upon it with his fingers in the manner I have already described.

"He says Hayle had a sister once, of whom he was very fond." The tapping upon the hand continued, and once more Kitwater translated: "She was a cripple, and lived in a small house off the Brompton road. She died while Hayle was in North Borneo; is not that so, little man?"

Codd nodded his head to show that Kitwater had interpreted him correctly. I then made some inquiries as to the missing man's habits. So far the description I had had of him was commonplace in the extreme.

"Do you know whether he shipped on board the Jemadar for England under his own name, or under an assumed one?"

"He booked his passage as George Bertram," Kitwater replied. "We know that is so, for we made inquiries at Rangoon."

WONDERFUL OLD MAN.

Ohio Patriarch, 108 Years Old, Says That He Expects to Live Seven Years Longer.

Jeremiah Gleeson, who lives in Monroe township, Knox county, is the oldest survivor of the civil and Mexican wars, and is probably the oldest man in Ohio.

Gleeson was born near Londonderry, Ireland, in 1793. At the age of 20 he left his native country for America on account of the oppression of the Irish by the English. His desire for a wild life brought him to Ohio, which he has called his home state for more than 80 years. He was captured by the Indians and held prisoner by them for more than three years, and says he grew as wild as any of his captors. During the Indian wars "Uncle Jerry," as he is familiarly known, fought under Gen. Andrew Jackson. The two became fast friends, their friendship lasting till the general's death.

When the war with Mexico broke out Gleeson enlisted and served under Gen. John C. Fremont. After the war he joined an expedition to seek gold in California, his oldest son accompanying him. The son was lost in the famous Peg-leg gold mine. With a small fortune he returned to his family in what is now Monroe township.

When the civil war broke out "Uncle Jerry" again took up arms for his adopted country, serving three years as a union soldier. He wanted to engage in the recent troubles with Spain, but was not permitted, owing to his advanced age.

Withal the old man is genial and sunny tempered, a character not unlike "Uncle Billy Sanders" in Joel Chandler Harris' "Tales of the South." He was seen by a Cincinnati Enquirer representative recently and was able to give in detail the story of his remarkable career. He was working on his farm with a team which, comparatively speaking, was as old as the driver. He said that he expects to live to be 115 years old.

JOHN F. CARROLL.

Rumor Has It That He Will Succeed Croker as Dictator of Tammany Hall.

John F. Carroll, who is said to have succeeded Richard Croker as master of Tammany, notwithstanding the denial of the story by Croker himself, was formerly clerk of the court of general sessions. This post is an important one, and pays a salary of $5,000. Carroll resigned the place to become Croker's deputy in the Tammany organization, an office to which no salary is attached. Carroll is interested in the ice trust, and appears to be in no want of wealth. His political record covers a period of 28 years' active service with Tammany. In the very beginning of his political life he was intimately associated with Robert A. Van Wyck, mayor of New York. Carroll was soon made a district leader, and made his district an important Tammany stronghold. In 1879 he was made clerk of the grand jury, and was subsequently clerk of the Seventh district civil court and later clerk of the general sessions. In the city campaign four years ago he was Croker's chief adviser, and he has had charge of Tammany during the absence of the boss in Europe.

JOHN F. CARROLL.
(Richard Croker's Successor as Dictator of Tammany Hall.)

Good Country for Women.

In a mining center some 80 miles from Coolgardie, in western Australia, a carpenter died and his widow had offers of marriage from the doctor who attended the deceased, the undertaker, the clergyman who read the burial service, the local apothecary who made up the medicines prescribed for the departed, and the custodian of the cemetery where he was interred, likewise from about a score of mine managers and miners. She did not accept one of the suitors and departed for her home in Melbourne.

WHAT NEW JERSEY'S POSTMASTERS GET

Schedule of Postmasters' Salaries in the Offices of This State.

HOW THEY COMPARE.

HOW THE GROSS RECEIPTS AT DIFFERENT OFFICES VARY.

Some Offices Have Big Allowances for Clerk Hire—Newark's Postmaster Gets the Most—The Others.

In his annual report, just made public, the auditor of the Postoffice Department gives among much other valuable information a complete list of all Presidential postoffices, their gross receipts, expenses and net revenue.

The table for New Jersey shows that the gross receipts vary all the way from $1,175.44, the receipts of the Guttenberg office, to $461,234.57, the gross earnings of the Newark office. All but a very few of the Presidential offices are allowed greater or less amounts for clerk hire, the amount varying all the way from $40, the amount allowed to Hamburg, to $72,927.55, the amount allowed the Newark postmaster. Other offices receiving less than $100 are Altantic Highlands and Mays Landing, which each receives $50, Belvidere $80, and Riverton $90, while Highbridge receives an even hundred, Lambertville $120 and Rockaway $150.

NO NEW CASES REPORTED

FOUR PATIENTS AT ISOLATION HOSPITAL DOING WELL.

Many People Are Being Vaccinated and the Doctors are Kept Quite Busy.

The health authorities are pleased to report today that there have been no additional cases of small-pox. There are still four cases that are at the isolation hospital and they are progressing favorably.

Alexander Campbell is doing very well, while Alexander Jr., has most favorable symptoms for early recovery. This is also true of the other boy, Arthur, and Mrs. Patterson. They are all very comfortable. In the opinion of those who know the exact status of the cases, they are not considered severe ones. It is a source of much gratification that thus far no new cases have been reported.

Yesterday Drs. T. S. Davis, B. VanD. Hedges and Health Officer Thurlow vaccinated nearly 115 persons, most of whom are employed at the Scott Press Works. A few more at the works were treated this morning, as were also the employes at the Aluminum Plate Works.

Since Monday there has been a steady increase in the number of vaccinations and nearly all of the local physicians have been kept very busy. Everything that is possible is being done for the protection of the people of the city and an epidemic of the disease is not looked for in Plainfield.

COUNTY DRUGGISTS MET.

Working to Secure a Uniform Schedule of Retail Prices.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Jan. 15—The quarterly meeting of Union County Druggists Association was held yesterday afternoon at Gayle's clubhouse. Out of the fifty-five druggists in the county fifty-two are members of the association. There were twenty-five representatives present yesterday.

The time was occupied in a general discussion of the trade and a report of progress was made regarding the movement to secure a uniform schedule of prices in the retail trade. It was reported that in several cities and towns local organizations had been formed and that Rahway is about to have similar organization.

A portion of the time yesterday was occupied pleasantly with a bowling match. It was decided to hold the next meeting Tuesday, April 8, at the same place, when officers will be elected.

GAVE HIM A PARTY.

Simon Mantz Agreeably Surprised on Evening of His Birthday.

Simon Mantz, of Craig place, was agreeably surprised by three-score of his friends last evening. The occasion was a birthday party, which is the first he says he ever had.

A large number of members of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., with their wives, were among the guests. Mr. Mantz is a prominent member of the organization, and as a gift from the members individually a handsome Morris chair was presented to him. Vocal and instrumental music and dancing, as well as the recitations of John Carney, were among the features of the affair.

Street Commissioner Gavett Still Keeps Gang of Men Busy Removing Ice and Snow.

Continued complaints which have come to Street Commissioner Gavett has made it necessary for him to keep at work the clearing gang which has been cleaning sidewalks since last Friday. It was intended to withdraw them yesterday but there is still plenty to do before the walks are fit for travel.

The work is now proving more expensive to the property owners as the snow has turned to ice, making removal more difficult. At some places it has been found impossible to remove the coating and ashes have been used to make walking possible.

WILD WEST STUNT.

Chose Front Street as Scene of Operations, But Wagon Broke Down and He Was Arrested.

Howard, or "Doc" Doty, with the aid of a horse or wagon, did a little wild west stunt, yesterday afternoon, which would put Buffalo Bill's stage coach act to shame. In lieu of a ring he took Front street between Watchung and Madison avenues for an arena and attempted to beat Nancy Hank's best record made on a kite shaped track. Front street was never intended for a circus ground but that didn't make any difference to Doty and he sent trucks, wagons and people scurrying in all directions.

The exhibition lasted for some time and ended with a grand finale. The intrepid driver was thrown to the ground and the wagon collapsed through a short turn in front of the Babcock building. Doty was then escorted to police headquarters by Doorman McCue. He retained William DeMeza as counsel.

This morning the hearing was adjourned for one week. It is understood that Doty has left town, having been released yesterday in the custody of his counsel.

NONE IN BOROUGH.

Secretary Honeyman, of Borough Health Board, Says Public Shall Know when There Is.

A rumor to the effect that there was a case of small-pox in a house in close proximity to the Somerset street school building was in circulation, this morning, and it spread more rapidly than the disease itself does. Secretary William E. Honeyman, of the North Plainfield Board of Health, knocked the story in the head by branding it as false.

Nevertheless some children were kept away from school by the idle rumor. Dr. Honeyman declares that the interests of the public demand that there be the utmost publicity in the matter and for this reason, should any case appear, immediate notification will be given. This will be done partially for the purpose of getting the people to be vaccinated, which he declares is the only preventive measure known.

The borough health authorities are not authorized by law to operate an isolation hospital, and should one be needed the borough itself will have to maintain it.

IRON FELL ON HIM.

While at his work in the Pond Machine Tool Company plant early yesterday evening a heavy angle bar fell on Donald Fitzpatrick, of South Second street. Both bones of his left ankle were fractured and his entire left side was contused.

Casting Fell Against Leg.

George Overland, of McDowell street, an employe of the Pond Tool Works, was unloading some machinery from a car yesterday when a large casting fell against his right ankle. It was thought at first the leg was broken. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital. It was there learned that the ligaments were ruptured. He will be detained at the institution for a few days.

A Side Issue.

John Giles, of Lake street, came into town yestsrday to do some shopping. He also did a little thirst quenching on the side which resulted in a complete suspension of business. He was found utterly oblivious to his surroundings on East Front street. This morning City Judge Runyon gave him his preference of $3 or ten days.

DON'T BE AN OLD FOGY!

Keep pace with your day and generation.

The man who does not avail himself of modern methods is right at the outset giving himself a handicap that scarcely the wit of a Mark Twain or a genius of an Edison can overcome,

He who writes his correspondence with a pen instead of using a New Century Typewriter is "behind the times." He is making himself a plodder when he might be a leader. If you are using another typewriter—one of the slow, nerve racking kind, get rid of it quick.

The New Century economizes time and does PERFECT WORK.

It does more work and BETTER WORK than any other typewriter. It wears longer and is a better investment. It is the twentieth century method of handling correspondence.

SUIT AGAINST COMPTON IS NOW BEING TRIED

Victor Schofield Claims $10,000 Damages for Alleged Injuries From Bird Shot.

JURY WAS CHARGED.

TROUBLE STARTED OVER FIRING OF SHOT GUN BY H. C. COMPTON.

Was Trying to Frighten Away Boys Who Were Stealing His Apples—Schofield Was Hit—Many Wittesses.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 16—The case of Victor Schofield, by his guardian, Isaac Houston, against Halstead C. Compton for $10,000 damages for illeged injury, was called yesterday and occupied the entire day. It was continued today.

Among the witnesses yesterday were Drs. J. T. Frittts and Zeglio for the plaintiff. They testified as to the extent of the boy's injuries and damages, while Dr. Carman, of Plainfield, and Dr. Mravlag, of this city, were called to testify for the defense. They attempted to prove that the wounds were not as serious as made out.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, L. E. Barkalew, J. Frank Hubbard, W. H. Shotwell and F. W. Runyon, all of Plainfield were witnesses for the defense testifying as to the good character of the defendant. The case throughout was bitterly fought W. S. Angleman for the plaintiff and Craig A. Marsh and S. S. Swackhamer for the defendant. This afternoon at 2 o'clock the Judge charged the jury.

The circumstances leading up to the suit were briefly as follows: For some time past Mr. Compton had been troubled by boys and men who persisted in stealing his apples. His patience was exhausted and on the day in question a number of young men were in his orchard. It so happened that Victor Schofield, who lives nearby, was close to the crowd, when Mr. Compton appeared with a gun. He fired and a few scattering shot entered the boy's leg. He was treated by Dr. Fritts. Later an attempt was made by Mr. Compton to settle the case, but without success.

GOAT IS GONE.

Red Men's Goat Has Disappeared From Great Prophet's Room.

Some unknown person succeeded yesterday in stealing the celebrated goat from the office of William Newcorn. It will be remembered that Mr. Newcorn captured the goat many months ago at Keyport. Since then she has been in his office.

There is strong suspicion that the goat has been taken to Paterson, as a delegation of women from the Degree of Pocohontas Council of that city was in Plainfield yesterday and attended the fifteenth anniversary of Iona Council last evening. Mr. Newcorn will probably have a search warrant issued today and if possible have the animal brought back.

WORKMEN'S MEETING.

Two Local Lodges Will Unite to Give Public Meeting Tonight.

Under the auspices of Central Lodge, No. 48, and Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., an entertainment will be given in Y. M. C. A. Hall this evening. Martin Korff's full orchestra will provide music and S. V. Sandford, a professional humorist, will entertain. The committee which will be in charge consists of Dr. J. H. Buchanan, W. L. Larrabee, C. T. Rogers, E. D. Mosher, L. J. Spicer, C. E. Hepburn, M. A. Korff and J. D. Moon.

PATIENTS IMPROVING.

No Change in Local Health Conditions, No New Cases Reported.

There still continues to be steady improvement in the four cases of small-pox at the isolation hospital and no new cases have been reported. The Board of Health is much gratified with the present condition of affairs and the members believe that the disease is well in hand. The vacciation still continues, many being so treated simply on the ground of precaution.

Suit Over a Dog.

Fred J. Harris, of West Seventh street, through his counsel, Lewis A. Clement, has brought action in tort in Justice Hand's court against D. J. Galbraith. He demands $100 the value of a dog owned by him which he alleges Galbraith took from his premises. The hearing will be held Tuesday afternoon.

TO AID HOSPITAL.

Somerset County Freeholders Make Annual Appropriation of $500.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 16—The Board of Chosen Freeholders, at its regular meeting in the Court House here Tuesday, made an appropriation of $500 yearly, for five years, to Somerville Hospital, to be paid quarterly, commencing with May 15. This will be a big "lift" to that worthy institution, and the board will receive rounds of praise for its action.

MANY WERE VACCINATED

RUSHING BUSINESS DONE AT BOARD OF HEALTH ROOMS.

The Operation Was Performed on 162 Persons During Yesterday Afternoon.

The invitation of the Plainfield Board of Health to be vaccinated without charge was accepted in a wholesale manner yesterday afternoon. The rooms of the board in the Smalley building, North avenue, were first opened for that purpose Monday afternoon and but a small crowd ventured out. The news that the disease had finally reached this city appeared to have its effect with those who had been postponing the operation for there was a host on hand. The work will be continued at the board rooms this afternoon and every afternoon this week, beginning at 3:30 o'clock.

When the doors were opened yesterday the rooms of the board, the hallways and stairs of the building and the front walk were crowded with old and young ready to receive vaccine. The throng became so dense it was found necessary to station a poilceman in the rooms to keep the younger element in subjection. Altogether 162 persons had been treated when Dr. Davis and his assistants ceased their labors at 6 o'clock. There were still many waiting but these will have to be attended to some time during the week, as the free vaccination is to continue every afternoon.

The employes of the Scott and Aluminum Press factories, who were indirectly exposed through one of the cases reported, were visited by the board physicians yesterday and all were vaccinated. It is strongly advised that all, who are able, visit their physicians and have the matter attended to at once.

NEW STATION.

Will Soon be Erected at Perth Amboy by the New Jersey Central Railroad.

The good people of Perth Amboy who have been obliged to use for many years an old and out-of-date railroad station, are now congratulating themselves that in the near future a handsome new station is to take its place. While a definite time for starting the work has not been set, it is believed that it will not be long. Perth Amboy is one of the important points on the New Jersey Central and it needs a new passenger station as well as a new and commodious freight station.

It is proposed to erect a fine structure for the passenger station, such as have made the main line across the State famous. Officials of the road have been securing estimates for the proposed improvements and the residents have a reasonable amount of hope that ere many months their ideals will be realized.

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Then Followed a Reception for the Friends of the Couple.

In the presence of a few intimate friends, Miss Elizabeth Freeman, of Easton, Pa., and John W. DeGrosse, of this city, were married last evening at the parsonage of the Mount Olive Baptist church by Rev. E. E. Jackson. The young couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, who acted in the capacity of bridemaid and best man.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith on West Third street, where a reception was held. An elaborate wedding supper was a feature. Mr. and Mrs. DeGrosse will reside on Manning avenue. The groom is head waiter at the Hotel Plainfield and is very popular with his employers and friends.

County Committee.

There will be an important meeting of the Union county Democratic committee at Elizabeth, this evening, when an organization will be effected.

Banquet at Queen City.

At the meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., Monday evening officers will be installed, after which there will be a banquet.

CHURCHES SHOULD NOT GIVE AID DIRECTLY

Theory Advanced by H. M. Maxson, President, Organized Aid Association.

CHARITY CONFERENCE.

SHOULD ALLOW AID ASSOCIATION TO SUPERINTEND ALL CHARITY.

In That Way Much Duplication Would be Prevented—Conference Arranged by Co-operative Committee.

The second of a series of conferences under the auspices of the co-operative committee of the Organized Aid Association was held, yestreday afternoon, in the rooms of the association on West Front street. While the attendance was not very large the conference way very interesting and productive of much good. The topic for consideration was "The Application of the Principles of Organized Charities to the Relief Work in the Churches."

H. M. Maxson, as president of the Organized Aid Association, was in charge of the meeting and there were short addresses by Rev. A. C. Nickerson, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, Rev. L. R. Howard and Rev. John McMurray. The principal thought advanced was the necessity of submitting all cases of charity in the churches to the Organized Aid Association and by co-operation prevent the duplication of aid to those needing aid.

Miss VanBoskerck, the agent, said that it was with great difficulty that the resources of families applying for aid were secured because the churches do not confer with the association. In this way charity is duplicated and to the detriment of the work carried on by both church and association.

Mr. Maxson favored the plan of disassociating relief work entirely from the churches. He maintained that the churches should not give relief, but instead should refer all cases to the association and contribute to it instead of to individuals. This would sustain the one great source of dispensing charity and enable those in charge to determine with more accuracy the need of those seeking aid.

Mrs. Tiffany spoke of the great danger through the giving of alms by the clergy. She thought it might be taken in the light of a bribe and the recipient of aid might be led to compulsory attendance at church services. The clergy's motive might be right, but the result would not always be the best.

The remarks made by the clergy present, as well as the other speakers, were most informal. The clergy were a unit regarding the principles and thoughts advanced and all believed thoroughly in co-operation. Mr. McMurray was the only clergyman present who reported an almost entire absence of need for relief work in his church. He said that there is practically no relief work to be done there.

The other clergymen reported that to a greater or less degree there was relief work in the churches. Out of the wide experience of Rev. Mr. Nickerson, he was able to present some very helpful thoughts along the line of co-operation in relief work.

These conferences are planned for monthly. The next one will be held probably in March, as on February 10 Mr. Maxson has consented to repeat his lecture on "Organized Aid," in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church. This lecture is considered by many to be the best on the subject ever listened to and it is hoped that all persons interested in charity will be present to hear him. It will be given in the evening.

Repairing Fire Alarm.

C. W. Runyon, local manager of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, is repairing the whistle attachment of the fire alarm at the electric light plant headquarters. The present valve has been removed and another put in its place temporarily.

CONFLICTING STORIES.

Dantz Denied on the Stand That He Had a Knife, and Claimed That Verlardo Had Knocked Him Down, and That He Fought in Self Defence.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 16—Just as soon as the Verlardo case was concluded yesterday that of Gietano Dantz, charged with atrocious assault and battery on Salvatore Verlardo, was taken up and occupied the attention of Judge Schenck in the criminal court all of the day. Later in the afternoon the lawyers made their pleas. The court charged the jury this morning and it went out at about 11 o'clock.

The story of the scrap is about the same as that in the Verlardo case. There was bad blood between the Velardos and Dantz.

The prosecutor endeavored to prove that the three men had had a quarrel and that Dantz rushed across the street, with a knife in his hand, stabbing Salvatore three times in his left side. The blade penetrated the overcoat, undercoat and vest, but did not reach the flesh. The State rested its case at that point and the prosecutor objected to any evidence beyond that. Judge Schenck declined to entertain any evidence of the fight which ensued.

The defense admitted that Salvatore owed Dantz about $55 and that the latter demanded payment of his money at the house of one Perato, near the place where the assault was made. When the bridge was reached on their journey home, each going down different sides of the street, Dantz said he accepted the invitation of Salvatore to cross over on his side and as soon as he did Salvatore knocked him down. Dantz swore positively that he had no knife in his hand, but he had a penknife just before he crossed the street.

John A. Frech, of this place, was counsel for the defense.

James W. Miller, of North Plainfield, who is charged with bigamy, has retracted his plea of not guilty and pleaded non vult.

This is the last of the criminal cases.

The jury in the Dantz case came in at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon with a verdict of guilty of atrocious assault. He will probably be sentenced next week.

HOME AT LAST.

Mrs. Pryer's Pocketbook Was Found and She Resumed Her Journey to the South.

The pocket book, lost by Mrs. Elizabeth Pryer, an elderly colored woman, some days ago at the North Avenue station, was found and returned to the owner. William E. MacClymont picked it up on the station platform, and subsequently it was restored to the woman who was profuse in her thanks.

Mrs. Pryer, whose home is at Shores, Va., was returning to her home after spending some time in this city. She had been acting in the capacity of a domestic here and all her savings, amounting to a trifle over $13, was contained in the purse. After she had boarded a train, she missed the pocket book, and had to return to this city. Having received the lost valuables the woman again started on her journey southward.

NEXT COMMANDER OF THE NATIONAL GUARD

Brig. General Wanser Will Probably be Raised to the Chief Command.

HIS NEXT SUCCESSOR.

COLS. SMITH AND CAMPBELL ARE BOTH MENTIONED FOR THE PLACE.

Wanser Now Commands the First Brigade and Will be Logical Successor to the Late Gen. Sewell.

The probabilities are that Brig.-Gen. P. Farmer Wanser, of Jersey City, will be selected to succeed the late Maj.-Gen. William J. Sewell as commander of the entire National Guard of New Jersey. Gen. Wanser is the senior brigadier-general. He is now filling the position of major-general, and has been for some time during the illness which preceded the death of Gen. Sewell. Gen. Wanser commands the First Brigade and Gen. William H. Cooper the Second Brigade.

With the advancement of Gen. Wanser as commander of the entire Guard there will be a vacancy of commander of the First Brigade, and two names for that position of much honor have been freely mentioned. They are Col. Robert G. Smith, commandant of the Fourth Regiment, of Jersey City, and Col. Campbell, of the First Regiment, of Newark. According to the State Constitution, only the field officers of the regiments are entitled to vote for a brigadier-general, but there is a conflict on this question, as a recent State law provides that the commandants of Essex Troop and Battery A shall have a vote. This question has got to be settled before any Brigadier-General can be elected.

Gov. Voorhees cannot appoint a temporary successor to Gen. Sewell, as the appointment must be confirmed by the Senate. Governor-elect Murphy will appoint the new major-general, who will be the head of New Jersey's military forces. The fact that Col. Smith's name is mentioned for the vacancy which will be made if Gen. Wansre becomes major-general has been known for several days.

If Col. Smith should be advanced to Brigadier-General, he would, of course, have to resign the colonelcy of the regiment.

IONA COUNCIL'S BIRTHDAY

FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY WAS PROPERLY OBSERVED LAST NIGHT.

Presentations, Speeches and Dancing Occupied the Evening—Some Business Done.

The fifteenth anniversary of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, an auxiliary of the Independent Order of Red Men, was observed in Red Men's Hall, last evening, in an appropriate way. A large number of the members attended and after the business of the meeting had been transacted, all participated in a dance. Great Scout Stella B. Regan, of Paterson, was the only official visitor.

The Council was instituted December 14, 1892, with thirty-one charter members. It has grown as the years have passed until today there are eighty-five members in the organization. During its short existence the Council has paid out in sick and death benefits over $7,325, and its condition today is financially good.

During the affair last evening two handsome past Pocohontas regalias were pesented to members of the council. Prophetess Miss Daisy Snyder, who has gone through the chairs, received one and Collector of Wampum Mrs. Ruey Mattis, who has served for five years, was given another. The presentation speeches were made by Great Prophet William Newcorn and he made a neat speech. Each of the recipients responded to the Great Prophet's remarks.

Before the business session was concluded three propositions for membership were acted upon and two propositions were received. Some initiations were scheduled to take place, but on account of the occasion these were postponed. The affair ended in a dance, which a large number enjoyed. Suhr's orchestra furnished the music. Refreshments were served during the course of the evening.

READY FOR ICE CROP.

Tier Will Harvest It in a Few Days if the Weather Does Not Moderate Too Much.

If the weather does not moderate too much between now and the forepart of next week, John H. Tier, Sr., of Bank place, will commence the work of cutting ice. The ice is now about eight and one half inches in thickness and is of good quality. With the exception of a little snow on the surface, the ice is very clear and clean. The entire pond is frozen over, but the weather of the past day or so has not tended to increase the thickness of the ice.

Mr. Tier has accommodations in his houses for 2,000 tons of ice. If the weather remains cold enough he may fill the houses. If the weather should not produce a large crop of ice, Mr Tier will not suffer a great deal as his present supply will last him until the first of next July. Mr. Tier only uses his ice for the manufacture of ices and cream, having given up the sale of it some time ago.

CENTRAL'S BIG SHOPS ARE NEARLY READY

Some Idea of the Extent of the Mammoth Plant Now Almost Completed.

ARE WELL EQUIPPED.

WILL PROVIDE THE ROAD WITH PROPER FACILITIES FOR REPAIRING.

Brief Description of Some of the Most Important of the Buildings Which Have Been Constructed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 16—The lack of proper facilities, so far as rolling stock is concerned, will soon be overcome by the New Jersey Central Railroad Company. The enormous freight and passenger traffic has taxed to the utmost the capacity of the road, and has handicapped it to a great extent. The new shops, which have been located on the upland and meadows at Elizabethport, will overcome this drawback at an early date.

The erecting shop will be a big plant by itself. It and the boilershop and the machine shop form a building 700 feet long and 135 feet wide. Three tracks will pass through the entire length of the structure. Two powerful electric cranes will traverse the entire length of it under the roof for the purpose of handling the materials required for the repair of engines and tanks. Proper drop pits and other appliances for working underneath the engines have been installed.

Adjacent to this large and high section of the shop has been placed the machine shop bays. In the first of these bays, adjoining the erecting shop all of the large and heavy tools will be placed and the material will be delivered to and received from the tools by means of two electric cranes of high speed, which traverses the entire shop.

Outside of this bay again is another bay of the same width, but of a slightly less height, which contains the smaller tools which will be served by air lifts. This arrangement permits of an desired extent and also an increase in the length of it. At one end of the building the riveting tower has been placed, with a crane for its special service, the tower being carried up 70 feet above ground with one of the largest riveters anywhere in use installed for the riveting and repair of the boilers.

This building has installed in it machine tools required for the rapid prosecution of the work. They will in general be operated by means of electric motors on the most improved system with special facilities for getting the work to and from the tool and with other facilities for materially increasing the output of the tool.

The blacksmith shop is also a big affair. Tracks enter at both ends and in one case from the transfer table. In the building are hammers and forges required for the working of steel into the various shapes required. Other buildings on the grounds are the storage house, power house, coaling and watering station, and round house. When in running order the great burden which has rested on the shoulders of the management of the road will be relieved.

SEWELL LEFT ALL TO WIDOW.

Will Provides That at Her Death Property Goes to His Children.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camden, Jan. 16—The will of the late United States Senator Sewell was admitted to probate by Surrogate West, of this county, Monday. The document was executed on October 28, 1898, and was witnessed by William Battle, Henry J. Rumrille and Joseph H. Gaskill. Mrs. Sewell, the widow; William Joyce Sewell, son, and the Camden Safe Deposit and Trust Company are the executors.

All the property is left to the widow during her life, and at her death it will be divided equally among the Senator's five children—William Joyce Sewell, Robert Sewell, Sarah Sewell, Helen S. THIS IS BIG MONTH FOR FRATERNAL ORDERS

Nearly All the Local Organizations are Holding Installation Ceremonies Now.

PUBLIC INSTALLATIONS.

SOME QUESTION AS TO MOST SATISFACTORY TERM OF OFFICE.

Six Months or One Year Appear to be Most Satisfactory—Strange Titles are Given to Some Familiar Offices.

January is the month when the officers of fully ninety-nine per cent. of all the lodges in Plainfield are installed in their respective offices and enter upon the discharge of the duties assigned to them by the rituals which govern them.

A few years ago there were several orders with the term of office in the subordinate lodges only three months in duration. This meant four new corps of officers a year. Practical experience demonstrated that this was entirely too short a period to allow an officer to plan any successful work, and the limit was extended to six months. The six months term prevails in about seventy per cent. of the orders, while the remaining number consider a one-year term about right and of sufficient duration to enable a corps of officers not only to become versed in their work, but to develop plans for the betterment of their lodges and to accomplish a net increase in membership.

The one-year term advocates are gaining recruits yearly and their claims appear to be well founded. In an order where the ritual is elaborate and the laws complex, it is very difficult to find an officer who is able to master these necessary things in less than three months. During the summer months the attendance of members is below the average and very little initiatory work is done. Unless the officer keeps reviewing his work constantly, he will forget parts of it. When the fall months come he is ready for active work, and before he is fairly started it is time to elect his successor. Especially are these things true in lodges meeting twice each month, and they apply with considerable force to those holding weekly meetings.

Against the one-year term is urged the fact that it is more difficult to secure an officer to serve that length of time than it would be for the term of six months. Competent officers are to be found in every lodge and the more trying and exacting the office the better the service on the part of the officer who realizes that enough time is given him to perfect himself in the duties of his position. While it may be true that incompetent officers are frequently secured because they think their term of office is short and they will soon have the honors of a past officer, it is equally true that many competent members will not accept an office on account of the short space of time allowed to them.

It has been estimated that there are over 20,000 lodges in this country. Each lodge has at least ten officers. This makes it safe to say that at least 200,000 officers will be installed during the present month. Each will take an obligation to do certain things and to refrain from doing other things. Pledges of fidelity to the order will be renewed; promises to render faithful service exacted and each officer will declare his or her intention to attend meetings regularly, not only to discharge the duties of office, but to inspire the floor members to come out and assume some of the work to be done to insure success. All these promises will be made in good faith. Many of them will surely be broken, but in the majority of cases they will be kept and the work of guiding the destinies of the more than 20,000 lodges will go on for the year.

Every office in a lodge carries with it an official title. Many are ordinary ters, easily spoken, but some are almost unknown to the ordinary individual aud unpronounceable to many people.

A member of several orders who holds offices in two or three has some very peculiar titles attached to his name. The officer who holds the pen may be called the keeper of records and seal in one order, the scribbler in another, plain secretary in many, the ink horn guard in another, and the quill driver in the fifth, and by that time he will have no spare time to accept office in another order and attend to his work in the five. The presiding officer is known by more titles than any other officer. He is president to one, concillor in many, sachem, regent, master workman, chancellor commander, plain commander, ruler, noble grand, worshipful master, dictator, protector and many others.

And so on through the list down to the names almost unheard of, but all constituting titles and carrying with them due authority to lead the members and guide them in the proper methods of transacting fraternal order business with justice to all and favor to none.

Public installation of officers is a ceremony that is becoming popular with many orders. A different form of ritual is used and friends of the members are invited to attend and see the new officers inducted into office. In the lecture which follows, the good points of the organization are brought out, circulars are distributed among those who do not belong and an invitation given to consider the matter of joining.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It was authoritatively announced this morning that Senator Charles A. Reed, of Somerset county, had declared himself as a candidate for State Treasurer, the vacancy to which ex-Mayor Frank O. Briggs of Trenton recently was appointed ad interim by Governor Voorhees. Senator Reed's friends said that he was making an earnest effort to obtain the pledges of the Republican Senators in his support, and that his candidacy was favorably regarded by State Controller Hancock, Barker Gummere, Congressman Loudenslager and others—New York Tribune.

The gathering at Trenton last night of the Republican clans failed in any way to unravel the senatorial complication. After all the talk, corner conferences and vociferous claims, the situation remained wrapped in uncertainty. The section of the State south of the Raritan has votes enough to name the senator if they could be united upon one candidate, but this seems impossible. An effort may be made to hold a caucus of the South Jersey member, but the chances are that it will fall through. Some of them are already pledged to North Jersey candidates, while others will not take the chances under caucus rules to support a man whom they consider unfit for the position.

This is so generally recognized that speculation is confined mainly as to which of the candidates from North Jersey will be able to secure the bulk of South Jersey's votes when the break comes. On this point all kinds of stories are told with more or less semblance of verity. As a matter of fact, nobody can say with any degree of assurance whether Mr. Griggs or Mr. Dryden will reap the greater benefit. Powerful interests are arrayed upon either side and the solution is likely to remain in doubt up to the hour of going into caucus.—Newark News.

It is a matter for congratulation that two of the leading candidates for the United States Senate are poor men. Of late years the cry is often heard that the Senate is a "Millionaires' Club," and that no man can secure membership in this club unless he is enormously wealthy, the implication being that he buys his way in. This he may do by bribing legislators, as has recently been done in some western States, or the position may be bought by liberal contributions to the party fund. John W. Griggs and Edward C. Stokes are poor men. Their high characters and fine attainments eminently qualify either of them to discharge the duties of a United States Senator with credit to this State.

While we do not mean to imply that any of the candidates would use money to obtain the office, although persistent rumors to this effect are commonly heard, yet it would be an honorable and, to a degree, a notable thing for New Jersey to send a poor but brainy man to represent her at Washington. It would show that this State is determined to give men of moderate means a chance to rise to distinction in politics.

Such a course would also meet with the approval of the vast body of workingmen whose votes keep the Republican party in power.

In taking this view we do not mean to discredit the characters and abilities of other candidates who may happen to be rich. But we do maintain that, in these days, every possible encouragement should be given to a talented, poor man in politics. That he has been in politics for years and is still comparatively poor is strong evidence of his absolute honesty. It is well known that politics is a lucrative trade if men are inclined to fill their purses at the expense of the public. Honest men are in great demand. But what encouragement has a man to be honest if he sees the man with the cash always step in before him?—Trenton Times.

There is no more palatable dish these cold wintry mornings than sausage and there is no better sausage than Flemington. Leave your order with R. W. Barnes, the Park avenue delicatessen dealer.

Scientists declare that pure confection is not harmful, but on the contrary is beneficial to the system. The confection manufactured and sold by O. A. Campbell, of West Front street, is made on these lines and it can be eaten with perfect safety.

In these days when disease of one kind and another is prevalent it is highly essential that only pure milk be used in the home. The kind that always stands the test for absolute purity is that sold by Wm. Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue.

"The flowers that bloom in the spring" are not a whit better than thing about the spring and summer styles in men's clothing. If you really want to know the latest decree in fashion call on M. J. Cashin, of Park avenue. There is no better authority.

There is a merry rush to get vaccinated and lots of vaccine and vaccine shields are being used. C. E. Hepburn & Co., the druggists, at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, have a large stock on hand. A 'phone message will bring you the vaaccine.

America has no National flower and it would be difficult to choose one, when it is considered that there are so many beautiful kinds. The most gogeous flowers may be obtained at William H. Brower's Sons, 946 Broadway, N. Y., or by leaving an order with J. L. Brower, 127 East Fifth street.

The fame of the pretty and dainty laces sold at Peck's is far-reaching. A few days ago a prominent woman living in Boston, hearing of the reliable goods sold by Peck, ordered a half dozen pieces of lace to be sent to her address. In her letter the woman spoke of the high praise of the quality of lace goods sold by Peck. This one of many such instances showing the popularity of Peck's goods.

The old residenters say winters aren't what they used to be. The thermometer doesn't flirt with the zero mark very frequently and the present snow storms are mere squalls according to their version. This may be so, but still, its plenty cold enough for those splendid furs, which Lederer sells, to be made good use of. A large line of neck scarfs and muffs are being disposed of at one third below cost.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

LIVELY DISCUSSION.

Senator Hale Opposes Naval Reserve Organization.

HIS VIEWS VIGOROUSLY ATTACKED.

Senator From Maine Explains His Position—The House Fixes Date For the McKinley Memorial Services as Feb. 27.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A spirited discussion was precipitated in the senate yesterday by some remarks submitted by Mr. Hale (Me.) in respect to bills relating to the formation of a naval reserve which he introduced. He took strong ground against the organization of a naval reserve, his comments being construed by some of the senators into a reflection upon volunteer soldiers and land militia. Half a dozen senators were on their feet in an instant to defend the volunteers and the national guard of the various states, and the debate took so wide a range that senators went back in their references to the days of the Revolutionary war to seek illustrations for their arguments. While no action was possible at this time, it is likely the discussion upon the measures, should they be reported, will be very lively. No business of special importance was transacted, the time of the senate being consumed by matters of routine.

After the adjournment of the senate Mr. Hale said the naval reserve bills introduced by him had been presented by request of persons interested in such legislation. In the same manner he had introduced bills representing both the navy department's views and that of individuals or organizations on the question of a naval reserve. He personally, however, did not stand committed to any of them, and he questioned whether any satisfactory results would come from them.

The house passed the pension appropriation bill, which has been under discussion for three days, and then adjourned until Saturday. The resolution prepared by the special committee on the McKinley memorial exercises providing for an address by Secretary of State John Hay in the hall of representatives Feb. 27 was adopted.

Hundreds of Dead Mules.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—It is believed in shipping circles here that a British transport laden with American mules bound for South Africa has been intercepted and blown up by a Boer spy in the gulf of Mexico or has foundered. A schooner arriving on the lower coast reports hundreds of dead mules floating for a distance of thirty miles. This news has greatly stirred shippers here, who fear that further desperate attempts will be made to stop the export of mules to Cape Town.

Elkins Buys Coal Lands.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Jan. 16.—It was announced here that Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia has bought 9,000 acres of coal land in the Pittsburg vein on the Sand fork of the Little Kanawha river at a cost of $225,000. The senator is already an extensive land owner in that locality, which is to be tapped by an extension of the Little Kanawha railroad.

Suicide Instead of Murder.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 16.—After a searching examination of twenty-seven witnesses the grand jury of Orange county has decided that Isaac C. Van Duser, who was found dead in his house near here a month ago, committed suicide and was not the victim of foul play. Van Duzer left a large estate solely to his wife.

ARBITRATION PLANS

Chile's Delegates at American Congress Obstinate.

THEY OPPOSE COMPULSORY SCHEME.

Official Plan of Acceptance of The Hague Conference Signed by All the Delegates Except Those of Chile and Ecuador.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 16.—The plan for the adherence of the nations represented at the pan-American congress to The Hague convention has been introduced by the Chilean delegation after a statement tending to show the advantages of The Hague convention and the impracticability of compulsory arbitration. The plan for the adherence of the nations of America to The Hague convention is as follows:

"The states represented at the second international American conference resolve:

"First.—To adhere to the conventions signed at The Hague by the powers represented at the international peace conference (a) for the peaceful adjustment of international differences, (b) for the adaptation to maritime warfare of the principles of the Geneva convention of Aug. 22, 1864, and (c) with respect to the laws and usages of land war.

"Second.—To confer in order to attain that end upon the United States of America and the United States of Mexico, signatory governments to said conventions, authority to take the necessary steps to establish (or secure) the adherence of nonsignatory powers."

The following is the official plan of acceptance of The Hague convention signed by the delegates to the pan-American conference, with the exception of Chile, who, it is claimed, for purposes of obstruction presented an independent plan, and Ecuador, who has sided with Chile throughout the conference:

"Article 1.—The American republics represented at the international conference at Mexico and which were not parties to the three conventions signed at The Hague on July 29, 1899, recognize the principles set forth in those conventions as part of the public international law of the Americas.

"Article 2.—The acceptance of the conventions which are open when once ratified by the several governments shall be communicated by those governments through diplomatic channels to the government of the Netherlands.

"Article 3.—As it is anxiously expedient that the controversies which it may be agreed to submit to arbitration should be confined to the confirmation of a tribunal of so high a character as is the permanent arbitration court of The Hague and also that the American nations which did not sign the convention which created so beneficent an institution may be able to have recourse to it by virtue of a recognized and accepted right, and taking, moreover, into consideration the offices tendered by the government of the United States of America and the United States of Mexico, the conference bestows on said governments the mission of negotiating with other powers who signed the convention for the pacific adjustment of international differences to the end that the nations of America which did not sign the convention may now become parties thereto."

On an additional article the signatory nations empower the Mexican government in the interval between the present and the next pan-American conference to communicate with other governments of America with a view to ascertaining the practicability of concluding a still more comprehensive plan of arbitration. If these steps are successful, a further treaty will be concluded between two or more of the nations in question, and in any event Mexico will report at the next conference as to the success of her efforts in this direction.

Gold Found In West Virginia.

ELKINS, W. Va., Jan. 16.—There is excitement in the vicinity of Elkins, and land values have arisen as the result of the discovery of ore containing gold, silver and lead on the farm of Isaiah Isner while excavating for the coal and iron extension of the West Virginia Central. PRINCE HENRY'S TRIP

Will Sail From Bremen For America Feb. 15.

ROYALTY MAKING ELABORATE PLANS.

Entertainment on Board Imperial Yacht Hohenzollern to Be In Fine Style—Reception Programme at Washington.

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—Prince Henry is to sail for the United States on the Kronprinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd line Feb. 15 to attend the launching of the kaiser's yacht at Staten Island. Cabins have been engaged for a suit of fifteen persons. The vessel, though taking other passengers, will first touch at Newport News, where Prince Henry and his party will be transferred to the imperial yacht Hohenzollern.

The movements of the yacht thereafter are not absolutely determined upon. The present programme is to ascend the Potomac river to Washington, where Prince Henry will exchange calls with President Roosevelt. Prince Henry and the president may then go to the launching together. This portion of the programme will depend of course on its acceptance at Washington.

German naval officers are eager for assignments to accompany Prince Henry to the United States, and many young noblemen are bringing influence to bear to obtain appointments for this duty. The list of possible appointments is already several times larger than the suit which can be sent with Prince Henry. This pressure to secure places may cause the prince's suit to be enlarged. The lack of accommodations for a number of persons on board the Hohenzollern is the real reason why Prince Henry does not sail on the imperial yacht.

Elaborate preparations are being made for social entertainments on board the Hohenzollern. By the emperor's special orders a splendid silver service has been sent to Kiel from the royal silver treasures in the old schloss. His majesty personally inspected the treasures and selected the service, which is to be used on board the Hohenzollern on special occasions.

Emperor William's programme is that Prince Henry shall reciprocate the New York and Washington festivities with a grand banquet on board the Hohenzollern, inviting the president, the members of the cabinet and others. The curator of the silver treasures goes to the United States on the Hohenzollern to take care of the valuable wares.

Evans to Arrange Programme.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Secretary Long has called Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans into consultation respecting the coming visit to the United States of Prince Henry of Germany. The rear admiral has not yet been given written orders detailing him to act as the representative of the navy at the reception, but that matter has been agreed upon, and Secretary Long has charged Admiral Evans with the preparation of a naval programme for the reception. In view of the number of distinguished officers who are now reported to be about to accompany the prince on his visit it is evident that Admiral Evans will require the assistance of a number of junior officers. They will be detailed as occasion requires. It is assumed at the war department, though orders have not yet been issued, that Major General Brooke, as the commander in chief of the department of the east, will represent the United States army in the reception.

Sworn as Postmaster General.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—In the presence of the cabinet, the entire Wisconsin delegation in congress, Governor Durbin of Indiana, Senator Hanna and others, Henry C. Payne of Wisconsin was sworn in as postmaster general at 10:05 o'clock yesterday in the cabinet room at the White House. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Fuller. The retiring postmaster general, Charles Emory Smith, was present, as well as Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Payne.

A Year's Fire Loss.

LEBANON, Ill., Jan. 16.—Professor B. F. Slaymates, statistician of the Illinois Firemen's association, has completed statistics for the last year showing the total fire loss in the United States to be $103,500,000. Twenty per cent of the fires were reported due to defective flues.

City's Industries Paralyzed.

SENATOR REED'S CANDIDACY.

The announcement that State Senator Charles A. Reed was a candidate for the position of State treasurer was a decided surprise to most Plainfielders. While there is no doubt that Senator Reed deserves the place if he desires it, the general supposition has been that his future political rewards would come in other ways. There are public offices where, it is believed, his recognized talents would be utilized to better advantage while they would not be called into action as head of the State Treasury. His ability, however, to fill this place is not questioned.

There is no doubt of the fact that Senator Reed today is one of the most prominent men in the Republican ranks of the State. His influence in Somerset county is pre-eminent despite the attempts of his political rivals in the county to oppose him. He has done much for his party in that county and has been a powerful representative for Somerset county in the State Legislature. His prominent position in the legislative circles has given Somerset county much more than it might ever hope to get from a representative, not so well known, no matter how able a man.

Senator Reed has been a valuable man to the Republican party of New Jersey. He has been instrumental in swinging his county into the Republican column and holding it there. Then he has served his party in other ways. It is therefore eminently fitting that he should receive an office from the State as long as he is well fitted to fill it satisfactorily.

There are many who would like to see Senator Reed in the gubernatorial chair or in Congress. He possesses the ability to fill either position with dignity and honor. The office of State treasurer is one of honor and trust, however. If Senator Reed prefers it, by all means let the Republicans of the State give it to him. He can fill it well and it will be but a partial payment of the debt which his party owes him.

There are few of us who realize what an excellent city government we possess. Of course, the men who compose it are but human and therefore liable to err at times but the fact remains that the municipal machinery is conducted in a way which will invite comparison with that of any city in the United States. The present cause for these words is the work which the Plainfield Board of Health is doing. No city was ever better prepared to take care of that dread disease than is Plainfield today. It could not be done in a hurry, either, it required much preliminary work. With remarkable foresight, the board started last summer and now is able to cope with the situation and protect the health of the community without trouble. With so many people travelling daily into the sections where the small-pox exists, it was impossible to keep the dread disease out. But once here, it will be looked after with unceasing vigilance and any epidemic of it prevented.

It must have given the officials of the New Jersey Central an unpleasant feeling when they saw yesterday's New York Herald containing a lengthy story and several cuts descriptive of the draw bridge over Newark bay. The inference was thrown out that the present bridge was unsafe. Several other complaints of the Central's commuters were also given considerable prominence. While there is no doubt that the present draw bridge is safe, yet it might be a good plan if the railroad company hurried up its plans, announced sometime ago, to replace the present structure with a new and modern one.

It seems a subject for great regret that such a valuable collection of curios as that owned by the late Col. Julian Scott be allowed to leave this city. It would make a valuable acquisition to the Public Library and Art Gallery. Some public spirited citizen or citizens could win the thanks of the whole community by purchasing the collection and making a present of it to the city. It is certainly true that it ought not to be allowed to leave Plainfield.

Somerset county can claim the honor of having the oldest representative in the Lower House of the State Legislature. During the year that Mr. Hoagland has been a member of that body, he has grown rapidly in favor with his colleagues.

Although he has only been in this city a comparatively brief period, Rev. Father Eagan, the new rector of St. Mary's R. C. church, has made a very favorable impression on all those who have had the opportunity to meet him.

There are to be no Star Chamber sessions of the city and borough Boards of Health, both organizations have declared in favor of giving full publicity to all the facts concerning the progress of small-pox here.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

DON'T BE AN OLD FOGY!
Keep pace with your day and generation.
The man who does not avail himself of modern methods is right at the outset giving himself a handicap that scarcely the wit of a Mark Twain or a genius of an Edison can overcome,
He who writes his correspondence with a pen instead of using a New Century Typewriter is "behind the times." He is making himself a plodder when he might be a leader. If you are using another typewriter—one of the slow, nerve racking kind, get rid of it quick.
The New Century economizes time and does PERFECT WORK.
It does more work and BETTER WORK than any other typewriter. It wears longer and is a better investment. It is the twentieth century method of handling correspondence.
Easiest to operate—safest to buy.

CUBA POSTAL FRAUDS.

Rathbone Is Questioned Regarding Use of Government Funds.

HAVANA, Jan. 16.—When the trial of the charges growing out of the Cuban postoffice frauds was resumed here yesterday, Estes G. Rathbone, ex-director of posts of Cuba, was examined on the matter of having paid for furnishing his official residence in El Cerro, Havana, from the postal accounts.

Rathbone said he believed that such bills should be so charged, that all vouchers for furnishing this official residence were indorsed and that all the furnishings were accounted for and afterward returned to the government. He said the salary of his coachman was paid from the postal funds and that when ex-Postmaster General Smith came to Havana he rode in Rathbone's carriage and that at Smith's suggestion he (Rathbone) had bought a uniform for his coachman from the postal funds. The government has disallowed these accounts, charging them against Rathbone.

A Medal For Every One.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Seventy-five hundred medals is the estimate of navy department officials of the number of tokens of recognition which are to be ordered for the officers and men who participated in the memorable West Indian naval campaign of the Spanish-American war. A West Indian campaign medal will be bestowed on every officer and man who was in that campaign. The naval board on awards recently has been engaged in deciding upon a number of engagements to be singled out for special commemoration, participation in which will mean an extra bar for each person, to be attached to the West Indian campaign medal. The battle of Santiago Bay heads the list of these, and the board has decided upon the following other engagements which in its opinion merit special distinction: Cienfuegos, Cardenas, Santiago (cable cutting expedition), three days' fight at Guantanamo, three fights at Manzanillo and Nipe bay.

Ontario Elections.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 16.—There was much interest taken here in the federal elections. The great surprise to the Conservatives was the victory of Archie Campbell in West York. He pulled down a Conservative majority of over 800 to a minority of about 200. West Durham, which had also gone Conservative at the last general elections, has turned Liberal again. The result of yesterday's voting in the nine constituencies is that seven have gone Liberal and two Conservative, the opposition losing two ridings, one of which, West York, has been one of their strongholds.

Schley Entertained at Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 16.—Admiral Schley was entertained by Palestine commandery, Knights Templars, with a reception and banquet at the Masonic temple last night. The hall was decorated with the national colors, a rear admiral's flag and palms. The large banquet room was filled with ladies and gentlemen, the function having been broadened so as to include Mrs. Schley in the compliment tendered.

Blaze In Pennsylvania Town.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 16.—Erie, Pa., reports a disastrous conflagration broke out about 9 o'clock last evening at Edinboro, sixteen miles from that city, and before it could be stopped swept away many of the business houses and residences in its path. As Edinboro has no fire protection Erie was asked for assistance and sent a steamer to fight the fire over the Erie and Edinboro Traction company tracks.

Killed Her Baby Sister.

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 16.—Nellie Cornelison, the eleven-year-old girl who killed her baby sister with a razor and charged her five-year-old brother with the crime, has confessed that she did it, but was unable to assign any reason for the act. She said the notion to kill her sister came into her head and that she could not resist her sudden passion for blood.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 16.—At the annual meeting of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway held here there was no change in officers. The gross earnings for the year 1901 were $7,945,831 and the net earnings $2,476,699. The net earnings increased $2,090,563 over those of 1900.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 16.—The Rees & Wirsching block, on Los Angeles street, has been almost totally destroyed by fire, together with the saddlery establishment of the Hayden & Lewis company and the coffee and spice house of Newark Bros. The loss is $150,000.

HARKEN YE.

To the Voice of Plainfield People.

If you will but listen to your friends and neighbors, they will tell how the pains of a bad back, the nervousness, the restlessness that come from kidney ills can be relieved and cured. Read what one Plainfield citizen says.

Mrs. R. Wortman, living with her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Cook, of 204 Somerset street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results for severe pains across my back and hips, which no doubt was caused by the kidneys being out of order. It was painful for me to stoop or bend forward and I could not sit ten minutes in one position, but had to be continually changing about. I used many different kinds of medicine recommended for kidney trouble, but I could not see that any of them benefitted me. Doan's Kidney Pills were procured for me at L. W. Randolph's drug store and it is the only remedy I ever used that gave me any relief. I always keep a supply of them on hand and would not think of being without them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Was an Antiexpansionist Until He Went to the Philippines.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 16.—Dr. A. L. Hazlett, a member of the committee appointed by President McKinley to investigate the moral conditions in the Philippines, who has just arrived from Manila, said in an interview:

"I went there an antiexpansionist and came back firmly believing that we should hold the islands and do what we can for them."

Dr. Hazlett made an exhaustive study of the morality question and concluded that the morals of the country are much better than is generally believed. The American government, he says, is doing everything in its power to suppress vice and maintain a high moral standard, and he thinks it is succeeding.

He says there will be antipathy for Americans for at least two generations.

Hotel Thieves Caught.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—The hotel thieves who got away from the St. Charles hotel with a trunk containing $2,500 worth of jewelry belonging to F. E. Manners, a Chicago salesman, were caught above Gretna, on the opposite side of the river, while trying to make their escape with their booty, much of which was recovered. Manners had a room in the hotel, which he shared with T. K. Looney of Lexington. While he was absent and Looney was also away one of the men rushed into the hotel, represented himself as Looney, paid the latter's bill and had the baggage put into a cab, which was hurriedly driven to catch the 10:25 Mississippi Valley train. The men missed the train and were driven to a boarding house. There they opened the trunk, put the jewelry in their grip and slipped away.

Minister to Korea Wants New House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Secretary Hay has sent to the house of representatives a request for a legation building at Seoul, Korea, to cost $40,000. A letter from Minister Allen which accompanies the request presents some interesting and amusing facts. He says that the ceilings of the present quarters are 6 feet 6 inches from the floor, while he is 6 feet 2 inches tall. When he stands at the front door, his silk hat touches the eaves. He says our quarters are a disgrace to the country and that this is emphasized by the handsome buildings of other governments.

No Hope For Bristol's Crew.

PORT TOWNSHEND, Wash., Jan. 16.—All hope of Captain James McIntyre and comrades of the ill fated steamer Bristol being alive was dispelled on the arrival of the steamer Cottage City from the north. Captain Wallace, who picked up the survivors, says that he believes that the others went down with the vessel when she slid from the reef, and even if they had got clear from the ship it would have been almost impossible for their small boat to have lived in the sea which was raging at the time.

A Prosperous Railway.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—The directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company at their regular monthly meeting approved the report showing the operations of the system for the fiscal year ending Nov. 30, 1901, and authorized the submission of the same to the stockholders for their approval at the annual meeting on Tuesday next. The report shows a surplus of $574,612 as against a deficit of a year ago of $2,077,797. The total earnings were $26,683,534, an increase of $3,634,251.

Dudley Buck Resigns.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Dudley Buck, for twenty-five years organist of Holy Trinity church in Brooklyn and a composer of wide reputation, has resigned. In the quarter of a century that he presided in the choir loft he has missed only two services. Mr. Buck's resignation will take effect from May 1. Dudley Buck is sixty-three years old. He was born at Hartford, Conn., and from that city went to Chicago, where he remained until after the great fire.

Dear Sirs—Two years ago I had very bad corns and callouses on my feet, I went to a chiropodist and paid him $5.75 for taking them off. In less than a month they were back again. I then tried your CORN CURE and used only three bottles, costing 45c, and am happy to say it has taken them off completely. They have not troubled me now for over a year. I consider your HEPBURN'S CORN CURE the best I have ever used.—Yours truly, R. O. RUNYON, 629 LaGrande Ave.

R·I·P·A·N·S
"For many years I was a sufferer from dyspepsia," says a Philadelphia, Pa., housewife. "I tried doctors and medicines of all kinds. I was advised to try Ripans Tabules, and feel it my duty to tell you that they cured me. I would not be without them. My whole family takes Ripans Tabules for all ills and finds them very beneficial. They are worth their weight in gold. All my friends and neighbors are surprised at my altered appearance. Nothing would stay on my stomach. I was in such misery that I could not sleep at night. My stomach was so sore I could not lie down, but had to sit up in a chair. After taking two or three Tabules I felt a change. I laid down that night for the first time in many weeks and have been steadily improving, until now I feel like a different woman. I consider Ripans Tabules a perfect remedy and recommend them to every one."

DRESS ACCESSORIES.

Trifles Which Every Well Dressed Woman Should Possess.

Many are the dainty trifles which increase the beauty of a costume. Collars of pearls are still as stylish as ever, and a single string of them is worn looped over the top of the collar. Dog collars made of strands of the narrowest velvet ribbon are smart additions to a decollete gown. The ribbons are held together by jeweled slides to match the ribbon.

Huge jeweled flowers are taking the place of the omnipresent rosette. Wreaths of baby roses are worn by those who are still young, and they give a quaint look to a pretty face. Bunches of marabou feathers are smart for matrons. Draperies of jeweled tulle are held together by jeweled buttons and form smart evening sleeves on dinner and dancing frocks.

Smart sashes of Persian chiffon or panne have the ends embroidered with black lace butterflies, and the girdle proper is run through slides of jet.

Many fancy fronts are being worn with dressy tailor mades. One of the prettiest of these is shown in the illustration. It is made of pale blue chiffon over liberty satin. The square yoke is collarless, and from this three bands of guipure run the length of the waist. There is a yoke of tucks, and the fullness is held into a folded belt of pale blue velvet. JUDIC CHOLLET.

EVENING GOWNS.

Leaf and Flower Designs Ornament the Richest of Them.

Handsome gowns are made of white and black mousseline de soie. A favorite way of trimming the white gowns consists of stamping them with floral designs. These designs are outlined with silver spangles, and the inner shading is done with washes of gray water color. This gives a very shimmering and dainty effect. A gown recently made by Worth for Minnie Maddern Fiske carried out this idea. It was relieved by touches of turquoise blue liberty satin.

The beautiful evening gown in the illustration is made of sheer white all over lace. It has two linings, the upper one of mousseline and the under one of taffeta. The skirt and waist are covered with leaf applications of black mousseline outlined by silver spangles. The stems joining these leaves are also of silver spangles. Here and there is placed a fluffy pale yellow rose made out of chiffon, with a flower center. The belt is of folded panne. The sleeves reach to the elbow and consist of two small shoulder capes, into which are gathered soft transparent puffs of mousseline. JUDIC CHOLLET.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

I next noted the name and address of the vessel's owner, and resolved to pay him a visit next morning. It would be hard if I could not learn from him something concerning Mr. Hayle, and where he had gone on landing.

"I think those are all the questions I want to ask you at present," I said, closing my note-book. "It would be as well perhaps for you to furnish me with your address, in order that I may communicate with you, should it be necessary."

"At present," said Kitwater, "we are staying with my niece at the village of Bishopstowe in Surrey. My late brother was vicar of the parish for many years, and he left his daughter a small property in the neighborhood. They tell me it is a pretty place, but, as you are aware, I unfortunately cannot see it, and my friend Codd here cannot talk to me about it?"

He heaved a heavy sigh and then rose to depart.

"I must again express my gratitude to you, Mr. Fairfax," he said, "for having consented to take up the case. I feel certain you will ultimately be successful. I will leave you to imagine with what anxiety we shall await any news you may have to give us."

"I will communicate with you as soon as I have anything to report," I answered. "You may rely upon my doing my best to serve you. By the way, are you aware that your niece called upon me this morning?"

He gave a start of surprise.

"No, I certainly did not know it," he replied. "She said nothing to us of such an intention. I know that she is heart and soul with us in our desire to find Hayle. But since you have seen her you probably know that?"

"I think I do," I returned, for some reason almost abruptly.

"She is a good girl," said Kitwater, and then took from his pocket an envelope which he handed to me.

"By the way, I brought this with me," he said, "in the hope that we should be able to induce you to accede to our wishes. Inside you will find a £100 note, which should be sufficient to cover any preliminary expenses. If you need more, perhaps you will be kind enough to communicate with me at once, and it shall be sent you. A receipt can be forwarded to me at your leisure."

I thanked him and placed the envelope upon the table. In my own mind I felt that it would be an easy matter to guess whence the sum had come, and for a reason that I could not then analyze, and therefore am unable to describe, the thought irritated me.

Having assured them that the amount would be quite sufficient, in the event of nothing unforeseen happening, to last for some considerable time to come, I conducted them to the door, again repeating the promise that I would communicate with them so soon as I had anything to report. If I had only known then, that, at the very moment when they stepped into the street, the man they wanted me to find for them, and whom they hated so desperately, was standing in a shop on the other side of the road, keeping an eye on my door, and evidently watching for their departure, how much trouble and vexation of spirit we should all have been saved. But I did not know this until long afterwards, and then of course the information came too late to be of any service to us.

Next morning I was early at the office, being desirous of winding up another little matter before I turned my attention to the new affair. One of my subordinates had just returned from the continent whither I had sent him to keep an eye on a certain pseudo-French marquis with whom I expected to have dealings at no distant date. He reported that the gentleman in question had broken the bank at Monte Carlo, had staked and lost all his winnings next day, and had shot himself on the promenade on the evening following. With his death the affair, on which I had confidently expected to be employed, came to an end. I could not say that I was altogether sorry.

"I shall want you to leave on Friday, Turner, for St. Petersburg," I said, when he had finished his report and I had commented upon it. "Do you remember Paulus Scevanovitch, who was concerned in that attempt to defraud the Parisian jewelers, Maurel & Co., two years ago?"

"Yes, sir, I remember him perfectly," Turner replied. "A tall, burly man, with a bushy beard, the top of his little finger on the left hand missing, and a long white scar over his right eyebrow."

"The same," I answered. "I see you have not forgotten him. Well, I want you to find him out, and let me have an exact account of his movements during the next three weeks. The office will arrange your expenses in the usual way, and you had better leave by the mail train. In all probability I shall see you off."

"Very good, sir," the man responded, and withdrew.

He had scarcely gone before one of my clerks entered the room and handed me a card. On it was printed the name of Mr. Edward Bayley, and in the left-hand bottom corner was the announcement that he was the managing director of the Santa Cruz Mining company of Forzoda in the Argentine Republic.

"Show the gentleman in, Walters," I said.

In a few minutes a tall, handsome man, irreproachably turned out, entered the office. He seated himself in a chair the clerk placed for him, put his hat and umbrella on another, and then turned to me.

"My card has made you familiar with my name, Mr. Fairfax," he began, "and doubtless, if you are at all familiar with mines and mining, you are acquainted with the name of the company I have the honor to represent?"

"I am very much afraid the mining market does not possess very much interest for me," I replied. "I have to work so hard for my money, that when I have got it I prefer to invest it in something a little more reliable. May I inquire the nature of your business with me?"

BRITISH LORD FEELS SORE.

Hails Away From This "God Forsaken Country" For Home.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—"All I will say is that I'm very glad to get out of this country, and I shall never come back again. The country is God forsaken."

These were the parting words of Lord Alfred Bruce Douglas, who left on the Teutonic for England.

Lord Douglas was very bitter in his talk against Americans, and when the steamship was passing the end of the pier he sneered at the crowd that was waving goodby and, turning around, walked to the other side of the promenade deck.

Lord Douglas was the friend and companion of Oscar Wilde, the playwright, who died in France some months ago.

Lord Douglas came here some weeks ago and went to Washington, where society refused to receive him. He then wrote a poem scoring Americans and the United States. He was especially bitter toward the exclusive Metropolitan club in Washington, whose members refused to receive him.

New York Central Changes.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The New York Central Railroad company after a meeting of the directors announced that an underground station would be built under the present Grand Central station, suburban traffic would be accommodated on an electric loop running in the existing side tunnels and stockholders of the road would be asked to vote a $35,000,000 increase in the stock to make improvements. Coroner Scholer yesterday impaneled a jury and began the wreck inquest by taking the jurors through the tunnel. Alderman Parsons introduced a resolution requiring the use of electricity instead of steam in the tunnel and demanding that the change be made at once.

Three Bigamists In a Row.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Three self confessed bigamists sat side by side in the supreme court here yesterday. They exchanged confidences and were the cynosure of all eyes. They were John Gans, Adelori la Bonte and Walter Denmark. The first named married Mary Schwab in this city on Sept. 20, 1898, and on Nov. 28, 1901, he married Mary E. Shearon, also of Albany. La Bonte on April 10, 1891, married Mary B. Durkin at Burlington, Vt., and on April 10 last year led Cordelia Letter of Schuylerville to the altar. He also confessed to having been married in Holyoke, Mass. Denmark was married first in this city and later in Gloversville.

Improvements For the Santa Fe.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—The Record-Herald says that the management of the Santa Fe has decided to spend $13,000,000 for equipment during the present year. This statement was made by an official of the company, who added that the money would come from the proceeds of a new issue of $30,000,000 of bonds. Just how the expenditure is to be apportioned is not stated, but it is known that an order has been given for 5,000 box cars, 50 mammoth freight engines and 100 more engines of smaller type and that practically all of the passenger equipment of the company is to be renewed.

Forty-three Perished In Mine.

BREUX, Austria, Jan. 16.—The water in the Jupiter mine, which was suddenly flooded Jan. 14, when the escape of forty-three men, including the manager of the mine and two superintendents, was cut off, does not subside; and hope of saving the men has been abandoned. The disaster was the result of the overflowing of the river Bila near the mine, and precautions to prevent the flooding of the mine were taken too late. One engineer was saved. Subsequently nine men courageously went a second time into the mine and never returned. Thirty-one of the victims were married.

Explosion Felt Fifty Miles.

MARION, Ind., Jan. 16.—Fifteen hundred quarts of nitroglycerin stored in two magazines owned by the St. Mary's Torpedo company and the Empire Glycerin company in a ravine two miles and a half southeast of this city exploded, shaking the entire northeastern part of the state. Business blocks and dwelling houses shook and swayed as if rocked by an earthquake, and the entire city was aroused. The shock was felt fifty miles away.

Separate Schools For Colored People

GUTHRIE, Okla., Jan. 16.—Chief Justice Burford has issued an order to the effect that if there be only one colored child of school age in a school district the authorities must provide a separate schoolhouse and teacher. This order takes in the entire territory and will prove very expensive to the various counties.

The Rainbow Sails.

CAPE HENRY, Va., Jan. 16.—The United States steamship Rainbow, formerly supply ship of the Asiatic station, which sailed from New York on Jan. 4 for Manila, where she will replace the cruiser Brooklyn as a station ship at anchor near Manila, has passed out on her voyage to the east.

Aged Financier Dead.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Edward B. Judson, president of the First National bank of this city and prominent in the financial and business life of central New York for half a century, died suddenly at his home yesterday afternoon. He was eighty-nine years old last Saturday.

Large Order For Cars.

SPORTING NEWS

BASKET BALL.

The many hard battles fought on the gridiron between the schools forming the New Jersey Interscholastic League has made the approaching series of games that have been scheduled in basketball by the schools that have for the past few years made so much success in football of more interest, perhaps, than the majority of contests proved in the last football year. The same schools that figured in football will be represented in this latest issue of basketball. The schedule embraces games between Stevens Prep. School, of Hoboken, Newark High School, Newark Academy, East Orange High School and Montclair High School. Newark High School had the best set of players last year, and won first honors after a hard struggle with the East Orange High School team. But this year there is a new and dangerous competing team in the race under the name of Newark Academy, and this five expects to have some big surprises in store for some of the other competitors. Stevens Prep. School also expects to figure with more success than in football, and the team will put up a hot fight against the others.

WHIST.

The match last week for the Metropolitan trophy between the Brooklyn Whist Club (holders) and the Passaic Club (chalengers) resulted in a victory for the Brooklyn Club by the score of sixteen tricks to seven. The match last Saturday for the challenge trophy of the American Whist League resulted in a victory for the Minneapolis experts, they defeating the Horlick Whist Club of Racine, Wis. They gained eight singles, two doubles, two triples and one quadruple, a total of twenty-two tricks, and lost nine singles and five doubles, a total of nineteen. Minneapolis winning by three tricks. This was the twelfth victory for Minneapolis, but the western season will close February 1, before the quota of twenty victories can be completed, so Minneapolis cannot possibly get possesion of the trophy this season.

WINTER SPORTS.

The teams representing the city and borough High Schools playing an exciting game of hockey, on Demler's pond, yesterday afternoon. The game ended in a tie score, 1 to 1.

Skating enthusiasts had arranged for a number of races between experts on the steel runners to take place on Clark pond, Westfield, last Saturday, but circumstances compelled a postponement. If the ice is in good condition they will be held the coming Saturday.

WILL USE ALL FOUR TRACKS

TRACK ELEVATION AT BAYONNE IS PRACTICALLY COMPLETED.

Trains Will Run Over All the New Tracks, Beginning Tomorrow Morning.

Commencing tomorrow morning the trains of the New Jersey Central will use the four tracks through Bayonne, thereby removing a cause for some of the delay in the running of passenger trains.

The work of elevating the tracks through Bayonne and removing grade crossings was started last fall and has been pushed rapidly forward by a large gang of men. The highest point of elevation is at Twenty-second street, where the tracks were raised eight feet.

The elevation extended from West Eighth to Thirtieth streets and the grade crossings at Twenty-first and Twenty-second street have been abolished. The company will still continue a large force of men at that point of the road and they will be kept busy cleaning up and grading the grounds and roadbed. The cost of the above improvement is close to a million dollars and it is one of the most important in recent years.

NO CASES YET.

But Borough Council Will Consider Plans for Establishment of an Isolation Hospital.

A wild rumor to the effect that there were ten cases of smallpox in the borough flew through North Plainfield last evening It was the same old story of the day before, and there was not a shadow of fact for its foundation.

One tale was that a well known man on Somerset place had been stricken with the dread disease, but at the time the story was going the rounds that same man was walking the streets in good health. President Andrew Love and Secretary William E. Honeyman, of the Board of Health, say that no cases have been reported up to this time.

A special meeting of the Borough Council will be held tomorrow evening for the purpose of considering the advisability of establishing such an institution. THE FUNERAL OF MISS CORY

HELD FROM HOME OF PARENTS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Service Was Conducted by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgress—The Bearers.

An outpouring of relatives and friends, which completely filled the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Corey, of West Front street, yesterday afternoon, gathered for the purpose of hearing the last sad rites performed over the remains of Miss M. Emma Cory.

Those who mourned comprised many with whom the young woman had conducted church work and carried out the good deeds which made her a favorite. Her class of girls from Hope chapel Sunday-school where she taught until a very short time before her death, was also present.

The services was conducted by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First M. E. church, of which Miss Cory was a member. He spoke impressively on the bright life so suddenly called away and dwelt on the need of being prepared. Two selections were rendered by Mrs. Dunham accompanied by Mrs. Nelson Miller.

The floral tributes were exceptionally numerous and comprised many large set pieces. These were from the Epworth League and the Mission Circle of the First Methodist church, the congregation of the Piermont, N. Y. Methodist church, of which her brother-in-law Rev. George Angleman is pastor, and her class from Hope chapel.

At the close of the services the remains were interred in Hillside cemetery. Those who acted as pall bearers were Samuel Humpston, John Praed, Howard Randolph and William French.

OFFICERS MUST PAY.

Middlesex Bank Directors Have Ten Days to Pay $219,000 Losses to the Bank's Creditors.

Vice Chancellor Pitney has decided that the president and directors of the Middlesex County Bank, of Perth Amboy, are liable for the losses of that institution, amounting to about $219,000. This is the amount of the stealings of George M. Valentine, the bank's cashier, now in prison serving time for his defalcation.

Edward S. Campbell was made receiver of the defunct bank. He held that the bondsmen of Valentine were insolvent, and that the losses of the bank should be made good by President U. B. Watson and by the directors, J. L. Kearney, J. R. Pierce, Patrick Convery, R. N. Valentine, J. T. Watson and J. G. Wilson.

The directors of the bank held a meeting last week and presented a proposition to Receiver Campbell, to be by him submitted to Vice Chancellor Pitney, that they be fined and not held responsible for the losses of the bank. This proposal, it is said, was submitted to the vice chancellor and was refused by him. He holds the officers should be held responsible, especially the president, whose duty it was to keep watch over the business. Judgment was taken Tuesday and ten days are given for settlement.

YEAR'S WORK SUMMED UP AT Y. M. C. A.

Annual Meeting of Young Men's Christian Association Held Last Night.

THE DIRECTORS ELECTED

A PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT WAS GIVEN BEFORE BUSINESS MEETING.

Work Which Has Been Accomplished by the Different Departments of the Association—President Cahoone's Report.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last evening in the small hall of the building. The attendance was not very large, but there was a deep interest in the report of President S. A. Cahoone, as well as those given by the chairman of the various committees.

Prior to the business meeting there was a pleasing entertainment consisting of recitations by A. V. White and selections by the "Zobo Band," consisting of H. J. Martin, H. J. Martin, Jr., and L. A. Hummer. L. A. Hummer was the accompanist. There were also solos by J. C. Martin and duets by J. C. Martin and H. J. Martin.

Following the entertainment, President Stephen A. Cahoone called the meeting to order. J. Herbert Case was chosen secretary in the absence of the regular officer, A. B. Beers. Mr. Cahoone then read a Scripture selection after which G. M. Rittenhouse offered prayer. Then followed the reading of the president's annual report. This will appear in full in The Daily Press of tomorrow.

Of the individual departments, I. W. Travell, as chairman of the educational department, was the first to report. He stated that seven subjects are now being taught and every occupation is represented in the membership. The average attendance in the various classes are as follows: Mathematics, 12; bookkeeping, 10.; shorthand, 11; English, 21; mechanical drawing, 10; German, 6; Spanish, 5. The Spanish was discontinued early in the year owing to lack of interest.

The total enrollment was seventy-five, with a total attendance of 737. There were 129 sessions. Mr. Travell reported an increase in interest and attendance in all departments and more teachers are being paid.

G. M. Rittenhouse, as chairman of the religious department, reported that fifty-two Sunday afternoon meetings were held during the year, with a total attendance of 6,926, and an average attendance of 133 1-5. He also reported an increase in the attendance and interest in the various Bible classes.

O. S. Rogers, as chairman for boys' work, reported excellent progress. During the year the boys were entertained by E. L. Suffern and E. A. Overton. Mr. Rogers said that he hoped before long a secretary for the boys would be secured.

The report of the physical director, C. E. A. Heywood, was of interest. There are fifty-four classes with an average attendance of seventy in all classes. Mr. Heywood referred to Dr. Cregier's class, "First Aid to the Injured," which is doing good work. Mr. Heywood also mentioned the following games as having been played: Basket ball, hand-ball, as well as bowling and athletic events of all kinds. He took the boys on two trips during the past summer, one to New York and the other to Midland Beach.

The report of the treasurer, Curtis M. Thorpe, showed the following receipts: Received from members, $2,415.91; from subscriptions, $2,546.80; rentals, $969.12; entertainments, $207; Sunday collections, $142.14; legacy, $500; anniversary exercises, $211.58, making a total of $7,038.21. The expenditures amounted to $7,036.21, leaving a balance in the treasury of $2.

The following directors were then elected for three years, their terms having expired: E. R. Ackerman, George M. Clay, A. C. LaBoyteaux, H. M. Maxson, Harry Gee, O. S. Rogers. The latter was elected in the place of George H. Batchelor, whose business will not allow him to give his time to the association work. After a vote of thanks was given to the city papers for their courtesy in publishing association news, the meeting adjourned.

—The Old Government Java coffee sold by Neuman Brothers at twenty-eight cents is far better than that at thirty-five in other stores. Try their Formosa Oolong tea at fifty cents.

TOOK TWO FROM CRANFORD

PARK CLUB BOWLING TEAM WENT TO CRANFORD LAST NIGHT.

Parks Saved Themselves From Last Place in The Daily Press League.

By defeating the Cranford team on its own alleys in two out of three games, last evening, the Park Club team saved itself from becoming the tail ender in the Daily Press Bowling League. The two teams appeared to be evenly matched, but a number of strkies and spares made by the Park bowlers raised their scores.

There was a good sized crowd present to witness the contest, which at times was quite spirited. Townsend, Faber and Hibbard did some clever work for the winning team, while McIntyre and Sharp carried off the honors for their team. The final game was very close, the Park bowlers only winning by sixteen pins, although in the initial game they had 124 more pins to their credit. Cranford won the second game by rorty points.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CONNETT.

Services Held From Residence of Her Daughter on Manning Ave.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Fmily A. Connett, who died at the remarkable age of ninety-five years, were held yesterday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Lambert DeCamp, of Manning avenue. The attendance was very large and comprised many old friends from Scotch Plains and Alton, where Mrs. Connett resided the greater part of her life.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, was the officiating clergyman. During the service two selections were sung by Wesley Brokaw and William Watts. At the close of the obsequies the remains were interred in Hillside cemetery. The pall bearers were Joseph S. Darby, Herbert Ryno, Winfield Scott Terry and Miles Rouch.

Successful Dance.

By far the most successful dance which has been given under the auspices of the O Be Joyful Club, took place in the Camera Club rooms, last evening. There were over sixty couples on the floor at one time. Refreshments were served at midnight. The committee in charge consisted of Fred VanLiew, chairman, Harry DeMeza and Albert Zabriskie.

Reached Home Just in Time.

Mrs. George E. Mowen, of West Front street, has been called to Phoenixville, Pa., by the illness and death of her mother, Mrs. Harp. Mrs. Mowen arrived just an hour after her mother's death. Mrs. Harp, whose home was in Maryland, was on her way there and stopped off at Phoenixville to visit relatives, when she was taken ill.

POINTED OUT WHAT WORKMEN HAVE DONE

Columbia and Central Lodges United to Entertain Friends at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

PROGRAMME CAME FIRST

THEN GRAND OFFICERS TOLD OF THE BENEFITS OF THE ORDER.

S. V. Sanford Sustained His Reputation as a Fun-Maker—Selections by Korff's Orchestra—Committee in Charge.

The Y. M. C. A. Hall was filled to overflowing last evening with the members of Central and Columbia Lodges, Ancient Order of United Workmen, and their friends when a public entertainment was given under the auspices of the lodges. A pleasing programme was thoroughly enjoyed from beginning to end.

A feature of the programme was the selections rendered by Martin A. Korff's orchestra. Throughout the evening the following selcetions were given: March, "Carnero" Losey; overture, "Flora," Schleppegrell; concert valse, "Cupid's Dream," Crosby; two step, "Brudder Rastus," Losey; gems from "Florodora," Stuart; concert valse, "Daughter of Love," Bennett; march, "King of the Turf."

Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, as chairman of the committee, was in charge and, in his customary facetious manner, announced the various numbers on the programme. Early in the evening, S. V. Sanford, a humorist from New York, appeared as a black faec fun-maker. Mr. Sanford has appeared in Plainfield before and he fully sustained his reputation as a provoker of mirth and merriment. Later on he related several stories and gave some impersonations which convulsed the audience with laughter. He concluded the programme with a monologue and again he produced hearty laughter.

There were two short addresses given that were fully enjoyed by those present. The first address was by Grand Master Workman F. W. Tussey, of Camden, and the other address was by Past Grand Master Workman J. A. VanSant, also of Camden. Both officials recited briefly the many advantages to be gained in joining the Workmen. They told of the benefits, financial, moral and social. They also told of the strength of the organization and what had been accomplished in this State by it. Both speakers received a cordial reception and each one received a handsome bouquet of flowers.

The committee that so successfully arranged the entertainment comprised the following: Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, chairman, Martin A. Korff, Joseph D. Moon, Edward M. Mosher, W. H. Larrabee, Clark T. Rogers, C. E. Hepburn, L. J. Spicer and V. W. Nash, Jr.

A Different Speaker.

Rev. Dr. Doolittle, of the Methodist church, Dunellen, will speak in Reform Hall Sunday afternoon instead of B. W. Hand, as was published yesterday. His address will be to the Grand Army and Company K.

BADE RECTOR A FAREWELL

Farewell Reception Given to Rev. Father Smyth by His Many Plainfield Friends.

PRESENTED WITH PURSE

Large Demonstration Held at St. Mary's Hall Last Evening—Addresses by Prominent Plainfielders—Gift for the Retiring Priest—His Thanks.

A remarkable demonstration was made at St. Mary's parochial school hall, last evening, in honor of Rev. Father P. E. Smyth, who was recently transferred to St. Joseph's church, Jersey City, after a pastorate of nineteen years in this city. The grand and deserving tribute was paid by an assemblage which crowded all the available space of the large assembly room of the building. Roman Catholics and Protestants alike joined in making the occasion one abounding in enthusiasm.

Everyone in that throng showed unmistaking affection for the priest, and he, himself, on the other, gave marked evidence of his full appreciation of the enviable reception tendered him. The room was unadorned save for a few American colors which surrounded the likeness of the priest suspended over the stage. The chief decoration was the picture presented to one from the front of the room. Gazing on that large crowd one could observe the great delight afforded it by being given the opportunity to express regard for the clergyman.

A welcome song rendered by the choir of the church opened the festivities. Mrs. Mary Smith acted as accompanist in this feature. Rev. Father Andrew M. Egan, the successor of the guest of honor, arose, and, moving to the centre of the platform, commenced an eloquent eulogistic address, the life and character of Father Smyth forming the basis for his discourse. His remarks were frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause. Following the priest, City Judge William N. Runyon made a brief address. He referred in glowing terms to Father Smyth as a citizen, as a man, as a clergyman and an ideal Roman Catholic, in all respects as he had learned to know him. The Judge caught the audience and it was not slow at showing its approval of his remarks.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of this city, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, gave a pleasant talk, which was characterized by much humor. He had many words to express as to the esteem in which he and others held the priest.

In his usual manner of expression, James E. Martine had many complimentary remarks for the guest of the evening. He declared that he spoke for his heart and that his words were founded on his warm friendship for the man.

A sketch of Father Smyth's career was given in an interesting way by Arthur Boone, chairman of the reception committee. Most of his talk was confined to the period which the priest had spent in this community. In concluding his remarks he took occasion to present to Father Smyth a check for $1,100, which he emphasized was but a token of esteem given on behalf of the many who appreciated the recipient.

With deep emotion, which could not be hidden, the venerable former pastor responded to the several addresses. Leaning on a chair he remarked that he felt that he needed some physicial support as he was ill, suffering with homesickness. When he left the parish, said he, the loss sustained was not fully appreciated by him, but now he realized keenly how much he missed by the separation from so many dear friends. Many times his voice became choked for it was with difficulty that he was able to address those whom he had known intimately for so many years.

During the evening, Miss Mollie Traynor, acting on behalf of the Sewing Circle of the church, presented a gorgeous bouquet of American beauty roses to Father Smyth. After a farewell song had been rendered by the choir, all gathered around the priest and sang with much fervor "Auld Lang Syne." Father Smyth was again visibly moved by the demonstration accorded him.

Besides those who made addresses, on the platform were Rev. Father William Miller, pastor of St. Joseph's

OVER FIVE HUNDRED ARE NOW VACCINATED

Board of Health is Progressing in Its Work of Prevention Against Small Pox.

TREAT OLD AND YOUNG.

MEN AT POND TOOL AND POTTER PRESS WORKS TO BE VACCINATED.

One Suspected Case Quarantined by Board—Physicians Do Not Believe it is Small Pox—Free Vaccination Continued.

The work of vaccination at the office of the Board of Health and at the office of the various physicians, continues at a rapid pace. It is not known how many private cases of vaccination there are but the Board of Health reports up to today a total of 654 cases of vaccination. There were 166 vaccinated yesterday afternoon, at the office on North avenue, while fifteen employes at the Aluminum Plate Works were treated likewise.

REV. P. E. SMYTH.

An interesting fact in connection with this work is that the youngest case of vaccination was that of a baby four months old, while the oldest person treated was a man aged seventy. This man was vaccinated sixty-eight years ago. There were not so many young children treated yesterday, a majority being older persons. The free vaccination will continue this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon at the usual hours, while tomorrow evening from 8 to 10 o'clock there will be free vaccination for men only, who have not been able to call during the day. There will also be free vaccination Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Drs. T. S. Davis, Charles B. Lufburrow, B. VanD. Hedges and J. H. Carman, assisted by several trained nurses, looked after the vaccination yesterday at the Board of Health office. President Charles J. Fisk had a general oversight of the work. Dr. Rolland Tomlinson, assisted by Miss Kiernan, a trained nurse, did the work at the Aluminum Plate Works. This afternoon the men at the Pond Machine Tool Works and the Potter Press Works will be vaccinated, and it is quite likely that the women at the skirt factory will also be treated soon.

A quarantine has been established at 834 Richmond street by Drs. T. S. Davis and B. VanD. Hedges, quarantine committee from the Board of Health. Yesterday afternoon it was discovered that Rufus Young, a colored butler, aged twenty-five, living at that address, was suspected of having small-pox.

Further investigation warrants the board in believing that it is a case of skin disease.

This afternoon the quarantine was removed from 834 Richmond street. The board of Health decided that the disease there is not small pox.

Birthday Surprise.

A number of friends tendered a birthday surprise party to Miss Minnie Nischwitz, of Manning avenue, yesterday afternoon. An enjoyable time was spent. A delightful collation was one of the features of the affair. Miss Nischwitz received several handsome presents.

VERDICT WAS FOR $750

THE JURY CAME IN IN THE SCHOFIELD-COMPTON CASE AT ELIZABETH.

Both Sides Say They Are Satisfied With the Result—Case Concluded Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 17—The jury in the case of Victor L. Schofield, by his guardian, Isaac Houston, against Halstead C. Compton, was out only fifteen minutes yesterday afternoon, when a verdict for the plaintiff for $750 was given. Mr. Compton's counsel were greatly pleased with the size of the verdict, and Mr. Marsh arose and, addressing the jury, said that, on behalf of the defendant, he desired to thank the jury for having rendered a just verdict. The plaintiff and his counsel were also satisfied with the verdict.

All of yesterday morning was taken up by the defense. Mr. Compton did not deny having shot Schofield, but claimed that he discharged his gun simply for the purpose of frightening the boys, and had no intention whatever of doing them bodily injury. He did not fire directly at the boys and the shot which entered Victor must certainly have first struck a tree or stone. He denied giving Victor or anyone else permission to enter his orchard and help themselves to fruit.

Several witnesses were called to prove that the plaintiff was running about a few days after the accident. This was denied by witnesses for the prosecution. The amount of damages asked was $10,000.

DEMOCRATS ORGANIZED.

Democratic County Committee Held First Meeting of New Year.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 17—The Democratic county committee met last evening for organization, when the following officers were chosen: Chairman, John L. Crowell, of Rahway; vice chairman, John Moody, of Cranford; secretary, Charles A. Sulzer, of Elizabeth; treasurer, J. Williams Crane, of Union; sergeant-at-arms, Phillip Dougherty, of Elizabeth.

After the election there was an informal discussion regarding new by-laws and a constitution. The meeting adjourned to meet February 13. The Plainfield members of the committee present were Andrew Nolan, Michael Flynn, J. B. Guttridge, and Edward Tomlinson.

A resolution condemning the four Democratic councilmen of Elizabeth, who figured in the recent deal in that body, was passed. It was also decided to request the resignation of Captain Collins as a member of the county committee.

REFORM HALL MEETING.

Richard Foote Will Give His Lecture on "Sermon On The Mount."

A very interesting meeting was held at Reform Hall last evening. The new president, John Goodman, gave a stirring talk on temperance. This was followed with the recitation of the Indian creed by Dr. Merriam, after which Richard Foote, the Californian tragedian, gave recitations. There were two signers to the pledge. Sunday evening Mr. Foote will give his celebrated lecture on the "Sermon on the Mount," at Reform Hall. It will be by invitation and no collection will be taken.

FINE MUSIC RENDERED AT CASINO CONCERT

Second of Season's Subscription Affairs Held Under Direction of Mr. Atterbury.

ALL TALENTED ARTISTS.

THE PROGRAMME GIVEN WAS A PARTICULARLY ENJOYABLE ONE.

Dr. Carl E. Dufft Made the Hit of the Evening—All the Artists Were Well Received—A Pleasing Affair.

The second of this season's subscription concerts, given under the auspices of Albert H. Atterbury, took place before a very large audience at the Casino, last evening. Like the others, it was an unqualified success. The wide range covered by the eleven numbers on the programme afforded a musical treat such as is seldom heard.

The artists appearing were Miss Edith Chapman, soprano; Miss Florence Mulford, contralto; Leo Lieberman, tenor, and Dr. Carl E. Dufft, basso. Frank J. Smith contributed greatly to the splendid rendition by his work as conductor.

All four appeared in the initial number which was "The Drum Major of Schneider's Band." It was well timed and rendered with a swing that merited the prolonged applause. Through his rendition of "Alt Heidelberg, du Feine," the second number, Dr. Dufft at once secured a firm hold on his audience which he retained until the close of the evening. His voice is one of exceptional power, capable of wide range. His second selection "Bendemeer's Stream" by Gatty, was also warmly received but it remained for his rendition of Kipling's "On the Road to Mandalay" to score the evening's success. It is peculiarly adapted to his deep, rich notes. The audience was loath to part with him but he appeared again only in the quartettes.

Three selections, "Singing" and "In Winter I Get Up at Night," by Nevin and a "Dutch Lullaby" by DeKoven were Miss Chapman's opening numbers and brought her an ovation. Purity and sweetness are the characteristics which marked her singing and afforded much pleasure to her hearers. She responded to an encore and later gave two numbers "Under the Rose," by Fisher and "Er der Herrlichste von Allen," by Schumann.

Mr. Lieberman's splendid tenor had lost none of its excellence since he was heard in this city last and the three numbers allotted him served to demonstrate his ability They were "Lehn' deine Wang'" by Jensen, "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marle Halls" by Balfee and "Adelaide" by Beethoven. In company with Miss Mulford he sang "Si: La Stanchezza" (from "Il Trovatore") by Verdi, and the effect produced was charming. It was the only duet of the evening and was one of the best numbers. Miss Mulford contributed two other solos, "On the Way to Kew" by Foote and "Oft in the Stilly Hight" by Stevenson.

The concluding numbers were quartettes and were a fitting climax to the previous success. "Erin the Tear and the Smile in Thine Eyes" and "The Last Rose of Summer" were the titles and closed the evening's entertainment in a burst of rythm.

President of the Board of Health.

Not Seriously Hurt.

Early last evening, Boardman Mosher, the twelve-year-old son of J. P. Mosher, of West Fifth street, was run over by Dr. Hedges' carriage on West Third street. He attempted to board a trolley car and ran directly into the horse. He was taken home. His injuries consisted of a few slight cuts and bruises.

The Amateur Plays.

The plays that are to be given by amateurs at the Casino shortly are: "A Needless Stratagem," and "My Awful Chum." The former play will be given in place of "I've Written to Brown."

LITERARY.

The February Century is to contain two articles, with illustrations, in the new scheme for beautifying the City of Washington; and another important feature in the same issue is "A Visit to Mount Vernon a Century Ago," containing conversations with General Washington as recorded in the diary of a Polish poet attached in this country to the suite of Kosciuszko. In one of their talks the matter of new buildings for the government departments in the "Federal City" was brought up—the expense of the buildings was estimated at $96,000, and it was suggested that it would be difficult to get enough houses to lodge all the members. "'Very well,' the General said, jokingly, 'they have only to camp out: the representatives will be placed in the first row, the Senate in the second, the President with his suite in the middle.'" The present topographical arrangement of the City of Washington was designed under President Washington's supervision, and the new plans contemplate an enriching of this arrangement, the chief improvement being a superb avenue from the Capitol to the Washington Monument, the latter forming an axis from which other avenues and vistas will open.

Child Worth Millons.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird, of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. L. W. ELEVATING CENTRAL'S TRACKS IN NEWARK

Expect to Complete That Improvement in a Couple of Months.

CITY DOING ITS SHARE.

THE PENNSYLVANIA'S TRACKS ARE ALSO BEIN ELEVATED.

The Latter Railroad Will Require Two More Years to Finish Its Task—Progress Being Made.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, Jan. 17—Both the Central and Pennsylvania Railroad companies have made great progress in the work of elevating their tracks in this city.

The elevation of the Central will be completed in a couple of months, and the Pennsylvania expects to have its task finished in two years.

The city is doing some of its share of work, for which $600,000 has been appropriated, but long after the tracks are elevated the city will probably be engaged in contests with citizens who have large claims for damages to property.

The Central has filled with cinders and earth up to the new grade a part of the road from Mulberry street to the Broad street station, and three tracks for passenger trains are laid on the grade. A temporary frame shelter for passengers getting on and off trains has just been started. The raising of the tracks south to the freight house along Lafayette street will be done later.

A temporary one-track bridge of heavy timber spans Mulberry street, and the freight yard east of that street has been filled up to the new grade. Tracks are in place there, and the iron skeleton frames of freight houses are being constructed. The new entrance to this main freight yard is from Mechanic street, and it is a narrow one. One track on the south side, along Hamilton street, will not be raised until the new steel bridge is ready for Mulberry street.

Trains are now run on false trestles of heavy timbers across Ward street, New Jersey Railroad avenue, Bruen, McWhorter and Union streets, where the elevation begins from the east. The old iron bridges at McWhorter and Bruen streets have been elevated to the new grade, but the abutments are not yet built to the bridges. The retaining wall of patent stone on the east side of Railroad avenue is up, and when the wall on the west side is ready the long iron bridge will be raised. Men are engaged in the preliminary work on the bridge now. The raising of the bridge at Ward street is an easy task.

The city has nearly finished its work down Mulberry street, from Mechanic street south to Lafayette street, formerly Fair street, for the benefit of the Central Railroad. The new sewer, the paving of the street, the lowering of the trolley tracks and the cutting down of the sidewalk are near completion. The west sidewalk will be cut down to the new grade after the street is finished.

The cutting down of Mulberry street has ruined it as a business thoroughfare, so property owners and tenants, especially saloonkeepers, said today.

The Pennsylvania Company has its great retaining wall of massive blocks of stone on the west side of New Jersey Railroad avenue nearly finished from the south end of the city up to Lafayette street. The temporary one track, west trestle, of heavy timbers is built up to Elm street, and on part of the trestle construction tracks trains are being operated. Great spiles are being driven deep in the avenue between Lafayette and Hamilton streets to support the retaining wall to be erected there. This place was a deep swamp many years ago, and when the first railroad track was laid there for the New Jersey Transportation Company they sank out of sight. Hundreds of tons of rock were dumped in the swamp and disappeared, and old citizens say that trunks of trees had to be used in the swamp to make a foundation that would hold the tracks and trains.

Work is now under way on a section of the retaining wall between South and Mourray street. This section was not built on at first because the Pennsylvania Company wanted to grab almost the entire west side of the avenue there. An ordinance to vacate that side of the avenue from Murray street to South street has been passed by the Board of Street and Water Commissioners.

The work of building an elevated station at Market street will probably not be started until the tracks from Market street to the Passaic river are elevated. The foundations for the retaining walls in that section will soon be started. Then the sharp curve from the station to the Passaic bridge will be abolished and a new elevated bridge put in place.

The elevation of the Pennsylvania and Central tracks will be of incalculable value to the railroad companies. For the people of Newark it means the abolishment of grade crossings, for which they will pay $600,000.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Now that Senator Charles A. Reed is in the field as a candidate for State treasurer, he should be able to count on at least one vote. In this emergency President of the Senate Francis ought to be with the Somerset man.—Newark News.

A delegation from the Plainfield Board of Trade had a long conference with officials of the Central Railroad Company last week and reported that better service was coming. So mote it be! And we trust that the "better service" will be extended to include Somerville and some points west of us.—Somerset Messenger.

The announcement that a conference upon questions relating to public and private chariteis and corrections will be held in this city is the opening step of a plan contemplated by those interested in such matters, to wit, the supervision by auxiliary boards of governmental institutions.

The idea is by no means novel in other parts of the country, but has never been seriously adopted in this State. The initial meeting of such body will, it is hoped, aid in giving relief upon certain lines where relief is so greatly needed.

The conference will be welcomed, and the delegates should be hospitably entertained.—Trenton True American.

The announcement made by Senator Reed, of Somerset county, that he was a candidate for State treasurer was at first regarded as another of the Senator's bits of political byplay. When it proved to be serious, all sorts of comment was made, not the least frequent being the remark that the Senator must have received assurances that the vacant vice chancellorship was not likely to come his way. The office of State treasurer is now being filled ad interim, by ex-Mayor Frank O. Briggs, of Trenton, of whom it was said that he would give Senator Reed a strong fight for the place. Ex-Senator Williams, of Paterson, who has been mentioned as a candidate for State treasurer, was in Trenton on Tuesday, but was not visibly making any effort to secure the appointment.

By the way, it was remarked in connection with the rather lengthy speech of Senator Francis in accepting the office of President of the Senate that Senator Reed had been awarded several good places on the Senate committees. Mr. Reed's friends retorted that his seniority of service as a Senator entitled him to all the consideration in this way that he had received.—New York Tribune.

ELIZABETH MAN MISSING.

Police Notified to Look Out for Man Believed to be Insane.

The police of this city have been asked by the Elizabeth authorities to watch for Vadae Kral, a Bohemian, of that place, who has been missing from his home at 228 Delaware street, since Monday. He was ill for several days and it is believed his mind became affected. His delusion was that enemies were trying to kill him. The missing man is described as being 31 years old, dark complexioned and about 5 feet 6 inches in height.

Don't Live Together.

Constipation and health never go together. DeWitt's Little Early Risers promote easy action of the bowels without distress. "I have been troubled with costiveness nine years," says J. O. Greene, Depauw, Ind. "I have tried many remedies but Little Early Risers give best results." L. W. Randolph.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

The little ones want to have Christmas come nearly every week. You can gratify their desires by purchasing toys at Harper's Bazaar, on Park avenue. Everything is ridiculously low in price there.

"An investment as good as gold." This is true if you invest your money in the silver and goldware sold by J. Hervey Doane, of Park avenue. He also handles first-class diamonds and photograph supplies.

A bargain is a hard thing to define and a still harder thing to get, but if you want a perfect illustration of one call at I. H. Boehm's, on West Front street. He is disposing of his entire stock of house furnishings regardless of cost.

It does not cost a fortune these days to furnish a house. If you have thoughts in that direction call on H. E. Gayle, the hardware merchant. He can help you out very much. Good goods at reasonable prices go together with Gayle.

You all know Hodge, the Y. M. C. A. pharmacist. He has made a reputation by his honest methods of conducting business. His preparations share his popularity. That's why the cod liver oil emulsion made by him is so eagerly sought for.

Fred Endress has something of interest to say to all in the meat buying line. It takes an experienced person to tell prime cuts and roasts but not at his market. They're all prime there and full value is given. His sea food department is the finest in the city.

"Be not the first by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside," says Butler. You can strike the happy medium by ordering you custom made clothes from John G. Bantle, of Watchung avenue, who is abreast of the times when it comes to fashion.

The business man that gets trade nowadays is obliged to hustle. For this reason M. Weinberger, the West Front street clothier, is getting a large share of patronage. His goods are stylish and many well-dressed persons in Plainfield are customers at this house.

There's an old saw that has gone the rounds to the effect that, "If the shoe fits, put it on." There's no "if" about the shoes sold at M. C. VanArsdale's. They can be put on because they're made to fit and perfectly, too, at that. Then again they are the kind that last.

The many friends of M. R. Giles will be pleased to learn that he has bought out E. E. Brown's meat market, corner of Park avenue and Second street, where he will carry on a strictly cash business and handle the best of meats and poultry. He hopes to receive a share of the public patronage.

THEATRICAL.

F. F. Proctor's new theatre in Newark is an established success. Since the day of its opening, a fortnight ago, the house has been packed to its capacity twice every week day. The third programme of specialties is on par in an amusement rating with the bills gone before and another week of prosperity is assured. Capt. Webb's troupe of trained seals is a feature especially attractive to the children and their wonderful achievements are likewise of interest to the older folk. Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street has "At the White Horse Tavern," as its dramatic feature for the week, the Proctor Stock Company also appearing in "Surelock Holmes," a travesty by Clay M. Greene. "The Brixton Burglary," introducing W. J. Ferguson and many of the original New York cast will be given at the Fifty-eigth Street with the original scenery. The company is one which recently appeared in this city, organized for the production. The Twenty-third Street Theatre will present a strong bill of continuous vaudeville, featuring the English Poney ballet. The Cycle-Whirl, original in New York with Manager Proctor at this house, is retained for another week. The biggest vaudeville ever presented on Broadway by Manager Proctor will be offered at the Fifth Avenue in conjunction with the Proctor Stock Company's presentation of the "The Musterious Mr. Bugle." Shean and Warren, in a character sketch and travesty interlude, will be the topping features.

CUBAN FRAUD TRIALS

Rathbone Says He Did Same as Brooke and Ludlow.

POSTAL FUNDS FOR HOUSE FURNISHING

A Lack of Evidence Showing Criminal Intent—Postoffice Officials Troubled About Expense of Keeping Witnesses.

HAVANA, Jan. 17.—At the trial of the charges growing out of the Cuban postoffice frauds yesterday the examination of Estes G. Rathbone, ex-director general of posts of Cuba, was concluded. Counsel for W. H. Reeves, ex-deputy auditor for Cuba, requested the privilege of cross examining Rathbone, which was accorded.

During the day's hearing Rathbone was questioned further relative to the furnishing of his residence in El Cerro, Havana, from the postal funds. Rathbone said he could not have been expected to furnish his official residence from private funds, that he had not known how long he was going to remain in Cuba and that General John R. Brooke, former military governor of Cuba, and General William Ludlow, former military governor of the city of Havana, had furnished their official residences from government funds. Rathbone said his superiors knew of his expenditures in this respect and had not made objection thereto and that these bills were only for moneys spent for house furnishing and not on his private account.

The examination of a bill from a New York department store showed that fifty pairs of hose which, it was alleged, Rathbone had bought for his private use read fifty feet of hose. The examination of Rathbone did not bring out any strong points for the government, the matters touched upon involving only small amounts compared to the large amount of embezzlement charged and believed to be out of proportion to the sentence asked for by the fiscal.

In most of the incidents taken up during Rathbone's examination it was only a question of whether he had been authorized to make the expenditures in question, and there was a lack of evidence showing criminal intent.

The matter of the expenses of the witnesses who have been brought here from the United States to testify in these cases is now worrying the postoffice officials. The clerk of a New York hotel, one of the witnesses, who was brought here to show that Rathbone had lived extravagantly while at this hotel, has put in a bill to the government of $40 a day for expenses, while the extras charged bring the total for two weeks to about $10,000.

A New Franchise Tax Bill.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 17.—The feature of yesterday's legislative proceedings was the introduction by Senator Donnelly (New York) of a bill which is the counterpart of the original Ford franchise measure, which passed the legislature in 1899 and which classed all kinds of franchises as real estate and made them assessable as such by the local assessors. After the session of 1899 Theodore Roosevelt, then governor, called an extraordinary session and had the bill amended by giving the state tax commission power to levy assessment on the franchises and stripping the local assessors of that power.

World's Cycling Records Broken.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—World's records are being broken every hour at the six day bicycle race on the twelve lap track at the Second regiment armory. Records began to go by the board at the eighteenth hour, and at the close of the night's riding the four leading teams were seventeen and three-fifth miles ahead of the world's best figures for thirty-two hours on a twelve lap indoor track. McEachern and Monroe, Freeman and Mayo, Gougoltz and Wilson and Leander and Rutz continue in the lead, and the other three teams are within easy striking distance. The wonder of the contest is Gougoltz.

Michigan Buggy Works Burned.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Jan. 17.—Fire last night destroyed the five story brick building occupied by the Michigan Buggy company, located here. The building covered a half square of land, and 300 men who were employed by the company are temporarily thrown out of employment. The loss is estimated at $200,000, and the insurance will only partially cover it. The cause of the fire is unknown. By the explosion of varnish during the progress of the fire the walls fell, and several firemen were almost caught by the falling debris.

Transport Sails For Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—The transport Kilpatrick has sailed for Manila with a full passenger list, made up chiefly of recruits for the army and men of the United States marine corps and their officers. The 700 recruits and casuals from the Presidio left in six companies. The enlisted men of the marine corps numbered a hundred.

New Jersey Industries.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The preliminary census report on the manufacturing industries of New Jersey shows a total capital of $503,824,082, an increase of almost 101 per cent, and value of products in 1900 of $611,728,833, an increase of almost 73 per cent. There are 15,481 establishments, an increase of 68 per cent.

FAREWELL BANQUET

The Emperor's Yacht Ready to Sail For New York.

A MAGNIFICENT SILVER SERVICE.

Prince Henry's Programme While In the United States Will Be Arranged at Washington—Great Naval Welcome Planned.

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia arrived here yesterday from Kiel. He will remain ten days in Berlin.

The details regarding Prince Henry's landing in the United States and his movements thereafter are entirely in the hands of Secretary Hay and Dr. von Holleben, the German embassador at Washington.

Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia, attended by Adjutants von Schwindt and von Egidy and several naval officers of high rank, was present at a dinner Wednesday evening on board the Hohenzollern to bid farewell to Admiral Count von Baudissin, the commander of the yacht, and his staff.

Emperor William's silver treasures, from which there have been selected nearly 1,000 of the choicest pieces for use at Prince Henry's banquet at New York, compose one of the richest collections of silver possessed by any sovereign of Europe and is valued at upward of 5,000,000 marks. It embraces Emperor William's wedding gift presented by ninety-six Prussian cities, a silver table service for fifty persons, which is valued at 420,000 marks, and many rare pieces of silver from the time of Frederick the Great and Frederick William I.

Among the wonders in the rittersaal in the old castle at Berlin is a silver buffet eight meters wide, reaching from the floor to the ceiling and bearing, among others, nine huge silver tureens fifty inches in diameter.

RECEPTION PLANS.

The Prince Will Come to New York. Where Ceremonies Will Occur.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Rear Admiral Rodgers, who has been charged with the preparation and execution of the naval programme at the reception of Prince Henry of Prussia, has been in consultation with Dr. von Holleben, the German embassador, at the embassy and consulted him regarding the arrangements for the naval welcome to be accorded the distinguished visitor.

It may be stated upon authority that the Kronprinz Welhelm will not deviate from her course and go first to Hompton Roads, as heretofore reported, but will bear Prince Henry directly to New York, where the naval demonstration proper will take place.

The following squadron has been assigned to Rear Admiral Evans by the navy department to welcome the prince: Flagship, the battleship Illinois; the protected cruisers Olympia, San Francisco and Cincinnati and the cruiser Hartford.

Mayor Low's Offer Accepted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The German government has accepted the offer of Mayor Low tendering the use of the West Thirty-fourth street pier for the imperial yacht Hohenzollern during the visit to the city of Prince Henry of Prussia. The offer was made through the North German Lloyd Steamship company.

Captain Stricken With Blindness.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 17.—The French bark Marguerite, from the West Indies for St. Pierre, Miquelon, has put into the harbor of La Poile, N. F., after a passage of thirty days, during which the bark was short of food and water. When three days out, the captain of the Marguerite was struck blind. He was the only navigator on board. The mate sailed the bark north and fortunately made land in fine weather. Fishermen piloted the Marguerite into La Poile, where a new captain has been obtained to take her to her destination.

Convicted of Murder.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 17.—Samuel Van Stavern, an oilcloth printer who has been on trial here for the murder of his wife Katherine on Nov. 30 last, was convicted of murder in the first degree. Van Stavern had been separated for some time from his wife and on the night of Nov. 30 met her on the street and shot her dead. The defense claimed that Van Stavern was addicted to the liquor habit and that his mind was diseased from the use of liquor.

Explosion Injures Many.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Jan. 17.—Yesterday afternoon there was a terrific explosion in the blacksmith shop of the plant of the Warder, Bushnell & Glessner company. Two hundred men were at work in the department at the time. There was a blinding flash, a dull roar, and the great roof fell in. Six men were hurt. None of the injuries is serious. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Murderers Were Prison Fugitives.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Jan. 17.—Warren Bennett, deputy United States marshal for the Osage Nation, states that the men who killed Sheriffs Smith and Beck near Anadarko are two of the fugitives from the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, five of whom are still at large. Governor Ferguson has offered a reward of $500 each for the arrest of the men.

Miners Raise Officers' Salaries.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 17.—The miners' convention here decided to increase the salaries of the president and secretary from $75 to $85 per month and allow $3 per day for expenses while traveling on district business.

OPENED BY THE KING

Edward VII. Reads Speech From the Throne.

CONDUCTED WITH GREAT CEREMONY.

Reference to South African War Was Indefinite—Abandonment of Sugar Bounties Desired—Comment on the Canal Treaty.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—King Edward opened parliament yesterday afternoon with a ceremonial in all essential respects similar to that of February last. The procession to the house of lords was of the same character as that witnessed on the occasion of the opening of the first parliament of King Edward's reign, the same historic dresses and the same revival of ancient forms.

After robing King Edward and Queen Alexandra entered the house of peers and occupied their thrones beneath a canopy, with the Prince and Princess of Wales on either side of them. The other members of the royal family were seated on chairs at the foot of the steps leading to the thrones.

The gentleman usher of the black rod, General Sir Michael Biddulph, having summoned the speaker and the members of the house of commons, his majesty read the speech from the throne.

The speech was not an important utterance. His majesty referred in gratified terms to the world tour of the Prince and Princess of Wales, expressed regret at the fact that the war in South Africa was not concluded, said he trusted the decision of the sugar conference would lead to the abandonment of bounties and noted the conclusion of the isthmian canal treaty.

The speech opened with a reference to the tour of the Prince and Princess of Wales. "They were everywhere," said the king, "received with demonstrations of the liveliest affection, and I am convinced their presence served to rivet more closely the bonds of mutual regard and loyalty by which the vigor of the empire is maintained."

Referring to Great Britain's relations with foreign countries, the king said, "My relations with the other powers continue to be of a friendly character."

Contrary to expectations, the king's reference to the war was just as indefinite as the statements on the subject made in the last half dozen messages from the throne.

"I regret," said his majesty, "that the war in South Africa is not yet concluded, though the course of the operations has been favorable to our arms, the area of the war largely reduced, and industries are being resumed in my new colonies. In spite of the tedious character of the campaign my soldiers throughout have displayed a cheerfulness in the endurance of the hardships incident to guerrilla warfare and a humanity, even to their own detriment, in their treatment of the enemy which are deserving of the highest praise.

"The necessity for relieving those of my troops who have most felt the strain of war has afforded me the opportunity of again availing myself of the loyal and patriotic offers of my colonies, and further contingents will shortly reach South Africa from the Dominion of Canada, the commonwealth of Australia and New Zealand."

In regard to the sugar conference the speech says:

"I trust its decision may lead to the abandonment of the system by which the sugar producing colonies and home manufactures of sugar have been unfairly weighted in the prosecution of this important industry."

Then came the following clause:

"I have concluded with the president of the United States a treaty, the provisions of which will facilitate the construction of an interoceanic canal under guarantees that its neutrality will be maintained and that it will be open to the commerce and shipping of all nations."

After announcing that the estimates have "been framed as economically as due regard for their efficiency renders possible in the special circumstances of the present exigency," the speech concluded with mentioning proposed legislation of solely domestic interest, with the exception of a bill to facilitate the sale and purchase of land in Ireland.

Their majesties then retired amid a fanfare of trumpets and attended by the same regal ceremony as accompanied their entry into the house.

Five Indians Were Killed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Five Indians were killed during the recent trouble at the Tongue river agency, in Montana, according to the official report received by Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones from Agent Clifford. The agent recommends that fifty men from the United States army under command of a commissioned officer be stationed permanently at Camp Merritt, near the agency. Now there are only eleven men under command of a sergeant at Camp Merritt.

Dismissing Census Employees.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Wholesale dismissals in the census bureau have begun. Several hundred already have received their discharges, and 500 others and possibly many more will go Feb. 1. At least 600 will go during February, and many others will have to receive their discharges to bring the present force of about 2,600 down to the 600 or 700 contemplated in the permanent census movement.

ORGANIZED CHARITY.

The giving of aid to the unfortunate brother has so long been associated with the work of the church that the theory, advanced by H. M. Maxson, president of the Organized Aid Association, of turning all charitable work to one organized source which shall receive all contributions and direct their distribution, comes almost like a shock. A few minutes thought, however, will convince one that it is simply along the lines of organized charity which have been steadily growing of late years.

It does not mean that the churches are to cease contributing for the assistance and relief of the city's poor and unfortunate. Such a thing is farthest from the thoughts of Mr. Maxson and other advocates of that plan. The contributions are, however, to be turned over, in the case of this city, to the Plainfield Relief Association which works under the direction of and in combination with the Organized Aid Association. Each church is to give up the support of its poor and give direct into the general fund.

The result aimed at will be that no one will be receiving aid from two sources, that the really worthy cases will be helped as they deserve to be but that no imposters will be able to work their schemes with success. The saving during the year will undoubtedly amount to considerable and can thus be bestowed on worthy cases which might otherwise be in want. It is simply the old question of the gain to be derived from organization, as shown in the monster corporations and trusts, but here applied to the subject of charity. It might, in plain language, be termed a "charity trust."

It is a question as to how extended this movement will be in Plainfield. A number of pastors have agreed to the plan. To make it successful, there should be a complete unity of effort. It will probably meet its chief opposition from those who feel that such a method of distributing charity is cold and almost heartless and that it will defeat certain of the aims of the Christian people who desire the personal factor to figure in the work of charity. This is probably the only argument of any force that can be made against it.

The series of industrial exhibits at the Public Library, two of which have already been held, have proved a wonderfully popular feature and have served to show the value of the collection of books in the Babcock Scientific Library. A little variation is now planned for the third of the series which is to be held tomorrow and Sunday afternoons. This time the subject will be machinery and machine drawing and an informal talk or conversation will be given on the subject tomorrow afternoon. Samuel Hollingsworth, a graduate of Stevens Institute and now employed as a designer of machinery at one of the large local factories, has been selected. He is a very capable young man and will undoubtedly make the exhibit one of unusual interest.

The mercury has been staying down toward the lower end of the thermometer since the Christmas holidays and the result is that the ice is fairly thick. The storms and snow have had their effect on the ice but the crop is reported to be a fair one and many of the dealers declare that it is fully up to the standard of clearness. The work of harvesting has commenced at many ponds and is being pushed forward with much energy. Despite the fact, however, that the ice is thick enough to cut, the skating is practically no good as the last snowfall still covers it.

The Philadelphia Record relates that the proprietor of a small store in New York who advertises in at least one newspaper every day was asked whether it paid, since his trade comes only from one section of the city. "We have considered that," he said, "and we find it does pay. Besides, we are sowing seed for the time when we shall be a large establishment. Many of the big stores got their growth by newspaper advertising when they were still small."

The Jersey Central Railroad can learn some useful lessons regarding the method of building and painting fences to separate railroad tracks from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

When the Pennsylvania Railroad felt the shortage in its motive power department, it promptly hired a number of locomotives from another railroad. It is an example which the Jersey Central might have followed with profit to itself and its patrons.

Although it will be some time before the improvement at Bayonne will be fully completed, all four tracks of the Jersey Central Railroad have been elevated at that point and, this morning, traffic over all four tracks was resumed. This change from two tracks to four will eliminate the cause of many of the delays which have troubled Plainfield commuters during the last few months.

It is welcome news to the public in general and the advocates of good roads in particular that some of the townships in Warren county are finally waking up to the importance of building decent roads in their borders. It has taken much time to bring about this state of affairs. Now, it is to be hoped that the movement will go forward without delay.

Somerset county has followed the example of this and many other counties by making an appropriation for hospital work within its borders. There only happens to be one hospital in Somerset so it gets the full benefit of this very worthy course.

The Board of Health will continue its free vaccination bureau this and tomorrow afternoons. Since the first case appeared here, the bureau has been doing a land office business.

ATTRACTIONS FOR ORDERS.

Other Secret Organizations Will Have Special Tickets for Fair.

A meeting of the joint committe of Red Men was held last evening and arrangements were made for entertainment features for the fair to be held in Saengerbund Hall during the first week in February. The committee appointed to supervise the plans for the entertainment includes Wm. Newcorn, Robert Humphries and Miss Ella Sebring.

It was decided to send invitations to all the other secret organizations in the city. Free tickets will be supplied and attractions will be arranged for their benefit.

A NEW CHURCH.

Unitarian Church Will be Established at Elizabeth Soon.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city, assisted by Rev. D. W. Moorhouse, superintendent of the American Unitarian Association, for the department of the Middle States, will soon establish a Unitarian Church Society at Elizabeth. It is expected that the first meeting will be held Sunday, January 26. The preacher will be Rev. Thomas R. Slicer, of New York. A Sunday-school will be also organized by some of the members of the Unitarian Church Society of this city.

Cashin Takes a Partner.

Matthew J. Cashin, who has been conducting a general tailoring business since last March on Park avenue, has formed a partnership with Martin Croak. Mr. Croak comes from New York and has had many years of experience in the business. The firm name will be "M. J. Cashin."

Grand Officers Expected.

At the meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., Monday evening, there will be installation of officers and many of the Grand Lodge officers will be present.

Sewage Commission to Meet.

A meeting of the sewage commission of the borough will be held in the Council chamber during the early part of the coming week.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

DUNELLEN.

An excellent example of the discipline, which the members of Defender Fire Co. have attained, was shown last night. About 10 o'clock some one saw a lurid glow in the sky and thinking it might be a fire in town gave the alarm and the fire whistle blew for about five minutes. Almost all the members of the fire company responded and were greatly chagrined upon their hurried arrival at the fire house to find that the glow was the reflection of a burning barn near New Brunswick and that all thoughts of bold deeds and daring rescues would have to be dismissed. It cannot be learned who gave the alarm but if he is found everybody is threatening him with dire punishment.

Dr. P. W. Brakeley has been selected to receive contributions for the McKinley Memorial fund. So far but a very small sum has been secured, and as the contributions must be sent into headquarters by Jan. 24, it does not look as if Dunellen would bear a very large share in the remembrance. Middlesex's share of the $30,000 which has been promised by the State, is $1,350. Contributions of any sum will be received by Dr. Brakeley or Adam Dealaman.

Miss Redway, of the Asheville, N. C., Farm School, who lectured in the Presbyterian church Wednesday night, was entertained by Mrs. A. A. Lake.

Michael Moynihan has recovered from the effects of a severe fall in in the Plainfield High School a few days ago, and is again able to attend school.

John Beekman has been secured to act as janitor of the young men's class rooms which will shortly be opened in the Presbyterian church.

The W. C. T. U. held its regular weekly meeting yesterday. Next week the monthly business meeting will be held.

Frazee & Carpenter, the recently formed firm of painters, will open their office in the Todd building February 15.

The Friday afternoon card club will meet next week with Mrs. Blanchard Randolph, of Plainfield.

John Hunt, who was injured by a fall some time ago, has resumed work on the railroad.

Paul Kretzel has recovered from his recent illness and is able to attend to business.

Mrs. J. D. DeGroff, who is critically ill, remains in about the same condition.

The Ladies Aid Society will give a hot chicken supper next Tuesday evening.

Rev. A. F. Todd entertained his son from New York city yesterday.

The pay car on the Central is expected to stop here today.

George W. Churchill is recovering from a severe illness.

Regular revival services were held last night.

C. T. Rogers will ship this week the seed corn which has been engaged by Henderson, the seed man of New York.

The G. E. Club will meet at the home of Mrs. C. W. Kelley, of Prospect avenue, Saturday evening.

A. S. Coriell is considerably improved from his recent stroke of paralysis.

Revival services will be held in the First Baptist church this evening.

Chas. Bade, of Metuchen, was in town on business yesterday.

The band met for practice in Recreation Hall last night.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held its weekly meeting in their rooms last night. Business of importance was transacted and arrangements completed for the Council smoker which will be held next Thursday night.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, still has at his disposal a free scholarship in Woods' Business College, of Newark. Any deserving young man or woman in town may have the same by applying to Mr. Shott.

Henry O. Drake, whose arm was broken several weeks ago by a collision with a bicycle, is doing very nicely and expects to shortly be able to resume his position.

The effort to raise a bowling team in Fanwood seems to have failed. Fanwood has plenty of good material which could be developed and a strong team organized.

Any one in town desiring to contribute to the McKinley Memorial Fund can leave their subscription with Postmaster Norman Dunn at the postoffice.

The subject of the prayer meeting in the Baptist church tonight will be "The Miraculous Draught of Fishes." No meeting will be held Saturday night.

Mrs. William S. Terry, of Plainfield, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Buckley.

A meeting of the Township Committee will be held tonight in the town rooms.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A large new coal shed is being erected at the Middlesex Water Company's pumping station. Next month the engines will pump night and day to keep up an increased supply of water which it is anticipated will be called for by the new smelting factory at Carteret. At present the amount of water pumped daily is 500,000 gallons. The capacity will be increased to 900,000 gallons.

A fire at William Norman's Lehigh Valley hotel, Wednesday night, caused damage to the amount of $75. A lamp in an upper bed room exploded and, scattering the oil about the room, set fire to the furniture and carpet. The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Norman, who gave the alarm. Blankets and water were used to smother and extinguish the fire.

A disreputable man frightened a number of women and children, Wednesday evening, by peeking in the houses at the windows. Some one fired two shots from a gun and frightened him away. The gun shots caused considerable excitment among the residents who imagined that chicken thieves were again rampant.

An "evening sociable" will be held in Washington Hall, tonight. Extensive preparations have been made for an enjoyable evening and many out of town guests are expected.

Chicken thieves have made a visit to South Plainfield with the result that Frank Miller is minus eleven chickens and Patrick McDonough a number of ducks.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Baptist church, met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. B. Manning.

Thomas VanNest, who is at Trenton, remains about the same without much improvement in health.

—Neuman Brothers' guarantee goes with every pound of Java and Mocha coffee they sell at thirty cents. It is simply delicious.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. Randolph.

TESTED A NEW VENTILATOR

PUT IN SERVICE ON A ROYAL BLUE LINE CAR.

It May Be Generally Adopted on the New Jersey Central—It Works Satisfactorily.

Officials of various railroads and others made a special trip enjoyed a flying trip a few days ago on the Royal Blue line from Jersey City to Philadelphia, the purpose being to test a new system of ventilating passenger cars. The train passed through this city about 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Nearly all in the party were financially interested in the device which is said to be a model ventilator. On either side of the car, at the top, were six of these ventilators. They had the conventional brass screen on the inside. From the exterior of the car, nothing appears unusual except six tin or sheet iron projections, cylindrical in form. Within the car the little narrow windows are shut tight and the fastenings removed. This is because there is no need for the windows when the clever device is in use.

The ventilator, which has been invented by W. E. Andrew, of Atlantic Highlands, does not cause a draft. It merely sucks the foul air out of the car. The intake is brought about by means of the sides and closed windows. Nature is thus instrumental in supplying the fresh air.

All during the trip the forty or fifty passengers smoked incessently by request and at no time was there much smoke in the car. It wafted gently to the ventilators and quickly disappeared. Already this system has been in use on one car of the New Jersey Central Railroad for over a year, and it is claimed that it gives entire satisfaction. It may be generally adapted on the Central.

FREE VACCINATION.

Will be Extended to People of the Borough Tuesday Afternoon.

Free vaccination in the borough has been decided upon and Tuesday afternoon the Council chamber will be thrown open for this purpose. Three physicians will be in charge and anyone living in the borough will be treated upon application.

The physicians selected include Borough Physician Albert Pittis, Physician of Schools J. Hervey Buchanan and Dr. Arthur H. Dundon, all of whom reside in North Plainfield. Mayor Newton B. Smalley has arranged with these doctors to be on hand at that time.

COLLIDED ON ICE.

Ray Stevens Injured While Playing Hockey on Demler's Pond.

While playing hockey on Demler's pond, Wednesday afternoon, Ray Stevens, of Grandview avenue, and Arthur Denton, of Washington avenue, met in collision. The former was knocked down and quite badly hurt. He was assisted home and a physician who was called found it necessary to take four stitches in his right leg which had been cut. He will be laid up for several weeks.

TWO INJURED BY TROLLEY

A CAR AND WAGON COLLIDED AT WESTFIELD LAST NIGHT.

Fred Benner and John Sullivan Thrown Out and Brought to the Hospital Here,

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, January 17—Fred Benner, of Fanwood, and John Sullivan, of Plainfield, received severe hurts, last evening, in a collision with a trolley car of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway on Grove street, this place. Both were thrown from the wagon to the ground. Benner sustained a fractured collar bone and severe abrasions on the body and hands. Sullivan received a severe scalp wound and numerous cuts. The injured men were placed on a train and taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield.

According to witnesses, the two men were driving on the wrong side of the road at a lively pace. The car approached going in the opposite direction. When they were seen by the motorman George Stewart, it is said he slowed down. When just abreast of the car, according to the motorman's story, the horse was turned directly in front of it and although Stewart reversed a collision could not be avoided. The horse escaped unhurt but the wagon was wrecked.

DON'T BE AN OLD FOGY!
Keep pace with your day and generation.
The man who does not avail himself of modern methods is right at the outset giving himself a handicap that scarcely the wit of a Mark Twain or a genius of an Edison can overcome,
He who writes his correspondence with a pen instead of using a New Century Typewriter is "behind the times." He is making himself a plodder when he might be a leader. If you are using another typewriter—one of the slow, nerve racking kind, get rid of it quick.
The New Century economizes time and does PERFECT WORK.
It does more work and BETTER WORK than any other typewriter. It wears longer and is a better investment. It is the twentieth century method of handling correspondence.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 19, "Intelligent Piety"—Text, Acts xvii, 10, 12.

"They searched the Scriptures daily, therefore many of them believed."

Our Object.—"The object of the League is to promote intelligent and vital piety in the young members and friends of the church and to aid them in the attainment of purity of heart and in constant growth in grace and to train them in works of mercy and help."

Our aim is clear cut. We purpose to be truly Christian. This means growth in all inner graces of the spirit, all outward efficiency in helpfulness to others and fuller understanding of all knowledge that is elevating. The best Christian is many sided. Habits of devotion and benevolence are balanced by practices of reading, study and thinking.

Never before was so much reading matter available as now. Never was the quality so excellent and the nature so varied. The price of the best literature places it within the reach of the poorest of the people. The magazine articles of a single month, if carefully culled, are often of great value. If one has the taste for reading, there is no lack of material of the very best for its satisfaction.

Herein lies a danger. The mass of matter is so great that careful selection is required to get that which is adapted to personal needs. Unless a plan is formed and adhered to there is an inevitable drifting into careless ways. Whatever comes to hand is read indiscriminatingly. The result is a confused condition of mind where many things are heaped togetner. Little is properly sorted, less is well understood, and almost nothing is fully mastered. Still worse, the mind has become dissipated and shrinks from solid work, craving mere amusement or distraction of attention from serious work.

Some reading should be always in progress of a solid sort, so that when the leisure quarter hour is found it can be at once taken up where it was left the last time. Some work for information, to increase the knowledge as well as to discipline powers of the mind.

The League reading course has been selected specially for meeting the needs of our average young people. The price of the set is very low, and in no chapter will it be found difficult to get at least a few who will club together for its purchase and then for its study and discussion.

Much of value lies in getting together and discussing the subjects and their special treatment in the books read. Points which are obscure to one person are plain to another, and all minds are stimulated to greater activity by contact with others and comparison of views.

In no particular is this more clear than in the matters of Bible study. Frequent interchange of opinion and united study will make marked improvement in the grasp of Scripture truth and also in relish for it.

Some light reading will be helpful, but too much is harmful. It is a serious mistake to read stories more than anything else. It is not a mark of culture to have read many of the popular novels, but to have read discriminatingly what is worth reading does show a trained mind.

God's Plans.

God has His plans in providence and grace. They do not develop in a day. They ripen by degrees. This does not suit the human mind. Men call for the speedier processes. They become discouraged and doubting at seeming delays or slow movements. But this does not help matters. Our God takes His own time. He makes no mistakes. He will not be forced; neither will He force His creatures. He will not deviate from His ordained operations. He will not shorten the steps between the beginning and the end of His purpose. Every man must live out his appointed life. Between his birth and the grave lies an interval of preparation, discipline and development, and, whether the period be long or short, there is no escaping it. The intervening process is as much decreed as are the beginning and the ending. It stands related to the final outcome. It forms an important part in God's great scheme in regard to time and eternity. At times the experience may be very trying, but the Christian will recognize God's hand in it and abide the issue with patience, resignation and hope, assured that "all things work together for good to them that love God, who are the called according to His purpose."—Presbyterian.

Sorrow.

O Sorrow, thou art only a gateway to joy, only a hand to lead us to light! Thy cups are hard to swallow, yet when bravely lifted and swallowed they bring us deeper and purer joys. Let us never grieve because of sorrow, but let us take it and go straight to God with it and make it turn out to be one of the greatest blessings of our whole lives.—Bible Reader.

The Bright Side.

More than half of the unhappiness in the world comes from a perverse unwillingness to look on the bright side so long as a dark side can be discovered.—United Presbyterian.

The Sunshine of Gladness.

Take thy self denials gayly and cheerfully and let the sunshine of thy gladness fall on dark things and bright alike.—James F. Clarke.

Before We Sleep.

Like unto an infant's restful gaze
Would we, Lord, upraise our eyes in prayer;
Resting then in faith within Thy sight,
Peace will bring us visions clear and fair.

Bless us each, we pray, before we sleep;
Guard us as we linger nigh to death;
Let our heart throbs dedicate to Thee
Higher aims with every indrawn breath.

M'KINLEY DAY.

Observance of Jan. 29 to Be General Throughout the Country.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 17.—Telegrams and letters received by Ryerson Ritchie, secretary of the McKinley National Memorial association, indicate a general observance of McKinley day throughout the country. Alexander H. Revell, national trustee at Chicago, writes that by proclamation Governor Yates has suggested the holding of special services in the churches on Sunday, Jan. 26, and exercises in the schools on Jan. 29. The city council of Chicago will pass a resolution, and Mayor Carter Harrison will issue a proclamation calling for the day's observance. In 4,000 churches in Illinois special services will be held. The ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church of Cook county have agreed to hold a McKinley memorial service and take up a collection.

Other letters and telegrams show great progress. Governor Herreid of South Dakota says that his state has raised the sum apportioned. Mr. Henry T. Scott, national trustee at San Francisco, wires that an enthusiastic meeting of the state committee was held on Wednesday night and that California will raise its full quota.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the national association in Cleveland on Monday next.

Dear Sirs—Two years ago I had very bad corns and callouses on my feet, I went to a chiropodist and paid him $5.75 for taking them off. In less than a month they were back again. I then tried your CORN CURE and used only three bottles, costing 45c, and am happy to say it has taken them off completely. They have not troubled me now for over a year. I consider your HEPBURN'S CORN CURE the best I have ever used.—Yours truly, R. O. RUNYON, 629 LaGrande Ave.

An Interesting Case

"For the last twelve years I have suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion," says Mrs. English, thirty-nine years of age, living at 1031 East Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, Pa. "I would feel so bad and bloated after eating the plainest meal that I often went without eating for two or three days, thinking I could starve out my misery, but that only made me feel worse. I would suffer with headaches that nearly drove me crazy and I was fairly wasting away to a shadow. A friend advised me to try Ripans Tabules, which I did. I made up my mind to give them a fair trial and I can truly say that in four days I was feeling better. Then I took them for three months regularly, when I stopped them for a little while and now I am taking them again. I would not be without them, for to-day I am a well woman, never felt better or brighter in my life. I have no more headaches and I can attend to my work with pleasure."

WANTED:—A case of bad health that R.I.P.A.N.S. will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R.I.P.A.N.S. on the package and accept no substitute. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning Jan. 19. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Caleb choosing a hard thing.—Josh. xiv, 6-14.

Caleb was the son of Jephunne. Nothing is known of his early history. That he was a foreigner and a proselyte to Judaism is altogether probable, as he is called a Kenezite. He was one of the twelve men sent to spy out the land of Canaan when the Israelites first came to its borders. He and Joshua were the only ones of the twelve who reported in favor of entering the land, and they alone of those who left Egypt were permitted to enter the promised land. Once entered, the new land had to be conquered. Caleb asked Joshua for that portion of the land which the spies had visited and which Moses had promised him. It was a most difficult position to take. His request was granted, and he conquered it and possessed it.

The task that Caleb chose in the conquest of the land of Canaan was a most difficult one. He did not seek a place of ease and of luxury, but chose a hard thing. Hebron was naturally fortified. It was a mountainous country. It was also artificially defended. "The cities were great and fenced." The inhabitants were called Anakim (long necked). They were so large in stature that they were called giants. They were also warlike in disposition and courageous in action. The sight of these very people had filled ten of the spies with terror, and they advised the Israelites not to enter the land of Canaan because of them. Joshua, then a man of forty years of age, was not afraid of them, and, now an old man of eighty-five years, he asks for the difficult task of conquering these warlike, courageous people. His example should be an inspiration to all young Christians. We should not fear the difficult tasks or the arduous duties, but should ever be ready and willing to serve God in the most difficult places. The soldier seeks the most dangerous and difficult tasks. Why should not the Christian soldier?

Caleb did not undertake his dangerous and difficult task in his own strength, but in the strength of the Lord. He was not a fool rushing in where angels feared to tread. He had taken his own strength and the strength of the enemy into consideration and also the necessity of having the presence and help of God. "If so be the Lord will be with me, I shall be able to drive them out, as the Lord hath said." Hard things are not to be chosen in rashness, but in faith. Trust in God will assure us victory over any enemy that it may be our duty to face or success in any task that it may be our duty to undertake.

Caleb's faith and efforts were crowned with success, and he received the land of the Anakim as his reward. Success and reward always follow the faithful performance of duty. With the intelligent faith and courage of Caleb let us "wholly follow the Lord," and success and reward will be our portion.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. iii, 1-12; Josh. i, 1-7; Judg. vii, 15-25; Neh. ii, 11-20; Zech. iv, 6; Isa. xl, 31; Ps. xlvi, 1-5; Matt. xiv, 22-36; xxviii, 19, 20; John ix, 4; Phil. iv, 13.

The Reward of Prayer.

True prayer never fails to bring its reward. Prayer consists of supplication and thanksgiving. Petition is but an incident of prayer, and it may well be doubted whether that which consists of petition alone is true prayer. Prayer is communion with God. Spending a large portion of time in company with God, we become more and more like God. Intimate relations are established between our Heavenly Father and the man of prayer. He finds a resting place secure from the dangers and ills of life in the secret place of the Most High, and as he grows in likeness to Christ and is kept in nearness to God the almighty arms of the living God are around him. God's ministering angels have charge over him, and in God's ways he finds the peace which Christ left as His dying legacy to all His followers.—Christian Observer.

Tonic Effect of Severe Demands.

God never insults us by asking less than the best of us. At times we are tempted to think His demands too severe and exacting, as though He had forgotten that we are dust. But if He were to let down the standard and say that men were such poor creatures that He must compromise with their weakness we should feel that to be worse than His severity of demand. We should feel that He has given us a lower rank in the scale of creation and shorn our race of its greatest glory—the possibility of sharing His holiness. It would weaken the self respect of mankind and cut the sinews of spiritual effort. God's severities in requirements are tonic, and they carry with them the assurance of great purposes of good for us.—Sunday School Times.

The Spiritual Life.

The spiritual life is a Spirit led life. It has new impulses, new sensations, new deeds. It is a life which no longer goes its own way. It has surrendered its way to the Spirit's better way. By submission to the Spirit's direction it escapes the dominion of the flesh. The spiritual life is a life yielded fully to the control of the mighty Spirit of God.—Episcopal Recorder.

The Building of a Life.

Life is a building. It rises slowly, day by day, through the years. Every new lesson we learn lays a block on the edifice which is rising silently within us; every influence that impresses us, every book we read, every conversation we have, every act of our commonest days, adds something to the invisible building.—J. R. Miller.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

"I have come to see you, Mr. Fairfax," he said, speaking very impressively, and regarding me deliberately as he did so, "on rather a delicate subject. Before I explain what it is, may I ask that you will treat what I am about to tell you as purely confidential?"

"My business is invariably a confidential one," I answered for the second time in two days. "I venture to think that this room has heard more secrets than almost any other in England. But though they say walls have ears, I have never heard it said that they have tongues."

"It is sometimes a good thing that they have not," he replied. "And now let me tell you what business has brought me here. In the first place, if you do not already know it, I may say that the company I represent is an exceedingly wealthy one, and, as our business lies a long way from Threadneedle street, if I may so put it, it is necessary for us to trust very largely to the honesty of our employes on the other side of the world. Of course we make all sorts of inquiries about them prior to engaging their services, and it is also needless to say that we keep a sharp eye on them when they have entered our employ. Nevertheless, it is quite possible, all precautions notwithstanding, for an unscrupulous man to take advantage of us. As a matter of fact, this is what has happened, and what has also brought me to you. For some considerable time past we have had our suspicions that our manager at the mines has been in league with a notorious rascal in New York. In proof of this, I might say that our returns have shown a decided falling off, while our manager has, so we have lately discovered, within the past year become rich enough to purchase property to a considerable extent in the United States. Unfortunately for us, owing to a lack of direct evidence, we are unable to bring his defalcations home to him, though of course we are as certain of our facts as we can well be of anything."

"I think I understand," I said. "Your business with me is to endeavor to induce me to go out to the Argentine and make inquiries on your behalf with the idea of bringing this man to book. Is that not so?"

"That is my errand," he replied, gravely. "If you care to undertake the task, we, on our side—and I speak as the mouthpiece of the company—will be prepared to pay you very high terms for your services; in point of fact, almost what you may ask in reason. The matter, as you may suppose, is a most serious one for us, and every day's delay is adding to it. May I ask what your terms would be, and when would you be prepared to start?"

"Your offer is a most liberal one," I said. "Unfortunately, however, I fear there is a considerable difficulty in the way of my accepting it."

"A difficulty!" he exclaimed, raising his eyebrows as if in astonishment. "But surely that obstacle can be removed. Especially for an offer of such magnitude as we are prepared to make you."

"Excuse me," I said, somewhat tartly, "but, however great the inducement may be, I never break faith with my clients. The fact of the matter is, only yesterday I promised to undertake another piece of business which, while not being so remunerative, perhaps, as that you are now putting before me, means a very great deal to those who are, for the time being, my employers."

"Would it be impertinent on my part to ask at what time yesterday afternoon you arrived at this momentous decision?"

"Shortly after four o'clock," I answered, but not without a little wonderment as to his reason for putting the question. For my own part I did not see what it had to do with the matter in hand.

"Bear me, how very vexing, to be sure!" he observed. "This is certainly another instance of the contrariness of fate."

"How so?" I asked.

"Because it was my intention to have called upon you shortly after lunch yesterday on this matter," he answered. "Unfortunately I was prevented at the last moment. Had I been able to get here, I might have forestalled your more successful client. Are you quite sure, Mr. Fairfax, that it is out of the question for you to undertake what we want?"

"If it is necessary for me to go at once, I fear it is," I answered. "But if it would be of any use to you, I could send you a most trustworthy subordinate; one who would be quite capable of undertaking the work, and who would give you every satisfaction."

"I fear that would not be the same thing," he said. "My firm have such implicit faith in you that they would not entertain the idea of anyone else going. Now think, Mr. Fairfax, for a moment. If you are prepared to go, I, in my turn, on behalf of my company, am prepared to offer you your expenses and a sum of £5,000. You need not be away more than three months at longest, so that you see our offer is at the rate of £20,000 a year. It is princely remuneration."

I looked at him closely. It was plain that he was in earnest—in deadly earnest, so it seemed. Even a defaulting manager would scarcely seem to warrant so much zeal.

"I am very much flattered by your offer," I said; "and believe me, I most truly appreciate the generosity of your company; but, as I said before, if it is necessary for me to go at once, that is to say, before I have completed my present case, then I have no option but to most reluctantly decline."

"Perhaps you will think it over," he continued, "and let me know, say to-morrow?"

"No amount of thinking it over will induce me to alter my decision," I replied. "You must see for yourself that I have no right to accept a retainer from one party and then throw them over in order to favor another. That would not only be a dishonorable action on my part, but would be bad from a business point of view. No, Mr. Bayley, I am exceedingly sorry, but I have no option but to act as I am doing."

"In that case I must wish you a very good morning," he remarked, and took up his hat and umbrella. I could see, however, that he was still reluctant to go.

"Good morning," I answered. "I hope your affairs in the Argentine may brighten before very long."

He shook his head gloomily, and then left the office without another word.

When he had gone I answered some letters, gave some instructions to my managing clerk, and then donned my hat and set off for the office of the shipping company that had brought Gideon Hayle to England.

IN THE SENATE.

Department of Commerce Discussed. Serious Objections Raised.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The senate yesterday for a brief time had under consideration the bill creating a department of commerce, and the discussion tended to show that the measure will have to be amended in many particulars before it can receive the approval of the senate. Serious objections were raised to the transfer to the proposed department of several important bureaus now a part of other departments of the government. It was pointed out that if the bill as reported became a law it would create the greatest department of the government and that the secretary of commerce would have more power even than the secretary of the treasury. Notice of several important amendments was given.

A large number of uncontested bills and private pension measures was passed, after which the senate adjourned until Monday.

Cuban reciprocity was under consideration by the ways and means committee, with large representations of Cubans and of the various sugar and tobacco interests in attendance. A delegation from the New York Produce Exchange favorable to reciprocity and several delegations from the beet growing sections opposed to reciprocity arrived during the morning.

ROBBERS GOT LITTLE.

A Holdup In Indian Territory With Small Results.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 17.—The southbound Kansas City Southern passenger train was held up during the night half a mile north of Spiro, I. T., by several masked men.

The robbers flagged the train between Spiro and Redland. While two of the seven men covered the engineer and fireman with revolvers others forced a porter who had appeared on the steps of the forward coach to uncouple the baggage car from the rest of the train. John Block, a traveling salesman from Fort Smith, alighted from the train and was about to fire upon one of the robbers when he was prevented by Conductor Sullivan, who feared that the men would fire into the passenger coaches. The baggage car uncoupled, the engineer was compelled to pull up the road a distance of one mile. There the robbers, after disarming the messenger, went through the baggage and mail car. Their work finished, one of the robbers handed the messenger the revolver taken from him, and all made for the timber.

Postoffice officials here deny that any registered mail was taken, and the express officials say that one package containing $3 covers their loss.

Big Four Will Change Engines.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 17.—For the past week the Big Four Railroad company has been making a test of the strength of the Lake Shore engine No. 655 on the division between Cleveland and Galion. The test ended yesterday, with the result that the Big Four will probably buy a number of engines of that type immediately. The Big Four engines have been unable to haul the combined St. Louis and Cincinnati train from here and keep up schedule in all weather. The Lake Shore engines for the past seven days were able to maintain the schedule and make up small amounts of time on the moderate run in all kinds of weather.

Earthquake Shocks In Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 17.—Four distinct shocks of earthquake shook this city at twenty minutes after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The shocks were very sharp, and buildings swayed perceptibly. Thousands of people rushed from offices and dwellings into the middle of the streets for safety, and many knelt in prayer. Telegraph poles bent like trees in a gale of wind, and most massive buildings were shaken. There has not for a long time been so severe an earthquake here.

A Window Glass War.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 17.—The price war in the window glass trade is practically on. The effort to reconcile the difference existing between the three combines—the American, the Co-operatives and the Independents—was to all appearances irredeemably defeated. A conference between the American and the Co-operatives was held, but the Independents were not present. At their headquarters it was said that all of the major officials were away from the city.

Destructive Gale at Vienna.

VIENNA, Jan. 17.—Over 100 persons were injured, many of them severely, by a terrific windstorm which swept over Vienna yesterday. Houses were unroofed, chimneys were blown down, and the streets were so filled with debris as to seriously impede traffic. People were blown down while on the street, and a number of horses were killed. A freight train was blown off its tracks, and passenger traffic has been tied up.

A Fight For Statehood.

ARDMORE, I. T., Jan. 17.—The single statehood delegates elected at the Muskogee convention departed yesterday for Washington to urge congress to enact speedy legislation in behalf of autonomy. The delegation goes united for single statehood with Oklahoma and will make a strong fight in that direction. The senate committee on Indian affairs will give the delegates a public hearing on Jan. 23.

Cummins Inaugurated as Governor.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 17.—The inauguration of Governor A. B. Cummins took place yesterday with imposing ceremonies at the Auditorium in the presence of 5,000 people.

Weather Probabilities.

DETAILED PLANS MADE FOR THE INAUGURATION

Governor-Elect Will be Formally Placed in Office at Trenton Tuesday.

TAKES PLACE AT NOON.

THE EXERCISES WILL BE HELD IN THE TAYLOR OPERA HOUSE.

Then Will Follow Luncheon at the Trenton House, After Which the Parade Will Be Reviewed by the New Governor.

The detailed plans for the inauguration of Governor-elect Franklin Murphy, at Trenton, Tuesday, have been completed by Senator E. C. Hutchinson and Assemblyman Harry D. Leavitt, president and secretary, respectively, of the joint memorial committee appointed by the Legislature Tuesday.

At a meeting of the committee it was decided to leave all the arrangements to the two local members of the committee and in accordance with the authorization they decided upon the final programme.

Invitations for the inaugural have been sent out each legislator receiving twenty-five of the invitations and each state official one.

The new governor will be sworn into office in Taylor Opera House promptly at noon Tuesday. The members of the Senate and House of Assembly will meet on the Opera House stage shortly before the noon hour, when they will be formally called to order in joint session by President of the Senate C. Asa Francis.

The opening prayer will be made by the Rev. Henry R. Robinson, pastor of the First M. E. church of this city. The oath of office will then be administered to Mr. Murphy by Chief Justice William S. Gummere of the Supreme Court.

The moment the oath is administered word will be telephoned to the State House, where the firing of a governor's salute will formally proclaim that Franklin Murphy is governor of New Jersey.

Meanwhile a great seal of the State will be delivered to Governor Murphy by the then fromer Governor Voorhees, who will make a brief address.

When the new governor has accepted the great seal Govrenor Voorhees will introduce him to President Francis, of the Senate, who will, in turn, present him to the Legislature and the audience assembled in the Opera House. Then will come the inaugural address, the ceremonies closing with a benediction by Rev. Judson Conklin, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Baptist church, of Trenton.

While the Opera House ceremonies are under way the parade will start, the word to start being given shortly after the noon hour. The procession, it is believed, will take at least two hours before reaching the reviewing stand in front of the State House, where Governor Murphy will review the troops.

Meanwhile the new governor, with the retiring governor, the heads of the various State departments, the members of Congress and United States Senator John Kean will be entertained at lunch at the Trenton House. There will be about forty guests at the luncheon. There will be no members of the Legislature at the luncheon except those on the joint committee.

Governor Murphy will hold public receptions at the State House from 3:30 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7:30 until 9 in the evening.

Lang Johnson, of this city, has received the contract for decorating the State House, Opera House and grand stand for the occasion. Work on the reviewing stand which will seat 600, will probably be begun today or tomorrow.

Adjutant General and Mrs. Oliphant, will entertain Mrs. Murphy and the women of her party during the day.

TURKEY SUPPER.

Attracted a Large Crowd to Affair Given at Oak Tree for Benefit of Manconnier Chapel.

Under the auspices of the women connected with Marconnier chapel, a successful turkey supper was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene VanCourt, of Oak Tree, last evening. In all 135 of the appetizing meals were served, the majority of the dinners being from this city and Oak Tree. Those journeying from Plainfield declared they were more than repaid for the trip.

Those who assisted at the tables were Mrs. Lucy Schenck, Mrs. W. H. Randolph, Miss Leo VanCourt, Miss Julia Burns and Miss Ida Bowers The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Eugene VanCourt, chairman, Mrs. H. W. Marshall, Mrs. John J. Freeman, Mrs. Peter Emmons and Mrs. Rowland Smith.

DEMOLISHED CARS.

Freight Engine Went Through the Open Switch Near Freight House This Morning.

A large freight engine bound west, drawing a heavy train, ran into an open switch near Berckman street at 6 o'clock this morning. It crashed against a number of empty cars and completely demolished two of them. A third was sent part way down the embankment leading to the freight yards and fell against a telegraph pole, breaking it off short. The front part of the engine was badly damaged. None of the crew were injured.

The wrecking crew was summoned, but it was noon before the tracks were cleared. It is not known how the switch became misplaced.

DEATH OF CHAS. BEHN.

Passed Away at Home of His Daughter, Mrs. George Belcher.

Charles Behn, aged seventy-six, died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Beleher, on East Fifth street. Death was due to pneumonia.

He was born in Germany and has lived in Plainfield and vicinity about thirty years. He lived for a time at Rahway, where he had a hay press. He also followed gerdening for a time. Mr. Behn was a member of the Crescent Avenue church.

The funeral services will probably be held from the late home Sunday noon after church hour. The interment will take place in Rahway in a plot purchased by Mr. Behn. The deceased leaves three daughters, Mrs. Hussey, of Jersey City; Mrs. John Spencer, of Mt. Horeb, and Mrs. George Belcher, of this city.

SENATE LODGE'S OFFICERS.

Were Installed at a Meeting of the K. of H., Last Night.

Senate Lodge, No. 3542, Knights of Honor, met last evening, when the the officers-elect were installed by Grand District Deputy Tooker, of Tenafly, as follows: Past dictator, W. D. Williams; dictator, A. A. Lake; vice dictator, H. Reynolds; assistant dictator, Charles Wheeler; guide, N. K. Barnes; guardian, Richard Warneck; reporter, R. A. Frey; financial reporter, John H. Doane; treasurer, E. C. Smith; trustees, W. D. Williams, Richard Warneck, John VanMiddlesworth.

After the installation one member was initiated. There was an interesting address by Grand District Deputy Tooker in which he said that the organization was never in better condition, financially or otherwise, than at present.

STRUCTURE OF NOVEL.

Miss Carroill Analyzed the Climax in Her Lecture Yesterday.

Miss Antoniette Carroll, of Jersey City, gave the second of her series of talks on the structure of the modern English novel at the home of Henry E. Bowen, on Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance and Miss Carroll's discussion proved decidedly interesting.

Her subject was "The Climax." In explanation of its makeup she cited the closing paragraphs of Adam Bede, the Silence of Dean Maitland and Henry Esmond. Taking the paragraphs apart in each instance she showed its component parts. The intent of the climax formed a good share of her talk.

Sent Flowers to Hospitals.

The floral tributes extended by friends at the funeral of Miss M. Emma Cory, Wednesday afternoon, were so numerous as to occupy the greater part of one room. A large number of them were afterward sent to Miss Virginia Stryker, who was Miss Cory's nurse until her demise, and who is now attending the patients at the isolation hospital. The remainder were forwarded to Muhlenberg hospital.

Death of Mrs. Scribner.

Mrs. Caroline A. Scribner, widow of Isaac Scribner, died at her home on Maple avenue, yesterday. She was eighty-four years of age. The funeral, which will be private, will be held Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made at Mt. Pleasant cemetery, Newark, on Monday.

SPRINKLING BY THE CITY

COUNCILMANIC STREET COMMITTEE IS STILL CONSIDERING IT.

That Was Chief Topic for Discussion at a Meeting of the Committtee Last Evening.

There was a meeting of the Councilmanic street committee, last evening, when the members continued the discussion regarding street sprinkling at the city expense. The members have not yet decided the question in their own minds whether or not to present a favorable report to the Council.

They do not want to increase the tax rate. This would be necessary if the city takes up the work. Yet the expense to the taxpayer would not, they say, be as much under the present rule. Under the present plan many people pay as much as fifty cents a week for sprinkling while many pay twenty-five or ten cents per week.

The committee believes that a general sprinkling of the macadam streets would mean a saving in the wear and tear on the same. This is believed to be true in North Plainfield where the borough does its own sprinkling. The first year of municipal sprinkling would cost the most as the equipment would come in that budget. After that it would naturally be less. The committee will hold several meeting to discuss this question and secure all data possible before a report is made to the Council.

TALK ON MACHINERY.

Informal Discussion of Machinery and Machine Drawing at Public Library Tomorrow.

All machinists and draughtsmen especially, and any others interested, are cordially invited to be present at an informal talk or discussion on machinery and machine drawing, which will be given by Samuel Hollingsworth, mechanical engineer and designer of special printing machinery at the Potter Press Works.

The talk will be in the reading room of the Public Library on Saturday afternoon, between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock. It will be illustrated by drawings of machinery lent by David E. Titsworth, of the Potter Press Works, and by about 150 of the best books in the library on the subject. The talk or conversation will be quite informal, and those interested may come in at any time between the hours mentioned.

The books and drawings will remain on exhibition on Saturday evening and on the following Sunday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock.

A TREAT COMING.

Fine Programme to Be Given at the Casino Monday Evening.

Wm. E. MacClymont, under whose direction the Men's Choral Club will be heard at the Casino, Monday night, promises one of the best programmes in the musical line that has been presented this season. The club has been working very satisfactory at rehearsals and great interest is being had in the forthcoming appearance. The many friends of the organization are looking forward to the public appearance with pleasurable anticipations, for in addition to the selections of the club, the famous basso, Dr. Carl E. Dufft and the noted 'cellist, W. Paulding DeNike, are to render valuable assistance. Tickets are on sale at Woodhull & Martin's.

We desire to express our appreciation to all those who have ministered to us in our great bereavement in the death of our beloved daughter Emma. The many messages of condolance, the beautiful floral offerings, the kindly acts of visiting friends, the offices so willingly performed by those assisting at the funeral services have helped to lessen the burden of sorrow and to break the shadows of the tomb. We commend the friends, whose hearts have been brought in closer touch with ours in this sorrow, to the same loving Father to whom they have commended us.

THE BEST ISOLATION HOSPITAL IN THE STATE

Building Which the Plainfield Board of Health Has Prepared for Local Patients.

A FARM HOUSE ONCE.

OLD SMOCK HOMESTEAD ON ROCK AVENUE HAS BEEN EQUIPPED.

Board Began Last Summer to Prepare It—The Four Patients Are Now Placed There—Well Fitted for the Objects Desired.

Although the general impression is to the contrary, the idea of the establishment of an isolation hospital in the old Smock homestead, near the city farm, is not a new one. It was first considered by the Plainfield Board of Health five years ago. No steps were actually taken to fit the building for that purpose, however, until last summer. These have been completed and Plainfield possesses one of the best equipped and most comfortable isolation hospitals of any city or town in the State.

The old idea of a hospital for contagious disease, then commonly known as a "pest house," was a rough board shack, thrown together in a hurry and located in some out-of-the-way place. Patients were carted and dumped into a corner with no care and were practically left to themselves. While establishments of that nature undoubtedly did exist at one time, the present isolation hospital, particularly as worked out by the local Board of Health, is a vastly different thing.

The building, which the Board of Health has utilized as an isolation hospital, is the old homestead on the Smock farm. The farm was purchased by the city and the major portion of it taken for city purposes. The farm house, which was in good condition, was occupied by the foreman of the disposal works until the city should find some other use of it.

In appearance, the house differs but little from the hundreds of substantial farm houses which are scattered through the rural districts of New Jersey. Since the Board of Health has taken possession, it has been painted yellow with white trimmings and dark green blinds. It is a large rectangular structure, facing the west, with a wing projecting to the north. The accompanying cut shows it from Rock avenue looking north. The nearest neighbor is the Industrial Home, over 200 yards away. There is a farm house on the Somerset county side but it is fully 300 yards from the isolation hospital. There are no other neighbors within a radius of nearly half a mile.

A number of changes have been made to the interior of the house to fit it for this particular purpose. It is now divided into two parts entirely isolated from each other so that it would be possible to care for two different contagious diseases. All the doors leading to the centre hall on the first floor have been boarded and plastered up. A flight of stairs leads to the second floor where are four comfortable rooms on the south side of the house. They will easily accommodate six patients.

The other part of the house is reached through the side entrance which opens into the kitchen. There is a large room or ward on the ground floor extending along the south side of the house, which the present occupants of the isolation hospital are now occupying. Then there is another large room on the same floor. Two large woodsheds in the rear can be finished up and utilized in case of emergency.

On the second floor of the wing and the north side of the house are five rooms, reached by another flight of stairs. These rooms are occupied by the nurses and other attendants at the hospital.

In the basement is a Richardson and Boynton heater of the most modern type which, with the aid of a complete new set of pipes enables the whole building to be heated without difficulty. The rooms are scrupulously clean and the walls have only recently been whitewashed. While they are bare of ornamentation, everything is clean, warm and well ventilated.

It is estimated that the hospital could contain twenty patients with comfort and many more in case of emergency. There is also room for the necessary attendants.

Communication with the rest of civilization is now maintained with the aid of a telephone which was installed by Manager C. W. Runyon, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, just before the first patient was brought there.

ONLY ONE OFF DUTY.

Patrolman Lunger Was Temporarily Laid Up With Vaccination.

The first of the local patrolmen to become incapacitated for duty through becoming vaccinated is Patrolman Lunger. He was taken ill yesterday with the symptoms which generally follow the arm scratching process. His beat in the center of the city is being covered by Patrolman Higgins. The other patrolmen who were recently treated are doing well, although all are touchy about the arm.

A Quiet Affair.

The marriage of Miss Mary E. Wilson and Joseph Truett, which will take place Saturday, February 8, will be a very quiet one, only the families being present, as a death has just occurred in Mr. Truett's immediate family.

Revival of Interest.

The Woman's Aid Association met Thursday afternoon for the first time at Reform Hall and laid plans for the rest of the winter. The association already has quite a membership and there promises to be a revival of interest.

KINDER SYMPHONY AND PLAY AT PARK CLUB

Decidedly Successful Entertainment Given at the Park Clubhouse Last Evening.

CLUBHOUSE CROWDED.

FORMER MAYOR W. L. SAUNDERS GAVE A CLEVER MONOLOGUE.

Kinter Symphony Given by Club Members Led by Wallace Guilford—One Act Play by Three Amateur Artists.

The dramatic and musical entertainment, given at the Park Club last evening, was an unqualified success. The clubhouse was hardly large enough to accommodate comfortably all who attended, but the programme was so good that those who suffered a trifle by crowding forgot these little troubles. Henry A. McGee took charge of the programme for the entertainment committee and explained the numbers.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders opened the programme with a monologue. At the beginning Mr. Saunders said that he understood he was to give a monologue, but some of the members had informed him it was to be an epologue, a catalogue or a decalogue, and he was not sure which it would be. After relating some of the troubles of Plainfielders, Mr. Saunders continued his part by reciting an amusing selection entitled "Lady Jane," which was received with great applause.

Then followed the "kinter symphony," for which great preparations had been made. The music is by F. X. Chwatal, and it represents a sleighing party. The music described the jolly party starting off for a ride, stepping at a hotel for supper and a dance and the return, and the interpretation is quite real. The participants were all attired as young country folk and their appearance provoked much laughter. The music was catchy. Wallace Gilford drilled those who took part and acted as leader.

The party was made up as follows: Miss Mabel VanDeventer, Allan B. Laing, triangle; Mrs. Wallace Guilford, Miss Bertha VanN. Willis, Miss Saidee Mae Howell, Miss Frances Weir, L. H. VanBuren, Harry L. McGee, kazoo; Raymond A. McGee, kazoo and cornet; R. D. Schoonmaker, Charles E. Murray, Harry Curtis, mandolin; Clarence V. Fowler, Langdon Howard, Miss Hyatt, violin; piano, Miss Laura Long and Miss Alice L. Barlow; Miss Halla VanDeventer, sleighbells; Miss Helen Weir, castinets; Miss Adelaide G. Ball and William Barlow, drums; Jeffrey Barlow, whips and nightingale; William A. Townsend, sleigh. This was represented by the rubbing of sandpaper.

Everyone of the parts were well taken and at the conclusion the exclamation of "bravo," by Mr. Saunders, was the signal for loud and continued applause. A pretty part of the symphony was a duet given by Miss Willis and Raymond A. McGee.

Following the symphony a recitation entitled "Photography," was cleverly given by Miss Grace E. Overton and Miss Edith L. Burt. The latter stood behind the speaker, who was dressed as an Irish woman, and made the gestures.

The last part of the programme was a one-act farce entitled "A Picked Up Dinner." This was given by Miss Grace E. Overton, Miss Edith L. Burt and Morgan T. Townsend. This produced much laughter. Each part was well given and showers of applause were given the trio.

After the entertainment many of the young people remained and enjoyed an informal dance.

As previously stated, the affair was under the direction of the entertainment committee, of which Mrs. Charles A. Reed is the chairman. She took the lead and with her able assistants made the affair a success. The sum realized at the door was $81.

HEALTH BOARD NOTICE.

The Council chamber of the Board of Health, over Powers' drug store, will be open for free vaccination for all who may apply, Sunday, Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 3 to 4 o'clock.

PROTECTION FOR BOROUGH

Borough Council Voted Funds for Free Vaccination and Considered a Hospital.

AT A SPECIAL MEETING.

Appropriated $250 For Use of Board of Health and Appointed Committee to Ascertain Cost and Possible Location for an Isolation Hospital.

In order to cope with danger arising from the possible appearance of smallpox in the borough, the North Plainfield Council, at a special meeting last evening, decided to supply the Board of Health with a necessary means to vaccinate all citizens free of charge upon application. Further than this steps were taken by the appointment of a committee to ascertain the cost of acquiring and maintaining an isolation hospital. It developed in the course of the proceedings that there was some conflict of opinion among the councilmen as to the value of vaccination as a preventive of that dreaded disease.

Properly speaking the meeting took the shape of a conference between the mayor and Council on the one hand and representatives of the Board of Health on the other. Dr. Albert Pittis, the borough physician, was also present and he participated in the deliberations. Briefly the mayor outlined the object of the session and no time was lost in getting down to work.

Almost at the outset, Councilman Lee, who does not appear to have much faith in vaccination, asked Dr. Wililam E. Honeyman, secretary of the Board of Health, whether that body would require the removal of a person afflicted with the disease to the proposed isolation hospital, in case the person was in comfortable circumstances. He explained his hypothetical question by saying that there might arise a condition whereby a person lived in an isolated house, containing all the conveniences. Dr. Honeyman stated that he did not think that this would be done.

The question arose as to the power of the councilmanic body to establish such an institution. Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed was not present, but the Mayor said that he had received an opinion from the former to the effect that the power to do so was vested in the governing body of the municipality. He declared that steps should be taken in the matter at once. In response to an inquiry from Councilman Clark he started that no particular location had been suggested for an isolation hospital. His opinion was that it would be necessary to purchase a plot of ground with a suitable dwelling thereon. With much emphasis Councilman Lee voiced his opposition to such a course, saying that such action would be premature, inasmuch as there are no cases in the borough at present.

Dr. Pittis expressed his views regarding the advisibility of establishing a hospital for the purpose and he was firm in his advocacy of the suggested plan. He also approved of commencing vaccination at once. A motion was carried calling for the appointment of a committee, composed of the members of the Board of Health, the Mayor and the borough physician, to ascertain the cost of fitting up and maintaining a proper isolation hospital, and to report at the next meeting when the corporation counsel will be requested to be present. The idea of having the corporation counsel present was suggested by Councilman Northrop who appreciated the value of the body being legally advised by its own lawyer as to the steps it might take.

When the matter of arranging for the free vaccination of the public was brought up, Councilman Northrop declared that such matters are in the provience of the Board of Health. Mayor Smalley, however, said that inasmuch as any plan would involve the expenditure of money, which the Council must appropriate, he thought that the governing body of the borough might entertain the matter. Councilman Nichols expressed a wish that vaccination might begin at once and he brought the matter to an end by moving that the Council chambers be tendered for the use of those selected by the Board of Health to take charge of the vaccinations.

ANNUAL REPORT OF Y. M. C. A. PRESIDENT

The Year's Work in the Association Carefully Summed Up and Explained.

THE FULL REPORT GIVEN

AS PRESENTED BY MR. CAHOONE AT THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Year's Accomplishments in Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Were Carefully Reviewed — There Were Many Gains.

The following is the complete text of the report presented by President S. A. Cahoone at the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night:

To the Board of Directors and Members of the Young Men's Christian Association of Plainfield:

In presenting a brief summary of our work for the past year, I would refer you to reports of the various committees for detailed information of what has been accomplished.

The present membership of the association is 383 including the juniors. I cannot urge too strongly the adoption by our membership committee of such measures, and also such earnest efforts on their part, as shall result in a large increase in our numbers, and the Board of Directors, and in fact all the members of our association can assist in this important work. We have a well equipped building, adapted to our requirements, a body of efficient committeemen, numbering between sixty and seventy, and the maintenance of our work requires an annual expenditure of over $5,000, and to attain a membership of 600 should be our aim, and with persistent effort this may be acomplished.

According to the report of our treasurer, the receipts duing last year were $7,038.21, the expenditures $7,-036.21, leaving a balance on hand of $2. The sum of $2,758.38 has been received from subscriptions, from collections in the churches, and through the small books that are circulated. In acknowledging these gifts, we thank the donors for their liberal support of our work, as well as for the very kindly spirit in which our requests for such assistance have always been received.

As usual, a large number of societies and organizations, philanthropic and religious, have found it convenient to use portions of our building for their meetings, and we have always been glad to extend this privilege free of charge, believing that this was one of the uses for which the building was designed. We have endeavored to minister to the social needs of the young men in various ways, by receptions and entertainments, and on New Year's Day we kept "open house" as usual. During the summer months bicycle runs and outings of various kinds have been enjoyed by our members, and the privileges of the physical department were extended to outsiders for a limited period at reduced rates. Chess has been enjoyed by quite a number during the year, and it is pleasant to note the revival of interest in this direction; the game room has been well patronized, and the building generally seems to have been frequented and used by men for different purposes to a greater extent than usual.

Among the most notable events in 1901 were the Star Course of entertainments, which each year seems to increase in popularity. We have added during the present season a supplementary course of illustrated lectures at popular prices on travel, two of which have already been given. The formal opening of our work for the season took place in the large hall on the evening of October 5, when 217 were in attendance. During the same month we observed the thirty-fourth anniversary of the founding of our association, on which occasion offerings were made in the churches, a circular letter outlining our work was read, and sermons were preached by the several pastors in the interests of the work for young men. We were represented for the sixteenth year at Northfield, also by four of our boys at the State camp, at the International jubilee convention in Boston during the month of June, and at the State conference for boys at Elizabeth in October.

Perahps there are not many even among our members who realize fully the variety and amount of labor performed by our general secretary and his assistant. Of course only a small part of this can be mentioned in a report of this character, but I notice in reviewing his monthly reports that during the year ninety-six visits have been made to the different machine shops, twenty-three men have been temporarily assisted, three permanent situations secured, and fifteen men directed to suitable boarding places. Many letters have been written concerning young men leaving Plainfield, to associations, colleges, and different persons in the places to which they went, while parents, friends and teachers have consulted the secretary about young men, and he has conferred with different pastors of the city for the same purpose. The secretary has also done considerable temperance reform work in dealing personally with men in our building and elsewhere, and has devoted much of his time to all departments of the work, in conference with the several committees and their chairmen.

Something has been done in the way of boys' work, as usual, but we feel the necessity of engaging in this very important line of effort, in a manner more commensurate with the needs, and also with the opportunities, that are afforded by our building, and by the influence of our association in this city. The State conference for boys held in Elizabeth last October was certainly an object lesson in this line, and demonstrated what can be done by other associations in our State. Bible study has been carried on in this department, religious services for boys have been held, as well as committee meetings, outings, and socials, and considering that we lack that essential factor in this work, a boys' secretary, the year's record has been encouraging. A pleasant feature to be noted was the Christmas dinner given on that day to 110 poor boys in the small hall, by our boys' committee.

Our physical work department, under the charge of Mr. Heywood, has flourished during the past year, and the interest in the gymnasium continues as usual, the following statistics emphasize the fact:

The total average in the various classes, seventy against sixty-eight previous year; different men in department using its privilege 193, boys seventy three, against 140 and fifty previous year. Mr. Heywood has made 104 physical examinations during the year and given special treatment to those requiring it; he has also given class instruction to about thirty-eight boys from Mr. Leal's school, in the gymnasium, and he was of great service to our friends in Hope chapel in directing the fitting up of their gymnasium. In this connection it is interesting to note that one of Mr. Heywood's class leaders has been called to fill the position of physical instructor at Hope chapel. During the year many games of basketball have been enjoyed by our members in friendly contests among themselves, and also with visiting teams; our men have also played in some of the neighboring towns, and have won a reputation not only for efficiency, but for playing a straight square game. Two men from Mr. Heywood's Bible class left to become teachers themselves, and one young man entered the Springfield Training School to fit himself for permanent association work.

The condition of our educational department is satisfactory, both as regards increase of numbers and efficient work. In former years, while the enrollment in classes at beginning of the term might be large, there was a steady decrease in attendance, which made the yearly average small. From October 1, 1901, to January 1, 1902, the total enrollment was ninety-one in eight classes, against seventy-five in seven classes the previous year, but the total average attendance for same period was sixty, against thirty-nine for previous year. We have a new class, "First Aid to the Injured," and while it might seem more properly to belong to the physical department, it is classified in the examination blanks of the International committee under the head of educational work. We have now more classes than ever before, a faithful and efficient corps of teachers, and more regular attendance in the classes, generally, while the total enrollment and attendance are the highest for the past four years.

During the past twelve months the literary society met several times. Our reading room, well supplied with magazines and papers, is freely used by a considerable number of men, but we should be pleased if more would avail themselves of its privileges. I would remind Sunday-school teachers and scholars of our Bible study reference library, in directors' room on third floor, for the use of all; our own library proper contains but few volumes of interest, there having been no funds available for its maintenance. Measures are now under discussion with officials of the Plainfield

WM. MILLS ESCAPED WITH NORMAL FINE

North Plainfielder Was Sentenced for Bigamy in Somerset County Courts.

HE PLEADED NON VULT.

COURT LOOKED INTO THE FACTS OF THE CASE YESTERDAY MORNING.

Object Was to Prove No Felonious Intent in Marrying Second Time—Continuation of the Pearson Will Case in Orphans Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 18—Although the defendant pleaded non vult, the counsel for William Mills, of North Plainfield, charged with bigamy, scored a victory in the sentence rendered, which is but a nominal fine. The case came up for sentence yesterday and an examination by the court of the facts in the case took up the entire morning session.

At least ten witnesses were called by Former Judge William A. Coddington, representing Mills. The object was to prove that there was no felonious intent on the part of Mills in marrying Miss Minnie Fries, of North Plainfield, while his wife was living. Mills married Miss Mamie Donovan, of Newark, in 1898, and subsequently she eloped, it is claimed, with another man, whom she afterwards married. For this offense she was convicted and sent to State's prison.

The witnesses declared that Miss Minnie Fries and her mother, Mrs. Catharine Fries, were fully acquainted with Mill's status before he became the husband of the former. It was shown that the mother had acted on the alleged advice of a lawyer. This alleged advice was to the effect that a connection for bigamy annulled the lawful marriage. Judge Coddintgon made a plea for leniency and the sentence inflicted was a fine of $50.

After Judge Schenck had disposed of the sentence yesterday the matter of the hearing in the accounts of Wm. J. Pearson, of North Plainfield, executor of the estate of the late William Fryer and administrator of the Oliver R. Pearson estate, was continued. The affairs are in an lawful muddle, it seems, and the ingenuity of the lawyers, Wm. A. Coddington, of Plainfield, and Frederick A. Pope, of this place, is taxed to the utmost. The story of the affair has already been told in the columns of The Daily Press in detail. The court after hearing the case, until late yesterday afternoon, fixed Feb. 14, at 3 o'clock, as the day and time for winding the affair up.

A jury has been drawn in the appeal case of Conklin ads. Gilbuly, which will be tried Feb. 7 and the balance of the petit panel discharged for the term with thanks of the court.

Public Library, which may result in increased facilities to our members in obtaining good reading matter from this source, and we hope that a number of selected books from the Public Library may be placed on our shelves for the use of our own members.

For classification purposes we call a certain portion of our work, religious, such as the Gospel meetings, other religious services, Bible study, and personal work of various kinds, but in point of fact the title "Christian Association" covers all departments of effort. The gymnasium work, the educational classes, social, literary, and the rest, are, in a sense, all religious, because carried on with one aim, that men may be lead to personal acceptance of Christ as their Saviour, and may develop Christian character, and lead useful lives in service for others. We believe that, keeping this end in view, all our work here is sacred, and negatively this is evident, for it is largely preventative, as the gymnasium and other attractions at the building keep many from temptations that would meet them elsewhere, and such prevention is good preparatory work. But it is true, further, that an organization like ours, that seeks to furnish a young man with a pleasant resort for his evenings, that aims to improve him physically, broaden his mind, and cultivate his social instincts, and is doing this in a Christian spirit, with brotherly kindness, is doing religious work all along these lines, as our underlying purpose is the development of Christian character in all who come within our influence.

During he past twelve months there have been held in our large hall fifty-two religious srevices, with an average attendance of 133, an increase over the preceding year of about thirty-three per cent. This fact is certainly encouraging, as well as the attendance during the warm weather, when in many large associations the meetings are small. While our average for July was ninety-two, in St. Louis for the same month the average was sixty-nine, and although that city is not regarded as a desirable summer resort, the weather in Plainfield last July was decidedly unfavorable for such services, and under the circumstances that record of ninety-two was somewhat remarkable. Aside, however, from numbers, the results of these Sunday afternoon meetings have been evident in those who there have professed conversion, in the many testimonies of spiritual help received, and in the general quickening that has come to those who have attended these services. During the week of prayer for young men in November, Thomas Graham conducted meetings in our small hall every evening, with an average attendance of thirty-one, and meetings were also held by him in the machine shops of our city at noon during the same week.

In Bible study we have done well, although we should certainly strive to enroll a larger number of our members in this most important branch of our work. Our five classes have averaged sixty-four for the past month, against an average of fifty-seven the previous year, in which time, however, there were more sessions held than during the past twelve months. Bible study is greatly needed by young men, many of whom have not been regularly instructed in the study of God's word, while others who attended Sunday-school while young, are not found there in later years. A great opportunity in this line presents itself to all our associations, and their future welfare depends largely upon the attention given to Bible study, and the success attending the prosecution of this particular work.

Our Volunteer League held eight meetings last year, average attendance eleven. The sum of $33.91 was contributed, and the amount sent to the International committee for the foreign work. In view of the space accorded this subject in my last annual report, I can only refer to the matter in passing, and again express a hope that we shall see growth in this direction during the coming months. During last year there were held on Sunday afternoons in our large hall three meetings in the interests of foreign mission work. We should certainly have at least four such services during the year, and our league ought to be much larger and more effective. A true missionary spirit should be the crowning distinction of all our work, as it will be the guaranty of its increasing usefulness and deeper spirituality.

During the evangelistic union services held in our city last spring, under the direction of Messrs. Hall, Henderson and Jacobs, this association co-operated heartily with the churches, and a number of our workers were actively identified with the movement, which interested so many of our people. We received spiritual quickening from these union services, and it was a special privilege to aid in this work that proved a blessing to so many in our midst.

The foregoing is a brief outline of what has been accomplished during the past twelve months. The work of our association is for young men, but its influence is not confined to any one class in the community. A man, through habits of dissipation, has lost his situation, and reduced his family to want and dependency; he is reclaimed; enabled to secure employment again, and the charitable institutions of our city are relieved from the support of his family. The man himself becomes a citizen of value in the community, and not a menace to our homes and to society. A young man is converted at one of our religious meetings, becomes an active worker for others, and enters an institution where he is trained for service in association work for young men. The published figures in our reports do not tell the whole story, for they cannot. A great influence is constantly proceeding from this building, whose wide reaching influence we cannot measure. As officers, workers and members in this association, we should certainly acknowledge with profound gratitude the Divine Presence and Blessing in our labors, and with courage and inspiration from the past and present, confidently enter the New Year with large expectations of greater things yet to come.

President.

THEATRICAL.

"Florodora" closes its remarkable run in New York City at the New York Theatre, Jan. 25, and will be followed Jan. 27 by "The Hall of Fame," a burlesque review by Sydney Rosenfield and Geo. V. The New York Theatre Stock Company of 300 people will present the new piece; among its members are such well known artists as Marie Dressler, Mabelle Gilman, Amelia Summerville, Louis Harrison, Dan McAvoy, Junie McCree, Frank Doane, Laura Burt, and a host of their popular stage favorites; the production will be gorgeously staged.

Ten Presidents of One Mind.

Of all the employes of the White House, the oldest is Captain Pendel, chief doorkeeper and usher. He was appointed by President Lincoln in December, 1864, and has held his place through all administrations since the Civil War. Among the usher's interesting collection of tales out of school is one citing a singular coincidence in which all the ten Presidents, whose habits he knew so well, were of one mind. This is a story of the one thing besides soap and water, which all the Presidents used in common. It was a toilet article. There always have been many rivals of this particular article, but curiously enough all the Presidents from Lincoln to Roosevelt have had an identical idea concerning the brand of their choice. Reference is made to Dr. Lyon's Perfect Tooth Powder. Today, as though the habit was presidentially inherited, one of the familiar blue enameled boxes containing the powder, stands beside every tooth brush in the bed chambers of the Roosevelt family. As the package is metal it will not break, and as it has a patent telescopic measuring tube, it is always corked and is, therefore, a convenience in toilet bags of travelers as well as a luxury in the boudoirs of the stay-at-home.

A Popular Preparation.

One of the best advertised and most popular preparations for the cure of nasal catarrh and similar troubles is Ely's Cream Balm. It was originated and placed on the market nearly twenty years ago by a firm of experienced druggists, Ely Brothers, and their business in this special article grew to such proportions that they were compelled to devote their entire attention to it. Ely Brothers emphasize the fact that it is to the interest of druggists to supply Ely's Cream Balm whenever a customer calls for it, or even when simply a good catarrh remedy is asked for. The test of time has proved that this preparation always gives satisfactory results.

Automobile Stable.

Dr. Myron H. Carman, of 317 Franklin place, has received a permit from Building Inspector T. O. Doane for the erection of an automobile stable on his premises. The structure will be of frame material and will be fourteen feet in width and twenty-four feet in depth. It will be located in the rear of his residence. J. G. Hulbert will do the work.

It Is Easy to Say

"Be careful" but we must all go from heated houses into chill outer air, and the change sets us coughing and wheezing. Avoiding winter colds is difficult; curing them is not hard if you take Allen's Lung Balsam. Better begin when the cold is young and not wait until it settles deep into the lungs, for then, even with Allen's Lung Balsam, complete relief will be slower.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Some one stole your umbrella? Well, well, that's too bad. It might be worse if you could not go to John R. Blair's Park avenue furnishing store and replace it with a better one.

There is one essential reason for the trade enjoyed by William W. Dunn, the Park grocer, corner Duer street and Lincoln place. He handles choice fresh vegetables, and his stock is unlimited.

By the way, why not have poultry for dinner? You waste time thinking what meat to have on the table, when all this bother could be saved by telephoning Smalley Brothers, the North avenue butchers, to send you some poultry.

It cost no more in the end to cover your feet with the best leather than with a poorer quality, and the service secured is more satisfactory. If you buy your shoes of A. Willett & Son, around the corner, you are sure to have the best goods for the least money.

A telephone is a handy thing to have in the modern merchant's store. That's why Callahan & Son, the Richmond street grocers, have installed one in their place of business. Call up and leave your orders for anything in the grocery line and it will be delivered at your convenience.

If a person has his or feet properly covered with good stockings, there is a feeling of comfort and satisfaction. Putnam & DeGraw sell the celebrated Monogram half hose, also the well-known "Shawknit" half hose. The prices are reasonable for such goods. The best underwear is also offered.

A bitter war is being waged these days against all kinds of germs. For the protection of the individual and the home it is necessary to use the best germ destroyer. L. W. Randolph, the prescription druggist, sells only the best. He also sells the best vaccine. A word to the wise is sufficient.

In these days of modern cheapness and conveniences there is no need of struggling along with ancient necessities. The oil lamp used to do for our grandparents but they have been superseded by gas and elcetric fixtures. Gavett sells everything in this line at prices that admit of no delay in placing them in your home.

Did you ever stop to consider where the term, "a baker's dozen" originated? It's an interesting tale but no more so than what Warnock, the West Front street confectioner, has to say in regard to his fine line of cake and confections. He is now making every day fine charlotte russe, eclaires, French crullers and Napoleons.

TRAINS TO BLAME.

Were Late in Reaching Here and That Delayed the Carriers.

Of late there has been much delay in the receiving of mail in this city. Especially is this true of the first mail received in the morning. Frequently it is fifteen or twenty minutes late in being delivered at the postoffice and this causes a delay in delivery about the city. The railroad trains are responsible for the delay. Postmaster Bird wants it known just who is to blame for this.

A few mornings ago it was after 7 o'clock when the first morning mail was received. The carriers go on duty at 6:45 o'clock and they were obliged to wait almost a half hour before they could get the mail. It was later than that when they started out as the mail had to be assorted first.

Guest at New York Wedding.

Among the guests at the wedding, Wednesday, at the University Place Presbyterian church, New York, of Miss Mary Remsen, daughter of Mrs. Robert Lexox Belknap, to Dr. Dean Murphy, was Miss Edith Clapp, of Mercer avenue.

Will Exchange Pulpits.

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector of Grace Episcopal church, will conduct the services at the Episcopal church at Ossining, N. Y., Sunday. The rector of the latter parish, Rev. Mr. Ferguson, will officiate at Grace church.

Practiced Bowling.

The Ladies' Bowling Club of the Gesang and Turn Verein met Thursday afternoon and practiced on the alleys in Saengerbund Hall. Refreshments was a feature of the affair.

T. J. Nolan, of East Third street, is confined to his home with a severe cold.

Don't Live Together.

Constipation and health never go together. DeWitt's Little Early Risers promote easy action of the bowels without distress. "I have been troubled with costiveness nine years," says J. O. Greene, Depauw, Ind. "I have tried many remedies but Little Early Risers give best results." L. W. Randolph.

FAVORABLE REPORT

Senator Frye's Shipping Subsidy Measure.

PARTY LINES DRAWN IN COMMITTEE

Purpose of the Bill to Establish Maritime Supremacy of the United States In Next Ten Years. Summary of the Report.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The senate committee on commerce has authorized a favorable report of Senator Frye's ship subsidy bill. The report will be made by Senator Frye.

The Democratic members of the committee voted against reporting the bill. They also voted solidly for a motion offered by Senator Mallory to strike out the general subsidy provision of the bill. The committee made several amendments to the bill. The most important were allowing mail carrying vessels under the bill to be either iron or steel instead of steel only, as originally provided, and reducing to 1,000 gross registered tons the vessels receiving a bounty under the bill.

The report prepared by Senator Frye was read to the committee. It says that the purpose of the bill is to establish the maritime supremacy of the United States in trade with Asia and in the gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean sea, to establish securely trade between the United States and South America and to give the United States a respectable representation on the north Atlantic. The claim is made that all these results will be accomplished within ten years. The report also asserts that the bill will so extend shipbuilding as to transfer from abroad to the United States the center of that industry, as the centers of other industries recently have been transferred, and also that it will give to the United States a measure of maritime independence corresponding to our industrial and agricultural independence.

Senator Frye furnished the press the following summary of the report:

"The establishment of this complete American ocean mail service, involving much shipbuilding, will require several years. It will render the United States as independent of foreign powers for its ocean mail service as is Great Britain. The cost of the American service by American mail steamers will be $4,700,000. The cost of the British and colonial service by British mail steamers is $4,700,000. Receipts from ocean postage by the United States are now estimated at $3,000,000. The annual deficit under the new American system proposed, including minor services, will be about $2,000,000. The annual deficit under the British colonial system is $2,188,000.

"The postal subsidy provisions enable the postmaster general to establish an American ocean mail system superior to the systems of Great Britain, France and Germany.

"The American ocean mail system outlined contemplates on the Pacific weekly mail service to Hawaii, the Philippines, Japan, China, and Hongkong and a fortnightly service to Pago Pago, New Zealand and Australia. The maximum cost would be $2,335,000.

"On the Atlantic the bill contemplates semiweekly mail services to Jamaica, Havana and Europe, weekly to Mexico, once in ten days to Venezuela and fortnightly to Brazil at the maximum cost of $2,365,000.

"Americans have absolute free trade in foreign going ships, so no shipbuilders' trust is possible under the bill. Shipbuilders can import now free of duty materials for ships for foreign trade, so no combination to raise prices of materials is practicable.

"If an American shipowner will build his vessel in the United States, employing home labor, employing American officers and crews, performing certain services for the American government and using the vessel to promote American commerce, he will be paid a subsidy sufficient to put him on an equality with the foreign shipowner, employing foreign labor and serving a foreign government.

"The average cost of building ocean steamers mainly for cargo is $102 per ton in the United States and $76 in Great Britain. Average monthly wages on ocean steamers mainly for cargo are: American, $36; British, $26; German and Scandinavian, $17. The general subsidies proposed equalize American and foreign costs on these bases.

"Full compliance with all requirements for the bill would fix the initial expenditures at between $800,000 and $900,000.

Outlaws Surrounded.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Jan. 18.—A telephone message from Anadarko says the outlaws have again been surrounded, this time in the Keechi hills, thirty miles southeast of Anadarko, in a rough country, from which it is almost impossible to drive them. The officers are guarding every avenue of escape and will try to starve the gang out.

HUNDREDS ARE DEAD

Mexican City Suffers From a Terrible Earthquake.

MANY PUBLIC BUILDINGS IN RUINS.

Particulars of the Great Disaster Show Resr is Unparalleled In Recent Times—Further Disturbances Feared.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 18.—One of the most terrible catastrophes ever recorded in the state of Guerrero is reported to have occurred late Thursday afternoon, when an extremely violent earthquake shock was felt at Chilpancingo, causing a great loss of life and injuring many persons. Details from the stricken district are very meager, but scattering reports received here indicate that probably 300 persons were killed and as many more injured. It is known that the state capital, the parish church and many business houses and residences are in ruins, and there is much suffering as a result of the awful seismic disturbance. One of the edifices that suffered most was the Federal Telegraph office, which explains the paucity of news that has reached this city so far.

Later meager details begin to arrive here. The telegraph lines and apparatus at Chilpancingo were badly damaged, but the employees, all of whom were uninjured, quickly proceeded to erect an improvised telegraph office on the outskirts of the city.

The number of deaths was greater in the parish church than in any single place, as a crowd of worshipers were gathered there for the afternoon service. The solid masonry walled roof came toppling down on the worshipers as if it had been wrenched from its bearings by a thousand strong hands. Several people were killed there.

The war department has ordered the troops in the neighborhood to co-operate in the work of rescue. Until this work is completed it will be impossible to learn accurately the number of victims. It is believed, however, that this is one of the most destructive seismic phenomena that has occurred in Mexico. The greater part of the people of Chilpancingo are now camping out under trees around the town, which is five days' journey from the national capital.

Earthquake shocks were felt in many other cities and towns. In the City of Mexico the earthquake took place at 5:17 p. m., and was of such violence as to shake the most substantial buildings. The pan-American congress was in session at the time, and many of the delegates were greatly alarmed. The first movement was one of trepidation and was very sharp. It was followed by an easier oscillatory movement north-northeast to south-southwest. The duration was fifty-five seconds. The damage in the city was only slight.

Stealings From Stratton Mine.

VICTOR, Colo., Jan. 18.—Manager Shipman of the Independence mine, owned by the Stratton's Independence company of London, states that about $40,000 worth of ore had been stolen by ore pickers from the mine during the past eight months, or $5,000 worth every month since the trouble between the miners and management on account of the "strip to the skin" order issued early last summer. This order nearly precipitated a strike and was modified only at the earnest request of the parties most interested. Manager Shipman estimates that the stealings before this now famous order was issued amounted to between $20,000 and $30,000 a month ever since the mine was sold by Mr. Stratton to the English corporation.

Wesleyan Professor Dead.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Jan. 18.—James Cooke Van Benschoten, LL. D., professor of Greek language and literature in Wesleyan university since 1853, is dead, aged seventy-four years. He was born in La Grange, N. Y. In 1884 and 1885 he was director of the American School of Classical Study at Athens. Professor Van Benschoten was also president of the Connecticut Society of the Archæological Institute of America and vice president of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

The Hohenzollern Sails.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Baron von Richthofen, the minister of foreign affairs, will give a dinner tonight to Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia, Andrew D. White, United States embassador to Germany, and Mrs. White, John B. Jackson, secretary of the embassy, and Mrs. Jackson and a number of other distinguished persons in anticipation of Prince Henry's trip to the United States. The Hohenzollern sailed for the United States this morning at 9 o'clock.

Grade Crossing Fatality.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Mrs. Mary Gannon of Valley Falls, N. Y., was instantly killed and William Ketcham of the same place probably fatally injured at the Johnsonville grade crossing of the Boston and Maine railroad. The two were in a sleigh which was struck by an eastbound passenger train.

Another Colorado Oil Well.

BOULDER, Colo., Jan. 18.—The second producing oil well near this city has been opened. It is half a mile distant from the first. The excitement is great, land values are rising, and many persons are preparing to drill for oil.

Schley Hunting Deer.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 18.—Admiral Schley is on St. Catherine island hunting deer. He sailed from this city in company with General W. W. Gordon and Mr. Jacob Rauers, who owns the island.

NEELY ON THE STAND.

He Tells a Straight Story In Cuban Frauds Trial.

HAVANA, Jan. 18.—The cross examination of Estes G. Rathbone, ex-director general of posts of Cuba, at yesterday's session of the court which is trying the charges growing out of the Cuban postoffice fraud brought out no new facts. Counsel for W. H. Reeves, ex-deputy auditor for Cuba, who is also on trial, endeavored to put the responsibility on Rathbone for the neglect on the part of Cuban postmasters to render monthly statements. Rathbone insisted that it was Reeves' duty to report irregularities of this kind.

C. F. W. Neely was called and examined by the fiscal. Neely said that he received his appointment from Washington and that Rathbone had made him chief for the finance bureau of the Cuban postoffice department after the organization of the Cuban postal service. He said that when the stamps were burned a certain amount was reserved for collectors, but that he did not know how many, and that after the sales to collectors fell off he gave the surcharged stamps to Senor Moya, a Cuban stamp clerk in the Havana postoffice, instructing Moya to sell them. He asserted he took the money resulting from these sales and put it in the vault. Neely made no record of these stamps, nor did Moya make out requisitions for them.

In answer to the fiscal's question as to why he had made no such record Neely explained that in so far as the new issue of stamps was concerned records were kept in his office of the denominations sold in order that he might be in a position to know what denominations to order from Washington to replete the stock. As for the matter of balancing the account, the stamps he turned over to Moya had no bearing thereon.

Neely said he was charged with the whole amount of the value of the stamps delivered and that these he must account for either in stamps or money when called upon to do so. For this reason, he said, it made no difference whether these Moya sales were recorded. Instead of the stamps, he said, he had put the money in the vault.

Neely was confronted with Reeves, who reiterated his statement that Neely gave him $4,600 before leaving to make the books tally. Neely answered that this was not so and said he was with an employee of the postoffice at the hour named by Reeves in his statement. At the request of Neely's counsel this employee will be summoned to testify.

LIBERALS DID NOT APPEAR.

Colombian Officials Waited In Vain to Exchange Prisoners.

COLON, Colombia, Jan. 18.—No exchange of prisoners has taken place at Taboga in spite of the announcement that such an exchange was to be effected. The government commissioners and Captain Mead of the United States cruiser Philadelphia waited five hours fruitlessly for the appearance of the Liberals having the government prisoners in charge.

It is reported at Panama that General Castro recently engaged a detachment of the revolutionary forces and defeated them, though most of the Liberals escaped to their vessels. Another report says Liberal ships have been seen chasing the government gunboat Boyaca in the direction of Chiriqui. Both reports are unconfirmed. The government fleet is ready to sail.

New Mexico's Claims to Statehood.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—At a special meeting of the house committee on territories a hearing was given a committee of prominent nonpartisan citizens of New Mexico appointed by the governor of the territory to appear in behalf of statehood. B. S. Rodey, territorial delegate, made the opening argument. He said that New Mexico had been asking admission to the union of states for many years and several times had secured favorable action by one or the other house. The territory had a present population of 300,000, as shown by the annual report of the governor and the registration of 60,000 voters, and great mineral, agricultural, stock raising and other resources.

Fake Fight Stopped.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18.—Tom Sharkey and Peter Maher, who were heralded to fight six rounds before the Industrial Athletic club for the championship of Ireland at the Industrial hall last night, were stopped by Referee Roop in the middle of the third round in one of the poorest exhibitions ever given in this city. The men had been arrested early in the evening and bound over in $5,000 bail to keep the peace, and this dampened their vigor and reduced the steam of their blows. There was not a blow struck which would have rocked a bantam's head.

Sentence of Teller Boggs Commuted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The president has commuted the sentence of William N. Boggs, formerly teller of the First National bank of Dover, Del. In 1898 Boggs was sentenced to prison for a term of five years for embezzlement, but was kept in jail one year before sentence was pronounced in order to assist the prosecution of the cases against other persons who also were implicated in wrecking the bank. The president commutes Boggs' sentence to expire April 25 of this year, thus giving him the benefit of the time spent in jail.

A New Shipbuilding Company.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 18.—The Craig Shipbuilding company, with an authorized capital of $1,250,000, has been incorporated here, with authority to construct and operate vessels of all kinds. The incorporators are Cleveland V. Childs, James R. Mapletoft and H. N. Smith, all of East Orange.

Those Held by British In Bermuda In Sad Condition.

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., as president of the Lend a Hand society, which for months past has been collecting and shipping clothing, food and other things to the Boer prisoners held by the British in Bermuda, recently sent his assistant, Rev. W. S. Key, to make a visit to the prison camps and to report on the conditions. Mr. Key has just returned. He was permitted to visit all the camps on six different islands and to talk at will with the prisoners. There are now about 5,000 men and boys in the prison camps. All the prisoners complained of having no clothing excepting what they wore when captured. Some of them had not had a change of underwear for sixteen months.

During Mr. Key's visits to the camps clothing was distributed, but hats, caps, socks, towels, handkerchiefs, underclothing, suspenders and soap, needles, thread, buttons and knives are sorely needed. Their daily ration of food is insufficient, as all the prisoners had been accustomed to an active outdoor life. The short allowance of vegetables was specially complained of.

After describing the daily routine of camp life, Rev. Dr. Hale asks for contributions of such food as oatmeal, cornmeal, condensed milk, all kinds of cereals, tea, coffee, peas, beans, rice, sago, evaporated apples, canned corn, dessicated vegetables and tobacco for the old men. Money is also needed.

The Lend a Hand society, Boston, receives and ships all contributions, which are gratefully received.

THE CANAL SITUATION.

The Report of the Commission Expected Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Admiral Walker announces that the commission will be able to file their report with the president some time today. It is stated that Admiral Walker is desirous of presenting if possible a unanimous report to the president and hopes to harmonize the differences known to exist among the members of the commission.

Senator Morgan, chairman of the senate committee on interoceanic canals, has made a brief report to that committee as the result of his investigation of the status of the Panama sale proposition.

He stated that he had called upon the president and Admiral Walker, chairman of the isthmian canal commission, and had learned that the president had impressed upon the commission the necessity for an early report.

He also stated that he had learned officially that the French government had made no proposition to the United States in connection with the Panama route and further that nothing had been heard from the government of Colombia on that subject.

Gun Shields Stood Tests.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Jan. 18.—The Bethlehem Steel company's new gun shields were tested yesterday at the proving grounds near here in the presence of General Miles and officers of the bureau of ordnance and fortifications of the war department. The shields were subjected to severe tests and scored a splendid success. General Miles said that the company's own designed shields are an improvement on all others. There were two shields of Kruppized armor three inches thick, and they were fired on by three inch guns half a dozen times without effect. A five inch gun, however, sent a fifty pound projectile clear through one. The experimental test was conducted by Lieutenant Meigs, the company's ordnance expert.

Arbitration Plan Agreed To.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 18.—The atmosphere of the pan-American conference was suddenly cleared yesterday, and with the most excellent feeling on all sides both the plan of compulsory arbitration and The Hague agreement passed the conference. W. I. Buchanan of the United States delegation offered a motion whereby, in spite of Thursday's discussion, both Ecuador and Chile might adhere to The Hague convention, proposing that the minutes of the last two sessions showing the feelings of Chile with regard to arbitration should form part, as annexes, of the protocol whereby the nations represented at the conference express their acceptance of The Hague convention.

Bank Closed; Cashier Gone.

FULTON, Mo., Jan. 18.—The Commercial bank of Fulton has been closed by G. B. Carsthepen, chief of the state banking department. It is said that Philip S. Adams, cashier of the bank, left Fulton on Monday afternoon, ostensibly for St. Louis, with $4,500 in gold and currency to be deposited in the Franklin bank. His whereabouts is unknown. The president of the bank then called in the state bank chief.

Five New York Boys Arrested.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Five boys, all between fourteen and sixteen years of age and hailing from East New York, have been arrested here. Arthur Smith, one of the number, is charged with having stolen $150 from his employer. When arrested, the boys had $70 between them.

Weather Probabilities.

Rain or snow; fresh southerly winds, becoming brisk on the coast.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The tunnel inquest was continued in New York city.

The boycott of German goods by Poles in Russia is reported to be spreading.

A Pere Marquette steamer was beached at Ludington, Mich., in a gale. The passengers were all rescued.

NO POSTPONEMENT.

Story Regarding the Date of World's Fair Denied.

ST. LOUIS IN 1903 WITHOUT A DOUBT

President Francis Corrects Erroneous Statements That Louisiana Purchase Exposition Would Not Be Held Till 1904.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Ex-Governor Francis makes the following statement regarding published reports that the Louisiana Purchase exposition would be postponed from 1903 to 1904:

"I was much surprised to learn that a statement had been printed to the effect that I had virtually admitted that the fair would be postponed from 1903 to 1904. I have never advocated nor contemplated such action. On behalf of the local company I desire to say that it can be ready for the exposition in 1903 and will be ready. When some newspaper men asked me if the fair would be postponed and I made a negative reply, I was asked if we could not prepare a better fair in 1904 than in 1903. I replied, 'Yes, and so can we prepare a better fair for 2004 than for 1904.'

"I cannot say why this statement should be construed as an admission that the Louisiana Purchase exposition would be postponed from the date fixed by congress and announced by the president in his proclamation inviting foreign countries to participate. Some of the European governments have sent replies declining, and one object of my visit to Washington is to ask the state department and the administration to bring additional pressure upon such governments to reconsider their conclusion. If, however, they should refuse to do so, it would not mean that St. Louis would not have exhibits from those countries, as our commissioners would make direct appeals to manufacturers and other exhibitors therein."

St. Louis Officials Object.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 18.—"Whereas the public press has agitated the question of postponement of the Louisiana Purchase exposition; Resolved, That under the act of congress and under every plan of the board of directors and executive committee the exposition will open and close in the year 1903." This resolution was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the executive committee of the Exposition company last evening to set at rest statements coming from Washington to the effect that the World's fair might have to be postponed from 1903 until 1904.

Borden Gets Another Mill.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 18.—The Anawan mill here has been sold by Hon. John S. Brayton and family to a mill broker acting for another party. In mill circles the understanding is that M. C. D. Borden of New York is the purchaser. He recently bought the controlling interest in the Meta Comet mills. The Anawan was incorporated in 1825, with $160,000 capital. Some years ago the mill was dismantled and the buildings used for storage purposes. The company is one of five controlling water privileges which of late have been the subject of litigation, with Mr. Borden as the plaintiff.

Brazil's Coffee Crop.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Consul General Seeger, at Rio Janeiro, under date of Dec. 3, informs the state department of a desire on his part to correct an impression conveyed in previous reports from him in regard to the next Brazilian crop. Mr. Seeger says he is of opinion that the pessimistic reports sent out at the beginning of November have been contradicted by subsequent events, among which were copious rains in many parts of the coffee district, and that Brazil will have a very fair coffee crop next year, probably from 9,000,000 to 10,000,000 bags.

Lackawanna's Boom.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad shares were the feature of the railroad list on the Stock Exchange yesterday, rising eleven points comparatively early in the day to 208, the highest on record. THE Y. M. C. A.

Another year has passed in the career of the Young Men's Christian Asociation of this city and still that organization continues to grow and flourish. It passed long ago from the experimental stage and is today acknowledged as being one of the greatest factors in the life of the American boy at the close of the nineteenth century. The local association has been a small part of a great movement, the importance of the influence of which cannot be fully realized at the present day. Only the future will show what a great work is the Young Men's Christian Association doing for the young men of the present generation.

In Plainfield, there has been a distinct field for this organization and it is today doing an excellent work. Its growth here has been a satisfactory one. Some organizations spring up in a night, assume wonderful popularity for the time being and then die a lingering death from neglect. Such has not been the history of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. From a small beginning, it has slowly forged ahead until its present position has been reached.

In another column will be found the annual report of Stephen Cahoone, president of the local association, which was presented at the annual meeting of that body Thursday evening. It carefully sums up the work which has been done during the last twelve-month and gives a comprehensive idea of the healthy growth of the institution. It will be read with interest by everyone who takes an interest in the welfare of the young man of today.

It is not out of place to speak of word of commendation for the man to whose tireless energy and faithful labors much of the success of the association is due. There are many men in Plainfield who are deeply interested in the work of the Y. M. C. A., but whose business duties naturally preclude their taking any active part in its direction. As general secretary, J. Harry Manning has labored with a zeal and singleness of purpose that has won for him the respect of the entire community. He is deserving of every word of praise that can be given him.

The series of subscription concerts, which were arranged for this winter by Albert H. Atterbury, have been concluded. Thanks to Mr. Atterbury the music loving public of Plainfield has been treated to two evenings of delightful music, finely rendered by some of New York's best artists. It is a good thing that Plainfield possesses some one who is willing to take the initiative in such affairs.

There were some significent things about the farewell reception given to Rev. P. E. Smyth. It served to demonstrate very fully the honor and respect, regardless of creed and denomination, in which he is held by the people of Plainfield.

Accepted the Proposition.

The New Jersey Central has accepted the proposition of the Borough Council of High Bridge, agreeing to pay fifty cents per cubic feet for all water taken at both stand pipes in that town. This matter was in dispute for a number of weeks.

McLain on Trial.

The indictment against Whitfield McLain for attempting to assault Miss Carrie Conover near the baseball grounds at High Bridge, last summer, is being tried in the Hunterdon county court at Flemington this week.

No one could judge as to the probable cost of conducting vaccinations, but Dr. Honeyman quoted some figures. As a climax to the proceedings Councilman Clark offered a resolution to the effect that $250 or so much of the same as might be needed, be appropriated for the use of the Board of Health in this matter.

Councilman Northrop dissapproved of the motion on the ground that no figured were presented as to how the appropriation would be expended, while Councilman Lee objected to it because of his opposition to vaccination. Both voted against the measure, and the votes of Councilman Clark and Nichols were recorded in favor of the motion. There being a tie Mayor Smalley cast the deciding ballot, voting in favor of the motion.

FOR THIRTY YEARS.

McAll Auxiliary Observed the Anniversary of the Beginning of its Work in France.

The Plainfield branch of the McAll Auxiliary, in common with all other branches, held its anniversary meeting yesterday in commemoration of the founding of the missions in France by Dr. McAll on January 17, 1872.

The meeting was held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church and was well attended. Mrs. Mead presided. It was reported that there are between eighty or ninety mission halls in France and a most encouraging work is being carried on at each one. At yesterday's meeting reports were received from the work being conducted in Lamoges, France, by the representatives of the Plainfield auxiliary.

The work conducted by the auxiliaries is purely a Gospel one and despite the obstacles met and the discouraging features, the interest is increasing steadily at all missions. The Plainfield members find much to be thankful for and they are greatly encouraged. The prospects for the coming year are very bright.

NEW BRIDGE.

Jersey Central and Philadelphia and Reading Will Build One.

The New Jersey Central and the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Companies are soon to erect a new iron girder bridge at Middlebrook. It will be much larger than the present structure and it will be supported throughout by stone piers. This will do away with much trouble when the water is high at that point. Gaston & Richardson, of Somerville, have been awarded the contract for the foundations, and the firm now have a force of forty men at work on the grounds. It will require three months to complete the work.

SNOW MADE TROUBLE.

Street Commissioner Gavett Kept Busy Recording the Charges.

If many more snow storms visit this city during the winter, Street Commissioner Gavett will undoubtedly have to hire a bookkeeper. The amount of clerical work devolving upon him through the negligence of property owners to clean sidewalks has been unprecedented. Ever since the light fall of snow, last week, he has been engaged in entering upon his book the names of the tardy residents and the amount of time his men consumed in doing the work of removal for them. He is still at it and the end is not yet in sight.

Installed by W. C. Smith.

The officers-elect of Wadsworth Post, G. A. R., of Somerville, were installed Thursday evening by Past Department Commander W. C. Smith, Winfield Scott Post, No. 74, G. A. R., of this city. He was accompanied by several veterans from the local post. All had a good time and were treated royally by the Somerville veterans.

Iron Work for Bridge Here.

The iron work for the bridge to be erected at Johnson's drive and Somerset street has arrived. Early next week workmen will commence to erect the bridge and the Somerset County Board of Freeholders expect to see the work completed at an early date.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

The younger children of this town have taken a unique method of preserving the coasting on the small hill next to George W. Day's residence. In the afternoon they go around to different places while the snow lies thick on the ground and gather it up in wagons or sleds and carry it to the hill. They they spread it over the bare parts and pack it down so that when night time comes the hill is as smooth as glass. The children assemble every afternoon and evening and enjoy the sport.

Vagaries of a Cold.

You can never be quite sure where a cold is going to hit you. In the fall and winter it may settle in the bowels, producing severe pain. Do not be alarmed nor torment yourself with fears of appendicitis. At the first sign of a cramp take Perry Davis' Painkiller in warm, sweetened water and relief comes at once. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. 25 and 50 cents.

HE TALKED ON "BACTERIA"

DR. J. H. BUCHANAN DELIVERED SECOND OF SERIES OF LECTURES.

Given Under Auspices of Borough Board of Education for North Plainfield People.

Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, the borough physician of schools, delivered last evening the second talk in the series of People's lectures, given under the auspices of the North Plainfield Board of Education. The subject was "Bacteria." The size of the audience demonstrated that much interest is taken at this time in the topic.

In his usual conversational style Dr. Buchanan talked for over an hour, all the time holding the complete attention of his hearers. There are countless bacteria, said he, but not all are harmful, as is generally supposed. Some kinds are extremely beneficial to the human body and, in fact, perform necessary functions.

He declared that the only two places where none are to be found are on the top of a mountain and on the bow of a ship. Millions of them float in the air. The human system has a certain capacity for them, but when the system is below normal and they are especially numerous the body is apt to become the victim. Consumption germs, said he, are breathed by people every day, but have no injurious effect for the body is able to throw them off.

In a concise form he sketched the history of the discoveries regarding bacteria and the various theories regarding them.

DON'T BE AN OLD FOGY!
Keep pace with your day and generation.
The man who does not avail himself of modern methods is right at the outset giving himself a handicap that scarcely the wit of a Mark Twain or a genius of an Edison can overcome,
He who writes his correspondence with a pen instead of using a New Century Typewriter is "behind the times." He is making himself a plodder when he might be a leader. If you are using another typewriter—one of the slow, nerve racking kind, get rid of it quick.
The New Century economizes time and does PERFECT WORK.
It does more work and BETTER WORK than any other typewriter. It wears longer and is a better investment. It is the twentieth century method of handling correspondence.

RURAL MAIL ROUTES

Sixty Thousand Petitions for This Service Now on File.

How the Delivery Districts Are Laid Out and Organized—Great Help to the Good Roads Movement.

[Special Washington Letter.]

"THERE are more than 5,000 rural free delivery routes now in operation," says the first assistant postmaster general, "and there are upwards of 60,000 petitions on file for this service. They come from all parts of the country."

"Did you say 60,000 applications?"

"Yes, upwards of that number; and petitions are coming in every day, and by every mail. The people have read of this innovation for the benefit of the farm dwellers, and they are determined to take advantage of it. Farmers for many years have reasoned that as citizens of this republic they are as much entitled to have their mail delivered at their residences as are the citizens who dwell in towns and cities.

"Of course, at first there were very few farmers who reasoned that way; but their number increased gradually until their views compelled recognition. When this service began, six years ago, it was undertaken in a half-hearted manner. But when Perry Heath took it up in 1897, with characteristic energy, the service soon began to become practical as well as practicable.

"We first had an appropriation of $50,000. Then we got $300,000. Then we asked for more and more, until last year we had $1,750,000 for the work. But during the present fiscal year we have $3,500,000. This enables us to go ahead with considerable alacrity in the work; but for the next fiscal year we should have not less than $5,000,000; and we hope to secure appropriations for $10,000,000 and that will enable us to do business on a bigger scale than we have been able to work hitherto. Of course, this work has been experimental for several years, but now it is beyond that stage, and is in practical operation. Therefore it must be maintained."

One of the special agents who has been engaged in the establishment of these routes explained the manner of work in an interesting manner. He said: "When a petition is received by the department, it is jacketed, indexed and referred to its proper field division. For example, suppose a petition comes in from any state west of the Mississippi river. It would belong to the western division, which has headquarters at Denver, Col. The special agent in charge of that vast division is William E. Annin, a veteran newspaper man, who was for a number of years a Washington correspondent of some leading newspapers.

"Well, when a case is thus received at division headquarters, it is properly filed, and then referred to a special agent in the field. I have just been hard at work in the Seventh congressional district of Iowa, and will tell you how the work has been done. In the first place, there were exactly 50 cases for that district. The congressman, Mr. Hull, had indorsed every petition. Without his indorsement nothing would have been done in any case.

"These cases were divided off into counties, and I devoted myself to a county at a time. The city of Des Moines is in Polk county, and I took that county first. I attended to the wants of Valley Junction, Polk City Grimes, Ankeny and Runnells. I'd take a case early in the morning, go on the steam cars to the point to be investigated, and there find the postmaster, who would provide a livery team and go with me over the proposed route.

"No route is permitted to be more than 25 miles in length. When you remember that the horses and driver must go over the route every day in the year, excepting Sundays and national holidays, you will understand that the strain is such that it would be physically impossible to keep the pace on a longer route without breaking down. At some seasons of the year it is practically impossible for the teams to traverse the roads. For example last May and June the roads were well-nigh impassable, the rain seeming to be continuous by day and by night for weeks.

"It being settled by the department that no route shall be more than 25 miles long, the postmaster prepares a map of the proposed route, and has it ready for the special agent when he calls. In each case I send word a week in advance, so that every postmaster would have plenty of time to get ready for the work of the day. The map would be made on common paper, with quadrilateral lines for the sections of the township; all of the sections being numbered. The route would be outlined about these sections, and as we were driving I made it my business to note the kind of roads we were traversing. Then, for every house on the route I would make a little dot on the map on the proper side of the road. For every schoolhouse I made a little flag, and for every church I made a little cross. I also made note of the streams, bridges, hills and low ground which might be undesirable for a route in bad weather. It was a full day's work every day; and in the evening there was no time for rest and recreation, because it was necessary to arise in the morning when called, in order to take a train to another locality.

"For seven weeks the work went on that way, without any let up. The rough draft maps and notes of the routes were filed away very carefully. After all of the territory had been carefully examined, a competent firm was employed to make perfect maps for the permanent use of the department. In each case a blue print was made of the accepted map of route and presented to the postmaster for his future use.

"Then came the work of writing up all of those reports. It is necessary that proper persons shall be selected to carry these routes. Each carrier must have a substitute to carry the mail when he is indisposed. Carriers and substitutes must give bonds for the faithful performance of their duties. It is the duty of the special agent to see to it that the carriers are properly instructed. The report in each case shows clearly all salient facts concerning the proposed route, in order that the special agent in charge of a division thoroughly understand the case, and give it such indorsement as meets with his judgment.

"Each case is finally forwarded to Washington, where the chief special agent and his assistants reach final conclusions concerning the work. The general superintendent gives direction to all of this work and keeps it so well in hand that he knows every day where each employe is engaged and upon what work. He has a large map of the United States in his office; and there, with little stick pins bearing their names, he locates all special agents and inspectors in the field. Each agent is required to send to his chief, a week in advance, a statement of his itinerary for the ensuing week; and thus it is known from day to day where every man is at work.

"In my travels I made inquiry of carriers concerning their work, its increase or decrease. Without exception I found that the mails have increased during the past year in the volume of mail sent and received.

"Another thing interested me everywhere, and that was the interest the people take in improving their roads. Just north of Nevada, Ia., there is a stretch of two miles of rich soil, so rich that it would be impassable in wet weather. The farmers along that road raised $500 to pay for the graveling of the road, in order that they might have rural free delivery. The same spirit is everywhere manifested and I look for good roads as a result of this postal innovation. It is a better way to get good roads, too, than the way which Coxey proposed with his tramps a few years ago.

"The interest taken by the people is something wonderful. As we drove along the roads, the postmaster handling the reins while I had map and pencil in hand, we met farmers taking loads to town, or saw them in fields, or in door yards; and, as the postmaster would call out: 'Get your mail box ready,' they would cheer and say: 'We're glad you've come at last.' In some cases the petitions have been on file for fully a year, and the people anxiously waiting all that time. The cause of the delay has been the lack of appropriations for the employment of a sufficient number of special agents to examine and report on the proposed routes. There is enough money this year, and there will be plenty available next year, and the good work will go on."

When we remember the fact that nothing like this work has ever been undertaken before, that there has been no precedent for any movement, it is simply marvelous that this rural free delivery service has been built up into such a systematic machine in the space of four years. Mr. A. W. Machen, the general superintendent, has been charged with the full responsibility of the work. He needs and will receive no higher commendation than that uttered recently by the postmaster general to a senator: "No complaint is made, except that the service does not come fast enough to please all of the people." With ample appropriations, the work will now go fast enough, until every farmer has complete postal facilities.

While in Camden one day an old New Jersey volunteer saw a store window full of Ripans Tabules, and bought a five-cent packet, but did not take them for a month. "I suffer from old age," he writes, "and from exposure during the war, and am sick a great deal of the time. I have taken all kinds of medicine, none of which did me much good, and at last I got so sick that my wife said to me: 'Why don't you try some of that medicine you bought in Camden?' I took the Ripans then, and I wish you could see what a change they have brought about."

THE NECESSITY OF SLEEP.

What the Lack of It Means to Both Grownups and Children.

A club has recently been started in a western city for the purpose of limiting the hours of sleep to four. The members have bound themselves not to sleep more than this amount of time and to train their children to do likewise. It seems that the day itself is not long enough for us Americans to hustle in, but that we must also borrow from the night. The founder complains bitterly of the many hours we waste in sleep. He points out how much we might accomplish were we not under the illusion that we must retire at a certain hour and arise at a certain other.

STEAL A NAP NOW AND THEN.

"All nonsense!" he exclaims and proceeds to put his theory in practice.

Every evening, therefore, or, rather, morning finds himself, his wife and his little boy, aged seven, grouped about the family reading table. At 2 they retire, only to arise again at 6. And this is the case with every other family belonging to the club.

Now a word about sleep. Is it such a waste of time, and can it be limited for all people to a certain number of hours? It is a fact recognized by physicians that women require more sleep than men. On the same principle nervous women require more rest than their more placid sisters. The amount of sleep you require depends on the amount of energy you expend during the day. Sleep is the supreme, the only, restorer. How foolish, therefore, not to let it do its work thoroughly! In the case of children it is downright wickedness to deprive them of it. A growing child should slumber ten hours if it is ever to develop into an intelligent, capable man or woman. Lack of sleep stunts the brain; total lack of it drives a human being insane and eventually means death. Depriving victims of sleep was one of the most fiendish tortures of the middle ages.

Therefore I say especially to women: Sleep all you can. It is the greatest preserver and beautifier. It makes your brains bright, your eyes young, your bodies strong. Steal a nap when your head feels tired, and you will be more than repaid for the few minutes you have wasted (?) by the increased energy with which you will be able to resume your work. Napoleon had this ability to sleep for a few minutes whenever he chose. Who shall say this did not aid his success? It would be a good thing if overworked women followed his example in this respect.

A CHEERFUL DRAWING ROOM

Suggestions For an Old Rose and Green Color Scheme.

Anything for originality, and so interior decorators are going back to the time of "good Queen Anne."

The illustration shows a room of this period which may give a few ideas to the woman who is furnishing her home.

The walls are a deep old rose; the mantel is white, with a high overmantel of gilt. There are candelabra placed in the wall at either side. The windows are shaded by draperies of green and old rose silk. The furniture is of white mahogany, the chairs being upholstered in green and old rose stripes. The easy chairs are comfortable and low in shape. Tall old rose jardinieres hold palms. A small revolving bookcase adds to the comfort of the room. In the recess of the mullioned window is placed a white mahogany writing table covered with gold writing materials, among which stands an oval miniature in a gilt frame. The rug is of pale rose, green and white.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

Unfortunately it transpired that they were not in a position to do very much in the way of helping me. Mr. Bertram had certainly traveled home in one of their steamers, so the manager informed me, a boat that as a rule did not carry passengers. He had landed at the docks, and from that moment they had neither seen nor heard anything of him. I inquired for the steamer, only to learn that she was now somewhere on her way between Singapore and Hong-Kong. This was decidedly disappointing, but as most of the cases in which I have been ultimately successful have had unpromising beginnings, I did not take it too seriously to heart. Leaving the shipping office, I next turned my attention to Hatton Garden, where I called upon Messrs. Jacob and Bulenthall, one of the largest firms in the gem trade. We had had many dealings together in the past, and as I had had the good fortune on one occasion to do them a signal service, I knew that they would now do all that they could for me in return.

"Good day, Mr. Fairfax," said the chief partner, as I entered his snug little sanctum, which lead out of the main office. "What can I have the pleasure of doing for you?"

"I am in search of some information," I replied, "and I think you may be able to help me."

"I will do all that is in my power to render you assistance," he returned, as he wiped his glasses and placed them on his somewhat fleshy nose. "What is the information you require? Has there been another big robbery of stones, and you think it possible that some of them may have come into our hands?"

"There certainly has been a robbery," I replied, "and the stones may have been offered to you, but not in the way you mean. The fact of the matter is, I want to discover whether or not a large consignment of uncut rubies and sapphires of great value have been placed upon the market within the last two months."

"Uncut rubies and sapphires are being continually placed upon the market," he observed, leaning back in his chair and rattling his keys.

"But not such stones as those I am looking for," I said, and furnished him with the rough weights that had been supplied to me.

"This is interesting—decidedly interesting," he remarked. "Especially since it serves to offer an explanation on a certain matter which we have been interested in for some little time past. On the 16th of last month, a gentleman called upon us here, who stated that he had lately returned from the far east. He had had, so he declared, the good fortune to discover a valuable mine, the locality of which he was most careful not to disclose. He thereupon showed my partner and myself ten stones, consisting of five rubies and five sapphires, each of which weighed between 55 and 60 carats."

"And you purchased them?"

"We did, and for a very heavy sum. I can assure you the vendor was very well aware of their value, as we soon discovered, and he was also a good hand at a bargain. Would you care to see the stones? I shall be pleased to show them to you if you would."

"I should like to see them immensely," I replied.

Thereupon he crossed the room to a safe in the corner, and, when he had unlocked it, took from it a wash-leather bag. Presently ten superb gems were lying before me on the table.

"There they are," he said, waving his hands towards them, "and, as you can see for yourself, they are worthy of being set in the crown of an emperor. It is not often that we are enthusiastic in such matters, but in this case we have very good reason to be. When they are properly cut, they will be well-nigh priceless."

"Do you happen to know whether he sold any more of a similar kind in London?" I asked, as he returned them to their place in the safe.

"I know that he sold 15 smaller ones to Henderson & Soll, and three almost as large as those I have just shown you to a firm in Amsterdam."

"If he is the man I want to get hold of, that accounts for 28," I said, making a note of the fact as I spoke. "Originally he had 93 in his possession."

"Ninety-three?" the merchant replied, as if he could scarcely believe his ears. "Why, his mine must be a source of unlimited wealth. I wish I had known this before."

"So do I," I said. "And now perhaps you can go further and furnish me with a description of the man himself. I shall then be able to tell you whether my gentleman and your customer are one and the same person."

"I can describe him to you perfectly well. He was tall, but somewhat sparely built, very sunburnt—which would be accounted for by his long residence in the east—his hair was streaked with gray, he had dark eyes, and a singularly sharp nose."

"Did he wear a beard?"

"No, only a mustache. The latter was carefully trimmed, and, I think, waxed. Of this, however, I am not quite certain."

"And his name?"

"He would not tell us that. We pressed him to disclose it, but he obstinately refused to do so. He said that if his name became known it might lead to the discovery of his mine, and that he was naturally anxious that such an event should not occur."

"But what guarantee had you that the stones were not stolen?"

"None whatever—but it is most unlikely. In the first place, they are uncut; in the second, we have had them in our possession for some time, and you may be sure have made the closest inquiries. Besides, there are such few stones in Europe, and what there are are safely in the possession of their owners. Surely you are not going to tell me that they were stolen?"

In the man's voice there was a perceptible note of alarm.

"I don't think you need be afraid," I said. "They were stolen by the man from his two partners, and all they want is to get hold of him in order to make him disgorge their share of what he got for them."

"I am glad indeed to hear that," was the reply. "I was beginning to grow uneasy. And now is there any other way in which I can serve you? If so, I shall be only too pleased to do it."

I informed him that if I had anything else to ask him I would call upon him again, and then took my departure. While I was in a great measure satisfied with the information I had gained, I was not altogether easy in my mind. The question to be answered was, was the man I was after the same individual who had sold Jacob and Bulenthall the stones? The description given me varied in several particulars to that furnished me by Kitwater. My client declared him to possess black hair; the merchant had said gray; the one had declared that Hayle possessed a beard, the other that he had only a waxed mustache. The figure, however, was in both cases identically the same.

Having satisfied myself that he had no more to tell me, I thanked him for his courtesy, and left the office. A fresh idea had occurred to me which I thought might lead to something, and I resolved to put it into practice without any further waste of time.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Iron In Great Demand—Footwear Advances—Grain Declines.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Nothing has transpired to disturb the bright outlook in the iron and steel industry. Deliveries of fuel are less delayed, and furnaces operate more fully, while mills receive material with a fair degree of promptness. Quotations are maintained firmly, especially for pig iron, which is in great demand. Large contracts have been placed for bessemer at $16.50 on Pittsburg. Deliveries in June. Spot sales in small quantities are much higher.

Footwear producers have at last made a general advance of from 2½ to 5 cents. Annual inventories made such unsatisfactory exhibits that makers found no difficulty in agreeing on higher prices. Materials have long been out of line with the finished product, even making full allowance for improved machinery and other economies at factories.

Corn declined sharply, but still remains about 20 cents a bushel above the price last year. Exports in December were only about 6 per cent of the outgo in the same month of 1900, while for the week Atlantic ports sent out 128,674 bushels against 4,695,330 bushels a year ago.

Failures for the week numbered 334 in the United States against 325 last year and 40 in Canada against 43 last year.

PEACE RUMORS.

Dutch Premier Trying to End the South African Fight.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Reuter's Telegram company has received the following dispatch from Amsterdam:

"According to trustworthy information Dr. Kuyper, the Dutch premier, recently intimated to the Boer delegates the desirability, in view of Lord Rosebery's speech at Chesterfield, of their giving some intimation to the British government of the basis upon which they would entertain peace negotiations. Dr. Kuyper pointed out the improbability of any of the great powers interfering in South Africa in the near future and suggested that he be allowed informally to sound his friends in London in the hope of a semiofficial response.

"The Dutch premier accordingly met Abraham Fischer, the leader of the Boer delegates, and others at Brussels, where a long conference was held, after which Dr. Kuyper proceeded to London. The result of his visit, if any has been attained, is not yet known.

"It is understood that Dr. Kuyper distinctly assured the Boers that Holland under no circumstances would act as an intermediary.

"Dr. Leyds, the representative in Europe of the Transvaal, is expected shortly at The Hague."

The President's Charleston Trip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Mayor Smyth, ex-Mayor Fickens and J. C. Hemphill, representing the Charleston exposition authorities, called on the president and had an extended conference with Secretary Cortelyou regarding the arrangements for the president's trip to the Charleston exposition. While the plans yet are entirely provisional, it is understood that the president and party probably will leave Washington so as to reach Charleston Tuesday afternoon or evening, Feb. 11. Wednesday, the 12th, will be spent in Charleston. A programme for that day is to be prepared by the Charleston committee and submitted in a few days to Secretary Cortelyou. The president returning will leave Charleston late on the evening of the 12th or the morning of the 13th.

To Develop New Coalfields.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 18.—A syndicate of Pittsburg capitalists have concluded negotiations for 14,000 acres of coal land in the first pool district. The price is said to have been $8,000,000. Eight mines are to be opened, to have a daily capacity of 12,000 tons, and 1,000 houses for the workmen are to be built. The field is five miles south of Pittsburg and extends from Fair Haven to a point near Library. The property is crossed by the West Side Belt, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pittsburg and Lake Erie and the Pittsburg extension of the Wabash railroad. A company will be formed at once for the development of the field.

WORK IN NORTH CAROLINA

DESCRIBED BY MISS FLORENCE REDWAY, A MISSIONARY.

Addressed Ladies' Aid Society of Warren Chapel Yesterday Afternoon.

An entertaining talk was given by Miss Florence Redway, of the Ashville, North Carolina, Farm School, before the members and friends of the Ladies' Aid Society of Warren chapel, yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance at the meeting and it proved to be a decidedly interesting session.

The subject of her talk was the uplifting work among the poor ignorant mountain whites of that State. She pictured their needs as shown by their present privations. Incidentally she referred to a recent visit to Miss Daley, another missionary who is laboring in the same field and who is well known to the charitably inclined people of this city.

In the course of her remarks Miss Redway told of the recent addition to the buildings at the farm school institution and drew attention to the necessity for more scholarships. To show that there are many anxious to receive the benefits of the educational work of the institution, she read several letters which had come to her from boys living in that vicintiy, all desirious of having the opportunity afforded other youths by the school. Together with these she read extracts from letters written by boys in the school expressing their thankfiness for the training.

During the short business session, which proceded Miss Redway's talk, a letter from Mrs. James Stickler, wife of a Presbyterian missionary at Parker, Kansas, was read. Mrs. Stickler conveyed her appreciation of the Christmas box, which had been sent by the society. At the conclusion of the meeting, seasonable refreshments were served to all who had gathered for the affair.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. Randolph.

Death of an Infant.

The first of a series of dime socials, which is to be given in Hope chapel, took place last evening, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society. It was well attended.

A musical and literary programme was rendered, consisting of recitations by Miss Marie Newman, a piano duet by Mrs. L. R. Howard and Miss Carrie Dewey and vocal solos by Mrs. Howard. Games arranged by Mrs. Robert Hangliter were played and during an intermission refreshments were served.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

TIME ALMOST HERE TO CHOOSE SENATOR

Choice Still Lies Between John F. Dryden, John W. Griggs and E. C. Stokes.

ALL ARE QUALIFIED.

PROMINENT REPUBLICAN SPEAKS OF MR. DRYDEN'S QUALIFICATIONS.

Not the Least Question Concerning His Ability to Ably Discharge the Duties—Mr. Stokes Still in the Race.

The United States senatorial race according to the leading newspaper comment has so changed that the contest has narrowed down to two candidates. They are John F. Dryden, of Essex county, and Former United States Attorney General Griggs, of Passaic county. While the name of Former Senator Edward C. Stokes, of Cumberland county, is eliminated by many journals, yet in the minds of the politicians he is still a strong man in the race.

All three are being boomed and it will not be known what the real conditions are until Wednesday when the Republican caucus is scheduled to take place. Many members of the Legislative body are keeping their intentions all to themselves, and this furnishes an important unknown quantity, making a reliable forecast impossible. All three candidates are eminently qualified for the honorable distinction. Mr. Griggs is a National figure who possesses a proud reputation. As for Mr. Stokes his political experience has not been so broad, but he is looked upon as a conservative, conscientious and energetic man who has served the State with much ability.

"As for Mr. Dryden," remarked a prominent Jersey Republican Saturday evening, "there can not be the least question concerning his ability to ably discharge the trust should the Legislature in its wisdom bestow the honor upon him. The training he received in his younger days at Yale coupled with the years of experience he has had peculiarly fit him for a senatorial toga. He is fluent of speech and has the busy man's knack of getting at the heart of a subject without circumlocution. His career in the business and financial world is unblemished and his executive ability speaks for itself in the successful life of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, which has won its place in a field of unrestricted competition. The character of Mr. Dryden is above reproach."

JOHN F. DRYDEN.

PLEA IN BEHALF OF MISSIONS

HOME MISSIONS SECRETARY MADE AN EARNEST ADDRESS.

Rev. Dr. Samuel McBride Addressed Park Avenue Baptist Church Yesterday Morning.

A plea for funds to carry on the noble work of missions was made by Rev. Dr. Samuel McBride, of Brooklyn, at the Park Avenue Baptist church, yesterday morning. The clergyman is the district secretary of the Baptist Home Missionary Society and he is at present engaged in making his annual visit to the churches in his jurisdiction.

In the course of his sermon, Dr. McBride dwelt to some extent on the responsibility of church members to look after the spiritual welfare of the unconverted. The scope of the work, said he, calls for great efforts. His remarks were based on the narrative of the women of Samaria. Especially he referred to the large number of immigrants who are daily coming to this country. They cling to their continental faiths but their offsprings rapidly become Americanized and are desirous of joining the Protestant faiths, said he.

The work in Cuba came in for a share of attention. In the province of Santiago, said he, within a radius of ten miles of the city there is not a single minister of any denomination or faith and the people are anxious to receive the Inspired Word. A similar condition is presented elsewhere in that island. In the city of Santiago there are two Baptist missionaries and the work is too much for them to do. One missionary in Havana declares that the little church, where he is stationed, is too small to accommodate the throngs which flock there, and he hopes to receive the necessary funds to enlarge the edifice. A special collection was taken for the work and the congregation contributed liberally.

HEALTH BOARD IS KEPT BUSY WITH VACCINATION.

Office Will be Open Every Afternoon From 4 to 5 o'Clock For Treatment.

There are no new cases of small-pox in the city and the four at the isolation hospital continue to improve steadily. The free vaccination resulted in a large number of cases being treated since Saturday. Saturday afternoon, 160 persons were treated at the Board of Health office and twenty were vaccinated in the evening. In the afternoon there were sixty cases of vaccination at the skirt factory.

There were thirty-six cases treated at the Board of Health office yesterday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock. The free treatment will be continued every afternoon this week from 4 to 5 o'clock, to those who apply and the physicians will inspect any vaccinations that may need attention. This morning, Dr. Norman H. Probasco and Health Officer Thurlow visited the foundry at the Pond Machine Tool Works, where the vaccination was concluded.

Regarding vaccination the Board of Health recommends that persons being so treated do not remove original dressing under five days. If the vaccination has taken, buy a tube of carbolated vaseline, and apply a small portion every day. Protect this with a piece of sterilized gauze of clean linen, two and a half inches square, and hold this in place by small strips of adhesive plaster, or a few turns of a bandage around the arm. Change this dressing daily. In case of sever pain or inflammation consult family physician.

Saturday night it was suspected that William Campbell, of Berckman street, a brother of Alexander Campbell, now at the isolation hospital, had small-pox. He had been exposed and his home was quarantined. Further investigation proved that he did not have the disease and the quarantine was removed this morning.

WILL NOT WED.

Intended Bride Had Fred'k Stillger Arrested for Spending Cash She Gave Him for Household Goods.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Jan. 20—Frederick Stillger, of this place, was held in $400 bail yesterday by Justice Warden on the charge of misappropriating $128 belonging to Miss Katie McGovern, who also resides here. Stillger had been absent from town nearly a week and the warrant was not served until he reappeared yesterday morning.

The story told by Miss McGovern is that she and the defendant were to be married next Wednesday and that in anticipation of the wedding she had given him the sum for the purpose of buying household goods. Since then she had not seen him. At the hearing the defendant admitted having the money but confessed that he had spent all but $25 of the amount.

Mrs. Stillger, mother of the accused, furnished the amount of the bond. The case will come up before the Grand Jury of Middlesex county in April.

The Thought of God.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes in his sermon yesterday morning in the First Baptist church on "The Thought of God in the World," referred to the question now agitating the city of New York, of the Sunday opening of saloons, and gave as his opinion that any settlement of the question on the grounds of expediency or pandering to the popular vote would fail, because there is no ultimate settlement of any question that does not take God and His thought into the account.

Funeral of Mrs. Scribner.

The funeral of Mrs. Caroline A. Scribner was held privately at her late residence, Maple place, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes officiated and delivered a touching sermon. This morning the relatives accompanied the remains to Newark, where interment was made in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

EXPLAINED KNOTTY POINTS

INDUSTRIAL TALK GIVEN AT PUBLIC LIBRARY SATURDAY.

Samuel Hollingsworth Talked Informally on Mechanical Engineering and Machinery.

From 2 until 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon Samuel Hollingsworth, mechanical engineer and expert designer of special printing machinery, was present at the Public Library, for the purpose of explaining any point concerning the subject of mechanical engineering.

A large collection of works, the property of the library, together with a number of drawings loaned by David E. Titsworth, were the material used by Mr. Hollingsworth in informally discussing the subject. No general talk was given but instead, he made clear to anyone interested any particular phase of the subject. Many knotty problems to the machinist were unravelled by him for the instruction of the men. Mr. Hollingsworth is engaged at the Potter Press works and is considered an authority on mechanical designing.

All Saturday evening and yseterday afternoon the books were placed at the disposal of those who are interested in the matter.

GAVE "THE DIVINE TRAGEDY"

RICHARD FOOTE RECITED ORIGINAL ARRANGEMENT OF FOUR GOSPELS.

Given at Reform Hall Last Evening—Assisted by Miss Suzanne Kranz, Soprano.

Reform Hall was filled last evening with an appreciative audience, when Richard Foote, the California tragedian, gave "The Divine Tragedy," an original arrangement of the four Gospels, illustrating the trial and death of the Saviour. Mr. Foote is a finished and attractive orator and he recited the "Sermon on the Mount," in an impressive and realistic manner.

During the recitative the following vocal selections were given by Miss Suzanne Kranz, soprano, assisted by Miss Margaret Hoffman, accompanist: "The Birth of Christ," "Consider the Lilies," and "Beyond the Gates of Paradise." Miss Kranz has a pleasant voice of much strength and sweetness. It is seldom that that most important part of the Bible as given by Mr. Foote has been heard with such impressiveness.

Mr. Foote, who has been an actor for years interpretating Shakespearian plays, will give the trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice," and "Richard III," Wednesday evening at Reform Hall. This will be for persons attending the public schools who are sixteen years of age or older. The following evening he, assisted by Miss Kranz and Miss Hoffman, will give a dramatic entertainment at Reform Hall in connection with the regular Thursday night meeting. There will be no charge to either of these entertainments and no collection received, except on Thursday evening

ADDRESS WAS GIVEN BY REV. MR. DOOLITTLE, OF DUNELLEN.

Gave a Temperance Talk—Members of G. A. R. and Company K Attended the Service in a Body.

An interesting service was held in Reform Hall yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. and Company K. There was a large attendance of members from both organizations.

President John Goodwin was in charge of the meeting, assisted by William F. Richards. An orchestra, composed of R. W. Barnes and Anthony Gaub, violins; Whitfield Frazee, cornet, and Fred Goodwin, piano, and led by John L. Edsall, conducted the song service.

After this service, Wililam F. Richards gave the veterans and Company K boys a hearty welcome. He then introduced Rev. Mr. Doolittle, of the M. E. church, of Dunellen, who made a stirring address on the subject of temperance. He commenced by saying that he was an emergency man. This was due to the fact that he was the third choice, the other two persons selected to speak, being unable to do so. Mr. Doolittle took for the text "Abhor that which is evil, and cleave to that which is good." He spoke of love as being the true essence of religion. To love God and your neighbor the speaker held to be most essential in this life.

The speaker went on to give many reasons why the liquor traffic is a curse. He said that there are 240,000 places in this country where liquor is sold, and that 500 places are added to this number every year. He also said that there are 1,200,000 persons engaged directly in the traffic. Continuing his strong appeal in behalf of temperance, Mr. Doolittle told of the effect of alcohol on the body, and of its ruination in the various professions. He said that nowadays there is not a railroad of any importance that will engage a man who drinks because he is not to be depended upon. So it is with nearly every industry of any size. In conclusion, Mr. Doolittle pointed all to Christ, who alone can sustain a man and keep him from the deadly curse. He said that a man cannot of his own strength keep from the habit and he must have the Divine strength.

After Mr. Doolittle's talk, John L. Edsall sang a solo entitled "My Home Before the War." The meeting closed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Doolittle.

Before the meeting closed two recitations, "Old Man Jim," and "The One-Armed Soldier," were given by Richard Foote, the California tragedian, by request, and Miss Suzanne Kranz, the western prima donna, sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Rev. Mr. Doolittle pronounced the benediction.

DRESSING ROOM.

Small Building Put Up at Isolation Hospital for Use of Physician.

President Charles J. Fisk, of the Board of Health, has had a suitable building erected near the isolation hospital for the use of the city physician. Heretofore the physician has had no suitable place to make a change of clothing before visiting the small-pox patients and after leaving them. The building while not very extensive, answers the purpose very well.

Will Be Made Chief.

It is quite likely that at the February meeting of the Common Council an ordinance will be introduced changing the official title of P. S. Kiely from captain of police to chief of police. It will be remembered that Mayor Jenkins in his message this year recommended such a change as it will have a tendency to elevate the office and the holder of it and give more importance to it.

L. T. L. Annual Meeting.

Arrangements are already under way for the annual meeting of the Loyal Temperance Legion, of New Jersey, which is to be held in this city in April. If possible the convention will be held in the First Baptist church.

One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. L. W. CALL FOR STATE CONFERENCE

TO BE HELD AT STATE HOUSE, TRENTON, FEBRUARY 20 AND 21.

Union County Joins in Call for First State Conference of Charities and Corrections.

City, county, State and private officials, tax payers and contributors, need this opportunity to become acquainted on the ground when they have common problems and common pride.

This State wants them to come together that they may have this mutual understanding; that they may realize their common interest: that they may recognize the difficulties and emphasize the possibilities of their work and may develop a state standard of professional excellence. The topics which must of necessity come before the conference are the probation system, State consumptive hospitals, county hospitals for the insane, the boundary line between public and private charities; the need of a woman's reformatory and proper places of detention for witnesses and accused persons awaiting trial. Also, how are dependent children faring in their homes? Who should be sent to the reformatory and penitentiary rather than to the county jail and State prison? What shall be done with the man who deserts his family? What can the city council, Legislature, mayor, or governor do to co-operate with tax payer and officials to better conditions? The conference will bring the best thought of the State to answer these questions.

Call for First State Conference of Charities and Corrections. We, the undersigned citizens of Union county:

Believing that the time has come for a conference of those who desire the best possible administration of New Jersey's relief and correctional measures, to the end that officials, public and private, may co-operate with one another and with taxpayer and contributor, and desiring to stimulate general consideration of imporant preventive and protective laws, do hereby join with citizens of other counties of the State, in a call through the public press, for a State conference of charities and corrections to be held in the State House, Trenton, February 20 and 21.

The goat that disappeared so mysteriously from the law offices of William Newcorn, a few days ago, has returned. The return trip was just as mysteriously as the goat's going away. AS CHAFFEE SEES IT.

The General Reports on Military Status In Philippines.

REASONS FOR CONTINUED WARFARE.

Two Provinces In Luzon and the Islands of Samar, Mindoro and Cebu Constitute the Disturbed Area.

MANILA, Jan. 20.—General Chaffee in the annual report, which has just been issued, sums up the situation from the military point of view by saying that the provinces of Batangas and Laguna, in southern Luzon, and the islands of Samar, Mindoro and Cebu constitute the disturbed area in which bodies of insurgents in force are to be found.

General Chaffee says the prolongation of guerrilla warfare is due to the physical character of the country and to the nature of the warfare carried on by the insurgents, who pose as friends and act as enemies in the same hour; to the humanity displayed by the American troops, of which the insurgents take advantage, and to the fear of assassination on the part of those natives who are friendly disposed toward the Americans should they give the latter information concerning the movements or whereabouts of the insurgents.

Municipal and provincial governments are being organized. These governments have not yet received a practical trial. They constitute the only certain and reliable method of ascertaining the progress of the Filipinos toward self government.

According to the opinion of army officers the disaster to Company C of the Ninth infantry at Balangiga, Samar, when forty-eight men were killed, is attributed to the too great confidence of these men in territory which they assumed to be pacified.

A report has been received here that a dugout canoe, in which eleven men of Company L of the Second infantry were traveling, is missing and probably lost. It is believed the men either perished or were captured.

General Wade has cabled from Cebu that 365 insurgents surrendered on the island of Bohol last Friday. The authorities here say that if this statement is accurate it is astonishing, as the secret service had failed to learn of the existence of any such body of insurgents on Bohol island.

An important capture was made in Laguna province, Luzon, when eight men of the Eighth infantry captured a woman insurgent named Aquoda Kahabagan. She recently commanded an insurgent force of 800 men, 300 of whom carried rifles, while 500 were armed with bolos, and for six years past she has been leading insurgent bands against the Spaniards and the Americans.

General J. Franklin Bell is still active in Batangas province, Luzon. A recent engagement in this province, in which the insurgents were defeated, with severe loss, resulted in the wounding of one American officer and the killing of one private.

Colonel Theodore J. Wint of the Sixth cavalry, who is operating in Batangas and Laguna provinces, reports numerous small engagements.

Diamonds In Montana.

LEWISTON, Mon., Jan. 20.—Diamonds said to be of the first water have been found in the northern part of Fergus county, according to a report which has just reached here. The discovery was made on Blood creek, in a mountainous country.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 20.—The annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America was called to order here today at 10 o'clock by President John Mitchell. LONG TALK TO BEGIN

The Philippine Bill Likely to Be Discussed For a Month.

FINAL PASSAGE GENERALLY ADMITTED

Democratic Senators Do Not Hope to Defeat the Tariff Measure, but They Wish to Present Their Views.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Philippine question was precipitated on the senate today when the committee on the Philippines, which has had the house Philippine tariff bill under consideration, reported the measure.

A long discussion of the bill is expected by the Republicans and promised by the Democrats. The Democratic leaders say they do not expect to be able to defeat the bill and disclaim all intention to delay a vote unnecessarily, but they say frankly that they consider that it affords an opportunity for the presentation of their view of the entire Philippine question which they cannot afford to let pass.

Senator Lodge will open the discussion with a brief speech tomorrow, in which he will discuss the merits of the bill and also the necessity for early action. He will be followed by some member of the Democratic representaton on the committee, who will outline the Democratic position. He in turn will be followed by other Democratic senators. Many of the senators on the Democratic side are expected to be heard before final action shall be secured. Indeed, the prediction is freely made that a vote will not be obtained within a month.

The calendar of the house of representatives is still rather meager in important bills, so that there does not promise to be a heavy pressure of business during the coming week. Today is the regular suspension day, but there are few measures likely to be passed by suspension of the rules. The urgent deficiency appropriation bill will occupy most of the time during the first few days of the week. It carries a total of $16,700,000, which is rather large for a deficiency measure, and it is expected that two days will be occupied in its consideration.

The Democratic members of the house committee on coinage, weights and measures have agreed on a minority report on the bill directing the secretary of the treasury "to exchange gold for legal tender silver dollars," and the report was presented today by Mr. Shafroth.

The report takes the position that the passage of the bill is certain to produce financial disturbances.

Four Detroit Stores Collapse.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 20.—Four buildings, each four stories high, located in the heart of the wholesale district of this city, collapsed at 8:30 o'clock last night without any apparent cause, and all that now remains is a smoldering heap of ruins. The buildings were a part of the block bounded by Jefferson avenue and Shelby and Griswold streets and were occupied by five concerns, and their stocks are a total loss, which is estimated at $152,500, exclusive of the loss on the buildings, which amounts to $50,500. The buildings joined each other at the corner of Jefferson avenue and Shelby street.

Sleeping Engineer Causes Wreck.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 20.—The westbound Missouri Pacific passenger train that left St. Louis at 7 o'clock in the evening collided head on with an eastbound freight train one mile east of Etlah, Mo. Five passengers were injured, but no one was killed. The wreck proved a costly one for the road. Engineer William Maze of the freight train had fallen asleep in his cab and ran past Etlah, where he had been ordered to meet the passenger train. The passenger train reached Kansas City late yesterday afternoon.

She Made Sure of Death.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 20.—Louise Avery, twenty-three years old, of Delaware, committed suicide in a horrible manner. In the morning her brother found her lying dead upon her bed, with the barrel of a shotgun held by one hand against her temple. Evidences were found that the woman had taken paris green and morphine, but had finally resorted to the shotgun. The entire top of her head was blown off. The refusal of a man to marry her is said to have prompted the deed.

Solomon Was Robbed.

RAILROADING BY TELEPHONE.

Illinois Central Equipping Its Line With Instruments.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The Illinois Central railroad within a short time will have all the principal stations along its line equipped with telephones for the use of officials and employees in transmitting the orders and messages of the company.

Those who have experimented with the system claim for it many advantages over the old telegraph system. They assert that by means of the telephonic system the service will be practically revolutionized, that with slight improvements, which are inevitable, the telephone will furnish greater safety for train orders, that the cost of train operation will be decreased and the results obtained made vastly better and that no less important is the constant personal contact between officials and employees, which, the promoters say, is certain to result in a higher class of service.

The change on the Illinois Central will be gradual. The installation of the system will cost about $100 per mile, or approximately $540,000 to equip the entire road, including its main branches and the Mississippi Valley road. Chicago will probably be the starting place. Almost simultaneously work will be commenced at New Orleans and St. Louis. From these centers a wire line will be extended to the principal points until every station in the entire system is included.

PANAMA ROUTE FAVORED.

Canal Commission Reports to the President.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The supplemental report of the isthmian canal commission on the proposition of the Panama Canal company to dispose of its property to the United States for $40,000,000 has been delivered to President Roosevelt. The members of the commission refuse to discuss the nature of the report, and like reticence is maintained at the White House, but it is said on excellent authority that the report unanimously recommends that the offer of the Panama company be accepted.

The report, it is said, is voluminous, going into all the phases of the question and attempting to meet the statements that any legal complications will arise out of the purchase or that there will be any international difficulties should the deal be consummated.

Further Rumors of Peace.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 20.—Dr. Leyds, the European representative of the Transvaal, and the Boer delegates met again yesterday at some mysterious rendezvous. Dr. Leyds now denies himself to everybody. It is asserted that Dr. Kuyper, the Dutch premier, on his return to The Hague from London had a conference with Mr. Wolmarans, one of the Boer delegates, who sent another delegate to consult with Mr. Kruger, and that another meeting will be held. In spite of the Boer denials, a stong feeling exists here that some peace movement is afoot between Great Britain and the Boer delegates, but that there is difficulty in arriving at any acceptable basis of terms, Mr. Kruger and Dr. Leyds being reluctant to commit themselves.

Prairie Fires In Montana.

BUTTE, Mon., Jan. 20.—A special from Great Falls says that extensive prairie fires are reported on the other side of the international boundary, extending for a distance of from ten to twenty miles west of Sweet Grass hills. Practically all the range between Milk river and Loth bridge has been swept by the flames. Many hundred tons of hay have already been destroyed. The fire extended to the valuable ranches in the Sweet Grass hills, and owners of flocks in that vicinity are confronted by the serious necessity of securing new winter ranges.

Suit Against a Korean Prince.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A suit has been begun in the district courts here against Prince Euiwha, second son of the king of Korea, to recover $30,000, alleged to be the amount of a promissary note held by Wolf Bros. & Co. of New York and Philadelphia. The details of the transaction are not disclosed. Prince Euiwha is a student at Roanoke college, Salem, Va.

Deadly Riots In Hungary.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 20.—During an agrarian riot in the village of Alsoidecs, in the county of Maros-Torda, Transylvania, a mob attacked the government officials, and the gendarmes were compelled to fire on them. Ten of the mob were killed, and thirteen were severely wounded. One of the wounded has since died, and four of them are not expected to recover.

River Steamer Wrecked.

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 20.—The river steamer Frank S. Stone of the Bigbee & Warrior Packet company was wrecked by a floating log in Mobile river thirty miles above Mobile and lies careened in fifteen feet of water in midchannel. No lives were lost. The steamer carried twenty-five passengers, a crew of twenty-five and a large general cargo.

Would Be Assassin Punished.

EARTH STILL SHAKES

Populace of Mexico's Ruined City In Camps.

VOLCANO OF COLIMA IN ACTION.

Latest Advices From Chilpancingo Are That the City Will Have to Be Completely Rebuilt—More Bodies Found In the Debris.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 20.—A telegram to the government observatory announces that the volcano of Colima is again active, and scientific men connect this fact with the prevalence of seismic phenomena. Renewed earthquake shocks were reported from various parts of the country daily since Thursday.

Governor Mora of Guerrero has personally taken charge of the ruined city of Chilpancingo. The populace is camping out, the camp being guarded by troops, and perfect order reigns. The city will have to be thoroughly rebuilt. More bodies continue to be found as the debris is searched.

The buildings destroyed include the Seventeenth battalion's barracks, from which the soldiers were ordered, thus saving their lives. The school buildings are wrecked, but luckily the children were all saved, their teachers having rare presence of mind and giving the order for them to march to the street when the first rumbling of the earth began on Thursday. The parish church, which was being repaired, having been injured in a recent earthquake, was destroyed.

When the shock began, it was nearly filled with worshipers, who fled in dismay, women being knocked down by men, but fortunately all had gained the street when the heavy stone arches fell in. It is believed that every one escaped, though the soldiers are removing the wreckage, which is piled up in great heaps.

Governor Mora and his secretary escaped from the state palace in time to save themselves and proceeded to aid the wounded and the panic stricken populace. The statue of General Nicolas Bravo was thrown down, and the town government building was so badly cracked that its fall is momentarily expected.

Great fissures opened across the streets. The Church of San Mateo, in one of the outer districts, was nearly destroyed.

In the town of Chilapa many buildings were badly wrecked, and three persons were killed outright, while four were injured.

In the towns of Tixtla and Marchitlan many buildings were cracked.

At Iguala several arches fell in, and there was general wreckage in shops.

At Zumpango del Rio three persons were badly injured, and the prison, town hall, schools and courts were wrecked.

Everett-Moore Properties to Be Sold.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 20.—The bankers' committee in charge of the Everett-Moore syndicate will hold a meeting this afternoon. The developments of the past week have practically caused the members of the committee to decide upon a somewhat different line of action than at first intended. The primary object of the committee is to preserve intact the equities of those in the syndicate and to prevent any depreciation in the values of securities. In order to accomplish this plan in regard to all the interests of the syndicate it is now extremely probable that a number of the properties will be sold—that is, all the syndicate's interests in the properties sold will be disposed of.

Injunction May Cause a Shutdown.

DUCKTOWN, Tenn., Jan. 20.—An injunction has been granted against the Ducktown Sulphur, Copper and Iron company and the Tennessee Copper company on account of sulphur smoke and fumes that are emitted from their roast plants. The injunction has not been served as yet. It is said that the president of the Tennessee Copper company has notified Mr. Randolph Adams, general manager of the company here, that when the injunction is served upon him he will shut and close down the entire works and mines, pay off and discharge every man.

Amalgamated Has Large Surplus.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 20.—"The Amalgamated association went into the last strike with the United States Steel corporation with $72,000 in the treasury and spent $200,000 in the fight. It will go into the next convention with $100,000 in the treasury," said President T. J. Shafter of that organization in addressing a mass meeting of the men here. "The Amalgamated association did not lose the strike," said Mr. Shaffer. "Both lost features in the strike which they would not lose again in many years."

Another Operation For Funston.

IOLA, Kan., Jan. 20.—General Frederick Funston, who arrived home from Manila a few days ago on sick leave, will soon undergo another operation, according to Lieutenant Burton J. Mitchell, who made the trip across the Pacific with the general and has arrived here. He says that General Funston, who is now in Oakland, Cal., will go to Kansas City in a few days, where the operation will be performed under the direction of Dr. Ernest Robertson.

A Jeweler Murdered.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Bela E. Brown, a prominent manufacturing jeweler, aged between sixty and seventy, was found in his salesroom at 24 State street murdered. The assassin had apparently attacked the old man from the rear, striking him in the back of the head with a hammer, crushing in his skull.

THE CITY'S DEBT.

It has long been the boast of Plainfield that the vast majority of its public officials are chosen from among its best and ablest citizens. Despite business duties of importance, these men have devoted a great deal of their time to the interests of the city with no other compensation that the conscientiousness that they had done their duty to the community-at-large. The result has been that municipal affairs in Plainfield have been conducted on a vastly higher plane than are most other cities of this size.

A list of those Plainfielders, who have served the city well and faithfully and assisted it to its present prominent place, would be a very long one. There is one name, however, which should be given particular prominence, particularly at this time when there is new evidence of his unselfish interest in the city's welfare. It is that of Former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk.

From the time he was first elected to the Common Council, Mr. Fisk has labored with much benefit in behalf of this city. In the council, he played a prominent part increasing the efficiency of the fire department and advancing the system of good roads for which Plainfield is so justly famous. As mayor of the city, he devoted many hours, personally looking after the problems which confronted the municipal administration. Now, as president of the Board of Health, he is doing the city a service the full importance of which few realize.

There are few men, occupying such a prominent place in the financial and business world as does Mr. Fisk, who would be willing to take off their coats and personally assist in the work of preventing the spread of smallpox. Even before the disease appeared here, Mr. Fisk and the other members of the board were hard at work. During the past week, Mr. Fisk has devoted the greater part of his time to the work of the board, personally aiding the physicians at the free vaccination bureau and exercising general supervision over its other acts. His example has encouraged others to activity and has resulted in giving Plainfield protection against the dreaded smallpox, the equal of which few cities can claim.

In his efforts, Mr. Fisk has had the hearty co-operation of the other members of the board. Its membership includes several of Plainfield's most prominent physicians who have given largely of their time and knowledge in behalf of the board. But while Mr. Fisk has lacked their professional knowledge, his sound common sense and good judgment have enabled him to be the president of the board in fact as well as in name, although he has not hesitated at any time to aid the physicians in any way possible.

It is well to appreciate such disinterested service when it is done and the city of Plainfield and every one of its inhabitants is under great obligations to Mr. Fisk, and the other members of the Board of Health as well, for the great work which they have done and are now doing.

The history of the Somerset County Country Club appears to be somewhat similar to that of the Union County Country Club. While there were a few interested in the club, it lacked the vigor and activity of the younger men in numbers and so it gradually weighed on the remaining members until they could no longer carry it. Its disbandment will undoubtedly be a serious loss to the social life of Somerville but it may mean the formation of a new club on somewhat different lines which will enable the new organization to live a longer life than the other.

The difference in the laws governing citites and boroughs made it necessary for North Plainfield to apply to the Borough Council for funds to carry on its campaign of prevention against small-pox. The request for funds was promptly granted although, strange to say, there were two votes recorded against it. It is well to remember that the men who voted for the measure were Mayor Smalley and Councilmen Clark and Nichols. Those who voted against the appropriation to protect the borough from small-pox were Councilmen Northrop and Lee.

It is nonsense for the officials of the Plainfield Water Company to say that if water meters are installed, the consumers will have to pay for them. Possessing a monopoly here, the water company might therefore be able to force such action if the Common Council did not provide for it in its new contract with the company. If the company, however, had any inclinations toward fairness, it would no more ask its patrons to pay for the meters than does the gas company.

New Jersey's new governor, Franklin Murphy, will officially take his place as head of the State government tomorrow. The occasion will be made one of ceremony in which the National Guard will participate. There will be hosts of visitors at the State capital that day and Plainfield will be largely represented by many of its prominent Republicans.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A real estate operator in this city, Saturday, in commenting on the condition of business, deplored the fact that there is a dearth of houses bringing a moderate rent. He declared that three are fewer houses vacant just now than there has been for some years past, and the tendency of the trade is to advance rents.

Houses bringing from $25 to $40 per month, said he, are especially needed. The busy season is about due so far as renting dwellings is concerned and the number of available houses are less than ever. More people are continually locating here and the building operations are not keeping abreast of the demands. Apartment houses, on an improved plan, he declared, are also wanted just at this time. Those now in use are well tenanted and there is room for more.

Endeavor Day Celebration.

The old members are cordially invited to attend and take some part in the service, but if anyone cannot be present, they are requested to send some message to be read in response to the call of their name.

Councilman May Resign.

On account of the fact that Councilman Jan. vanHerwerden now has business interests in Philadelphia and is obliged to be there most of the time, he is not able to devote much time to Councilmanic matters. It has been intimated that he may not serve his time out. While this is not official, it has been currently reported.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

The animal, after its enforced bath, was in such a feeble condition that it was thought best to use stimulants. Accordingly three quart bottles of "Jersey lightning" were procured. While one bottle of the fiery liquid was poured down the horses' throat some unknown person made away with the remaining two. The horse rapidly recovered.

As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. Randolph.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Miss Brush, of Brooklyn, Will Wed A. H. Serrell, of Myrtle Avenue.

The engagement is announced of Miss Elizabeth Corwin Brush, daughter of Luther Henry Brush, of 1319 Dean street, Brooklyn, to Arthur Harold Serrell, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Serrell, of Myrtle avenue, Washington Park. Miss Brush has spent the last two summers with her sister, Mrs. W. M. Ryan, in Washington Park, and has a large circle of acquaintances in city and borough where she is very popular.

Mr. Serrell is well and favorably known here, having spent most of his life in this place. He graduated from the Plainfield High School in 1893, and from Lehigh University in 1897 as a mechanical engineer. He is now associated in business with his father as patent solicitor in New York. Both the young people are enthusiastic golfers and were frequent players at the Park Golf Club last summer. The wedding will probably take place in the fall.

WANTS HIS BRIDE.

Samuel McCauley Invoked Aid of the Police in Vain.

Samuel McCauley, of Scotch Plains, invoked the aid of the police yesterday, to assist him in getting his intended bride, Miss Augusta Yaegar, who he claims is being kept a prisoner at the home of a relative on West Third street. They are to be married Thursday he says, but when he called to see her Saturday evening, he was refused admittance to the house. The police have no jurisdiction in the matter and advised him to seek redress through a justice's court. He has not done so yet.

INJURED IN FALL.

Patrick Flynn Taken Ill on Street and Was Hurt by Fall.

While walking along West Fourth street, near Spooner avenue, yesterday morning, Patrick Flynn, of Manson place, was taken with a fainting spell and fell to the sidewalk. The pavement cut a deep gash over one eye and he sustained a number of severe bruises about the face. He was attended by Dr. Cregar and afterward taken home in a cab. He was reported as being improved today.

Illing Odors.

Up in Columbus avenue is a bake shop that is catering to a growing trade because the proprietor accidentally discovered how to attract hungry patrons. His bakeroom under the shop is ventilated by a grating in the sidewalk in front of his one window, and during the last cold snap he noticed that several persons who stood on the grating to look at his wares came into the shop and ordered refreshments. Then he investigated and found that most appetizing odors ascended through the grating. They were evidently the silent agents that had changed free spectators into paying patrons. The trap was too good a one not to be improved, so the shrewd baker placed his cooking stove immediately under the grating, and now keeps a pot of boiling coffee on it during all business hours. It has the desired effect, for the aroma is almost irresistible when it reaches the nostrils of a hungry person who has as much as ten cents in his pocket.—N. Y. Herald.

Habits of Tropical Animals.

A well-known explorer of Africa says there is no doubt that many animals talk and laugh in certain ways among themselves. In Africa he has heard the gorillas laugh when they came to rob a man's field and found that elephants had already destroyed everything, as if they appreciated the joke against themselves. Again, he heard a gorilla which he found among some choice berries call another that was a long way off. He saw monkeys apparently stopping to think for a long time before making some move. These animals, by the way, rarely drink water, but eat juicy berries and fruits instead. The explorer was impressed by the fact that even in a tropical forest animals have to work hard for a living. Some of them travel miles every day to get food, and have all kinds of trouble in finding a safe place to spend the night.—Nature.

Removing the Cause.

The colored prisoner was hustled before the bar of justice.

"What is the charge?" demanded the judge.

"Inciting riot, your honor," said the officer.

"What did he do?"

"It was this way, your honor. Col. Julepson's silver-mounted corkscrew mysteriously disappeared from its accustomed place on his sideboard. This nigger had been seen hanging around the place, and suspicion naturally fell upon him. A crowd of indignant citizens got a rope and started to hunt for him, but before they found the nigger Col. Julepson discovered that the corkscrew was in his hip pocket."

"One hundred days at hard labor. This tendency to mob violence must be checked. Call the next case."—Salt Lake Herald.

A Giant Telescope.

There has just been completed at the Fulton engine works in Los Angeles a huge telescope, minus the lenses, for the Lick observatory on Mount Hamilton. The steel framework for the two 36-inch lenses weighs 8,000 pounds. The tube is 40 inches in diameter and 16 feet long. The work has been passed on by Prof. Campbell, of Lick observatory, and the instrument will go to Mount Hamilton only for testing purposes, after which it will be shipped to Chili and mounted on some high peak of the tropics. The present plan is to leave it there for three years that very close and accurate observations of the northern heavens may be made.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

Peat as Locomotive Fuel.

Pressed and dried peat for locomotive fuel is being experimented with on the Vislanda-Bolmen railway of Sweden. In a late test, though the engine was built for using coal only, an experiment train of 15 freight and one passenger car made the 22-mile trip ahead of the regular time schedule, arriving at the terminal station 15 minutes in advance of the schedule. A time table for lower speed than the regular train had been arranged.—Detroit Free Press.

Doctor—Yes, I think the day will come when the prevention of disease, rather than its cure, will be the chief work of the medical profession.

Friend—That would cut down doctors' incomes, would it not?

"I suppose so. Still, we would have our fashionable patients who think they are ill."—Judge.

DON'T BE AN OLD FOGY!
Keep pace with your day and generation.
The man who does not avail himself of modern methods is right at the outset giving himself a handicap that scarcely the wit of a Mark Twain or a genius of an Edison can overcome,
He who writes his correspondence with a pen instead of using a New Century Typewriter is "behind the times." He is making himself a plodder when he might be a leader. If you are using another typewriter—one of the slow, nerve racking kind, get rid of it quick.
The New Century economizes time and does PERFECT WORK.
It does more work and BETTER WORK than any other typewriter. It wears longer and is a better investment. It is the twentieth century method of handling correspondence.

Truth.

A woman pawns three chairs and a table for 47 cents.

Years pass.

The woman's great-granddaughter buys the chairs and the table for $3,000.

"Heirlooms!" says this person, unblushingly, to such as call.

This fable teaches how that the truth is mighty and will prevail in the most unexpected quarters.—Puck.

Polite Sarcasm.

Mr. Tightfist—I'm always willing to help a deserving unfortunate. Here is two cents, now don't spend it for drink.

Tramp—Certainly not. If I don't buy a ticket to Florida I'll surely purchase a set of winter flannels.—Chelsea Gazette.

Warm Within.

"Mercy, see the dog drink! Why, he's almost emptied that pail of water. What's the matter with him?"

"Please, ma'am, I think he ate the moostard plaster you left lyin' on the kitchen table." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Man in the Choir.

After a man has sung in a church choir about so long, he thinks he attracts a larger proportion of the congregation than the pastor.—Atchison Globe.

Vivacious.

If a girl is silly and has lots of money she is called vivacious.—Chicago Daily News.

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

Sixty Killed and Half of a Spanish Village In Ruins.

BARCELONA, Jan. 20.—The explosion last Saturday of the boiler of a spinning mill near Manresa destroyed half of the village of Puente de Vilumara. The hospital at Manresa is filled with the injured. Sixteen mutilated bodies of working people who were buried in the debris have been recovered. These include the manager of the spinning mill and his two sisters. Of the persons injured thirty are not expected to recover. The dead included many children. The queen regent has wired her condolences.

The boiler exploded in the evening, when the mill hands, many of whom were accompanied by their wives and children, were eating supper before commencing their night's work. The buildings of the mill collapsed entirely, and their debris was hurled in all directions, destroying other buildings and killing and injuring the people in the vicinity. Owing to the darkness the work of extricating the victims proceeded with great difficulty. Terrible scenes were witnessed, and during the work of rescue there were heard the heartrending groans and shrieks of the victims, whose torn and mutilated limbs were pinned down by the ruins.

A long line of carts and carriages was engaged in conveying the injured to the Manress hospital, five miles distant.

Sunday morning found the inhabitants of Puente de Vilumara roving among the ruins seeking the remains of friends and relatives, while the priests administered the last rites of the church to the dying in the open air.

It is now estimated that sixty persons were killed and 100 injured.

Operations Against Castro.

WILLEMSTAD, Island of Curacao, Jan. 20.—The Venezuelan insurgents who have concentrated on the peninsula of Paraguana, on the coast side of the gulf of Maracaibo, have inaugurated a movement against the government. The insurgents in the vicinity of Uchire have also commenced operations against President Castro. It is reported here that a serious engagement has occurred between the insurgents and the government forces not far from Barquisimeto, in the state of Lara, in which the insurgents were victorious and that there has been fighting between the insurgents and the soldiers of the government in the streets of Maracaibo.

A Pioneer Dead.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 20.—Rev. Dr. H. K. Hines is dead here, aged seventy-four. Dr. Hines came to Oregon fifty years ago from Herkimer county, N. Y., and during that time he was connected with the affairs of the Methodist Episcopal church in the northwest. As presiding elder of the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho he became widely known throughout the northwest. Dr. Hines was president of the territorial council of Washington and a member of the legislature during the session of 1864-66. He was a delegate to the national Republican convention in Cincinnati in 1876.

The Captives Are Well.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 20.—Reliable news has been received here to the effect that Miss Ellen M. Stone, the captive American missionary, Mme. Tsilka, her companion, and the latter's baby are well. Negotiations are proceeding which it is expected will result in the early and safe return of the captives. John G. A. Leishman, the American minister here, is now directing these negotiations. Mr. Leishman declines to say anything for publication in connection with this matter, but he admits there is ground for the above report.

Jailbirds Take Flight.

WATKINS, N. Y., Jan. 20.—William Harris and George Howell, charged with burglary, have escaped from the Schuyler county jail by making a hole through the wall with a file and window weight. They were to have been tried this week. Harris is twenty-six years old, weighs 135 pounds and has dark hair and mustache. Howell is twenty-seven years old, weighs 175 pounds and has black hair and heavy brown mustache. Sheriff Tucker has offered $50 reward for their capture.

Engineer and Fireman Killed.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Two freight trains met in a head on collision on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad six miles north of here, killing the engineer and fireman of one train and injuring a brakeman on each train. Ten cars were piled up, and both engines were almost demolished.

A widow of Houston, Tex., a native of this country, had for a number of years been a great sufferer from indigestion. Have frequently awakened at night, she says, with a fearful suffocating feeling, hardly able to breathe and often obliged to call for help, almost fearing that I was about to die. I consulted several doctors and took quantities of medicine, which gave me little or no relief, until last spring, seeing the Ripans Tabules advertisement in the Houston Post, I purchased some from Kiesling, the druggist, on Main street, and was relieved by the very first one I took. I keep them now constantly in the house, and would not be without them. Am no longer troubled with bad nights, and whenever I have a chance I recommend Ripans Tabules to sufferers. I consider them a wonderful medicine, and know personally of several wonderful cures effected by their use.

WANTED:—A case of bad health that R-I-P-A-N-S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R-I-P-A-N-S on the package and accept no substitute. SUCCESSFUL WOMEN.

From Small Beginnings In Business They Have Achieved Independence.

Just now I have in mind three women who from unpromising beginnings in commercial life have won a success that most men would be satisfied to attain.

Fifteen years ago Miss Helen, a girl in short frocks, was alike physically and financially the smallest sort of saleswoman in a dry goods store. There seemed no outlook for her beyond working for $4 or $5 a week, yet that did not induce her to slump down and say there was no use trying to get on. Miss Helen simply did her best day after day, year after year, first in one store, then in another, wherever she could get from time to time a little increase of pay. She was sometimes put into a new department, and wherever she found herself she learned all she could of the goods she sold. In this way she became an expert in several branches of merchandise. She just stuck to her work, learned all she could and waited and hoped.

A few months ago a firm operating a great department store offered her the place of buyer for its jewelry and fancy article counters. She accepted and now gets $30 a week and her transportation expenses when she travels to New York to make purchases.

There, too, is Miss Elizabeth. She had no especial business training, for she had not been brought up with the expectation of working for her living—so much the worse—but she was extremely quick, clear headed and accurate in arithmetical operations, and she wrote a hand—in the upright style of penmanship it was—that was as plain to read as print and as accurate so far as grammar, spelling and punctuation went. She was not a stenographer and typewriter, but just a penman who was quick in figuring. One day she saw an advertisement for an accountant who wrote a good hand. She answered it by writing to the firm a letter in her best manner and applying for the place. She got it at once on the strength of her penmanship.

She is now accountant in a grocery where there are perhaps fifty salesmen. Her task is to audit these salesmen's checks. She sits all day with the bits of paper flying to her like snowflakes and makes a note of every one and runs her eye over it to ascertain if its items be correct. She gets excellent pay, not yet enough to support a husband, but she has prospect of a handsome increase. She obtained this honorable and well paid post through writing a plain, beautiful hand and being able to add up columns of figures quickly and correctly.

The last of the three is Mrs. Virginia Louis Ralston, lately appointed fashion editor for a popular periodical. She, too, began to get her business experience in a modest way in dry goods stores. Like Miss Helen, she learned everything she could connected with her work as she went along and stuck to business. After a time she became known as a special expert in millinery and children's clothing. Next she was sent to Paris as a buyer of these wares for her firm. The story is merely a repetition of the means used with the results widening constantly, faithful application to business and continually learning.

A little more time elapsed, and Mrs. Ralston knew as much concerning all kinds of dress goods as she did of millinery and children's clothing. Then she went to Europe four times a year, buying merchandise and studying fashions in London, Paris and Vienna. She now has the name of being the leading authority on women's wearing apparel in this country.

Where they have been tested women make generally very capable purchasing agents for wholesale houses, and they have now been tried in almost every department from hatpins to agricultural implements. They are apt to observe details more closely than men and to be more economical. One is even on record as being a hop buyer for a brewery. But to be successful in any field a woman must be no laggard and must not putter with her task in a half hearted way.

CHAPTER IV.

It will be a truism to declare that human nature is about as complicated a piece of machinery as could be found in the human world. And yet I do not know why it should be considered so. All things and all men do not run in grooves. A man to be a criminal need not be hopelessly bad in every other sense. I have met murderers who did not possess sufficient nerve to kill a rabbit, burglars who would rob a poor man of all his possessions in the world, and yet would not despoil a little child of a half-penny. The fact of the matter is we all have our better points, our own innate knowledge of good and evil. Hayle had betrayed Kitwater and Codd in the cruelest fashion possible, and by so doing had condemned them to the most fiendish torture the mind of man could conceive. Yet it was through his one good point, his weakness, if I might so describe it, that I was enabled to come to my first grip with him.

It was between the hours of two and three that I entered the gates of Brompton cemetery and commenced my examination of the various graves therein contained. Up one path I wandered and down another in search of the resting place of the poor crippled sister of whom Gideon Hayle had been so fond. It was a long time before I found it, but at last I was successful. To my astonishment the stone was plainly a new one, and the grave was tastefully decorated with flowers. As a matter of fact it was one of the prettiest in its neighborhood, and to me this told its own tale. I went in search of the necessary official and put the case to him. He informed me that I was correct in my supposition, and that the stone had only lately been erected, and, what was more to the point, he informed me that the gentleman who had given the order for it had only the week before paid the necessary sum for insuring the decoration of the grave for many years to come.

"I gather from your words that the gentleman, who must be a relative of the deceased, has been here lately," I said.

"He was here last Sunday afternoon," the man replied. "He is a most kindly and generous gentleman, and must have been very fond of his sister. The way he stood and looked at that stone the last time he was here was touching to see. He'd been in foreign parts, sir, and is likely to go out there again, so I gathered from what he said. It is a pity there are not more like him."

This was news, indeed, and I pricked up my ears on hearing it.

Having learnt all I was likely to discover, I thanked the man for his kindness and left the cemetery. If I had done nothing else, I had at least satisfied myself upon one point, and this was the fact that Gideon Hayle had been in London within the week. Under such circumstances it should not be very difficult to obtain his address. But I knew from experience that when things seemed to be running most smoothly they are as much liable to a breakdown as at any other time—sometimes even more so. I accordingly hailed a cab and drove back to my office. Once there I entered up my diary according to custom, wrote a note to Kitwater, informing him that I had discovered that Gideon Hayle had not left London on the previous Sunday, and also that I believed him to have negotiated certain of the stones in London, after which I returned to my hotel to dine.

Most people who know me would tell you that it might be considered consistent with my character that I still occupied the same apartments in the private hotel, off the Strand, in which I had domiciled myself when I first arrived in England. If I am made comfortable I prefer to stick to my quarters, and the hotel in question was a quiet one; the cooking and the service were excellent, and, as every one did his, or her, best for me, I saw no sort of reason for moving elsewhere. It is something in such matters to know the people with whom one has to deal, and in my case I could not have been better cared for had I been a crowned head. I suppose I am a bit of a faddist in these things. Except when business compels me to break through my rule, I rise at the same hour every morning, breakfast, lunch, and dine at the same time, and as far as possible retire to rest punctually at the usual moment. After dinner in those days, things have changed since then somewhat, I invariably smoked a cigar, and when the evening was fine went for a stroll, returning between nine and ten and retiring to rest, unless I had anything to attend to, punctually at 11. On this particular occasion, the night being fine, though rather close, I lit my cigar in the hall and stepped out into the street exactly as the clock was striking eight. I had a lot to think of, and felt just in the humor for a walk. London at all hours is a fascinating study to me, and however much I see of her, I never tire of watching her moods. After I left my hotel I strolled along the embankment so far as the houses of parliament, passed the abbey, made my way down Victoria street, and then by way of Grosvenor place to Hyde Park corner. Opposite Apsley house I paused to look about me. I had my reasons for so doing, for ever since I had left the riverside I had entertained the notion that I was being followed. When I had crossed the road at the houses of parliament, two men, apparently of the loafer class, had crossed too. They had followed me up Victoria street, and now, as I stood outside the duke of Wellington's residence, I could see them moving about on the other side of the way. What their intentions were I could not say, but that their object was to spy upon my movements I was quite convinced. In order to assure myself of this fact I resolved to lay a little trap for them. Passing down Piccadilly at a sharp pace, I turned into Berkeley street, some 20 yards or so ahead of them. Crossing the road I sheltered myself in a doorway and waited. I had not been there very long before I observed that they had turned the corner and were coming along in hot pursuit. That they did not notice me in my hiding-place is evident from the fact that they passed on the other side of the street, and, doubtless thinking that they had missed me, commenced to run. I thereupon quitted my friendly doorway, returned to Piccadilly, hailed a cab, and drove back to my hotel. As I went I turned the matter over in my mind. With the exception of the present case I had nothing important on hand, so that I could think of no one who would be likely to set a watch upon me. That I did not suspect Hayle would only be natural under the circumstances, as I did not know then that he had been the witness of Kitwater and Codd's visit to my office that afternoon, and I felt convinced in my own mind that he was unaware that they were in England. It was most natural, therefore, that I should not in any way associate him with the plot.

THE GERMAN INVASION.

Prince Henry In His Trip to America Will Have Imposing Bodyguard.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Prince Henry of Prussia in talking over his plans of travel with Andrew D. White, United States embassador to Germany, at the dinner given by Baron von Richthofen, the German minister of foreign affairs, to Prince and Princess Henry, the American embassador and Mrs. White, John B. Jackson, secretary of the embassy, and a number of other distinguished persons said he was especially pleased with President Roosevelt's selection of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans to receive him in the United States, as there was an old sailor friendship between them.

English was the only language employed at this dinner, at which, besides the guests already mentioned, all the principal personages who will accompany Prince Henry to the United States were present. Prince Henry told Mr. White that he would call upon him some afternoon this week, have a cup of tea and continue their talk about his trip to America.

Prince Henry, who is considerably taller than Emperor William, will be surrounded on his trip to the United States by very large and tall men. Admiral von Tirpitz, the German secretary of the navy, who will accompany the prince, gives the impression of being more than six feet tall, while General von Plessen, a member of the emperor's military household, is equally tall. Vice Admiral von Seckendorff, who will also be of the party, is 6 feet 2 inches tall and huge framed.

A Bicentenary Celebration.

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 20.—The two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Fort Louis de la Mobile in the year 1702, the first prominent colony of the French in Louisiana, will be observed in this city on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Following a parade of civic and military organizations Wednesday morning a tablet commemorative of the establishment of the colony will be unveiled in the courthouse here. The tablet is inscribed with the dates "1702-1902" and bears the names of D'Iberville and De Beinville, the leaders of the French expedition. Officers were elected to serve two years. Nearly all of them reside west of the Rocky mountains.

Fifteen For Alderman Wenz.

On account of his creditable record as a father great honors were bestowed upon Alderman Wenz by the city fathers of Buffalo when he visited the Pan-American exposition last summer. They insisted upon fixing up quarters in the city hall for himself and fourteen children, and he was pointed out as a shining example of what a man should do for his country.

CYCLING.

To perpetuate the Irvington-Milburn twenty-five mile road race, a new organization, to be known as the Irvington-Milburn Association, has been formed with such well-known old-time riders' names as F. M. Dampman, E. L. Blauvelt, Ritchie Betts, Will R. Pitman, Wallace Merrihew and others on the list of charter members. Already the plans for the race of this year, the classic cycling event of the year, have begun to take definite form. Motor cycles will be offered for first and second prizes, and it is probable that there will be a motor cycle race run separately over the famous course. The race will be run Decoration Day, as usual, and in the morning.

The annual award of three first prizes, given by the Century Road Club Association to its leaders in mileage, century riding and securing new members, has just been announced. Three solid gold medals and other honors are evenly distributed, geographically, New York, Brooklyn and New Jersey sharing the first prizes, and Watervliet, N. Y., and Far Rockaway, L. I., with New York, the second honors. Harry Early, of Bayonne, N. J., captures the mileage medal for 1901, by covering a total of 14,032 miles during the year, Gilbert C. Badeau, of Far Rockaway, finished second with 9,933 miles. The century championship goes to Henry Veit, of Brooklyn. His record of 1901 was sixty-one centuries, including one quadruple, five triple and six double century runs. Isaac Gillett, of Watervliet, N. Y., won second place by riding forty-four centuries over the hilly road in his part of the State.

HE WAS WANTED HERE ON CHARGE OF HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Brought Before Justice Nash, Waived Examination and Held for the Grand Jury.

He was brought to this city and this morning was arraigned before Justice Nash. He waived examination and was committed to Elizabeth, the offense not being bailable in a justice's court.

Two others of the quartette, Austin Gulick and Patrick Lawler, are also out on bail and their cases will be tried by the present term of the Grand Jury. The remaining member, Thomas O'Keefe is still at large.

COULD NOT CASH CHECK.

The Combined Wealth of the Porto Rican Town Was Unable to Meet It.

As illustrating the scarcity of money in Porto Rico it is related that when a government check for $2,049 arrived in Manati a few days ago in payment of the town's excise collections for the preceding month it caused a genuine sensation, says the Army and Navy Journal. The city employes and their immediate army of creditors commenced to parade in front of the mayor, who stood up holding the check so that all might see. Two thousand and forty-nine dollars! The mayor told the people that the check could not be cashed, as there was not money enough in the whole town, not even if all the business houses combined for the purpose of cashing it. He then told them that they had to wait for their money until some one could go to San Juan to cash the check.

The mayor, envied by all, became tired from holding the check in the air, folded it, placed it in a cigarette box, wound it with red tape and locked it up in the safe.

NEW GOVERNOR INAUGURATED

Franklin Murphy Took the Oath of Office at Trenton This Noon.

WITH MUCH CEREMONY.

Exercises Were Held at Taylor's Opera House—Then Followed Luncheon—Parade Was the Event of the Afternoon—A Public Reception.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan 21—With all the splendor of a State function, martial music bright uniforms and distinguished men, Franklin Murphy, the sixth Republican to be elected, was proclaimed governor of the State of New Jersey, in the presence of an immense throng, today. The constitutional requirements were carried out in the elaborate proceedings held in Taylor's Opera House, but there was more than the usual amount of pomp attending such affairs in this State. Never since the inauguration of General George B. McClellan has there been such a magnificient ceremonial.

The military pagent redounded to the glory of the State, over 4,000 men, members of the National Guard, together with thousands of persons belonging to civic organizations, participated in the parade. Preceding this feature was the inaugural ceremony, which took place promptly at noon.

This was opened with prayer by Rev. Henry R. Robinson, Chief Justice Gummere, of the Supreme Court, with much solemnity, administrated the oath of office to Mr. Murphy, and a wild cheer came from the throats of the assembled multitude when the governor-elect promised to execute the constitution and the laws of the State. From without came the deafening sound of the salute of seventeen guns, fired from the State House grounds some distance away.

The retiring chief executive, Hon. Foster M. Voorhees, immediately delivered the great seal of the State to his successor, and he made a few well chosen remarks which were received with plaudits. In accepting the seal Governor Murphy was quite brief, referring to delay his remarks until the chosen time for his inaugural address, which had a scheduled place on the programme.

Former Governor Voorhees formally introduced the new executive to the president of the Senate, Charles Ash Francis, who in turn introduced him to the members of the Senate and General Assembly. Governor Murphy then delivered his address. This timely document, which was read in a clear voice will be found in another column of this issue. As soon as he had concluded Rev. Judson Conkling said the benediction.

Governor Murphy, together with the retiring chief executive, the heads of the various State departments, the members of Congress and United States Senator Kean, were dined at the Trenton House. There were covers for about forty officials. As soon as they had finished the repast they repaired to the reviewing stand.

The parade was the feature of the afternoon which attracted the vast crowd. The line was formed at 12:30 o'clock and the march was scheduled to begin promptly at 1 o'colck. It was considerable after that time when the signal was given for the troops to start. The Essex Troop, with Congressman R. Wayne Parker, in command, had the honor of escorting the Governor to the State House where on a specially erected platform he reviewed

IT'S SMALL POX.

No Truth in Story That Inmates of the Hospital Have Chicken Pox.

During the past few days it has been currently reported that the four cases of smallpox at the isolation hospital are not that disease, but chicken pox. The people circulating such reports have quoted certain physicians as authority.

In a conversation with Miss Virginia Stryker, the trained nurse at the isolation hospital, a representative of The Daily Press learned yesterday that there is absolutely no doubt but that the cases are those of smallpox. Miss Stryker has had the disease herself and is thoroughly acquainted with it. The patients have been quite sick. Yesterday their condition was better than at any other time since they were taken. They will undoubtedly recover in the due course of time.

T. A. B. SOCIETY FAIR OPENED LAST NIGHT

First Evening of Affair Was Very Successful With a Large Attendance.

THOSE WHO HAD CHARGE

ATTRACTIONS WERE DANCING AND AN INFORMAL PROGRAMME.

Raising Funds to Clear Debt From Society's Building on West Fourth Street, Where Fair is Being Held.

Under favorable auspices, a fair was opened last evening by the St. Mary's T. A. B. Society, in the hall on West Fourth street. There was an air of success from the very start and that the society will clear the indebtedness of $350 on its building, is an assured fact. The hall is decorated with bunting and American flags, while occupying a prominent position is the large American flag which, it will be remembered, was won in a contest between the society and the Ancient Order Hibernians. There are pretty booths, where an almost endless variety of fancy articles are sold and where refreshments are served. The decorations were in charge of Clarence Waldron and Clinton Shannon.

The display of fancy articles is attractive. There is the handsome doll, which is being contested for by Miss Mary Caulfield, Miss Bertha Flynn and Miss Maggie Higgins. In this booth everything was donated to the society. There is a handsome crayon portrait of Rev. Father Smyth, which occupies a prominent place on the stage. This was given to the society by Father Smyth and is being chanced off. Small pictures of the beloved priest are on sale. Other things to be chanced off include a large duck and two fine roosters.

Of course, dancing was a feature last evening and will be every evening. Last evening, there were soprano solos by Miss Anna Daley. She will also sing this evening, when Miss Josie Murphy will recite and John Moran will give popular songs.

Another feature last evening was the popular backward dance. This will be given Thursday evening, when the Bound Brook T. A. B. Society will attend in a body. W. C. Townsend and Frank Burke will also give mandolin solos and the fair will be kept open all night for dancing.

Other contests include one for a woman's gold watch and the other for a man's gold watch. Frank Burke and William Spencer are contesting for the latter. Another attraction is the fishing pond in charge of William Spencer. All kinds of soft drinks are served by members of the general committee.

This society is now thirty years old and has for its officers the following: President, Michael O'Keefe; vice president, Patrick Melvin; recording secretary, Richard Birmingham; financial secretary, Clarence Waldron; treasurer, John Carney. During the week Clinton Shannon is floor manager, assisted by Edward Lynch and James Kane.

In order to make the fair a success the women were asked to assist. They very kindly consented and under the direction of Mrs. Michael O'Keefe, who is chairman of the woman's committee, the following are working zealously for the fair: Miss Kate Carty, Miss M. Whalen, Miss Julia Meaney, Miss Nellie Meaney, Miss Marie Carty, Miss Katy Mack, Miss B. Reville, Miss M. Reville, Miss Nellie Drake, Miss Lizzie Flynn, Miss Nora Flynn, Miss M. Connolly, Miss Lizzie Guinee, Miss Tessie Lynch, Miss Margaret Shannon, Miss Susie Fitzsimmons, Miss Josie Birmingham, Miss Mary Birmingmham, Miss Lizzie O'Keefe, Miss Anna O'Keefe, Miss Katy McLoughlin, Miss Maggie O'Keefe and Miss Nellie O'Keefe.

There are several other minor committees composed of the members, all of which are doing the best to secure money to pay off the debt. The music is being furnished by Eugene O'Reilly. The fair will continue every evening this week. Saturday night the contests will be decided.

Family Celebration.

Floyd Simmons, aged seventy years, of Berkeley Heights, celebrated the anniversary of his birthday last Sunday. His children and grandchildren gathered and joined in the festivities of the occasion. Mr. Simmons is just as spry as when years ago he marched with Gen. Hancock, when the latter was a lieutenant.

FELL UNDER CAR WHEELS

James Moran Fatally Injured on Jersey Central Tracks Early This Morning.

DIED AT THE HOSPITAL.

Was Crossing Cars Standing on the Track When a Sudden Jolt Threw Him in Path of Wheels—Was Working at Potter's—Leaves Wife and Three Children.

While on his way to work in the Potter Press Works yard, shortly after 7 o'clock, this morning, James Moran, a mason living at 190 Grove street met with an accident which resulted in his death two hours later. He attempted to clamber between two coal cars which blocked the pathway over the New Jersey Central tracks at Lafayette place when the train started and he was thrown beneath the wheels. Both legs were terribly crushed from the knees down. He died at Muhlenberg hospital at 9:30.

Moran, who was thirty-five years old, left home early this morning to commence the second day's work on the first job he had had in a long time. He was a skilled mason but was laid off on the completion of a contract several weeks ago. Yesterday a neighbor secured work for him as a laborer digging a well in the Potter yard. As is the custom of a large number of employes of this shop, he started to take the short cut from Front street through Lafayette place to South Second street, crossing the tracks.

On reaching the embankment he saw he was cut off by the stalled empty train of cars, west bound, but did not hesitate to climb over them. He had nearly reached the step on the opposite side when a sudden jerk caused him to lose his balance. He fell directly across the rail and before he could roll out of harm's way, the wheels of a large gondola caught him.

By a superhuman effort he managed to get his mangled limbs off the rail and to the ditch beside the tracks. He was unable to attract the attention of the flagman in the caboose but his shouts brought two women and afterward John Kitchen, who resides on Lafayette place adjoining the railroad, and William Wenzel, who was passing. After making him as comfortable as possible and learning his name, they hastened to Muhlenberg hospital and procured a stretcher. In this way he was gotten to the institution, but not before he had lost consciousness.

Through a mistake in getting his name, his wife was not informed of the accident in time to reach the hospital before he died. A sister was the only one at his bedside at the end. He leaves three small children. The wife is almost prostrated from shock.

The spot where Moran was injured has been a veritable death-trap for years. It is a favorite crossing place with scores of workmen despite the fact that a dozen have met death in doing so. On account of the sheds and fence belonging to the Cadmus mill, it is impossible to see a train until almost directly on the tracks while it is often necessary to clamber over or between stalled cars as was the case this morning.

Tore Off Harness.

MEN'S CHORAL CLUB MADE DECIDED HIT

Its First Concert, Given in the Casino Last Evening, Was a Decided Success.

WAS GIVEN AN OVATION

ASSISTED BY DR. CARL E. DUFFT AND W. PAULDING DENIKE.

Chorus Was Led by William E. MacClymont—Many Encores Were Demanded — Fine Work Done by All.

A delightful audience, which occupied every available seat at the Casino, last evening, heard a genuine musical treat when the Men's Choral Club made its initial bow to the Plainfield public. The excellence of the numbers evoked applause which at times became an ovation. Encores and repetitions lengthened the original ten selections to nearly as many more.

Conductor William E. MacClymont was directly in charge and the chorus included the following active members of the organization: First tenors, J. D. Bailey, E. D. Cutting, E. Maxwell Honeyman, Willard M. Miner, Elmer E. Runyon, L. S. Schutt, I. S. Thomas; second tenors, Dr. R. W. Emerson, Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, M. C. VanArsdale, Rev. E. E. Madeira, Dr. O. B. Whitford; first basses, H. C. Wells, F. S. Cutter, James Dodd, W. B. Gilbert, F. B. Moffett, Ralph K. Miner, J. F. O'Keefe, G. F. Schoonmaker; second basses, Charles Barlow, S. H. Craig, E. C. Martin, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards and I. W. Travell. Dr. Carl E. Dufft, bass-baritone, and W. Paulding DeNike, violoncellist, were the soloists. Clarenec Lester Eick was the very satisfactory accompanist.

The opening number by the club, Buck's "Battle Hymn" at once revealed the thorough drilling to which the members have been subjected. Calling for full voice effect and demanding true balance, this selection was rendered with a perceptible swing by which the audience was involuntarily moved. The spirit of the piece was in the air and seemed to imbue both singers and hearers.

Sullivan's "Lost Chord" was interpreted with much feeling. It permitted a voice blending which was positively charming and occasioned much comment. The pleasing tenor effect in this number was especially noticeable. "The Maid in the Valley" was distinctly different from the preceding selections and all too short. Continued applause occasioned its partial repetition.

The most difficult of the ten numbers, "The Farewell of Hiawatha" by Foote, brought the first half of the programme to a close. The solo part was taken by Dr. Dufft and he was supported in a manner which allowed no adverse criticism. The precision of time with which it was given and the ready response to the conductor's baton left a lasting impression.

Of the three chorus numbers compos-

PARTED COMPANY.

John Jerolaman Tried a Cure That Caused Trouble Between Oven and Stove.

Heat and naptha never did take to each other. John Jerolaman, of South Second street, wasn't aware of the fact when he rubbed naptha on his aching feet, Sunday afternoon, and then placed the members in a stove oven to assist in the pain killing.

The fumes from the naptha collected in the small space and suddenly exploded. The oven parted company with the rest of the stove. After Jerolaman arose from a far corner he found his feet aching worse than ever. They had been blistered as far as the knee and he is now figuring how long it will take to get his shoes on.

J. P. D. KIRCH IS MISSING

Wrote Home From Trenton of Suicide, But Body Was Not Found.

INSANITY THE THEORY.

Friends Believe That Business Troubles Temporarily Deranged His Mind—Was in Trenton, But Left There Sunday Night—The Charges Here are Settled.

The strange dissappearance of John P. D. Kirch, of Somerset street, coming as it did so soon after his being held in bail on the charge of embezzlement, caused no end of surprise not only to his friends but to the community at large. The shocking news was intensified by communications received from him to the effect that his body would be found in a hotel at Trenton, N. J.

He left here Saturday evening and traces of his wanderings since then are furnished by the register at the Trenton House, in the capitol city, and from the three letters directed from that place to relatives and friends here. Investigation proves that he did not end his life where he threatened to, but there is no clue to his present whereabouts. As to the motive for his peculiar conduct there is much mystery. Friends declare that the prosecution against him was in such a condition that he had nothing to fear. His relatives and friends as a rule are inclined to believe that he is temporarily insane.

Ever since his arrest on the charge of embezzlement, for having misappropriated funds entrusted to him for the satisfaction of a mortgage by Milvin H. Cleaves, of the borough, he has acted queerly. This took place Wednesday, Jan. 8. His eyes betrayed signs of great worriment, and his speech was excited in tone. More than one person commented on the great change which had come over him.

The contents of the letter received by Mrs. John D. Kirch, of Duer street, astonished the family. The envelope was addressed to her but the letter was written to the entire family. It was dated January 18.

In it he said that the mental strain had caused him to leave Friday evening. He went to Newark, where he took a Pennsylvania train for Baltimore, arriving there at 3 o'clock Saturday morning. He registered at the Charleston Hotel and later in the day went to Wilmington, Del. From there he went to Trenton arriving early in the evening.

In the letter he then makes disposition of his goods to members of his family, and makes provision for his funeral. He wanted the K. of P., notified to take charge of his remains, and also desired to have the members of Freedom Castle, K. G. E., and the local Jr. O. U. A. M., at his funeral. The tenor of the epistle was quite pathetic.

Immediately upon the receipt of the startling letter by his wife, she in company with Justice V. W. Nash, took a train for Trenton. They went at once to the Trenton House, but learned but little. When he registered the night clerks were on duty and consequently the day clerks knew nothing concerning the man, except that his signature was on the register.

From what can be ascertained it seems that he engaged a room on arriving at the hotel, giving his place of residence as Newark. After being shown to his room he returned to the office of the hostelry, where he penned the letter mentioned to his wife. This he took to the post office and mailed. Then on returning to the hotel he occupied his time in pacing up and down the corridor leading from the office into the grill room. It was evident that he was in great distress. Early the next morning, Sunday, he paid his bill at the hotel and left.

Subsequently he went to the United States Hotel, and spent some time in the front office. His actions were noticed, though he did not have a word to say to anyone. Later he walked up to the desk and registered. He told the clerk that his home was in Hamilton Square and that he had come to Trenton to dispose of a horse and wagon. On the hotel register his residence is given as Newark.

All Sunday evening he walked up and down the stable yard, in the rear of the hotel. It was 10 o'clock when he left the establishment and crossed

THE PANAMA ROUTE

Report of Canal Commission Before Congress.

WHAT FORTY MILLION OFFER INCLUDES

Value of Work Done on This Route Over $27,000,000—Work May Be Completed at a Saving of $45,630,704.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The president has transmitted to congress the supplemental report of the isthmian canal commission, in which it is unanimously recommended that the offer of the New Panama Canal company to sell all its rights, property and unfinished work to the United States for $40,000,000 be accepted.

The report gives in full the correspondence which has passed between the commission and the Panama Canal company at Paris, which includes a cablegram from the president of the board, dated Jan. 9, as follows:

"The New Panama Canal company declares that it is ready to accept for the totality, without exception, of its property and rights on the isthmus the amount of $40,000,000, the above offer to remain in force up to March 4, 1903."

The report states that the "totality" mentioned in this message includes fifty-six parcels of land amounting to 30,000 acres, which cover nearly all of the ground required for the actual construction of the canal. It also includes 2,431 buildings used for offices, quarters, hospitals, storehouses, etc.; also an immense amount of machinery, consisting of floating plant, tugs, dredges, locomotives, cars, etc. It also includes all excavation work accomplished upon the main canal line, amounting to about 36,700,000 cubic yards.

The value of the work done is estimated at $22,895,028, less contingencies estimated at $4,579,000, leaving an aggregate of $27,474,033. The offer also embraces all of the existing 70,000 shares of the Panama Railroad and Canal company except 1,100 shares held by individuals in Europe and the United States.

Against this property are mortgage bonds amounting to $3,439,000. Of this amount the canal company owns $871,000. It also holds in its treasury $1,064,000 subject to sale or cancellation, leaving in the hands of the public $1,504,000. These bonds bear 4½ per cent interest. There are also outstanding $996,000 6 per cent sinking fund bonds. The transfer also will include three passenger and freight steamers of 2,000 tons each.

Summing up, the commission finds the total value of the property to be as follows: Excavation work done, $27,474,033; Panama railroad stock, at par, $6,886,300; maps, drawings, etc., $2,000,000; total, $36,360,333; add 10 per cent to cover omissions, $3,639,667; total, $40,000,000.

The estimated cost of constructing the Nicaragua canal is given as $45,630,704 more than the cost of completing the Panama canal.

Citizens Demand Safe Transit.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—A mass meeting was held at Mount Vernon last night which was attended by citizens of that town, New Rochelle and Yonkers to consider the New York Central tunnel in connection with the recent accident. The sense of the meeting was that the citizens did not care what remedy should be adopted to make the tunnel safe so long as something was done. A committee of twenty-five was appointed, consisting of the mayors of the three cities, Senator Mills, the three members of the assembly, the presidents of the incorporated villages of Westchester county and a committee of the board of supervisors. This committee will appear before Governor Odell at a time yet to be fixed.

One Convict Recaptured.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 21.—An exciting hunt for ten of the eleven prisoners who escaped Sunday from the federal penitentiary at McNeils island is in progress. Frank Moran, alias O'Neil, sentenced from Spokane for eight years for counterfeiting, was captured about midnight by a squad of deputies who were patrolling the shore. He was about to swim to the mainland. Thirty armed deputies are now scouring the island, and two steam launches are patrolling its shores. A launch from the United States revenue cutter Manning has just gone to the island with ten heavily armed marines, who will take part in the hunt.

The Boston Teamsters' Strike.

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—The turmoil caused by fully 250 striking teamsters in their efforts to coerce teamsters who were at work to join their ranks gave the business men along Atlantic avenue and Commercial street, which constitute the chief water front thoroughfares, an unpleasant day. Over three score of small firms, each employing two or three men, were involved in the strike, the big transportation companies having signed an agreement with their men during last week.

Plans For After the War.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—It is learned that at the close of the war the British government contemplates offering special encouragement and facilities for emigration on a large scale to South Africa. Mr. Chamberlain has cabled the governors of Australia and New Zealand inviting each to send a further contingent of 1,000 men to South Africa.

Cape Patrol Cut Up by Boers.

PRINCE'S ITINERARY.

Distinguished German Visitor to Arrive Feb. 22.

RECEPTIONS IN PRINCIPAL CITIES.

Prince Henry Will Visit Washington, Chicago, Milwaukee, Niagara Falls and Boston After Launching of the Kaiser's Yacht.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia while in the United States will visit Chicago, Milwaukee, Niagara Falls and Boston. These points are embraced in the itinerary which has been cabled here by Dr. von Holleben, the German embassador at Washington. This programme was submitted to Emperor William and Prince Henry and has been approved by them. Its general outline is as follows:

Feb. 22.—The arrival of the prince and his suit at New York.

Feb. 23.—The official welcome by the representatives of President Roosevelt, the governor of the state of New York and the mayor of New York city.

Feb. 24.—The launching of the yacht at Shooter's island and a dinner to be given by Prince Henry.

Feb. 25.—A reception in honor of Prince Henry, a dinner in his honor to be given by the mayor of New York and if consistent with these functions a reception by the Press club.

Feb. 26.—The prince and his party will proceed to Washington, where the prince will reside at the German embassy. He will exchange calls with President Roosevelt and be entertained at dinner at the White House.

Feb. 27.—Official receptions and visits and a dinner at the German embassy.

Feb. 28.—The prince and his party will start for Chicago.

The apportionment of the prince's time between Chicago, Milwaukee, Niagara Falls and Boston has not yet been precisely made. In fact, although the foregoing is the official plan as it stands today, any part of it may subsequently be modified. Cablegrams on the subject of the programme are still being exchanged.

The suggestions contained in press dispatches from the United States that Prince Henry would go to Washington twice appear to be mistakes. It is thought that possibly President Roosevelt may find it convenient to accompany his daughter to the launching, in which case he would naturally attend the dinner given at that city by Prince Henry and the mayor of New York, after which President Roosevelt and Prince Henry would journey to Washington together.

Later Prince Henry will spend two or three days in New York visiting the city's objects of interest and receiving privately some of New York's notable citizens.

Arrangements For the Launching.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Wallace W. Downey of the firm of builders who are constructing Emperor William's new yacht Meteor has returned from Washington, where he concluded arrangements with President Roosevelt, Embassador von Holleben and the state department for the launching of the yacht. Mr. Downey said that the most elaborate preparations are being made for the event, but that simplicity will attend the ceremonies. "The yacht will be ready to start for her first sail across the ocean by March 15," said Mr. Downey. "The contract calls for the completion of the yacht by April 15. We are going to do better and have it ready three weeks before that. The yacht will be sailed over, and I presume the imperial yacht Hohenzollern will act as escort. A crew of twenty-three will be required to sail the new yacht. She will go direct to Plymouth, England, where some interior decorations will be put in."

Annual Bowling Tournament.

BUFFALO, Jan. 21.—The annual tournament of the American bowling congress began at 6:45 last night on the Palace bowling alleys under the auspices of the Western New York Athletic association. The space allotted to spectators is limited, and standing room was at a premium when the first ball sped down the highly polished alley. Eight new alleys as perfect as skill can make them will be in continuous use until the end of the tournament on Friday.

Will Adjourn Jan. 31.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 21.—The pan-American conference has adopted a resolution on adjournment according to which the closing session will be held on Jan. 31. The conference also approved a resolution to send the salutation of the conference to Senor Calvo, the renowned Argentine writer on international law, who is now past eighty years of age.

General Hughes at the Capital.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Brigadier General Robert H. Hughes, who recently returned from the Philippines in company with Brigadier General Funston, has arrived in this city, accompanied by his aid-de-camp, Lieutenant Edward Croft of the Nineteenth infantry. He reported at the war department.

French Priest Killed In China.

PEKING, Jan. 21.—A French priest named Julien and two Chinese converts have been murdered at a village in the north of Kwangsi province. Chinese officials assert the murders were committed by robbers and were not a result of an anti-Christian demonstration.

Governor Taft Arrives.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The transport with Governor Taft of the Philippine Islands on board has just reached this port.

BLOODY NAVAL FIGHT

General Alban, Governor of Panama, Killed.

ONE OF THE GOVERNMENT BOATS SUNK

Panama Bay the Scene of an Early Morning Battle Between Two Colombian Ships and Two Revolutionary Gunboats.

PANAMA, Jan. 21.—General Carlos Alban, the military commander of this district and the governor of Panama, was killed during the fighting yesterday. His death is deeply deplored, for General Alban was loved by his soldiers and enjoyed the esteem of the community.

It is asserted that the death of the Colombian leader may have the effect of bringing to the government side large numbers of men anxious to avenge his loss.

Some of the men killed on board the government ship Lautaro have been brought ashore, where they are being buried. A naval battle between the government vessels the Lautaro and Chicucto and the revolutionary ships the Padilla and the Darien began at half past 6 in the morning in Panama bay.

The Lautaro has sunk. It is reported here that her crew rebelled.

The revolutionary gunboat Padilla surprised the Lautaro at the opening of the fight in the morning and began shooting at close range. Many men on board the Lautaro were killed.

A gasoline launch has just left here to obtain details of the fighting.

The slow movements of the Padilla, which are noticeable from the shore, lead to the belief that she has been damaged.

The government gunboat Boyaca has just moored to the dock here. She brings troops from Chiriqui. She reports that the revolutionary steamers Padilla, Darien and Gaftan drew off when they became aware of her presence.

On shore the Darien is now reported to be in a sinking condition.

General Alban's Death Regretted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Only meager details of the fighting between the vessels of the Colombian government and those of the insurgents in Panama bay have been received in official circles here. They consist of a dispatch from Consul General Fudger, at Panama, and another from Captain Mead, the commander of the cruiser Philadelphia, which is lying in Panama bay. At the Colombian legation great regret is expressed by the officials there at the death of General Alban, the governor of Panama. He had proved a very successful officer, and in the recent operations incident to the capture and surrender of Colon by the rebels he had played a conspicuous part. He was about fifty years of age and a man of brilliant attainments. Formerly he had been attorney general of Colombia.

A Statue of McKinley.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 21.—The sum of $50,000 to defray the expenses of erecting a statue of the late President William McKinley has been introduced by Assemblyman Bradley. It provides that the statue is to be erected on Niagara square, in the city of Buffalo. The governor is authorized to appoint a commission of five, one of whom is to be designated as president and two of whom are to be residents of Buffalo, to have charge of the matter. Immediately upon organizing the commission is to name an executive officer, whose salary is to be $800 per year, and a secretary, whose salary is to be $500 per year.

No Liquor Tax Amendments.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 21.—The question of the Sunday opening of saloons was the subject of discussion in the senate last evening, when the author of the Raines liquor law advised the church people of the state to cease petitioning the legislature not to enact a law for the opening of saloons during certain hours of the Sabbath. Senator Raines declared that there would be no liquor tax amendments this session, and he advised the good church people to direct and concentrate their efforts in their localities toward the proper enforcement of the present law.

Pneumatic Tubes For Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—The imperial postoffice is causing plans to be prepared for a complete system of large pneumatic tubes for the transmission of Berlin mails such as are used in New York and Philadelphia. The German government some months ago asked an American pneumatic tube company to submit plans and estimates for this work. The chief engineer of this company has been in Berlin since last August working out the details of the plan in conjunction with the engineers of the imperial postoffice.

Americans May Build Railway.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—A dispatch to a news agency from Constantinople asserts that an American syndicate has submitted an offer to the porte to build the Bagdad railway. The dispatch says the syndicate does not ask for a mileage guarantee, but desires that the surplus tithes from the districts to be traversed by the railroad be applied to the work of construction.

Wreck on the Santa Fe.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Official advices received at the general offices of the Santa Fe road state that no one was injured in the collision which occurred just west of Coolidge, Kan. Three cars, the express, smoker and chair car, were burned, and traffic was delayed for three hours. The collision was due to a blinding snowstorm.

A NEW GOVERNOR.

After being without a governor for a few hours, New Jersey now has a new chief executive who was placed in office, this noon, with all due ceremony. After an eventful three years, Foster M. Voorhees, of Elizabeth, has retired from office and Franklin Murphy, of Newark, his duly elected successor, has formally assumed the reins of government to hold them for the next three years if providence permits.

The man, who has been chosen to hold the chief office which the people of New Jresey can give, is one well qualified for the place. While, like the rest of mankind, Franklin Murphy is human and therefore liable to err, his mistakes will be, judging from his past career, those of judgment and not of principle. He is a thoroughly upright and honest man and may be expected to carry out his duties with integrity and care.

In another column will be found his first message to the State Legislature. It is a well-written document and shows that Mr. Murphy has looked carefully into the affairs of the State even before he took up the duties of his office. It will bear reading by everyone who is at all interested in the problems which confront the legislators of the State.

It was a very creditable appearance which Plainfield's men's musical organization made at the Casino last evening. While it has been felt for years that this city possessed an unusual amount of excellent talent and that a chorus of trained male voices could be formed that would compare favorably with similar organizations, it was not until this year that the desired end was reached. The showing made at last evening's concert fully justified the claims of its friends and equalled the expectations of its advocates. Much credit is also due William E. MacClymont, the man who has so carefully trained and led the club.

The time is only forty-eight hours away when the Republicans in the State Legislature will caucus on the question of United States Senator. How it is going to turn out, no one knows. Gradually the contest seems to narrow down but a sudden shifting of the vote may put a very different aspect on it.

The idea that advertising is merely a struggle for a given amount of business is a fallacy comments the Philadelphia Record. Advertising creates new business by reminding or informing people of their needs—a real service to the people as well as a benefit to the advertiser.

Both city and borough are well represented at Trenton today with over a score of prominent Republicans. While State Senator C. A. Reed will be the only one to figure prominently, there will be a good time for everyone of them.

Important Question Coming Up.

There will be a business meeting at the First Baptist church tomorrow evening, when the committee will submit a report on the question of introducing individual communion cups.

SCANDINAVIAN MUSIC WAS WELL RENDERED

Selections From Its Masters Were Given Before Monday Afternoon Club.

BY TALENTED PIANIST.

MRS. CHAS. B. FOOTE TALKED ON WORKS, THEN GAVE ILLUSTRATIONS.

Talented New York Pianist Rendered Selections by Famous Composers of Scandinavian Music Yesterday Afternoon.

A delightful time was spent with the composers of Scandinavian music through the rendition of the works of those masters by Mrs. Charles B. Foote, a talented New York pianist, by the members of the Monday Afternoon Club, ta All Souls church, yesterday. There was an unusually large attendance of the women composing this progressive organization and everyone seemed more than pleased over the enjoyable occasion afforded them by Mrs. Foote.

Among the composers, from whom she drew her recital, were Gade, Grieg, Sinding, Skabo, Sjogren, Kjerulf, Schytle and Ole Olsen. Many of the compositions are remarkable masterpieces and a number of them are really enchanting. Some reminded one of the works of Wagner, for the style is somewhat similar to his.

Prefacing her piano renditions, Mrs. Foote gave a short talk on the life and work of the composer, from whose compositions she would play. She would tell of the features of the selections originated by the master, and then render his work on the piano greatly to the edification of the assemblage.

Gade was the first composer to come in for a share of attention. Im Walde, Op. 4, was the interesting piano selection taken as an illustration of his ability. This was followed by the works of Grieyg. He is reputed among musical critics as being the leading Scandinavian master. As an example of his able compositions the pianist rendered Prelude, Saraband and Gavotte from Suite, "Aus Holberg's Zeist." This was truly magnificient.

After giving several other pieces of his, she passed on to Sinding. Of his works, Fruhlings Rauschen was most appreciated by the club. Skabo, the woman composer, was drawn upon by the rendition of her Menuet. The closing subject was Ole Olsen. Of his compositions the' Papillons was a charming number and Fanitul, a most curious composition.

Howell Division Will Assist.

Howell Division, No. 97, Sons of Temperance, will be among the divisions which will assist Lincoln Division, of Elizabeth, in celebrating the thirty-sixth anniversary of its organization, this evening. A fine musical and literary programme has been arranged among the artists being W. R. Mattox and Miss Try Mattox, of this city.

Divorce Granted.

The Brooklyn Eagle of a recent date announces that on December 31, 1901, a decree of absolute divorce was granted to Eleanor B. Sniffin, (nee Suydam), from Frank C. Sniffin, Jr., by Judge Marean in the Supreme Court Special Term. The petitioner is well-known in Plainfield. The announcement is a surprise.

Will Make a Report.

Although the response to the query regarding the wish of the congregation at the First Baptist church in adopting the individual communion cup has not been large, the committee will make a report at the church meeting tomorrow evening. It is believed that a majority favor the individual cups.

Home From War.

Edson Day, of this city, who for nearly three years has been with the United States Army in the Philippines, returned home yesterday, his time having expired. He has not yet decided whether he will re-enlist or not. For the present he will remain at home.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

MASKED BALL OF GERMANS

WAS HELD AT SAENGERBUND HALL LAST EVENING.

German Beneficial Society Gave Its Annual Affair Which Was Largely Attended.

A kaleidoscopic view of men and women in fancy costumes met the gaze of one entering Saengerbund Hall last evening. Costumes, the product of a highly imaginative brain, in many forms and colors predominated. While it was the occasion of the annual masquerade ball of the German Beneficial Society, the participants were by no means confined to those born in the Fatherland.

Many of the assumed robes and gowns were fetching and all were more or less attractive. The sight was particularly fascinating when the majority of those attending were on the floor enjoying the merry waltz. In all there were about two hundred in the hall, and the great majority were masked. The affair kept up until the early hours of this morning, and while the music lasted the crowd engaged itself by taking part in the dances continually.

Eugene O'Reilly's orchestra furnished the music and it was especially good. Waltzes, polkas, two steps, lanciers, quadrilles, caledonians, schottisches, and variety dances all came in an equal share of attention. The musical features varied from "Go 'way Back and Sit Down" to selections from "Florodora." During the midnight hour a supper was served, Frank White being the caterer.

The committee in charge consisted of Henry Bergen, chairman; Charles Meyer, floor manager, John Wirth, August Wolff, Henry Rummel and R. Stensenberger, reception committee. A neat sum was realized and it will go into the coffers of the society.

THREE CASES REPORTED.

House on South Second St. Quarantined on Account of Scarlet Fever.

Jan Jensen, aged twenty-one years; Miss Jensen Jensen, aged sixteen years, and Miss Marie Jensen, aged seven years, son and daughters of Mrs. M. D. Jensen, of 963 South Second street, are detained at home with scarlet fever. The children had the disease for a week or more before it was discovered. Jan Jensen, who is employed at the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works, was at work for several days after he was taken ill. Dr. Norman H. Probasco was called and is now treating the patients. Two boarders, moulders at Pond's, were thoroughly fumigated and have moved elsewhere. The house is under quarantine.

Interment will be made in Fairmount cemetery, Newark, tomorrow.

Secured a Verdict.

The contract case of the Rockfellow Grocery Company against Mrs. Ida Demarest was heard before Justice Hand, yesterday afternoon. Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff in the sum of $22 and costs. The contention of the defendant was that her husband should have been sued. Lewis Clement represented the company and V. W. Nash, Jr., Mrs. Demarest.

Musical and Literary Programme.

A musical and literary entertainment will be given by Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, in K. of P., rooms, this evening.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. Randolph.

ing the second part, it would be difficult to select any one as being superior to the others. They were "The Heart of a Sailor" by Adams-Smith; "Cannibal Idyl" by Taber; and "Bugle Song" by Buck. The two former were very good while the latter was delivered with a true martial air.

The solo work, devolving upon Dr. Dufft and Mr. DeNike, was performed by them with the true ability which has made them favorites and, if anything, added to their professional success. The former received the lion's share of applause and was continually recalled. His first selection, a bass aria, "She Alone Charmeth My Sadness," from "Queen of Sheba," by Gounod, delivered in clear, forceful tones revealed to a certain degree the wide range of which his voice is capable. For an encore he gave "By Bendemeer's Stream," by Gatty, which was the favorite at least Thursday evening's subscription concert. His concluding numbers were Molly's Eyes" by Hawley and "Vulcan's Song" by Gounod.

Mr. DeNike's remarkable handling of the 'cello was enthralling. The pure, sweet notes, which eminated at the touch of his bow, conveyed the wonderful feeling instilled in them. He had been allotted five numbers in all but his remarkable ability called forth such an outburst of applause that he rendered by several more.

VENEZUELA'S WAR

Victory of Government Troops—Many Wounded.

WILLEMSTAD, Island of Curacao, Jan. 21.—Venezuelan advices received here say that the government forces had the best of the fighting at Maracaibo last Saturday, although Colonel Peralto, Colonel Fuenmayor and fifty men were seriously wounded. The government troops are pursuing the revolutionists.

Other advices say that the revolution is slowly gaining ground in the state of Lara.

For a fortnight 2,500 men at or in the vicinity of Barcelona and Cumana have been awaiting arms and ammunition in order to take the field against President Castro's forces.

The financial situation in Venezuela is pronounced to be hopeless.

Later in the day it became known that the insurgents who attempted to capture Maracaibo Saturday were adherents of General Hernandez ("El Mocho"), who is still kept in prison by President Castro. The revolutionists attacked the police post situated in the main street, where a fight which ended in the defeat of the revolutionists took place. There were "several" men killed and wounded, according to the latest advices, other reports making the loss quite heavy on the government side.

The revolutionists concentrated at Paraguana and near Vela de Coro appear, according to the reports which have reached Curacao, to have been defeated by the government troops.

The revolutionary steamer Libertador, it is now said, is among the islands near here.

THE STEAMSHIP TRUST.

German Delegates Promise to Maintain Autonomy.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—An official statement issued by the Hamburg-American line sets forth that Herr Ballin, a director of the line, and Dr. Wiegand of the North German Lloyd Steamship company will proceed to New York, there to continue the conferences begun in Cologne and London for the regulation of north Atlantic traffic.

The impression prevails among the officials of the German steamship lines that something very big in the steamship world is about to happen. They seem, however, to know as little of what this may be as do outsiders.

When questioned concerning the possible amalgamation of German steamship lines with American and British lines, Herren Ballin and Wiegand have clearly and positively said the pending negotiations did not remotely contemplate any merging of the German lines with foreign lines in the sense that German stockholders would surrender their control.

The talk for months past of American invasion and the absorption of German lines by the Morgan corporation has made German shareholders suspicious and curious about the conferences to be held at New York, so that Herren Ballin and Wiegand, while keeping their own counsel as to the particular objects they have in view, have nevertheless assured the German share owners that the autonomy of the German steamship companies will be preserved.

Hanna Gets a Peace Statue.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 21.—Because of the senator's efforts to bring about more amicable relations between labor and capital and because he was conspicuous in the recent conference in New York between a number of prominent capitalists and labor leaders a hundred or more of his friends in this city thought it fitting to give Senator Hanna some reminder of that occasion and its purpose. The gift to the senator was a magnificent full size marble statue of "Peace."

The Schley Appeal.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21.—Isidor Rayner, counsel for Rear Admiral W. S. Schley, has finished the draft of the appeal from the findings of the court of inquiry and has gone to Washington for a conference with the admiral. It is expected the admiral will be ready to hand the appeal to President Roosevelt tomorrow. The document contains over 100 typewritten pages.

Lived Without Water.

FAIRBURY, Ill., Jan. 21.—G. S. Dexter, sixty-eight years old, a pioneer farmer, is dead after a lingering illness. He had not taken a drink of water for over forty years, it is said, until this sickness came, when he partook of water with his medicines.

ONE CERTAINTY.

Some Plainfield People Fully Realize It Now.

When the back aches from kidney ills,

There's a certain way to find relief.

A sure way to be cured.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do it.

Plainfield people endorse this claim.

Mr. Robert Love, of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Brothers, grocers, of 257 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for eight or nine years—pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated it. At last my back grew weaker and any heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me adtional pain. In the morning my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures, but it was throwing money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper and, being in bad shape at the time, I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved and, continuing their use, all the pain left me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Dear Sirs—Two years ago I had very bad corns and callouses on my feet, I went to a chiropodist and paid him $5.75 for taking them off. In less than a month they were back again. I then tried your CORN CURE and used only three bottles, costing 45c, and am happy to say it has taken them off completely. They have not troubled me now for over a year. I consider your HEPBURN'S CORN CURE the best I have ever used.—Yours truly, R. O. RUNYON, 629 LaGrande Ave.

KEEP OFF THE EARTH

During the cold and wet weather as much as possible—that is, keep as much shoe leather between the soles of your feet and Mother Earth as you can conveniently carry. It's wisest in the beginning and cheaper in the end to provide yourself with shoes having good solid soles—cold-proof and water-proof, if possible.

We are selling exceptionally good shoes of just this sort for men and women; children, too.

Well built, with broad, heavy soles and with stout uppers.

They're a very paradise of rest for weary feet, and a paradise of economy for weary purses.

At one time I was obliged to subsist upon raw eggs and milk. Now I am relieved of constipation and loss of appetite and can now digest anything which I may desire to eat. I consider Ripans Tabules as a perfect remedy and have found no other medicine so prompt and mild in action or so permanent in its results."

Collars, Buckles and Chains Dear to the Feminine Heart.

Transparent collars are threaded with the narrowest of black velvet ribbons, as are also the lace yokes and fronts of some blouses. Nothing brightens up a gown so much as a handsome buckle, and among the richest are the portrait buckles with cameo-like heads of historical personages set in a narrow rim of brilliants. Renaissance buckles are also among the novelties. Indeed, chains, purses, combs, etc., are modeled on the renaissance style. They look very stunning on a black gown.

The La Valliere chains are most popular. This ornament consists of a thin gold chain, from which hangs a pendant in the shape of a jeweled flower.

A French visiting costume is shown in today's sketch. It is made of old rose wool veiling. The waist is made up with a yoke of velvet and a corselet effect of ecru lace. There are tucked bands of the goods coming from each shoulder to the waist line. The sleeves are full at the wrists and show undersleeves of soft lace. The skirt has a cluster of V shaped tucks around the hips, and lower down a similar V shaped band of tucking heads the flounce. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION WRINKLES.

White Cloth Costumes—Raised Embroidery on Dresses.

White cloth costumes are very fashionable for visiting. They are trimmed with fur, chiefly sable, and have muff and boa to match, the hat being also edged and trimmed with the fur.

Embroidery to be chic should be rather heavy and in dull shades of silk or wool. In some cases the leaves of the flowers are padded to give them the necessary raised effect. Sometimes also gold and silver threads are introduced into the pattern to lend it greater richness. The materials which are thus embroidered are either the material of the dress itself or canvas.

Today's picture shows a very neat tailor made of royal blue broadcloth trimmed with Persian lamb. The coat is made blouse fashion, with two stripped bands going across the bust. From these starts a series of perpendicular bands reaching down to the waist line both back and front. The belt is of the cloth, stitched. The skirt is made with perpendicular strappings running to within half way the distance between the knee and the foot. There is a long train. The turnover collar and revers are of the Persian lamb, and there is also a wide flare cuff of this at the bottom of the close fitting sleeves.

With this is worn a hat made of the same material and trimmed with two variegated bird's wings.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

The following day was spent for the greater part in making further inquiries in Hatton Garden, and among the various Dutch merchants then in London. The story the senior partner of Messrs. Jacob and Bulenthall had told me had proved to be correct, and there could be no sort of doubt that Hayle had realized a very large sum of money by the transaction. What was more, I discovered that he had been seen in London within the previous 24 hours. This was a most important point; and it encouraged me to persevere in my search. One thing, however, was remarkable. One or two of the merchants to whom Hayle had disposed of his stones had seen more of him than Messrs. Jacob and Bulenthall. Two had dined with him at a certain popular restaurant in Regent street, and had visited a theater with him afterwards. In neither case, however, had they discovered his name or where he lived. This secret he guarded most religiously, and the fact that he did so afforded additional food for reflection. If he imagined his old companions to be dead, why should he be so anxious that his own identity, and his place of residence, should remain a secret? If they were safely out of the way, no one could possibly know of his connection with them, and in that case he might, if he pleased, purchase a mansion in Park Lane and flourish his wealth before the eyes of the world, for any harm it might do him. Yet here he was, exciting mistrust by his secrecy, and leading a hole-and-corner sort of life when, as I have said, there was not the slightest necessity for it. Little by little I was beginning to derive the impression that the first notion of Mr. Hayle was an erroneous one, and that there was more in him than I supposed. This sentiment was destined to be strengthened, and in the very near future, by two remarkable discoveries.

That evening I again went for a walk. Feeling fairly confident, however, that the men who had followed me before would do so again, I took certain precautions before I set out. One of my subordinates, a man remarkable for his strength, was ordered to be at the corner of my street at half-past eight. He was to wait there until I emerged from my hotel, himself remaining as far as possible out of sight. On this occasion I had planned my route deliberately. I made my way in the first place along the Strand as far as Trafalgar square, down Cockspur street by way of the Haymarket to Regent street, then on by Langham place to that vast network of streets that lies between Oxford street and the Euston road.

I had some time before this found out that I was being followed again. The two men who had dogged my steps on the previous night were doing so again, though the reason for their action was no more apparent. However, I had laid my plans most carefully, and hoped, if all went well, to be able to satisfy myself upon this point. I had plenty of enemies, I knew, as a man of my profession must of necessity have, but I could not think of one who would pry upon my movements like this. At last the time came for action. Turning into a side street, I slackened my pace in order to give my pursuers time to come up. Apart from ourselves the street was quite deserted; and, if they intended doing me harm, was quite dark enough to favor their plans. I could see as well as hear them approaching. Then, when they were close upon me, I slipped my hand into my coat-pocket, and turned and confronted them. My own man was softly coming up from behind.

"Now, my men," I began, "what's the meaning of this? No, you can keep your distance. It's no use thinking of violence, for I've got you before and behind. Take care that they don't get awa Wilson!"

"Aye, aye, sir," man replied. "I'll take good care that."

"Let's 'out him,' ," said the taller of the two me and as he did so took a step towar me.

"Do you see this?" I inquired, producing my revolver as I spoke. "I am aware that it is not lawful to carry firearms in the streets of London, but when one has to deal with gentlemen like you, it becomes a necessity. Throw up your hands."

They did as they were ordered without demur. Then turning to the taller man I addressed him more particularly.

"You seem to be the leader," I said, "and for that reason I want to have a little talk with you. Your companion can take himself off as soon as he pleases. If he does not, let me assure him that he will get into trouble. Your intention to 'out me,' as you call it, has failed, as you can see, and when I have done with you I don't think the attempt will be repeated. Now get off, my man, and thank your stars that I have let you go so easily."

Never were the tables turned so quickly or so completely on a pair of rogues, and the man I addressed seemed to think too. After a whispered conversation with his companion, he walked away at his best pace, and we saw no more of him.

"Now," I said, turning to the fellow who was left behind, "you will come along with me to my office, and we'll have a little talk together."

Our prisoner would have resisted, but certain warnings I was able o give him induced him to change his mind. When we reached my office I opened the door and conducted h m to my sanctum, while Wilson followed close behind and lit the gas. He then passed into the outer office, leaving me alone with my prisoner. On closer inspection he proved to be a surly ruffian, and would doubtless have proved an ugly customer to tackle alone. He, in his turn, looked at me in some interest and then at the door, as if he were half inclined to try the effect of a struggle.

"First and foremost, do you know where you are and who I am?" I asked him.

"No," he said, "I can't say as ever I set my eyes on yer afore last night, and I don't know yer bloomin' name or what yer are and I don't want to."

"Politeness is evidently not your strong point," I commented. "Just look at that!"

Taking a sheet of note-paper from the rack upon my table I handed it to him.

He did so, and I saw a look of surprise steal over his face. He looked from it to me and then back again at the paper.

"Fairfax," he said. "The d—— Tec, the same as got poor old Billy Whitelaw scragged last year."

BOER WAR DEFENDED.

Secretary Chamberlain Defines Great Britain's Position.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The first important debate of the session began in the house of commons last night on an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne. While the amendment constituted a recognized part of the opposition programme, strangely enough it was not supported by a single front bencher. The debate, however, called out Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, who vigorously took the field in defense of the war. He made the significant statement that if, as Lord Rosebery's speech intimated, the Boers believed they could at any time secure a repetition of Lord Kitchener's terms he wished to inform them that they were mistaken.

Mr. Chamberlain added, however, that the government's programme was not one of extermination.

The Boers had already been offered terms whose liberality surprised even England's most severe critics. Since they had been rejected the government did not propose to embarrass itself with a further specific offer and certainly would not withdraw the proclamation of Aug. 7, 1901. It would not propose any general confiscation of property.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the magnanimous treatment of the soldiers of the Confederacy had been upheld as an example, and it had been suggested that the course of the United States in that matter should be followed in South Africa.

"I am willing to accept the parallel," said the colonial secretary. "While the lives of the soldiers were spared, no political conditions were given the Confederates, while their property was confiscated on a tremendous scale. I see no reason whatever to believe that an unconditional surrender would permanently alienate a conquered people. It did not in the case of the United States, although it did not lead to immediate harmony. But after a period which is a mere trifle in the life history of a nation it did lead to complete reunion."

NEELY TELLS HIS STORY.

A Somewhat Faulty Memory—How He Came by $60,000.

HAVANA, Jan. 21.—The examination by the government of C. F. W. Neely, ex-director of finances of the Cuban postoffice, in the trials of the charges growing out of the Cuban postoffice frauds will be concluded today, when the government will put witnesses on the stand to corroborate the accusations.

At yesterday's session of the court the fiscal asked Neely if he remembered writing C. M. Rich, his first assistant, in November, 1899, asking him to come to Havana, where there was a good opening and where he (Neely) was making over $50 a day. Neely said he did not remember writing this letter. He said he did not consider that the writing by Rathbone of the word "ordered" under the recommendations to the inspectors to be an order and that all orders should have been published in The Weekly Bulletin. The recommendations referred to were to the effect that Cuban postmasters should make monthly reports.

Neely said he had $60,000 in his possession when he was arrested in New York; that this money was not part of the postal funds, but was given to him upon his arrival at New York. He denied that he was interested in other businesses.

In answer to the government's claim that the reports from the Matanzas, Cienfuegos and Santiago postoffices showed that more money had been collected from the sale of postage stamps there than Neely had debited them stamps on the books Neely explained that Postal Inspector M. C. Fosnes on his trip through the island in 1899 sold stamps to the postmasters, that the postmasters sold stamps to each other and that it was impossible under these conditions to make the books tally.

Six Miners Killed.

WALSENBURG, Colo., Jan. 21.—A courier has just reached here from Pictou, a coal mining camp located three miles from Walsenburg, bringing news that a terrible explosion occurred in one of the mines operated by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company at that place in which six men were instantly killed and ten or more wounded, many of them perhaps fatally. The mine immediately caught fire and is now a seething furnace.

Bandits Accept the Ransom.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 21.—The United States minister, John G. A. Leishman, says the brigands who abducted Miss Ellen M. Stone and Mme. Tsilka on Sept. 3 have agreed to accept the amount of ransom raised by subscription. The place of payment is now the only question unsettled.

Disaster In Ireland.

BELFAST, Ireland, Jan. 21.—A wall of the Smithfield flax mills has collapsed, burying the operatives, who included many women. Ten bodies have been extricated from the ruins.

over to the Trenton House. There he procured a time table from the office rack, and returned to the United States Hotel. He was engaged for over an hour in looking over the time-table, but what particular schedule is unknown. At midnight he paid his bill. This is the last heard from him.

Justice Nash and Mrs. Kirch, his wife returned last evening, after an unsatisfactory journey for they had found practically nothing regarding him. They notified the police in that city, however. The Plainfield police authorities did likewise, and requested that he be arrested if found. Messages have been sent elsewhere but up to this time no trace of him can be found.

Mrs. Kirch, his wife, refuses to talk on the subject. He was married to her less than seven months ago, she then being Miss Minnie Star, of Tarrytown, N. Y. Her mother came here yesterday and it is on her advice that the wife is avoiding publicity.

Justice Nash, who is acquainted with the missing man's affairs, says that his business is all up side down, and that there is absolutely no system in his office. Everything which he has done, declares the justice, shows that he is mentally deranged. Justice Nash says that the embezzlement charge has been settled and that the man has nothing to fear by returning home.

Talked on Holy Land.

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, the rector, delivered an address on "Palestine" before the Girls Friendly Society of Grace church, last night. The talk was given in the guild room. Rev. Mr. Rodman grew the material for the interesting narrative from what facts he had gathered on his trip through Palestine. A large collection of photographs were placed on exhibition, and this made the lecture all the more attractive.

W. L. Hetfield Injured.

While passing along Watchung avenue at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., was felled to the ground by a heavy gate, which toppled over from the buildings being torn down on the old Rushmore property. He was assisted to his feet by a colored man, who took him home. The extent of his injuries is unknown.

Tomson, of Clinton, "Odd Fellowship;" Grand Sovereign Representative A. Grassman, of Jersey City, 'The Illustrated Work of the Order;" Past Grand Master Malcolm B. Wood, of Jersey City, "Growth of Queen City Lodge;" Grand Guardian William Pearsall, of Camden, "Praising the Deputy and Staff;" Junior Warden Chancey B. Bonnell, "Attendance;" District Deputy Grand Master George King, of Elizabeth, "Welcome to Queen Ctiy;" Grand Marshal Samuel Jones, of Camden, "The Membership and Wealth of Odd Fellows."

Robert E. Humphrey, as chairman of the reception committee, extended an hearty invitation to all to adjourn to the Hotel Plainfield, where a bountiful repast was served and other speeches were made by the officers.

The present membership of Queen City Lodge is 122. It was instituted ten years ago. The wealth of the lodge is $3,000. The membership of the lodge in this country is over a million and the wealth is $5,000,000. During the life of Queen City Lodge twenty members have died.

ONE SUSPECT.

Otherwise There Is No Change in the Local Siuation Regarding the Small Pox.

There is practically no change regarding the appearance of small-pox in this city. William Maze, a young colored man residing at 814 Richmond street, is a suspect, and he has been told to remain indoors for the present. It is not believed, however, that he has small-pox.

The free vaccination continued yesterday, there being a total number of over 1,300 to date. Yesterday afternoon nearly 200 persons were treated at the Board of Health office, 104 children at the Parochial School and 45 in the foundry at the Pond Machine Tool Works. Every afternoon this week between 4 and 5 o'clock there will be free vaccination at the Board of Health office.

In the case of William Maze, he was met yesterday on North avenue by Dr. Anderson. He told the latter that he was sick. At the time there was an eruption on his face. Dr. Anderson hustled him home and at once notified the Board of Health. The general opinion seems to be that it is a case of skin disease.

Recited at High School.

Richard Foote, of California, gave a number of recitations at the North Plainfield High School this morning. He rendered the life scene from "As You Like It," and Poe's "Belle."

Free Vaccination.

Undee the direction of the Borough Board of Health there will be free vaccination treatment at the Council chambers this afternoon from 3 until 4 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers, of Madison avenue, have taken up their residence in Brooklyn, so as to be near Mr. Rogers' place of employment.

NEW GOVERNOR INAUGURATED

the parade. Drake's Veteran Zouaves, was given the right of line in the second division, escorting the survivors of the Thirteenth regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, of which the Governor was a member during the Civil War.

Heading the line was a division of the National Guard, and among the companies in line was Co. K., of Plainfield, commanded by Captain W. Kempton Browning. A number of prominent citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield marched with the McKinley Club, of Elizabeth, in the third division. When the paraders passed the reviewing stand, the troops came to "present arms" while the men in the civic organizations doffed their hats in honor of the choice of the people in the recent gubernatorial campaign. Atlhough the line of march was short it was late in the afternoon, when the paraders were given the order to break ranks.

A public reception was held in the afternoon at the conclusion of the parade. In the evening a military and legislative reception was held, and all prominent State officials and politicians attended.

Early yesterday afternoon, prominent politicians from all quarters of the State began to gather and the corridors and lobbies of the principal hotels and the State House as well. The Republican caucus, Thursday evening, was the chief topic of discussion. During the evening the arguments of the rival candidates' supporters became more heated and many spent a sleepless night listening to this and that political prophet's idea of just what the caucus would and would not do when the meeting came off.

The members of the Senate and Assembly were "button-holed," but as a rule these men had little to say. Edward C. Stokes, of Cumberland county, is holding his own in the race. John F. Dryden, of Essex county, is being boomed strongly and his friends are making it warm for the candidacy of John W. Griggs, who is making a hot fight.

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING.

Trustees Elected at the Crescent Avenue Church Last Night.

The annual meeting of the Crescent Avenue church for the election of trustees was held last evening. President Charles Place presided and the seven trustees were re-elected as follows: Charles Place, Isaac W. Rushmore, Charles J. Fisk, George A. Strong, Wm. F. Arnold, Robert H. Cook and Ernest R. Ackerman.

Under the new rule adopted, Charles Place, Isaac W. Rushmore and Charles J. Fisk are elected for three years; George A. Strong and William F. Arnold for two years and Robert H. Cook and Ernest R. Ackerman for one year. The chances are that Mr. Place will be continued as president and W. F. Arnold as secretary and treasurer.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Wm. Heyl, of Stone street, is convalescent from a recent attack of pneumonia.

Miss Marjorie Fleming, of Park avenue, is still improving from a recent operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Hugh S. Miller, of Estes Park, Col., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Brooks, of Myrtle avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bauer, of Somerville, have been visiting Mrs. Bauer's parents on East Front street for a short time.

A $12,000 Residence.

Oakley & Sons, of Elizabeth, are the architects. J. C. Manning is the general contractor. The mason work will be done by Seaman Williams. The estimated cost of construction is $12,000.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Recommendations of Governor Murphy to the Legislature.

Gentlemen of the Senate and General Assembly—I have just taken the oath required by the constitution of the state of every one chosen to fill the high office of governor. I have taken it without any reservation, and, to the best of my ability, I propose to be faithful to it.

The provision of the constitution which postpones the inauguration of a new governor until after the assembling of the legislature enables the outgoing governor, from his larger knowledge and experience, to discuss in his annual message those matters which he regards as important to the state. The exceptional experience of my distinguished predecessor and his familiarity with the legislation and the institutions of the state have caused this to be done recently with signal ability and fullness. Later on I shall doubtless have occasion to communicate with you on special subjects, but at present it does not seem advisable to do more than to call your attention to a few matters whose importance has already caused them to be a subject of public discussion and upon some of which opinions have already been expressed.

Pollution of the Passaic.

The most important subject to which I can call your attention at this time is the pollution of the Passaic river from the adjacent population, which has destroyed the use and beauty of a noble stream and gravely injured manufacturing and property interests on its banks. To remedy this condition is merely to pay the penalty of crowding population. The situation which permits this violation of natural conditions must be replaced by wise legislation. The state's responsibilities extend to all its branches of government, and in this case the fact that political divisions do not conform to natural drainage makes it necessary for the state to provide for common action in sewerage by methods different from those which prevail in other functions of government. The regulation is partly provided for by the state sewerage commission act, and much preliminary work has been done. Legislation for carrying out the work is asked at the hands of the legislature. Six years have elapsed since the legislature first considered this question, and it is high time for final decision and immediate action. The fact that great injury has been done is made the more apparent by threatened suits for damages against cities discharging sewage into the river. Evidently a delay in legislation would cause litigation of an expensive and injurious character. The general method of state supervision on sewerage which has been adopted meets with approval. Each local community should be required to so regulate its sewerage as to avoid nuisance to adjoining communities, and the regulation of this subject through proper authority is the sole means of preventing disaster to the public health and of obtaining the best results for each. I strongly urge prompt action.

Changes In Election Law.

The state of New Jersey has an election law which has produced, upon the whole, excellent results. Theoretically and practically, if the voter so desires, it secures a secret ballot; it enables a voter to deposit his ballot with absolute independence. One hundred feet from the ballot box extraneous influence comes to an end; the citizen enters the polling place alone; he enters the booth; he selects and prepares his ballot without assistance or supervision; he knows, unless he so desires, that no one can know how he votes; his ballot may be the expression of his own conclusions and wishes.

But, however excellent the law may be, and I think it is admitted by all who are competent to judge that it is a great improvement upon former laws, it is still possible to make it better. I have said the ballot is theoretically secret. Experience has demonstrated that it may be so only in theory and that the ingenuity of the wicked is quite equal to the task of destroying its secrecy. The law now allows ballots practically without number to be in possession of all parties outside the polls, and it is not difficult to so mark these ballots that when finally counted they may be known. So long as ballots are allowed outside the polling places so long will the use of money at the polls for the purchase of votes be likely to continue.

I do not need to take nor will I take your time in discoursing upon the importance of keeping the ballot pure. The necessity of doing so is recognized by every thoughtful citizen, and the dangers and evil results of a corrupt ballot have been shown by a long line of sad and unfortunate experiences. It is in the interest of good government to make corruption at the polls impossible. It does not answer to make it difficult. Human nature is weak. It should be made impossible. It is easy so long as ballots are allowed outside the polls.

Two Plans For Improvement.

Two ways of improvement suggest themselves.

The first is by amending the present law so that no ballots shall be obtainable by the voter except from the election officer, and if the law should be so amended I suggest the Massachusetts form of ballot as perhaps the best form yet devised.

The second is the use of the voting machine in place of the ballot. I am informed that this machine has been so perfected that it is entirely practical and in those cities where it has been used it has given results that have been altogether satisfactory. The only objection I have heard to its use is on account of the expense, but with the large amount of money in the treasury that is not a serious matter. No expense is unwisely incurred that will make corruption at the polls impossible, and the expense might easily be met by appropriating from the treasury of the state a sufficient sum to provide each county with the necessary number of machines.

I also recommend to the legislature the amendment of the present law so that the polls will close at 5 o'clock. It may be said by some that this change was tried a few years ago and was found unpopular and the present hour of closing was returned to. It is true the experiment was tried and abandoned, but it was done for party reasons and not because a majority of the people were dissatisfied with it. If the law works well in New York—and it is so conceded—there is no reason why it should not work well in New Jersey. It is admitted by those who have had practical experience at the polls that a large proportion of the illegal voting is done after sundown. Crookedness of all kinds thrives better in the dark than in the sunlight, and it is for this reason probably that so many of the states have thought it wise to enact what is known as a sunset law. New Jersey should not be behind her sister states.

Primary Election Law.

I also recommend the passage of a primary election law. Our primaries are still under the conduct of party agencies. The existing provisions of the law not only permit but encourage the conduct of the primaries by the agents selected by the dominant organization within the party under which the primary is held. It will probably be conceded by all that an immense advantage is thereby afforded for the execution of any purpose that may have been formed by the party leaders and that the free and untrammeled expression of the party voters is well nigh impossible. It is currently reported and perhaps generally believed that in more than one case the popular will has been unable to express itself, the popular choice set aside, by practices and proceedings rendered possible by the methods under which primaries are conducted. This is a very serious matter. In order to have an election there must be a regular nomination. If the will of the legal voters within a party is defeated or controlled as to the choice of a candidate, the right of suffrage, the right of choice, is trammeled and perhaps altogether set at naught. The legislature has already given expression to the moral sense of the citizens of this state by attempting to regulate primaries. Violations of the statutory regulations are classed as criminal offenses, and the question now remaining is not one of moral sense, but of method. It is earnestly suggested that further legislation upon this subject be enacted, and it is recommended that the primaries of the two leading parties be held under the supervision of the regular boards of election and that the expense of holding the same be met out of the public funds in the same manner in which the expenses of the elections are defrayed, with similar penalties for any violation of the statutory regulations under which they are held. It is not forgotten that all laws depend very largely for their efficiency upon the persons who execute them and that unless the statutory provisions are complied with and any violations of duty are promptly and vigorously dealt with by courts and juries the requirements of statutes are of little avail. It is believed that the suggestions made will contribute in no small degree to secure results in which the voters will have confidence.

Finances.

The finances of the state continue to be in excellent condition. The receipts for the last fiscal year were $3,826,811.29 and the disbursements $3,480,350.28, the receipts over the disbursements being $346,461.01. The extraordinary disbursements included in the total and not properly charged to the current expenses of the state and its institutions amounted to the large sum of $1,134,063.55, leaving as the sum expended for the total annual expenses $2,346,286.73 and the amount of receipts over running expenses $1,480,524.56. The surplus in the treasury Oct. 31 was $2,351,683.17. The state is entirely free from debt, and this exhibit of the financial condition of the state is as exceptional as it is gratifying.

I am informed that the state receives no interest on the balances in the various banks, nor has it ever received such interest. Why I do not know. One treasurer has followed the example of his predecessor in distributing the funds of the state to the various banks throughout the state who have had at times large amounts on deposit on which they have made money, but for which they have paid no interest. This is all right for the banks, but the state is deprived of an income which every business man under the same circumstances would insist upon. If the average balance in the treasury is two and a quarter millions, an interest of 2 per cent would net the state the important sum of $45,000 a year. Some legislation may be necessary to provide a plan which shall authorize the treasurer to arrange with the banks for the payment of interest. If so, I recommend it without delay. If instead of distributing the money of the state to favored banks in various localities it should be placed, under proper safeguards, in a smaller number of banks of undoubted safety, an important sum can be earned for the state each year.

Disposal of Surplus.

The disposition of a portion of the large surplus now in the treasury is an important subject that will come before the legislature for its action. Last year a special appropriation of $800,588.25 was made from this fund for the purposes of public education and was used by the various counties of the state either in reducing the local school tax or in increasing school facilities. No better use of a portion, and a large portion, of the surplus can, I think, be made. The action of last year will doubtless be repeated this year, but I think other uses of the surplus can wisely be made. Too large a surplus should not be allowed to accumulate. It is larger now than a safe and conservative regard for the interests of the state require. It belongs to the people of this generation and should not be held for the benefit of the next. The people are entitled to receive the benefit of it now, and a reasonable portion of it may be used either in the reduction of school taxes, the repair and enlargement of the institutions of the state where such are needed, the substantial increase in the appropriation for public roads, which I cannot too highly commend to you, or in such other manner as the legislature may in its wisdom decide upon.

It may be remarked, and with justice, that the largest source of receipts—that from miscellaneous corporations and which last year amounted to the large sum of $1,630,574.19—is uncertain and is likely to vary from year to year with the general condition of business throughout the country. That is true, but I am not speaking of income, but of surplus, of money in hand. It is hardly to be expected that the income of the state, even in times of business depression, will not be sufficient for the necessary expenses of the state, and the extraordinary expenses may be adjusted from year to year, according to the condition of the treasury, without bringing hardship to the taxpayer.

The National Guard.

The national guard now consists of forty-eight companies of infantry, organized into four regiments; two batteries of artillery, and two troops of cavalry, composing two brigades and one division. The present infantry force should be enlarged. I think it wise that it be increased to five regiments of infantry, of twelve companies each, and that the artillery and cavalry remain as they now are, and that the headquarters of these regiments be located in Newark, Jersey City, Paterson, Trenton and Camden.

In each of these cities commodious armories have been built by the state at large expense, and too much money has been expended upon these buildings to permit them to be useless or to be damaged by neglect. That, however, is the smallest of reasons for urging their use.

The importance of a national guard of reasonable size cannot be disputed. We are a people given to ways of peace. The nation does not maintain a large standing army. The chief reliance of the people in times of war as well, in necessity, as in times of peace in upholding the supremacy of the law and in protecting public and private property is in a thoroughly organized and perfectly disciplined national guard. The valor of the sons of New Jersey, their patriotism and their sacrifice have never failed either the state or the nation. I regard it as of high importance that the militia of the state should be maintained in reasonable numbers and at the highest point of efficiency.

Hospital For Consumptive Poor.

I am inclined to bring to your attention the subject of providing a state hospital for the consumptive poor. If I have had any doubts of the wisdom of doing so, it is not because there is any question in my mind of the good such an institution would be to those afflicted with this disease, but for economic and other reasons. The dreadfulness of this disease (do I characterize it too strongly?) is not appreciated by the average layman. It is not so loathsome as smallpox, people do not fear it as they do scarlet or typhoid fever or diphtheria, and yet the statistics show that in the last twenty-two years in the state of New Jersey the deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis have been more than from diphtheria, croup, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, whooping cough, malarial fevers, measles and smallpox combined. If one has any of these diseases, he has a chance for his life, but if the grip of the "white scourge" ever takes hold of him, however gentle may be its first touch, it strengthens its hold month by month, never relaxing, never weakening, until the final end.

At least this is so with the poor. The rich, with their cleaner general habits of life, the better air they breathe, the better food they eat, stand a fighting chance, and if they take the disease in time and submit themselves to skilled treatment they may recover, but with the poor the bullet of the rifle pointed at the heart is hardly more certain. It is swifter, but not more sure.

It has been demonstrated that with proper treatment the disease is preventable and in its early stages curable—isolation, fresh air, proper food. But these are impossible to the poor.

That it is contagious is now as fully recognized as that under most conditions it is fatal. It is a proper subject for legislative investigation and action, and I am of the opinion you would be doing a lasting service to the state if you were to make a reasonable appropriation for the establishment of a hospital for this purpose.

Gentlemen of the legislature, you in your province, I in mine, are intrusted with high responsibility by the state we love. The history of New Jersey, the patriotism and sacrifices of her sons in the days that are gone, give us all just cause for pride in the past of our state. Her recent remarkable development and her increasing influence in the sisterhood of states appeal not less to our pride in her present. Let us dedicate ourselves fully to her service. Such at least is my determination, and in my work I ask the assistance of my associates, the considerate judgment of my fellow citizens and the favor of Almighty God.

PHYSICIANS ON SMALL-POX

Plainfield Clinical Society Held a Symposium on the Dread Disease.

INTERESTING PAPERS.

Members Thoroughly Reviewed All Phases of the Subject and Presented Interesting Facts—Meeting Held at the Nurses' Home Last Evening.

In view of the possibilities of and the subsequent devvelopment of small-pox in this city, the Plainfield Clinical Society arranged recently to give a symposium on the disease. This was given last evening in the Nurses' Home, Muhlenberg Hospital. Despite the terrible storm there were twenty-six physicians present, a number of trained nurses and a few invited guests. Many of those invited were undoubtedly detained by the weather. However, a most profitable and interesting time was spent and everyone felt well repaid for being present.

Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, as president, and Dr. Frank C. Ard, as secretary, of the society, occupied the platform. Dr. Hedges in a few words announced the object of the meeting and gave a cordial greeting to all. Papers on the small-pox disease were presented, each one being limited to ten minutes, which some took less time.

The first paper was given by Dr. J. H. Carman, who treated causes from a scientific standpoint, that part of medicine which relates to the disease, its cause, nature, etc.

Dr. Carman began by saying that the disease appeared in the sixteenth century and the Americans owe it to the Spanish for its introduction into this country. The speaker cited the fact that the disease does not discriminate, it attacks all ages, although less likely to be found among very small children. The well and strong are just as likely to get it and the disease is contagious in all stages. The reproduction of the disease is found in the postules, the dry scales that are wafted about the room and lodge in clothing and are carried about, sometimes it being years when the disease is developed.

Dr. Carman stated that the disease is prevalent at all seasons, but more so in the winter. His reason for this being that other germs are then resting from their labors. As regards epidemics, Dr. Carman said that the magnitude and severity of the disease is regulated almost entirely by vaccination.

The speaker said that, if carefully diagnosed, the disease is not a difficult one to determine owing to the peculiar skin eruption. He admitted if chicken-pox is taken for small-pox, and a patient is moved to an isolation hospital, physicians are likely to get into trouble. The doctor described the unmistakable symptoms of the disease, including the severe pains in the loins and the intense chilly feeling. Within three or four days the eruption appears on the forehead and wrists. In this disease there are more vesicles. When the desquamation period begins it cannot well be mistaken.

In conclusion Dr. Carman suggested a few don'ts which included the following: Don't make a snap diagnosis, don't fear isolation, don't be afraid to call your fellow physician and ask him to share the responsibility, don't be afraid to vaccinate everything in sight and don't fear to attend a case of small-pox if you get a chance.

Dr. Monroe B. Long gave the next paper on the treatment of the disease. He divided his paper into two parts, the prophylactic, or preventive treatment, and medical, that referring to the healing of the disease. The speaker thoroughly believed vaccination the only sure preventive of the disease and advocated the plan of making it obligatory in all public institutions, as well as in the army, navy and other large bodies.

He recommended in the treatment a large, well-ventilated room and the use of such garments as can be destroyed or that will not carry the disease. He also recommended great care in the washing of the face and hands and extreme care in nursing. He also cited as a diet such things as milk, toast, custards and a few other articles of diet that are cooling.

Dr. Frank C. Ard spoke of ocular compilcations. He spoke of the desquamation period as the worst for the eyes, as oftentimes pus forms in the anterior chamber, which results in blindness. Several remedies were suggested, including applications of carbolic acid and hot applications, as well as minor operations. He said that in France the per centage of eye trouble was reduced from 35 per cent. to 7 per cent. through vaccination. Later Dr. Ard gave his experience in a small-pox epidemic in the west.

One of the most interestinng and strongest papers presented was that the value of vaccination by Dr. Ellis W. Hedges. He began with the introduction of it by Edward Jenner 100 years ago, and he stated decisively that it does protect from small-pox, that is, true vaccination, when properly done on a clean arm with every precaution taken from infection. He said that thousands die from neglect in vaccination. The rule is to vaccinate until it refuses to take.

Dr. Hedges quoted the Chicago Board of Health, Dr. Welch, of Philadelphia, regarding the estimable value of vaccination, showing that the per centage of cases and deaths is very small where there has been thorough vaccination. In the opinion of Dr. Hedges it protects absolutely for at least five years. The speaker then went on and gave unlimited proof of the value of vaccination abroad, where it is compulsory. He showed that in countries where the law is the strictest the disease is less prevalant and there have been few deaths.

He spoke of the appalling loss of 23,000 by death from small-pox in France, where in Germany the deaths reached 200. In the latter country vaccination is obligatory. Dr. Hedges gave a great many figures to prove that vaccination is right, reasonable and safe.

Dr. William H. Murray presented a paper on the accidents and dangers of vaccination. He believed there is little danger, except in the case of a new born babe or debilitated persons. He compared the old method with the new, showing what advancement had been made in this treatment. He advised the utmost care in the use of virus and the instrument used and said that he preferred serilized gauze to protect the arm rather than a shield. If the latter is air-tight it sometimes makes the arm sore, and if not air-tight does not exclude infection. Dr. Murray said that in vaccination there are really no serious complications to be feared. He said that in a practice of twenty years he had three severe cases and they all recovered, and they were the result of other causes.

Dr. J. B. Probasco gave a history of vaccine virus and explained in detail how this is secured for vaccination. He gave the opinions of a number of physicians to show that vaccine points are considered the best and safest to use. He said that under present conditions it is absolutely possible to get pure virus and have it work successfully.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges treated quarantine regulations. He spoke of the disease being highly contagious and then went on to give the names of several States, including New Jersey, where quarantine laws are very strict. He said that through the courtesy of the Common Council the old Smock farm-house had been given to the

ABOUT NEW RECTOR AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Father Egan is Already a Popular Man in the Parish.

IS A MAN OF ABILITY.

SOMETHING ABOUT HIS CAREER BEFORE HE CAME TO PLAINFIELD.

A Genial and Witty Man—Possessed of Much Scholarly Ability—Came Here From Parish at Morris Plains.

Rev. Andrew M. Egan, who has succeeded Father Smyth at St. Mary's church, is a genial and witty person.

REV. ANDREW M. EGAN.

He is polished in his manner and is a man of much scholarly ability.

He was born in the Cathedral parish at Newark, August 21, 1855, and during his young days he attended the select school of Bernard Kearney, being a fellow student of Rt. Rev. John O'Connor, the present bishop of Newark. Subsequently he attended the Benedictine school, in the same city.

From there he went to the Christian Brothers' school and afterwards he became a resident of Three Rivers, Quebec, his purpose being to master the French language. His next course was to pursue a line of study at St. Charles' college, Ellicott City, Md., remaining there for a period of two years. In 1876 he was graduated from Seton Hall, and was ordained to the priesthood in the Cathedral at Newark, May 22, 1880, by Archbishop Corrigan, then Bishop of Newark.

His bishop sent him to St. Mary's parish, Bergen Point, where he acted as curate. Later he bceame assistant to Monsignor Da'Concilio, of St. Michael's parish, Jersey City. Some ten years ago he received the appointment of rector of St. Virgilius' church, Morris Plains. There he built up a large congregation and parish prospered under his administration.

Happily Bishop O'Connor chose him to succeed Father Smyth, and although he has been here less than a month he has won the esteem, not only of his new parishioners, but of the many Protestants with whom he comes in contact daily. Father Egan's assistant is Rev. John Farley, who was made the curate two months ago, after the completion of his work at Seton Hall.

Ready Responses.

The appeal for old linen to be used by the nurses at the isolation hospital has met with a ready response. Contributions continue pouring in and Inspector Addis is kept busy calling and collecting large lots. There is still more needed, as a great quantity of it is used.

Church Supper.

The women of the First Presbyterian church are planning to hold a supper in the chapel during the early part of February.

Mrs. William L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, has returned from a week's visit to Dr. and Mrs. VanSickle, of Princeton.

VACCINATION IN BOROUGH

HOW OPERATION IS PERFORMED BY THE AUTHORITIES.

Free Treatment to All a Success—Much Care Taken by the Physicians.

The Borough Board of Health continued its work of vaccination yesterday afternoon and in the short period of an hour and fifteen miuntes sixty-six applicants were proprely treated. Two physicians and a like number of trained nurses were in charge and they were assisted by officers of the health board.

Everything is sterilized, even the gowns worn by the physicians and the nurses are put through this process. The great majority of those vaccinated were little children and they were tenderly cared for. They were admitted to the ante-room of the council chamber and were placed in charge of Chief Marshal William Campbell. In turn one by one they were admitted to the main room where Miss Edith Anderson, a trained nurse, would bare the arm and completely sterilize it. Then the candidate for vaccination was permitted to go before the doctor after having been registered. There were two physicians, Albert Pittis and Arthur H. Dundon.

The arm was scraped after being rubbed hard, a cut about the size of a penny being generally made.

Miss Delaney, another trained nurse, placed the bandage and shield over the freshly made wound and the person vaccinated was allowed to go on being supplied with a leaflet setting forth the proper care of a vaccinated arm. Andrew Love, Sr., the president, and Dr. William E. Honeyman, the secretary, of the Board of Health were in attendance. In each case Mr. Love would inquire of the applicant his full name, occupation if any, address and the fact whether he had been vaccinated before. A record of the answers was made by Dr. Honeyman. These statistics will be preserved by the health authorities.

BOROUGH BOARD OF HEALTH NOTICE.

The Council chamber of the Board of Health, over Powers' drug store, will be open for free vaccination for all who may apply, Sunday, Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 3 to 4 o'clock.

SEMI-YEARLY TESTS.

They Have Been Started at the North Plainfield Public Schools—Their Objects.

The regular semi-yearly tests at the North Plainfield public schools are being conducted by Superintendent Wightman. This modern method of inquiring into the advance made in the mental development of the pupil has supplanted the old fashioned examinations, in which results largely depended upon the abiliity of the pupil to memorize.

The idea of the test system is to learn the power of the pupil to grasp a subject rather than his position as a storehouse of facts. It is claimed that the system developes independence in thought, and gets away from what is commonly called machine studying.

On Monday, February 3, the second term in the school year begins and those who have demonstrated sufficient development are advanced. Sometimes a pupil skips a class by this method, it being deemed desirable in some cases to advance him more rapidly. The tests will be concluded this week.

LOCAL TRUST COMPANY WILL NOT ORGANIZE

Rumored That it Was to be a Part of Prudential-Equitable Chain of Banks.

PLANS NOW GIVEN UP.

WAS RESULT OF ATTEMPT OF FACTION TO GAIN CONTROL IN LOCAL BANKS.

Chain of Banks Now Included in This Combination—A Rival One Started by Mutual Life, of New York.

Men concerned in matters of finance are greatly interested in a plan providing for a community of interests of many financial institutions in this section of New Jersey. It is styled the Prudential-Equitable chain and was started by the management of the Prudential Insurance Company. This company has taken this method, it is reported, of investing its surplus. It has, for some time past, been extending its operations in directions remote from the insuring of the lives of people, until it has become recognized as one of the most potential influences in the world of finance.

Another factor in the combination is the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York. The Prudential has gradually absorbed several banks in Newark and these together with other institutions will form the combination. There was some talk of a local trust company being formed to enter the combination, but this is now declared off.

The local company was reported to be the outcome of an effort on the part of certain persons to gain control of the stock of a certain banking institution. Providing this was done the other stockholders were to draw out and form a trust company. The plan eventually fell through as the control was not obtained. As an opposition to this plan, it is understood that another chain will be formed with the Mutual Life Insurance, of New York, as the head. It is claimed that this chain will be even stronger than the Prudential-Equitable chain.

According to the story told the Prudential-Equitable chain includes the Fidelity Trust Company, Merchants' Bank, Second National Bank, German National Bank, all of Newark; First National Bank and Title Guarantee and Trust Company, of Jersey City; Trust Company, of New Jersey, of Hoboken; Union Trust Company and First National Bank, of Elizabeth. In addition to these are included the Mercantile Trust Company and Western National Bank, of New York.

There is a rumor that the Mutual Life Insurance Company is to be allied with the New York Life Insurance Company, but this is denied and it is claimed that the two are strong opponents in the formation of chains. According to the opinions of those best able to express them within the next few years there is sure to be a consolidation of banking interest such as the world has never known. It is claimed that by this plan there will be a great saving in the operating expenses with an increase in business.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ELECTION.

League of First M. E. Church, Westfield, Held its Annual Meeting.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, January 21—At the annual meeting of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, held Monday evening, the following officers were elected: President, M. P. Townley; first vice president, J. H. Shiras; third vice president, L. M. Pearsall; forth vice president, Miss Lucy Fitch; secretary, W. S. Affleck; treasurer, G. R. Hanford.

Reports of the year were read by the various officers and showed the League to be in a flourishing condition, financially and otherwise.

Fewer Offenders Now.

The recent delaration made by City Judge Runyon to the effect that no more leniency would be shown violators of the hack ordinance has decidedly checked the practice. Since one offender was fined and the edict sent forth, not a Jehu has been arrested. The police declare the hackmen are now observing the ordinance better than ever before.

Until Pastor's Arrival.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis will continue to occupy the pulpit at the Seventh-Day Baptist church until Rev. George B. Shaw, of New York, assumes the pastorate.

NEARLY SEVEN THOUSAND

BOARD OF HEALTH'S ESTIMATE OF NUMBER VACCINATED HERE.

Many More Would Probably Be Vaccinated If New Cases Appeared.

As near as can be estimated by the physicians of the city, as well as members of the Board of Health, nearly 7,000 persons have been vaccinated in this city and the borough within the past two weeks. This includes those treated at the Board of Health offices, as well as those treated privately by physicians. To those favoring vaccination as the only preventive against small-pox, this is most gratifying. During the past two weeks several physicians who heretofore have disapproved of vaccination have been won over and they are now advocating it.

No doubt had the small-pox spread to any great number of families the proportion of the populace to be treated would be almost doubled. The Board of Health has come in for a large share of praise in its provisions for free treatment, thereby making it possible for persons in moderate circumstances to secure protection at no expense to themselves. This work will cost the city quite a sum, however, but the aggressive Board of Health is ably supported by the majority of the people in its wise provisions to prevent an epidemic of small-pox or any other disease.

HEALTH BOARD NOTICE

A physician will be in attendance at the offices of the Board of Health, in the Smalley building, North avenue, every afternoon this week from 4 to 5 o'clock, to vaccinate any who may apply and to inspect any former vaccinations that may need attention.

Chas. J. Fisk,
President of the Board of Health.

HAD A KNIFE.

Mrs. James Scott Says Her Husband Chased Her With It—He Denies the Charge.

Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, of West Front street, had a little misunderstanding last evening. In addition to exchanging their opinion of each other, so Mrs. Scott declared when she sought the assistance of the police, her liege lord chased her about the house with a knife. Patrolman Overbaugh placed him under arrest and locked him up for the night.

He was to have been arraigned before City Judge Runyon, this morning, but at the request of his counsel, Wm. A. Coddington, the case was adjourned until Saturday morning. Scott claims he was using the knife at the time the quarrel started and had no intention of cutting his wife.

Pipe is All Here.

The last sections of distributing pipe have been laid at the city disposal beds making the alterations complete. Nothing now remains to be done but to adjust the pipe properly and test them thoroughly. This is now being done and in a few days they will be covered after which the city will be asked by Gleason & Kiely to accept the work.

J. P. D. KIRCH FOUND ALIVE

Located at Hopewell and Brought Home Last Evening Almost a Wreck.

WALKED FROM TRENTON

Hopewell People Recognized Him From Description in the Newspapers—Telegraphed to Plainfield—Justice Nash and Mrs. Kirch Went After Him.

After a mysterious absence of four days, J. P. D. Kirch, of Somerset street, returned home last evening. Mentaly and physicially he is in a bad condition, and is too weak to give an account of his strange wanderings. He was located at Hopewell, yesterday afternoon, and word was immedately sent here to that effect. Justice Nash, who has interested himself in the matter, went at once to that place and brought the missing lawyer home.

Kirch can not be seen and his wife and immediate relatives are reluctant to give out any information. He is a sick man and requires the care of a physician. It will be some days before a rational account of his wanderings since Sunday night can be obtained from him. Dr. P. J. Zeglio, the family physicin, is attending him, and he has given orders to keep Kirch as quiet as possible. No mention has been made of the unfortunate circumstances to him by his family.

The accounts in the newspapers are largely responsible for the safe return of Kirch. Mrs. J. C. Harrison and her daughter, of Hopewell, had read the pathetic tale of his queer disappearance. The daughter chanced to see a man pass their home, and she thought from his appearance that he possibly was the much wanted man. The daughter told her mother, who quickly informed her husband. He speedily hailed the stranger and asked if he was John Kirch, of Plainfield. Mr. Kirch admitted his identity. He was welcomed to the Harrison home, and the Hopewell citizen slipped out and dispatched a telegram to Justice Nash saying that Kirch had been found.

The justice, in company with Mrs. Kirch, the lawyer's wife, repaired at once to Hopewell. When they arrived, Kirch had left the Harrison residence and was sauntering along the streets. At last they came face to face with him, and the scene of the meeting of husband and wife was quite pathetic. All three took the next train for this city, and Mr. Kirch was driven at once to his home on Somerset street. Since then he has been in bed, and an intimate friend declares that he is in a wretched condition.

It appears that on leaving the United States Hotel, at Trenton, Sunday night, Kirch walked all the way to Pennington, inquiring along the route for work. Being unsuccessful, he continued on to Hopewell arriving there yesterday afteroon. Everywhere he sought employment, but the reason for this is unknown to his friends. The tramp had weakened him considerably and when found by the searching party he appeared to be much fatigued.

DEATH OF MRS. CODINGTON.

Mother of W. R. Codington Died at Millington Yesterday.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A popular idea just now among the young women of the city is to wear a pretty colored bow on their left arms after they have been vaccinated. A few evenings ago a number of women with this distinctive mark were seen about the streets. Some prefer a ribbon of a red hue, while others show a preferance for any one of the hundred different shades usually worn The scheme is a great success for no one is inclined to bother the arm that wears such a ribbon.

Among the quaint and attractive books that came to the light at holiday times was the one on brown paper entitled "Ye Medical Student's Primer" from the pen of Miss Martha Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street. Miss Tracy is a student at the Woman's Medical College in Philadelphia, and it is easy to see where she found her inspiration for the funny poems on skeletons, drugs, germs and ancestrial trees. The illustrations are as amusing as the poems, most of them being of the effective, one line type. The little poem "Ye Frightful Germ" is a specimen of the amusing treatment of a serious subject.

"There are not merely lines, my child,
But pictures of those creatures wild
Men call bacilla, in ye air,
In food, in drink, and everywhere
They lurk; though small and innocent
They seem, on mischief they are bent;
Intending with what speed they can
To quite exterminate poor man.
So if while walking in ye street,
You chance one of these things to meet,
Into your pocket put your pride,
And run like anything to hide."

The book is edited by Miss E. C. Perkins, also a student at the Woman's Medical College.

ANOTHER RESIGNATION.

Geo. P. Dupee Cannot Devote His Time to Sewage Commission.

George P. Dupee, of Rockview avenue, has resigned as a member of the borough sewage commission. Mr. Dupee states that he is unable to devote the necessary time to the purpose which the work demands. The vacancy will be filled by Mayor Smalley at the regular February meeting of the Council. Mr. Dupee is the second member to tender his resignation, W. W. Howland having tendered his resignation a few weeks ago.

An Aged Tree.

George Taylor, of Elmwood place, who recently purchased a piece of property on Grant avenue, where he expects to build in the near future, had a sassafras tree cut down by Joseph Randolph. So far as can be learned it is one of the oldest trees in the city. Mr. Randolph estimates that the tree is at least 107 years old, he having counted that many rings on the tree.

Blocked Passenger Traffic.

The draw head of a coal car on an empty west bound train pulled out yesterday afternoon as it was passing the depot and caused a half hour's blockade of the passenger track on which it was running. The front bunkers were torn away and falling to the track narrowly escaped derailing the car.

Missionary to Speak.

Mrs. Booth, a returned missionary from Central Africa, will speak at the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday evening.

Local Talent There.

W. B. Mattox and daughter, Miss Try Mattox, of Webster place, appeared in an entertainment given last evening by the Sons of Temperance, of Elizabeth.

Don't Live Together.

Constipation and health never go together. DeWitt's Little Early Risers promote easy action of the bowels without distress. "I have been troubled with costiveness nine years," says J. O. Greene, Depauw, Ind. "I have tried many remedies but Little Early Risers give best results." L. W. Randolph.

ONE OBJECTION ANSWERED

DEFENSE OF METHODS OF ORGANIZED AID IN PLAINFIELD.

Will Act as a "Clearing House," Not as a "Charity Trust."

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In a recent issue, an editorial, on the wisdom of churches ceasing to give alms to the poor directing and allowing the Organized Aid Association to supervise all this work, stated "This plan will probably meet its chief opposition from those who feel that such a method of distributing charity is cold and heartless and that it would defeat the aims of the Christian people who desire the personal factor to figure in the work of charity. This is the only argument of any force that can be used against it."

Will you kindly allow me space to answer this objection?

It is not the desire of organized charity to relieve churches from their personal responsibility in charitable work. It would rather impose duties on them, and draw them into closer personal relations with those to whom they give alms.

The method most generally advocated by charity organization workers is that each church do its own almsgiving, but according to charity organization principles; with thorough personal acquaintance with those receiving their alms and with knowledge of what other churches, societies and individuals in the community may be doing for the same people. This can be done by co-operation with the charity organization society, whose aim is to be a clearing house for all charitable work, not to be a "charity trust" in any sense. A charity organization society should not dispense any charity whatever.

Far from advocating a cold and heartless method of giving alms the cardinal aim of charity organization is to build up charities to help people to help themselves, by means of personal trouble, by giving with material aid, the help of a sympathetic friend, to advise and encourage, giving alms without this personal touch is too often like pouring water into a sieve.

Other of its purposes are to win people to a fuller knowledge of the aims and methods and into the active work of friendly visiting; through careful investigation to work with knowledge to understand the cause of distress in order to know how to attempt its cure; to economise charity, and suppress pauperism by preventing dupication of charity by means of investigation and registration of knowledge gained; to give adequate relief, both material and physical, by the co-operation of charities. In unity is strength.

New York city's new tenement house cards are an object lesson of what united effort of organized charity can accomplish with legislation.

United effort could do much in Plainfield to lighten the burden of the poor by arousing civic interest in manual training schools; a park; public baths; better laws regarding deserting and nonsupporting husbands; and many other things.

Above all co-operation is needed in the constructive work that can only be done in the homes of the poor applicants by means of the friendly visitor, teaching the housewife to be good homemakers, and encouraging the husband to be a faithful breadwinner. True interest and friendship is the open sesame to the hearts and homes of those we wish to help and experience has proved that it does accomplish much.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Only two weeks left to secure bargains in clothing at the Star Clothing Company's store on West Front street. The biggest bargains are offered in men's, boys' and chilrden's clothing to close out the stock.

For those not having stable accommodations, Andrew Love, Jr., of East Second street, offers reasonable terms for boarding horses. He has a strictly up-to-date place with all conveniences. Call him up on the 'phone, No. 1474.

A big removal sale is now going on at the Paris Cloak and Far store, 326 West Front street. The new store will be located at 322 West Front street, and as the present stock will not be carried to the new store everything is being sold regardless of cost.

The ability to assume responsibility is an important factor in reckoning upon success. To be able to speedily and accurately fill a prescription is the keynote of the lucrative drug trade enjoyed by Thomas Armstrong, corner Park and North avenues.

The Union Furniture Copmany is a comparatively new firm in this city but it has rapidly advanced in the way of making friends and securing trade. This is done by employing strictly business methods and fair dealing. It shows one of the finest and largest stocks of furniture in the city at prices that never fail to attract buyers.

It is an immense relief for the housewife to know that she can depend upon the word of the merchants she deals with. Every one who has traded with Neuman Brothers know their word is good as gold. If they say the goods they sell are fresh and the best the market affords it is just so. At present they are speaking very highly of the Rockdale print and Rockdale creamery butter which are being sold.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY.

Manufacturers of Piano Stools May Locate Factory in This City.

It is not out of place to say that there is still another industry to be added to the already long list that are promised for Plainfield. A concern at Washingtonn, Warren county, being impressed with the fact that its present location is too far away from New York and the freight rates are too high, has expressed a desire to locate in Plainfield.

It is not known what inducements the officials of the company are seeking from Plainfield, or whether they are willing to come here, buy their own land and erect their plant at their own expense. However, if they really want to come here no doubt Plainfield can accommodate them.

The concern referred to manufactures of piano stools exclusively and it is said that the business is a very large one. A great many men are employed. It is not known whether the company has communicated with the Board of Health regarding the matter, but no doubt that body can give the company some assistance in establishing a plant in this city. Those who have heard of the intentions of the Washington company are sincerely hoping that the decision will be to build in Plainfield.

Outline Study.

The Endeavor Society meeting of the Crescent Avenue church Friday evening will be in charge of Wm. D. Murray, who will give an outline study of the Book of Amos. A cordial invitation is extended to all and every one is requested to bring a Bible and notebook.

Date Set for Turkey Supper.

Thursday evening, Feb. 13, is the date set for the turkey supper to be given by the Ladies' Aid Society, of the First Presbyterian church, in the chapel of the church.

Barbers to Smoke Up.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Lillian B. Scribner, of West Front street, to Clifford B. Noe, of Stelle avenue.

THE PARK CLUB IS GROWING

AN ADDITION IS PLANNED TO THE PRESENT CLUBHOUSE.

Demands for Room Are So Great That Club Will Have to Build.

The centre of social attractions this season is strongly in favor of the progressive Park Club. The club is enjoying an activity that recalls the early days in its history. New members have been received and altogether his season has been a most enjoyable one.

Contrary to predictions, the club has been a success, and will no doubt continue so. The reason for this is given that the club is a place not only for the member, but his family as well. Women and children have a part in the club life. It will be remembered that another club endeavored to maintain an organization without giving the women an opportunity to have part in the festivities. This club failed, as predicted by many.

With the progressive spirit that has characterized the Park Club management, plans are now being considered for enlarging the clubhouse. When the present building was erected in 1892, it was believed that it would always be large enough. This is not true, for it has since been decided that more room is essential. The plan as now proposed is to extend the building back thirty-five feet and make many important changes inside of the present assembly room as well as the lower floor. This will give a larger floor capacity which is needed when entertainments or dances are given. The lower floor will be enlarged to provide for a new pool and billiard room and also room for the introduction of other games, including the shuffle-board. It is also proposed to provide larger and better accommodations for the women on the first floor, a place where they can lay their wraps conveniently and not be crowded as at present.

To make these improvements the former method will no doubt be adopted. That is, certicfiates will be issued. There is now a small indebtedness on the clubhouse and all will be merged into one. It is believed that this indebtedness will be liquidated within a comparatively short time.

MEXICO AND CALIFORNIA.

Forty-Five Days' Tour via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the tour of Mexico only the rate will be $350, and for California only, which will leave February 25, $375. For itinerary and full information, apply to ticket agents, or address George W. Cold Comfort From Doctors.

Doctors say neuralgia is not dangerous. This is poor consolation to a sufferer who feels as if his face was pierced with hot needles and torn with a thousand pairs of pincers. A word of advice to him: stay indoors and use Perry Davis' Painkiller. The blessed freedom from pain which follows this treatment cannot be told. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Mrs. William Granatt, of West Fourth street, recently received from her son, who is in California, a cactus that is attracting considerable attention. It is twenty-three inches long, nine inches wide, one and a half inches at the top and two inches at the base. In many respects it is a curiosity and Mrs. Granatt prizes it highly.

Senator Reed should not be State Treasurer, nor should any other legislator be a candidate for office in the gift of the Legislature. The impropriety is manifest. The Treasurership should go to a business man, not a lawyer, and to one accustomed to dealing with large affairs. It should not go to any man who will not agree to require the payment of interest on deposits. The State should no longer lose this source of income for the sake of favored institutions.—Newark Sunday Call.

In refusing to allow the directors of the wrecked Middlesex County Bank to compromise and escape the payment of the full amount of the funds stolen by Cashier Valentine, for which they were responsible, Vice Chancellor Pitney has safeguarded to the extent of his powers the rights of the fleeced depositors. No sympathetic sentiment for the men, whose inattention to the trust imposed in them was responsible for giving opportunities to a dishonest official to continue a long continued system of peculation, has been allowed to interfere with the course of justice.—Newark News.

Senator Reed, of Somerset, formally announced his candidacy for the State treasurership in letters received by the Essex Assemblymen this morning. In his letter Mr. Reed said:

"At the suggestion of prominent Republicans, members of the Legislature and others, I have become a candidate for State treasurer, and I greatly hope for your support, and assure you it will be appreciated."

None of the local Assemblymen seen today would announce his choice for treasurer. but there didn't seem to be any particular enthusiasm over the Reed campaign. There is little probability that the treasurership will receive the serious attention of the legislators until after the Senatorship has been disposed of.—Newark News.

In order that he may not hamper the efforts of Griggs for the Senatorship former State Senator Robert Williams, who comes from the former Attorney General's home county of Passaic, has withdrawn as a candidate for State Treasurer. This leaves but two candidates in the field for that important office — the incumbent, Frank O. Briggs, whom Governor Voorhees appointed ad interim, and Senator Charles A. Reed, of Somerset county. It is said that Reed's candidacy will cut a very important figure in the Senatorial contest, and that he has the power to sway things. His well-known friendship for the South Jersey leaders would appear to the distinct advantages of that section's efforts to name the Senator.—Philadelphia Record.

Child Worth Millons.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird, of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. L. W. Randolph.

TAFT'S ROSY VIEWS.

Civil Rule In the Philippines a Success.

STRONG PEACE PARTY IN ISLANDS.

Governor Starts For Washington to Make Report Which He Says Will Be Encouraging—Will Return About March 1.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Governor General Taft, who has just arrived from Manila, started for Washington today. He will stop at Cincinnati, his home, en route. Discussing conditions in the Philippines, Governor Taft said:

"I wish the press would correct the impression that there is war on all the islands. The insurrection is confined to two localities, the province of Batangas and the island of Samar. Yesterday morning I received a most encouraging cable from General Wright, who is the acting governor in my absence. It was said that owing to General Bell's strong repressive measures the trouble in Batangas was being quieted. He further said that 700 rifles had been surrendered and that as there are only from 1,000 to 1,200 rifles in the province there is no doubt that Batangas will be as peaceful as any of the other provinces.

"I wish to impress upon everybody that civil government is a success. There is a strong peace party in the islands, and it is composed of the most influential men among the Filipinos. They are working earnestly and zealously toward bringing about happy relations between their countrymen and the government. They are doing all that is in their power to bring in the recalcitrant leaders. I have never been so encouraged as to the prospects of the Philippines as I have within the past three months. There has certainly been a great change in the sentiment of the people. They are beginning to appreciate the fact that civil government means better times for them.

"If you had seen the farewell receptions that were given me by the people on my leaving the islands, you would have realized that there was sincerity in the expression of the wish for civil government to continue. Before I left I received reports from the governors of the different provinces, and the tone of each report was most encouraging. I am encouraged, and I shall so report to Washington.

"There are thirty-five provinces capable of government. The only place where there is trouble is in the island of Samar. That is the most difficult island for military operations. There are no roads, and the troops have to use watercourses to follow the natives to their fastnesses, but we are all confident that it is only a question of a short time when the island will be pacified."

Governor Taft expects to return to the islands about March 1.

New Ohio Tax Measures.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—Two important tax bills indorsed by Governor Nash have been introduced in the legislature. One provides for an annual tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent upon the authorized capital stock of all Ohio corporations and upon the proportion of capital stock of foreign corporations represented by property or business in Ohio. All companies paying excise taxes are exempted. The other law increases the excise tax from one-half to 1 per cent upon the gross receipts of electric light, gas, pipe line, railroad, electric railway, express, telegraph, telephone and messenger and signal companies. It is estimated that the two bills if enacted into laws will yield not less than $1,600,000 in revenues.

Charged With Many Crimes.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Jan. 22.—A man said to be Melvin Hall, alias James Smyth, has been brought here heavily ironed, shackled to a deputy sheriff and guarded by two special officers. Hall was arrested at the instance of the Canadian authorities, who charge him with grand larceny, for which there are said to be several indictments, with attempted murder and with blowing up dwellings at Morrisburg, Ont., with dynamite. He was apprehended at Watertown, where he was living as a farmer. He refuses to go to Canada and has engaged attorneys to fight extradition.

Large Order For Locomotives.

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 22.—The Norfolk and Western Railroad company has just placed another order for new equipment. It calls for thirty locomotives of the largest class in use on the line, which has proved satisfactory in hauling heavy coal trains over the mountain divisions of the road. Fifteen of these are to come from the Baldwin Locomotive works in Philadelphia and the remaining fifteen from the Richmond Locomotive works at Richmond, Va.

Central Official Killed.

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Angus Brown, division superintendent of motive power of the Central Hudson railroad, was instantly killed at West Albany yesterday afternoon. He was walking on the westbound passenger track and started to cross the eastbound passenger track when he was struck by an express train which was about an hour late.

Brings Suit Against Medium's Estate.

DR. RIXEY PROMOTED.

President Names McKinley's Physician For Surgeon General.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The president has nominated Dr. Preston M. Rixey to be surgeon general of the navy.

Dr. Rixey, medical inspector of the United States navy, who is to succeed Surgeon General Van Reypen, was President McKinley's physician.

Dr. Rixey was born at Culpeper, Va., July 14, 1852. He is the elder brother of John Franklin Rixey, who for some years has been a representative in congress of the district across the Potomac from the national capital.

In 1873 Dr. Rixey graduated from the medical department of the University of Virginia. After a year's postgraduate course at Philadelphia he entered the navy as assistant surgeon Jan. 28, 1874. After this he saw service in many naval vessels in European, South American and home squadrons.

Since 1887 he has seen almost continuous special duty in Washington, but he was from 1893 to 1895 surgeon of the Dolphin.

In January, 1901, he attended President McKinley in a serious case of the grip, and during the succeeding May he attended Mrs. McKinley during her almost fatal illness in San Francisco.

Dr. Rixey always enjoyed the fullest confidence of the McKinley household.

In the medical profession Dr. Rixey stands high. In the city of Washington he has done some unusually fine work with the surgeon's knife.

Emperor William's Gift to Harvard.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The gift of Emperor William to Harvard university will be much larger than was at first supposed. The emperor's gift consists of casts and some bronzes, illustrating every phase of the German plastic arts from the Romanesque period to the Renaissance. The casts number several thousand, and their originals are to be found at Ratisbon, Nuremberg and Cologne. In fact, every city of the empire possessing anything distinctive or beautiful is represented. The collection embraces casts of monuments and sculptures and architectural casts. The entire cost of the collection will be defrayed from the emperor's private purse and is estimated at about 500,000 marks. Andrew D. White, United States embassador here, has written to President Eliot of Harvard university that the collection requires a special building.

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 22.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to burn the town of Shinnston, in Harrison county, O., yesterday. Several houses were set on fire at the same time, but prompt discovery saved the town. Trouble over illegal liquor traffic is said to be the cause, but there is no clew to the miscreants.

THE PANAMA BATTLE

Exchange of Prisoners Responsible For Disaster.

ALBAN'S SUCCESSOR IS APPOINTED.

Capture of Panama by Revolutionists Considered Impossible Because of the Large Government Force There.

PANAMA, Colombia, Jan. 22.—The exchange of prisoners was responsible for Monday's disaster to the government. From the former the revolutionists heard of the plans of the government. The Lautaro had no steam when she was attacked by the Padilla. This was due to her circulating water pump being out of order.

The Padilla, which had been painted white recently so as to deceive the government officers as to her identity, advanced unrecognized to a spot about 300 meters from the Lautaro. She then began firing at the Lautaro. The position of the latter prevented her from using her two big guns mounted forward, but she returned the Padilla's fire with her small after guns. Her gunner, however, was the first man killed, and the foreign crew of the Lautaro refused to obey orders.

General Alban, who displayed daring courage, was shot on the steamer's deck.

The death of General Alban is an irreparable loss not only to the isthmus, but to the entire republic of Colombia. In the field he was an active and fearless foe. In victory he was magnanimous almost to a fault. This is the tribute paid the late Colombian general by the press of the isthmus. He was a man whose praises were sung even by his enemies.

The surgeon and hospital corps of the United States cruiser Philadelphia, at Panama, were busy Monday rendering medical aid to the men wounded in the engagement. The Philadelphia is the only man-of-war at the isthmus.

The Colombian government is making every possible preparation both here and at Panama to repulse the land attack by the insurgents, which is momentarily expected. There are nearly 1,000 government troops at Panama, under the command of General Garcia.

General Garcia, a veteran officer, has been appointed military commander of the district in succession to General Alban. Senor Arjona is the civil governor.

The capture of Panama by the revolutionists is considered impossible owing to the number of government troops here.

The revolutionists are reported to be at Los Llanos, eight miles from Panama.

A spy sent by the revolutionary general Belisario Porras was captured here Monday. Papers were found upon him which compromise certain important Liberals.

The government has issued a decree conferring honors upon General Carlos Alban, who was killed in Monday's fighting in the bay.

From New York to Manila.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The United States transport Buford sailed yesterday for Manila with a large number of soldiers, including one battalion of the Twenty-seventh infantry from the Plattsburg barracks and one squadron of the Eleventh cavalry. The infantry consists of 12 officers and 414 men. The cavalrymen came from Fort Myer, Va. The squadron consists of 16 officers, 375 privates and 50 members of the hospital corps. On board the transport are also 22 recruits for the Twenty-seventh infantry, 4 for the Eleventh cavalry, 1 for the Eleventh infantry and 1 for the Twenty-eighth infantry, all from Fort Slocum. The soldiers are under the command of Colonel Moore of the Eleventh cavalry. On board were five members of the families of the officers of the Twenty-seventh infantry.

Four Killed by Runaway Train.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 22.—Four persons were instantly killed on the log railroad of the Lackawanna Lumber company at Cross Fork, Potter county. The men were engaged in loading logs on a car when a runaway train consisting of four cars loaded with pulp wood came dashing down the incline road and with frightful force crashed into the car upon which the men were working, killing the four men and smashing the cars into splinters. The place where the fatality occurred is on the side of the mountain, and the grade is seventy-five feet to the mile. The four runaway cars broke loose about a mile above the spot and had acquired a speed of about fifty miles an hour when they crashed into the log train.

Steamship Launched.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 22.—The Nevadan, the first of three vessels which the New York Shipbuilding company is constructing for the American-Hawaiian Steamship company, was launched yesterday. Miss Mildred Morse, the twelve-year-old daughter of President Morse of the shipbuilding company, christened the vessel. The Nevadan, which will be used between New York and San Francisco, will be so fitted as to permit of the burning of either coal or oil as fuel. She will carry about 5,300 tons. The other two ships will be named the Nebraskan and Texan.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Among the bills which were introduced in the Legislature at its brief session Monday evening, there were four by the representatives of Union county. Senator Cross had three.

One supplements the act regulating evidence in ex parte divorce proceedings, another amends the practice regarding contracts in both courts of law and equity, and the third requires keepers of the State prison, State reformatory, State home for boys, State home for girls to refuse to accept prisoners or charges when any inmate of such institution is suffering from any contagious disease until a certificate of the attendant physician has been given that all danger of contagion has passed. Requiring that the sheriff of the county from which such persons are sent to keep them in his custody until such certificate has been given, the time intervening to count on the sentence.

Assemblyman Newcorn's bill provides that any justice of the supreme court may summarily review any proceedings before any fire or police board or commissioners suspending, dismissing, retiring or reducing any policeman or fireman.

MORE GOOD ROADS.

Somerset county has demonstrated that, on one point at least, it keeping up with the times. Its Freeholders have just awarded contracts for the building of two more stretches of macadam roads. The movement in behalf of "good roads" is now well looked upon by the people of that county and the farmers are profiting thereby in material fashion.

Warren county has actually fallen into line and appropriated an amount necessary to build a few miles of good roads. The cause has been hard fought by the anti-progressive ones in Warren but they have finally been defeated and Warren has fallen into line, late but better late than never.

It is Hunterdon county which still remains lost to a realizing sense of the needs of its population. That county figures but little now in the industrial prosperity of New Jersey and it will be relegated to even greater obscurity unless the people of Hunterdon awake to the situation without delay.

While there is naturally some opposition against Senator Chas. A. Reed for State treasurer by those who have another candidate for the place, it is conceded by all that he is a very formidable candidate for the place. He has already been pledged the support of a goodly number of legislators and more are likely to be in line for him when the time comes. While the Senator possesses qualifications that will be of little value in that office, there is no question but he is prefectly fitted to fill the place.

A decision is expected tonight regarding the choice of New Jersey's next United States Senator, to fill the place left vacant by the death of Gen. W. J. Sewell. The long talked-of caucus of the members of the State Legislature is called for this evening and something definite is expected to result from the session. If South Jersey can unite its forces on one candidate, than there is an excellent showing of his election. Otherwise, it is sure to be either John W. Griggs or John F. Dryden.

Bayonne is soon to have a new fence separating the tracks at that point. The people of that city will do well if they demand at once that the fence be painted white. It will be remembered that Vice President Warren approved of that idea. If Bayonne called his attention to its new fence, perhaps the trouble could be averted now.

Bloomingdale's large establishmeut, in New York, was built up from a small concern (dependent on neighborhood custom) chiefly by liberal newspaper advertising, declares the Philadelphia Record. The manager considers both window display and newspaper advertising as indispensable to the fullest success.

Although the weather at the inaugural ceremonies at Trenton yesterday was by no means ideal, Governor Murphy and his friends managed to make quite an event of it.

CITY OFFICES.

Common Council Will Soon Hold a Meeting to Decide Where They are to be Located.

There was some talk of a special meeting of the Common Council for tomorrow evening, but the chances are it will not be held until Monday evening, the time being too short to issue a call for this week. The meeting will be called especially for the purpose of deciding whether there shall be a change in the city offices from the present location to the Smalley building on North avenue.

When the meeting is held the committee having the matter in charge will make a report. As yet it is not known what that report will be, but in justice to the parties interested it is considered only fair that the question be decided as soon as posisible. If the Council is going to move, Mr. Coward wants to know it so that he may arrange to lease his offices. If the Council is not to move, Smalley Brothers want to know it so that they can look for other tenants.

Another matter which will probably come before the Council will be a request from the Board of Heatlh for an appropriation to meet the expenses attendant upon the recent extra work.

MORE WIRES UNDERGROUND.

Believed That This Year Will See Fire Alarm Wires There Too.

Among the improvements proposed for the coming year in this city is the continuance of the work of placing the electric light and telephone wires underground. Much progress has been made thus far in this work and both companies hope to make greater headway this year.

It is also in the line of possibilities that the fire alarm wires may be placed underground this year. This is urged by Chief Doane, of the fire department, and favored by many other officials.

JUST EIGHTEEN.

Event Was Celebrated With Party for Miss Bessie Martin.

In honor of her eighteenth birthday a party was given to Miss Bessie Martin, at her home on Jackson avenue, last evening. There were thirty guests present, a number of them being from Somerville, Raritan and Scotch Plains. Music and dancing were the features of the occasion.

The parlors were decorated with flowers, the color effect being pink and white. Mrs. Horace J. Martin and Mrs. Lynn Woolley received. Refreshments were served during the evening. Miss Martin received a number of handsome presents in remembrance of the occasion.

Installation of Officers.

At the regular meeting of St. Patrick's Alliance to be held this evening, the recently-elected officers will be installed after which an entertainment and smoker will be given. The committee to be in charge has arranged a lengthy programme and promises an excellent time.

Lunch-Box Social.

The Retail Clerks' Association will hold a lunch-box social in the rooms on West Front street Thursday evening. Friends of the association will be invited to attend.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

NEW MARKET.

Mrs. Mary Runyon, an aged widow resident of this place, was buncoed out of a small sum of money Monday in a clever manner by a stranger who has departed for parts unknown. Monday this man called on Mrs. Runyon as the representative of a writing paper concern. When he found he could not sell her anything he unfolded to her a scheme which would greatly benefit her in a pecuniary way. Mrs. Runyon drew three envelopes from a package the man had and found they contained $7. Then the stranger persuaded her to get $13, which was all she had in the house, to invest in the lottery. He took the $13 and the $7 which Mrs. Runyon had drawn and placed them in an envelope which he seemingly gave to her, telling her to lay it away until he should call again in the afternoon. The envelope was then to contain a larger sum of money than at first. This sum was to be divided between the two. As the man did not appear at the appointed time Mrs. Runyon opened the envelope, which was of course empty. It is said several others were nearly taken in by the clever rascal.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Scotch Plains came near having a mad dog scare yesterday afternoon. A hound dog, belonging to John Rikerson, of Bartle avenue, began acting strangely and his owner became afraid that the animal had the rabies. The dog broke its rope and started for the village, closely followed by Rikerson. The animal was corralled in William Corey's yard and shot by a passing driver who happened to have a revolver. The dog was probably only suffering from a fit, but his owner thought it would be better to shoot the animal than to run the risk of its biting anyone.

Miss Kennedy, of East Front street, entertained a few of her friends at the home of Mrs. Charles N. Flanders, Monday night. The several pleasant hours were given up to music and games. During the evening refreshments were served and the pleasant event was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

MORE FREE VACCINATION

CITY BOARD OF EDUCATION HAS ARRANGED FOR IT AT SCHOOLS.

Written Consent of Parents Will First be Required—Most of Children Have Been Vaccinated.

Careful investigation made by Superintendent Maxson and the teachers, shows that the greater part of the children in the city schools have now been vaccinated. In some classes every pupil has been vaccinated, although in some cases the vaccination was done some years ago. In order to secure, if possible, the vaccination of the small remainder, the school department has arranged to have the medical examiners at each school next week to vaccinate free of charge all children whose parents give their consent. No child will be vaccinated without the definite written consent of each parent.

Superintendent Maxson is now arranging to send out cards for the signature of all parents of children who are still unvaccinated. The same carefulness, delicacy and consideration will be exercised in the operation that would be in the physician's own office.

In the higher grades, opportunity will be given for revaccination of those who were vaccinated more than five years ago, or whose vaccination did not take. It is believed that all such would be safer if revaccinated, but for these also, a definite written consent of the parent will be required. All the vaccinations will be free of cost to the parent.

CHIEF IN BED.

Marshal Campbell is Off Duty on Account of Vaccination.

Vaccination has proven to be hard on the system of Chief Marshal Campbell, of the borough. Ordinarily the chief is looked upon as an unusually strong man, but the tiny scrapping attending this preventive treatment has had the effect of making him bedfast.

Last night the chief felt much pain in his arm and retired earlier than usual. During the night he was quite ill, but showed improvement this morning. The attending physician says there is no cause for alarm, and the trouble is something that might be expected.

TOO MUCH RAIN.

Martha Washington Council's Dime Social Was, Therefore, Postponed.

The dime social and entertainment, which was to have been given last evening by Martha Washington Council, D. of A., was postponed for two weeks owing to the inclement weather. Those who were present in K. of P. hall were entertained with an informal programme of vocal solos given by the Misses Hattie and Fannie Eger, Mrs. John Manley and Harry Eger.

NATIONAL BANKS.

Comptroller's Report Shows Industrial Prosperity.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Mr. William Barret Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, has made the following statement:

"The summary of the reports of the condition of the national banks at the close of business Dec. 10, 1901, shows the business of the banks to be in a highly satisfactory condition and sets a new high record in aggregate resources, individual deposits, capital and surplus. At the time of the last report, Sept. 30, 1901, these items had reached the highest point ever known, but the reports of Dec. 10 show a still further rise.

"The aggregate resources show an increase of $27,383,341 since Sept. 30, 1901, and $580,640,942 since Dec. 13, 1900, the total now reaching the enormous sum of $5,722,730,635. The individual deposits increased $36,664,732 since the last report and $340,420,443 during the last year, the total now being $2,964,417,965. The capital stock increased since Sept. 30, 1901, by $9,998,784 and for the year by $32,987,259.

"The surplus and undivided profits increased $18,333,171 since Sept. 30, 1901, and $45,002,018 since Dec. 13, 1900. The total capital, surplus and undivided profits on Dec. 10, 1901, was $1,114,235,943."

IMPORTANT SURRENDER.

Insurgent Leader In Batangas Yields Unconditionally.

MANILA, Jan. 22.—The insurgent leader Briccio Laque and his entire command surrendered unconditionally to the American military authorities Jan. 20 in Batangas province. Laque's command had become so scattered that it was unable to hold out any longer. Laque thinks that a number of his men have fled into Cavite province. He has been given one week to round up and hand over his entire party to the Americans. His command has been operating independently in the neighborhood of Mount Macolod, in Batangas province, Luzon.

Captain Benjamin M. Hartshorne, Jr., of the Seventh infantry was shot from ambush and killed Jan. 2 in the eastern part of the island of Samar. Captain Hartshorne was recently transferred from the Ninth to the Seventh infantry.

Owing to the lack of telegraphic communication in Samar the news of Captain Hartshorne's death came by mail in a report from Second Lieutenant George W. Wallace of the Ninth. Lieutenant Wallace gives no further particulars of the occurrence.

Rich Pay Dirt Found.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 22.—The steamer Amur has arrived from Skaguay. She brought news that rich pay dirt has been found running from 4 to 7 cents to the pan on Good Pasture creek. A stampede has taken place. Circle City is deserted. Good Pasture is a tributary of the Chiloa, which flows into the Tanana. Another rich strike has been made on No. 27 claim, El Dorado, where the second bedrock has been reached. Pans ranging in value from $1 to $5 have been taken out. Two prospectors have arrived at Haines Mission with $10,000 as a result of two weeks' work on Mush creek. These miners, A. Bronson and J. F. Miller, would not give the location of their find. At Dawson great interest centers in the Koyukuk, where rich finds have been made. Many are going from Dawson despite the hardships and heavy cost of provisions in the Koyukuk.

Cashier's Mysterious Death.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 22.—John L. Pearce, thirty years of age, prominent in society in Norfolk and cashier of the Standard Oil company's branch here, was found dead by a newsboy. The body was in a small skiff in Roanoke dock. No possible clew as to the cause of Mr. Pearce's presence in that locality has been found.

The Sultan's Astrologer.

The sultan of Turkey's imperial astrologer, a Greek named Kumbaris, is a worthy representative of the prevalent blend of superstition and abysmal ignorance which characterizes Abdul Hamid's court. This worthy had on one occasion the brilliant idea of erecting a modern astronomical observatory in Yildiz Kiosk. When the work was finished and the instruments in place he found he could neither work nor understand them, and consequently a professional astronomer had to be summoned from Naples. This, however, did not diminish the influence of Kumbaris, who succeeded in preventing the distribution of Mauser rifles among the imperial troops in Constantinople, in 1895, at the first news of Armenian disturbances by the sage reminder that the the previous change in the succession took place immediately after a distribution of new guns. The sincerity of this wonderful piece of advice cannot be doubted, as the self-sacrificing genius who offered it to his worthy rose from his sick bed to do so.—Washington Times.

Hop-Toads as an Edible.

A scandal has been caused in Paris by the discovery that the commercial supply of frogs' legs is largely adulterated with corresponding parts of hop-toads. It appears that frog hunters, who pursue the saltatory game in the swamps about Montmorency, Vincennes, Boulogne, and other suitably moist neighborhoods, have been unable to resist the temptation offered by so convenient and easily-captured a relative as the everyday toad, the result being that a large percentage of the so-called frogs' legs sold in the French metropolis are said to be, in reality, toads' legs. The expert in such matters is not easily deceived. He recognizes the hind legs of the undeniable frog by the whiteness of the flesh, those of the toad being yellowish. But everybody cannot be expected to know the difference, and it is painful to think that the notion of the ignorant Englishman, who for generations has called the Frenchman "Johnny Crapaud," should find a basis of fact in his traditional accusation of toad-eating.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Tobacco in High Places.

Though Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is a nonsmoker and a disbeliever in the weed, the cabinet has a large majority of smokers. The chancellor's companions in abstinence are Lord Salisbury and Arthur Balfour, who are both innocent of tobacco. Mr. Ritchie smokes an occasional cigarette, but is practically an abstainer. On the other hand, Mr. Chamberlain, the duke of Devonshire, and their colleagues in the cabinet all enjoy the cigarette or cigar. The secretary for the colonies is probably the most persistent and habitual smoker among the cabinet ministers. He prefers a cigar—unlike his son, who cultivates the more modern taste for cigarettes.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A New Jersey commuter relates that an intelligent old German, a friend of his, earnestly urged him, when crossing on the ferryboat, to keep his distance, because, the old man said, he had "the grip," and whoever talked with him would be sure to catch it. A few days later the old gentleman was seen again as good as new, and when appealed to to know what the doctor had done for him to set him up so quickly, said he did not have a doctor at all but used Ripans Tabules. He said they were just a wonderful medicine. He was not the first man who has learned that Ripans Tabules are what people require who have the grip, who have had the grip or are expecting to have the grip.

THREE NEW STYLES.

France, Germany and England at Odds Concerning the Modes.

Three distinct styles are being pushed forward for precedence by the modistes of three countries, and an interesting question is, Which will win? In France the determination is that we must adopt the Eugenie modes, which demand twice as much material as the close and severely simple skirt of today. So the Parisian dressmakers are employing every device to bring about this result. The Berlin modistes are not second to those of Paris in designing elegant garments, and Berlin is determined that we shall adopt the empire, with its short waist and long narrow skirt. England still favors the close and becoming shapes and tailored forms, which have become almost inseparably connected with the English woman. America in consequence has an almost cosmopolitan style particularly her own made up of what is best in all these other modes.

While it is true that too many of our women follow blindly the Paris fashions, there are numerous others who seek something peculiar to their own style and figure. Thus we have all that is best and most artistic. And so it happens that we have gowns with flounces, empire robes and princess shapes, all fashionable and all handsome. Perhaps the empire gowns are the least desirable, for not many women look well in them. But when one does, she is a "dream of beauty."

I found today in one of our largest and most important houses a dinner dress in which all the striving styles are most admirably combined. The short waisted effect is produced by narrow graduated tucks which mold the dress to the waist outlines in a graceful manner.

A deep lace and chiffon bertha effect is produced around the neck, and from that to the bottom of the skirt are two lines of the new passementerie motifs done in lace and chenille on chiffon. They are made separate and are sewed on at will. They make an effective trimming. The dress itself is of the new printed liberty, lined with taffeta in the prevailing tint in the liberty, which in this instance is faint purple and green, representing fleurs-de-lis with the petals all broken off from the stem and scattered among the crushed and bent leaves. Some of the designs on this new printed liberty are exquisite and could have been done by no one not a real artist. The upper part of the gown being suggestive of the empire shape, the waist is formed into a princess by the tucks, and the bottom of the skirt has the flounces to recall the days so longed for by the manufacturers. But these flounces are made of black chiffon and are edged with hello gauze ribbons. So are all the ruffles at the waist and sleeves. These sleeves are as composite as is the rest of the gown.

I have been thus particular in giving a description of this dinner dress as it is one of those leaders in styles which can be adopted for a very general use, and it would be very pretty in the new cotton goods which are now being shown charily or in thin and sheer material with chantilly or some light lace, white or ecru, as garniture.

Much stress is laid on the mercerized cottons, and with reason, for they are as pretty as silks and have all the luster without the high price. They also wear better and offer effects that no other cotton goods can approach in point of beauty. Very many of the ginghams of all kinds and chambrays are mercerized, a fact of importance to those who like a richer effect than the plain goods can afford.

In the more expensive summer goods are silk lace net mull, something new and desirable; silk dotted grenadine stripes, "likesilks," many of them in high art Persian effects and designs, and silk crape grenadines. Mercerized silk poplins are entirely new and have an incredible richness and sumptuousness. Mercerized sateens are also very rich in appearance, and they wear well. The rich bloom does not rub off. A dress made of this material has all the luster of the best silk and costs but a mere trifle in comparison.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

"I certainly believe I had that honor," I returned, "and it's just possible, if you continue in your present career, that I may have the pleasure of doing the same for you. Now, look here, my man, there's some one else at the back of this business, and what I want to know is, who put you up to try your hand upon me? Tell me that, and I will let you go and say no more about it. Refuse, and I must try and find some evidence against you that will rid society of you for some time to come. Doubtless it will not be very difficult."

He considered a moment before he replied.

"Well," he said, "I don't know as how I won't tell you, a seein' you're who yer are, and I am not likely to get anything out of the job. It was a rare toff who put us on to it. Silk hat, frock-coat, and all as natty as a new pin. He comes across us down in the Dials, stood us a couple of drinks, turfed out a suvring apiece, and then told us he wanted the gentleman at Rickford's hotel laid by for a time. He told us 'ow yer were in the habit of going about the streets at night for walks, and said as 'ow he would be down near the hotel that evenin' and when yer came out, he would strike a match and light a smoke just ter give us the tip like. We wos to foller yer, and so do the job wherever we could. Then we was to bring your timepiece to him at the back of St. Martin's church in the Strand at midnight, and he would pay us our money and let us keep the clock for our trouble. Oh, yes, 'e's a deep un, jost take my tip for it. He knowed that unless we 'outed' yer properly, we'd not be able to get at your fob, and then 'e'd not have paid out."

"I see, and not being successful on your first attempt, you followed me again to-night, of course by his instructions as before?"

"That's so, guvner," the man replied, "but I reckon we ain't agoin' to see any money this trip. If I'd ha' knowed who you was, I wouldn't a taken this job in hand, not for no money."

"That is where so many of you go wrong," I said. "You fail to make sufficient inquiries before you commence business. And I understand you to say that the gentleman who put you up to it is to be at the back of St. Martin's church to-night?"

"Yes, sir, that's so," said the fellow. "He'll be there all right."

"In that case I think I'll be there to meet him," I continued. "It's a pity he should not see some one, and I suppose you will not keep your appointment?"

"Not if I knows it," the man answered. Then he added, regretfully: "A regular toff—he was—free with his rhino as could be, and dressed up to the nines. He chucked his 'arf soverings about as if they were dirt, he did."

"It is sad to think that, through your folly, no more of them will find themselves into your pocket," I said. "You should have done the trick last night, and you would now be in the full enjoyment of your wealth. As it is you have had all your trouble for nothing. Now, that's all I want to say to you, so you can go and join your amiable companions as soon as you like. Just one word of advice, however, before you depart. Don't go near St. Martin's church to-night, and, when you want to kick another unoffending citizen to death, be sure of your man before you commence operations."

As I said this I rang the bell and told Wilson to show him out, which he did

"Now," I said to myself after he had gone, "this looks like developing into an affair after my own heart. I am most anxious to discover who my mysterious enemy can be. It might be Grobellar, but I fancy he is still in Berlin. There's Tremasty, but I don't think he would dare venture to England. No, when I come to think of it, this business does not seem to belong to either of them."

I took from my pocket the watch which was to have played such an important part in the drama and consulted it. It was just half-past eleven, therefore I had exactly half an hour to get to the rendezvous. I called Wilson and congratulated him on the success which had attended our efforts of that evening.

"It's a good thing you came out of it so well, sir," he said. "They were a nasty pair of chaps, and would have thought as much of 'outing' you as they would of drinking a pot of ale."

"But thank goodness, they didn't succeed," I replied. "As the saying goes, 'a miss has never killed a man yet.' And now, Wilson, you'd better be off home to bed. Turn out the gas before you go. Good night!"

"Good night, sir," he answered, and then I put on my hat and left the office.

I found when I stepped into the street that the character of the night had changed. Thick clouds obscured the sky, and a few drops of rain were falling. At first I felt inclined to take a cab, but on second thoughts I changed my mind, and putting up my umbrella strode along in the direction of St. Martin's church.

The theaters were over by this time, and the streets were beginning to grow empty. I passed the Gaiety where a middle-aged gentleman, decidedly intoxicated, was engaged in a noisy altercation with a policeman, who was threatening to take him to Bow street if he did not go quietly home, and at last approached the spot for which I was making. I took up my position on the darker side of Holywell street, and waited. So far I seemed to have the thoroughfare to myself, but I had still some three or four minutes to wait.

At last midnight sounded, and as I heard it I concealed myself more carefully in my doorway and watched. I was not to be kept long in suspense, for the new day was scarcely three minutes old when a hansom drove up to the other side of the church, and a man alighted. He paid off the man and wished him good night, and then came along the roadway at the back of the church. From where I stood I could see his figure distinctly, but was not able to distinguish his face. He was dressed in a black cloak, and wore a deer-stalker hat upon his head. That he was the man I wanted I felt sure, for what would anyone else be doing there at such an hour? That he was surprised at not finding his bravoes awaiting him was very certain, for he looked up the street, down the street, peered into Holywell street, where, thank goodness, he did not see me, then along the Strand in a westerly direction, and afterwards came and took up his position within half a dozen paces of where I was hidden. Presently he took a cigar case from his pocket, opened it, selected a weed, and struck a match to light it. The flame illumined his face so that I could see it distinctly. If I had not had myself well under control, I believe I should have uttered an exclamation of surprise that could not have failed to attract attention. The man who had set those rascals on to try and get rid of me was none other than Mr. Edward Bayley, the managing director of the Santa Cruz Mining company of the Argentine Republic!

Here was a surprise indeed! What on earth did it all mean?

LODGE OPENS DEBATE.

Long Discussion of Philippine Tariff Bill Begun.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—For nearly three hours yesterday the senate had under consideration the Philippine tariff bill. The measure was made the unfinished business and probably will hold that position of preference until it shall have been voted on finally.

The debate was opened by Mr. Lodge (Mass.), chairman of the committee on the Philippines.

Mr. Rawlins (Utah) delivered a vigorous speech in support of the minority substitute, in which independence was promised to the Filipino people so soon as a stable government could be established in the Philippines. His discussion of the general Philippine question covered much of the ground that has been gone over during the past two years. Throughout he was accorded careful attention.

Representative William Alden Smith (Mich.), a member of the house committee on foreign affairs, has introduced a resolution directing the state department to request the British government to withhold the sentence of death passed on Commander Scheepers, who is about to be shot.

The house committee on rules decided on a change of the rules so as to exclude the general public from the floor when the house is not in session except on card of admission from a member of congress.

"SCHLEY AND SANTIAGO."

First Copy of New Naval History Leaves the Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—The first copy of "Schley and Santiago" has left the presses of the W. B. Conkey company. The book contains many striking historical events, including facsimiles of autograph letters. The following letter, bearing the admiral's signature and dated Hotel Richmond, Washington, Jan. 1, 1902, referring to the author, says:

"Mr. Graham served with me on the Brooklyn from the beginning to the end of the campaign against Cervera's fleet. He was in a position in the open to know the facts of all the operations against it and has given them as he saw them. The personal views and criticisms of the author I do not indorse, though the facts of the story of the movements and operations of the flying squadron as he tells them in the book are correct so far as I can remember."

The publishers will send to President Roosevelt a copy of the edition de luxe and within a few days will start a special messenger to Europe, where he will first deliver to the American embassador in London two copies of the book, one of them to be presented to King Edward VII. As claimed by the author and publishers, it will be the first presentation of the official history of the naval campaign of the flying squadron from the time it left Hampton Roads until the end.

SEVEN BURNED TO DEATH.

Fire In a Lumber Camp Where Forty Were Sleeping.

HAMBLETON, W. Va., Jan. 22.—In the early morning Camp 5 of the Otter Creek Boom and Lumber company, several miles from here in the forest, took fire and burned so rapidly that seven of the forty men who were asleep in the building failed to get out and were burned to death.

It was not more than five minutes from the time when the alarm was given until there was no chance of escape. The camp was 22 by 50 feet and the upper part all in one room, and in this the forty men were sleeping. Two very small windows and the narrow stairs afforded the only ways of escape, and those who went to the windows, a dozen or more, had to jump twelve or fifteen feet, the others rushing down the steps like sheep, pushing and tumbling and falling over each other. After they were out some of the men inside could be seen in the flames, but not a cry came from the building. The dead were almost entirely cremated. There were scarcely forty pounds of the flesh and bones of all seven brought here last night in a little box.

The men who escaped lost their clothing and were compelled to travel through eight inches of snow, almost naked, to another camp a mile away.

Still Insists He Is Manners.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 22.—Valet Edouard Kern, wanted in New York for the Thebaud robbery, has been removed from Gretna to the New Orleans prison. Klein and West, the men charged with stealing the jewelry which Kern himself stole, have been placed on trial in the criminal court, but their case was postponed until Saturday. Kern therefore is not likely to be taken east before Saturday night. Kern when arraigned as a material witness said his name was Manners. He would not answer to the name of Kern.

Board of Health as an isolation hospital. He then gave a description of the hospital as one of the best equipped in New Jersey, with a capacity of thirty. He said that the Board of Healh is taking every precaution to prevent a spread of the disease by common sense mehods and will continue to do so.

Dr. T. H. Tomlinson gave an interesting history of epidemics of small-pox in Plainfield. The first case recorded was in 1871. A man came from Newark to Plainfield to visit his fiance and he was taken ill with the disease. A temporary hospital was erected and he was cared for there. He recovered and afterward married the young woman of this city.

He spoke of another case, where a man called at his office for treatment. The doctor decided he had small-pox, and quarantined him. The man deliberately ignored the quarantine, left his home and went to a saloon at the corner of Front and Somerset streets. There he threatened to shoot the doctor as well as Dr. J. P. Sutphen because they had made a wrong diagnosis, he claimed. Fifteen days later there were nineteen cases of small-pox in the city and the people were greatly alarmed.

Dr. Tomlinson read abstracts from The Constitutionalist published at that time showing how strict the authorities were in vaccination and the care of the disease. At that time there were seven fatal cases. There were 4,000 vaccinations and the expenses of that epidemic were $4,706.

In conclusion, Dr. Tomlinson gave interesting data and said that, with such an excellent Board of Health as at present, he hoped the time would soon come when small-pox would be entirely annihilated.

Dr. W. C. Boone was the last one to present a paper. His subject was Jenner. The doctor gave a very interesting sketch of the man to whom the people owe everything for the discovery of vaccination. He told of the way he has been ridiculed, yet after many years the physicians from one end of the world to the other recognized his discovery as the only safe preventive of a spread of small-pox.

Dr. Hunt, of Metuchen, a member of the State Board of Health, was among those present. Upon invitation he gave a brief history of the condition of small-pox in New Jersey. He said that at present there are 400 cases in this State, chiefly in Camden, Newark, Hudson county, Hackettstown and Sayreville. He said that it is easy to read a paper on small-pox and at the same time make a wrong diagnosis. He urged great care in this, also prompt quarantine, vaccination, prompt removal to an isolation hospital. He advised the physicians to get a census of the population as regards vaccination so that it could be known who has and who has not been treated. If the proper measures were adopted Dr. Hunt said that he did not believe that business in any community should be interferred with at all. He urged common sense along this line.

At the conclusion Dr. Hedges invited the physicians to join in an informal discussion, but as the ground was so fully covered they all declined. After the symposium refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served and a social time followed.

Those of the profession present were Drs. Edward Rushmore, T. H. Tomlinson, J. T. Fritts, M. B. Long, F. C. Ard, E. W. Hedges, W. H. Murray, J. H. Carman, N. W. Currie, Marcus L. Clawson, A. F. VanHorn, B. VanD. Hedges, Rolland Tomlinson, A. H. Dundon, Norman H. Probasco, J. B. Probasco, Peter B. Cregar, Martha Stillman, T. S. Davis, O. L. Jenkins, W. C. Boone, Albert H. Pittis, and Health Officer Thurlow, of this city; Dr. Hunt, of Metuchen; Dr. Long, of Somerville, and Dr. Cortright, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York.

T. A. B. FAIR.

Rain Kept Many Away, But the Evening Was a Pleasant One All the Same.

The second evening of the week's fair being held under the auspices of the T. A. B. Society, of St. Mary's parish, in the hall on West Fourth street, last evening, was not as successful as the preceding night on account of the stormy weather. Those who braved the storm, however, spent an enjoyable time and were well repaid.

Added to the attractions was a large goose placed on exhibition at the entrance of the hall. This will be chanced off and from the numbers of persons who appeared to be interested the contest will undoubtedly be successful in helping fill the coffers of the organization. As a rule the people attending the affair liberally patronized those having some article or other to be chanced off.

During the evening an informal prorgamme was rendered to enliven the occasion. John Moran, the tenor, rendered a number of popular songs, which caught the fancy of the crowd. Some soprano solos were given by Miss Annie Daley and she was liberally applauded for her work. Dancing was the feature of the evening. Eugene O'Reilly's orchetsra furnished the music and those fond of this form of recreation delighted in gliding over the well waxed floor.

The doll contest is one of the principal attractions. The prize is a handsomely gowned doll, which would gladden the heart of any little one. Saturday afternoon the hall will be thrown open for the entertainment of school children, who will be admitted free. A programme is being arranged for the occasion.

PHYSICIANS ON SMALL-POX

Plainfield Clinical Society Held a Symposium on the Dread Disease.

INTERESTING PAPERS.

Members Thoroughly Reviewed All Phases of the Subject and Presented Interesting Facts—Meeting Held at the Nurses' Home Last Evening.

In view of the possibilities of and the subsequent devvelopment of small-pox in this city, the Plainfield Clinical Society arranged recently to give a symposium on the disease. This was given last evening in the Nurses' Home, Muhlenberg Hospital. Despite the terrible storm there were twenty-six physicians present, a number of trained nurses and a few invited guests. Many of those invited were undoubtedly detained by the weather. However, a most profitable and interesting time was spent and everyone felt well repaid for being present.

Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, as president, and Dr. Frank C. Ard, as secretary, of the society, occupied the platform. Dr. Hedges in a few words announced the object of the meeting and gave a cordial greeting to all. Papers on the small-pox disease were presented, each one being limited to ten minutes, which some took less time.

The first paper was given by Dr. J. H. Carman, who treated causes from a scientific standpoint, that part of medicine which relates to the disease, its cause, nature, etc.

Dr. Carman began by saying that the disease appeared in the sixteenth century and the Americans owe it to the Spanish for its introduction into this country. The speaker cited the fact that the disease does not discriminate, it attacks all ages, although less likely to be found among very small children. The well and strong are just as likely to get it and the disease is contagious in all stages. The reproduction of the disease is found in the postules, the dry scales that are wafted about the room and lodge in clothing and are carried about, sometimes it being years when the disease is developed.

Dr. Carman stated that the disease is prevalent at all seasons, but more so in the winter. His reason for this being that other germs are then resting from their labors. As regards epidemics, Dr. Carman said that the magnitude and severity of the disease is regulated almost entirely by vaccination.

The speaker said that, if carefully diagnosed, the disease is not a difficult one to determine owing to the peculiar skin eruption. He admitted if chicken-pox is taken for small-pox, and a patient is moved to an isolation hospital, physicians are likely to get into trouble. The doctor described the unmistakable symptoms of the disease, including the severe pains in the loins and the intense chilly feeling. Within three or four days the eruption appears on the forehead and wrists. In this disease there are more vesicles. When the desquamation period begins it cannot well be mistaken.

In conclusion Dr. Carman suggested a few don'ts which included the following: Don't make a snap diagnosis, don't fear isolation, don't be afraid to call your fellow physician and ask him to share the responsibility, don't be afraid to vaccinate everything in sight and don't fear to attend a case of small-pox if you get a chance.

Dr. Monroe B. Long gave the next paper on the treatment of the disease. He divided his paper into two parts, the prophylactic, or preventive treatment, and medical, that referring to the healing of the disease. The speaker thoroughly believed vaccination the only sure preventive of the disease and advocated the plan of making it obligatory in all public institutions, as well as in the army, navy and other large bodies.

He recommended in the treatment a large, well-ventilated room and the use of such garments as can be destroyed or that will not carry the disease. He also recommended great care in the washing of the face and hands and extreme care in nursing. He also cited as a diet such things as milk, toast, custards and a few other articles of diet that are cooling.

Dr. Frank C. Ard spoke of ocular compilcations. He spoke of the desquamation period as the worst for the eyes, as oftentimes pus forms in the anterior chamber, which results in blindness. Several remedies were suggested, including applications of carbolic acid and hot applications, as well as minor operations. He said that in France the per centage of eye trouble was reduced from 35 per cent. to 7 per cent. through vaccination. Later Dr. Ard gave his experience in a small-pox epidemic in the west.

One of the most interestinng and strongest papers presented was that the value of vaccination by Dr. Ellis W. Hedges. He began with the introduction of it by Edward Jenner 100 years ago, and he stated decisively that it does protect from small-pox, that is, true vaccination, when properly done on a clean arm with every precaution taken from infection. He said that thousands die from neglect in vaccination. The rule is to vaccinate until it refuses to take.

Dr. Hedges quoted the Chicago Board of Health, Dr. Welch, of Philadelphia, regarding the estimable value of vaccination, showing that the per centage of cases and deaths is very small where there has been thorough vaccination. In the opinion of Dr. Hedges it protects absolutely for at least five years. The speaker then went on and gave unlimited proof of the value of vaccination abroad, where it is compulsory. He showed that in countries where the law is the strictest the disease is less prevalant and there have been few deaths.

He spoke of the appalling loss of 23,000 by death from small-pox in France, where in Germany the deaths reached 200. In the latter country vaccination is obligatory. Dr. Hedges gave a great many figures to prove that vaccination is right, reasonable and safe.

Dr. William H. Murray presented a paper on the accidents and dangers of vaccination. He believed there is little danger, except in the case of a new born babe or debilitated persons. He compared the old method with the new, showing what advancement had been made in this treatment. He advised the utmost care in the use of virus and the instrument used and said that he preferred serilized gauze to protect the arm rather than a shield. If the latter is air-tight it sometimes makes the arm sore, and if not air-tight does not exclude infection. Dr. Murray said that in vaccination there are really no serious complications to be feared. He said that in a practice of twenty years he had three severe cases and they all recovered, and they were the result of other causes.

Dr. J. B. Probasco gave a history of vaccine virus and explained in detail how this is secured for vaccination. He gave the opinions of a number of physicians to show that vaccine points are considered the best and safest to use. He said that under present conditions it is absolutely possible to get pure virus and have it work successfully.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges treated quarantine regulations. He spoke of the disease being highly contagious and then went on to give the names of several States, including New Jersey, where quarantine laws are very strict. He said that through the courtesy of the Common Council the old Smock farm-house had been given to the

Rev. Father Egan is Already a Popular Man in the Parish.

IS A MAN OF ABILITY.

SOMETHING ABOUT HIS CAREER BEFORE HE CAME TO PLAINFIELD.

A Genial and Witty Man—Possessed of Much Scholarly Ability—Came Here From Parish at Morris Plains.

Rev. Andrew M. Egan, who has succeeded Father Smyth at St. Mary's church, is a genial and witty person.

REV. ANDREW M. EGAN.

He is polished in his manner and is a man of much scholarly ability.

He was born in the Cathedral parish at Newark, August 21, 1855, and during his young days he attended the select school of Bernard Kearney, being a fellow student of Rt. Rev. John O'Connor, the present bishop of Newark. Subsequently he attended the Benedictine school, in the same city.

From there he went to the Christian Brothers' school and afterwards he became a resident of Three Rivers, Quebec, his purpose being to master the French language. His next course was to pursue a line of study at St. Charles' college, Ellicott City, Md., remaining there for a period of two years. In 1876 he was graduated from Seton Hall, and was ordained to the priesthood in the Cathedral at Newark, May 22, 1880, by Archbishop Corrigan, then Bishop of Newark.

His bishop sent him to St. Mary's parish, Bergen Point, where he acted as curate. Later he bceame assistant to Monsignor Da'Concilio, of St. Michael's parish, Jersey City. Some ten years ago he received the appointment of rector of St. Virgilius' church, Morris Plains. There he built up a large congregation and parish prospered under his administration.

Happily Bishop O'Connor chose him to succeed Father Smyth, and although he has been here less than a month he has won the esteem, not only of his new parishioners, but of the many Protestants with whom he comes in contact daily. Father Egan's assistant is Rev. John Farley, who was made the curate two months ago, after the completion of his work at Seton Hall.

Ready Responses.

The appeal for old linen to be used by the nurses at the isolation hospital has met with a ready response. Contributions continue pouring in and Inspector Addis is kept busy calling and collecting large lots. There is still more needed, as a great quantity of it is used.

Church Supper.

The women of the First Presbyterian church are planning to hold a supper in the chapel during the early part of February.

Mrs. William L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, has returned from a week's visit to Dr. and Mrs. VanSickle, of Princeton.

VACCINATION IN BOROUGH

HOW OPERATION IS PERFORMED BY THE AUTHORITIES.

Free Treatment to All a Success—Much Care Taken by the Physicians.

The Borough Board of Health continued its work of vaccination yesterday afternoon and in the short period of an hour and fifteen miuntes sixty-six applicants were proprely treated. Two physicians and a like number of trained nurses were in charge and they were assisted by officers of the health board.

Everything is sterilized, even the gowns worn by the physicians and the nurses are put through this process. The great majority of those vaccinated were little children and they were tenderly cared for. They were admitted to the ante-room of the council chamber and were placed in charge of Chief Marshal William Campbell. In turn one by one they were admitted to the main room where Miss Edith Anderson, a trained nurse, would bare the arm and completely sterilize it. Then the candidate for vaccination was permitted to go before the doctor after having been registered. There were two physicians, Albert Pittis and Arthur H. Dundon.

The arm was scraped after being rubbed hard, a cut about the size of a penny being generally made.

Miss Delaney, another trained nurse, placed the bandage and shield over the freshly made wound and the person vaccinated was allowed to go on being supplied with a leaflet setting forth the proper care of a vaccinated arm. Andrew Love, Sr., the president, and Dr. William E. Honeyman, the secretary, of the Board of Health were in attendance. In each case Mr. Love would inquire of the applicant his full name, occupation if any, address and the fact whether he had been vaccinated before. A record of the answers was made by Dr. Honeyman. These statistics will be preserved by the health authorities.

SEMI-YEARLY TESTS.

They Have Been Started at the North Plainfield Public Schools—Their Objects.

The regular semi-yearly tests at the North Plainfield public schools are being conducted by Superintendent Wightman. This modern method of inquiring into the advance made in the mental development of the pupil has supplanted the old fashioned examinations, in which results largely depended upon the abiliity of the pupil to memorize.

The idea of the test system is to learn the power of the pupil to grasp a subject rather than his position as a storehouse of facts. It is claimed that the system developes independence in thought, and gets away from what is commonly called machine studying.

On Monday, February 3, the second term in the school year begins and those who have demonstrated sufficient development are advanced. Sometimes a pupil skips a class by this method, it being deemed desirable in some cases to advance him more rapidly. The tests will be concluded this week.

WHIST CLUB MET.

Entertained by Miss Olive Newell, of Westervelt Ave., Last Night.

Miss Olive Newell, of Westervelt avenue, entertained last evening the whist club, of which she is a member. There was the usual number, sixteen, present, and all thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Miss Griswold and John G. McLoughlin were successful in securing the prizes. After the play dainty refreshmens were served. The club will be entertained Thursday evening, February 4, by Miss Ernestine Smith, of Madison avenue.

Quarantine Removed.

Health Inspector Addis this morning removed the quarantine from the home of Theodore Shirley, of Leland avenue, a six year old son having been ill for the past six weeks with scarlet fever. The house is being thoroughly fumigated by the inspector today.

Arthur Reed, of Myrtle avenue, has returned to his studies at the Montclair Military Academy after a week's stay at home on account of illness.

LOCAL TRUST COMPANY WILL NOT ORGANIZE

Rumored That it Was to be a Part of Prudential-Equitable Chain of Banks.

PLANS NOW GIVEN UP.

WAS RESULT OF ATTEMPT OF FACTION TO GAIN CONTROL IN LOCAL BANKS.

Chain of Banks Now Included in This Combination—A Rival One Started by Mutual Life, of New York.

Men concerned in matters of finance are greatly interested in a plan providing for a community of interests of many financial institutions in this section of New Jersey. It is styled the Prudential-Equitable chain and was started by the management of the Prudential Insurance Company. This company has taken this method, it is reported, of investing its surplus. It has, for some time past, been extending its operations in directions remote from the insuring of the lives of people, until it has become recognized as one of the most potential influences in the world of finance.

Another factor in the combination is the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York. The Prudential has gradually absorbed several banks in Newark and these together with other institutions will form the combination. There was some talk of a local trust company being formed to enter the combination, but this is now declared off.

The local company was reported to be the outcome of an effort on the part of certain persons to gain control of the stock of a certain banking institution. Providing this was done the other stockholders were to draw out and form a trust company. The plan eventually fell through as the control was not obtained. As an opposition to this plan, it is understood that another chain will be formed with the Mutual Life Insurance, of New York, as the head. It is claimed that this chain will be even stronger than the Prudential-Equitable chain.

According to the story told the Prudential-Equitable chain includes the Fidelity Trust Company, Merchants' Bank, Second National Bank, German National Bank, all of Newark; First National Bank and Title Guarantee and Trust Company, of Jersey City; Trust Company, of New Jersey, of Hoboken; Union Trust Company and First National Bank, of Elizabeth. In addition to these are included the Mercantile Trust Company and Western National Bank, of New York.

There is a rumor that the Mutual Life Insurance Company is to be allied with the New York Life Insurance Company, but this is denied and it is claimed that the two are strong opponents in the formation of chains. According to the opinions of those best able to express them within the next few years there is sure to be a consolidation of banking interest such as the world has never known. It is claimed that by this plan there will be a great saving in the operating expenses with an increase in business.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ELECTION.

League of First M. E. Church, Westfield, Held its Annual Meeting.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, January 21—At the annual meeting of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, held Monday evening, the following officers were elected: President, M. P. Townley; first vice president, J. H. Shiras; third vice president, L. M. Pearsall; forth vice president, Miss Lucy Fitch; secretary, W. S. Affleck; treasurer, G. R. Hanford.

Reports of the year were read by the various officers and showed the League to be in a flourishing condition, financially and otherwise.

Fewer Offenders Now.

The recent delaration made by City Judge Runyon to the effect that no more leniency would be shown violators of the hack ordinance has decidedly checked the practice. Since one offender was fined and the edict sent forth, not a Jehu has been arrested. The police declare the hackmen are now observing the ordinance better than ever before.

Until Pastor's Arrival.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis will continue to occupy the pulpit at the Seventh-Day Baptist church until Rev. George B. Shaw, of New York, assumes the pastorate.

NEARLY SEVEN THOUSAND

BOARD OF HEALTH'S ESTIMATE OF NUMBER VACCINATED HERE.

Many More Would Probably Be Vaccinated If New Cases Appeared.

As near as can be estimated by the physicians of the city, as well as members of the Board of Health, nearly 7,000 persons have been vaccinated in this city and the borough within the past two weeks. This includes those treated at the Board of Health offices, as well as those treated privately by physicians. To those favoring vaccination as the only preventive against small-pox, this is most gratifying. During the past two weeks several physicians who heretofore have disapproved of vaccination have been won over and they are now advocating it.

No doubt had the small-pox spread to any great number of families the proportion of the populace to be treated would be almost doubled. The Board of Health has come in for a large share of praise in its provisions for free treatment, thereby making it possible for persons in moderate circumstances to secure protection at no expense to themselves. This work will cost the city quite a sum, however, but the aggressive Board of Health is ably supported by the majority of the people in its wise provisions to prevent an epidemic of small-pox or any other disease.

HEALTH BOARD NOTICE

A physician will be in attendance at the offices of the Board of Health, in the Smalley building, North avenue, every afternoon this week from 4 to 5 o'clock, to vaccinate any who may apply and to inspect any former vaccinations that may need attention.

President of the Board of Health.

HAD A KNIFE.

Mrs. James Scott Says Her Husband Chased Her With It—He Denies the Charge.

Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, of West Front street, had a little misunderstanding last evening. In addition to exchanging their opinion of each other, so Mrs. Scott declared when she sought the assistance of the police, her liege lord chased her about the house with a knife. Patrolman Overbaugh placed him under arrest and locked him up for the night.

He was to have been arraigned before City Judge Runyon, this morning, but at the request of his counsel, Wm. A. Coddington, the case was adjourned until Saturday morning. Scott claims he was using the knife at the time the quarrel started and had no intention of cutting his wife.

Pipe is All Here.

The last sections of distributing pipe have been laid at the city disposal beds making the alterations complete. Nothing now remains to be done but to adjust the pipe properly and test them thoroughly. This is now being done and in a few days they will be covered after which the city will be asked by Gleason & Kiely to accept the work.

J. P. D. KIRCH FOUND ALIVE

Located at Hopewell and Brought Home Last Evening Almost a Wreck.

WALKED FROM TRENTON

After a mysterious absence of four days, J. P. D. Kirch, of Somerset street, returned home last evening. Mentaly and physicially he is in a bad condition, and is too weak to give an account of his strange wanderings. He was located at Hopewell, yesterday afternoon, and word was immedately sent here to that effect. Justice Nash, who has interested himself in the matter, went at once to that place and brought the missing lawyer home.

Kirch can not be seen and his wife and immediate relatives are reluctant to give out any information. He is a sick man and requires the care of a physician. It will be some days before a rational account of his wanderings since Sunday night can be obtained from him. Dr. P. J. Zeglio, the family physicin, is attending him, and he has given orders to keep Kirch as quiet as possible. No mention has been made of the unfortunate circumstances to him by his family.

The accounts in the newspapers are largely responsible for the safe return of Kirch. Mrs. J. C. Harrison and her daughter, of Hopewell, had read the pathetic tale of his queer disappearance. The daughter chanced to see a man pass their home, and she thought from his appearance that he possibly was the much wanted man. The daughter told her mother, who quickly informed her husband. He speedily hailed the stranger and asked if he was John Kirch, of Plainfield. Mr. Kirch admitted his identity. He was welcomed to the Harrison home, and the Hopewell citizen slipped out and dispatched a telegram to Justice Nash saying that Kirch had been found.

The justice, in company with Mrs. Kirch, the lawyer's wife, repaired at once to Hopewell. When they arrived, Kirch had left the Harrison residence and was sauntering along the streets. At last they came face to face with him, and the scene of the meeting of husband and wife was quite pathetic. All three took the next train for this city, and Mr. Kirch was driven at once to his home on Somerset street. Since then he has been in bed, and an intimate friend declares that he is in a wretched condition.

It appears that on leaving the United States Hotel, at Trenton, Sunday night, Kirch walked all the way to Pennington, inquiring along the route for work. Being unsuccessful, he continued on to Hopewell arriving there yesterday afteroon. Everywhere he sought employment, but the reason for this is unknown to his friends. The tramp had weakened him considerably and when found by the searching party he appeared to be much fatigued.

DEATH OF MRS. CODINGTON.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A popular idea just now among the young women of the city is to wear a pretty colored bow on their left arms after they have been vaccinated. A few evenings ago a number of women with this distinctive mark were seen about the streets. Some prefer a ribbon of a red hue, while others show a preferance for any one of the hundred different shades usually worn The scheme is a great success for no one is inclined to bother the arm that wears such a ribbon.

Among the quaint and attractive books that came to the light at holiday times was the one on brown paper entitled "Ye Medical Student's Primer" from the pen of Miss Martha Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street. Miss Tracy is a student at the Woman's Medical College in Philadelphia, and it is easy to see where she found her inspiration for the funny poems on skeletons, drugs, germs and ancestrial trees. The illustrations are as amusing as the poems, most of them being of the effective, one line type. The little poem "Ye Frightful Germ" is a specimen of the amusing treatment of a serious subject.

"There are not merely lines, my child,
But pictures of those creatures wild
Men call bacilla, in ye air,
In food, in drink, and everywhere
They lurk; though small and innocent
They seem, on mischief they are bent;
Intending with what speed they can
To quite exterminate poor man.
So if while walking in ye street,
You chance one of these things to meet,
Into your pocket put your pride,
And run like anything to hide."

The book is edited by Miss E. C. Perkins, also a student at the Woman's Medical College.

ANOTHER RESIGNATION.

Geo. P. Dupee Cannot Devote His Time to Sewage Commission.

George P. Dupee, of Rockview avenue, has resigned as a member of the borough sewage commission. Mr. Dupee states that he is unable to devote the necessary time to the purpose which the work demands. The vacancy will be filled by Mayor Smalley at the regular February meeting of the Council. Mr. Dupee is the second member to tender his resignation, W. W. Howland having tendered his resignation a few weeks ago.

An Aged Tree.

George Taylor, of Elmwood place, who recently purchased a piece of property on Grant avenue, where he expects to build in the near future, had a sassafras tree cut down by Joseph Randolph. So far as can be learned it is one of the oldest trees in the city. Mr. Randolph estimates that the tree is at least 107 years old, he having counted that many rings on the tree.

Blocked Passenger Traffic.

The draw head of a coal car on an empty west bound train pulled out yesterday afternoon as it was passing the depot and caused a half hour's blockade of the passenger track on which it was running. The front bunkers were torn away and falling to the track narrowly escaped derailing the car.

Missionary to Speak.

Mrs. Booth, a returned missionary from Central Africa, will speak at the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday evening.

Local Talent There.

W. B. Mattox and daughter, Miss Try Mattox, of Webster place, appeared in an entertainment given last evening by the Sons of Temperance, of Elizabeth.

Don't Live Together.

Constipation and health never go together. DeWitt's Little Early Risers promote easy action of the bowels without distress. "I have been troubled with costiveness nine years," says J. O. Greene, Depauw, Ind. "I have tried many remedies but Little Early Risers give best results." L. W. Randolph.

ONE OBJECTION ANSWERED

DEFENSE OF METHODS OF ORGANIZED AID IN PLAINFIELD.

Will Act as a "Clearing House," Not as a "Charity Trust."

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In a recent issue, an editorial, on the wisdom of churches ceasing to give alms to the poor directing and allowing the Organized Aid Association to supervise all this work, stated "This plan will probably meet its chief opposition from those who feel that such a method of distributing charity is cold and heartless and that it would defeat the aims of the Christian people who desire the personal factor to figure in the work of charity. This is the only argument of any force that can be used against it."

Will you kindly allow me space to answer this objection?

It is not the desire of organized charity to relieve churches from their personal responsibility in charitable work. It would rather impose duties on them, and draw them into closer personal relations with those to whom they give alms.

The method most generally advocated by charity organization workers is that each church do its own almsgiving, but according to charity organization principles; with thorough personal acquaintance with those receiving their alms and with knowledge of what other churches, societies and individuals in the community may be doing for the same people. This can be done by co-operation with the charity organization society, whose aim is to be a clearing house for all charitable work, not to be a "charity trust" in any sense. A charity organization society should not dispense any charity whatever.

Far from advocating a cold and heartless method of giving alms the cardinal aim of charity organization is to build up charities to help people to help themselves, by means of personal trouble, by giving with material aid, the help of a sympathetic friend, to advise and encourage, giving alms without this personal touch is too often like pouring water into a sieve.

Other of its purposes are to win people to a fuller knowledge of the aims and methods and into the active work of friendly visiting; through careful investigation to work with knowledge to understand the cause of distress in order to know how to attempt its cure; to economise charity, and suppress pauperism by preventing dupication of charity by means of investigation and registration of knowledge gained; to give adequate relief, both material and physical, by the co-operation of charities. In unity is strength.

New York city's new tenement house cards are an object lesson of what united effort of organized charity can accomplish with legislation.

United effort could do much in Plainfield to lighten the burden of the poor by arousing civic interest in manual training schools; a park; public baths; better laws regarding deserting and nonsupporting husbands; and many other things.

Above all co-operation is needed in the constructive work that can only be done in the homes of the poor applicants by means of the friendly visitor, teaching the housewife to be good homemakers, and encouraging the husband to be a faithful breadwinner. True interest and friendship is the open sesame to the hearts and homes of those we wish to help and experience has proved that it does accomplish much.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Only two weeks left to secure bargains in clothing at the Star Clothing Company's store on West Front street. The biggest bargains are offered in men's, boys' and chilrden's clothing to close out the stock.

For those not having stable accommodations, Andrew Love, Jr., of East Second street, offers reasonable terms for boarding horses. He has a strictly up-to-date place with all conveniences. Call him up on the 'phone, No. 1474.

A big removal sale is now going on at the Paris Cloak and Far store, 326 West Front street. The new store will be located at 322 West Front street, and as the present stock will not be carried to the new store everything is being sold regardless of cost.

The ability to assume responsibility is an important factor in reckoning upon success. To be able to speedily and accurately fill a prescription is the keynote of the lucrative drug trade enjoyed by Thomas Armstrong, corner Park and North avenues.

The Union Furniture Copmany is a comparatively new firm in this city but it has rapidly advanced in the way of making friends and securing trade. This is done by employing strictly business methods and fair dealing. It shows one of the finest and largest stocks of furniture in the city at prices that never fail to attract buyers.

It is an immense relief for the housewife to know that she can depend upon the word of the merchants she deals with. Every one who has traded with Neuman Brothers know their word is good as gold. If they say the goods they sell are fresh and the best the market affords it is just so. At present they are speaking very highly of the Rockdale print and Rockdale creamery butter which are being sold.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY.

Manufacturers of Piano Stools May Locate Factory in This City.

It is not out of place to say that there is still another industry to be added to the already long list that are promised for Plainfield. A concern at Washingtonn, Warren county, being impressed with the fact that its present location is too far away from New York and the freight rates are too high, has expressed a desire to locate in Plainfield.

It is not known what inducements the officials of the company are seeking from Plainfield, or whether they are willing to come here, buy their own land and erect their plant at their own expense. However, if they really want to come here no doubt Plainfield can accommodate them.

The concern referred to manufactures of piano stools exclusively and it is said that the business is a very large one. A great many men are employed. It is not known whether the company has communicated with the Board of Health regarding the matter, but no doubt that body can give the company some assistance in establishing a plant in this city. Those who have heard of the intentions of the Washington company are sincerely hoping that the decision will be to build in Plainfield.

Outline Study.

The Endeavor Society meeting of the Crescent Avenue church Friday evening will be in charge of Wm. D. Murray, who will give an outline study of the Book of Amos. A cordial invitation is extended to all and every one is requested to bring a Bible and notebook.

Date Set for Turkey Supper.

Thursday evening, Feb. 13, is the date set for the turkey supper to be given by the Ladies' Aid Society, of the First Presbyterian church, in the chapel of the church.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Lillian B. Scribner, of West Front street, to Clifford B. Noe, of Stelle avenue.

THE PARK CLUB IS GROWING

AN ADDITION IS PLANNED TO THE PRESENT CLUBHOUSE.

Demands for Room Are So Great That Club Will Have to Build.

The centre of social attractions this season is strongly in favor of the progressive Park Club. The club is enjoying an activity that recalls the early days in its history. New members have been received and altogether his season has been a most enjoyable one.

Contrary to predictions, the club has been a success, and will no doubt continue so. The reason for this is given that the club is a place not only for the member, but his family as well. Women and children have a part in the club life. It will be remembered that another club endeavored to maintain an organization without giving the women an opportunity to have part in the festivities. This club failed, as predicted by many.

With the progressive spirit that has characterized the Park Club management, plans are now being considered for enlarging the clubhouse. When the present building was erected in 1892, it was believed that it would always be large enough. This is not true, for it has since been decided that more room is essential. The plan as now proposed is to extend the building back thirty-five feet and make many important changes inside of the present assembly room as well as the lower floor. This will give a larger floor capacity which is needed when entertainments or dances are given. The lower floor will be enlarged to provide for a new pool and billiard room and also room for the introduction of other games, including the shuffle-board. It is also proposed to provide larger and better accommodations for the women on the first floor, a place where they can lay their wraps conveniently and not be crowded as at present.

To make these improvements the former method will no doubt be adopted. That is, certicfiates will be issued. There is now a small indebtedness on the clubhouse and all will be merged into one. It is believed that this indebtedness will be liquidated within a comparatively short time.

MEXICO AND CALIFORNIA.

Forty-Five Days' Tour via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the tour of Mexico only the rate will be $350, and for California only, which will leave February 25, $375. For itinerary and full information, apply to ticket agents, or address George W. Cold Comfort From Doctors.

Doctors say neuralgia is not dangerous. This is poor consolation to a sufferer who feels as if his face was pierced with hot needles and torn with a thousand pairs of pincers. A word of advice to him: stay indoors and use Perry Davis' Painkiller. The blessed freedom from pain which follows this treatment cannot be told. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Mrs. William Granatt, of West Fourth street, recently received from her son, who is in California, a cactus that is attracting considerable attention. It is twenty-three inches long, nine inches wide, one and a half inches at the top and two inches at the base. In many respects it is a curiosity and Mrs. Granatt prizes it highly.

Senator Reed should not be State Treasurer, nor should any other legislator be a candidate for office in the gift of the Legislature. The impropriety is manifest. The Treasurership should go to a business man, not a lawyer, and to one accustomed to dealing with large affairs. It should not go to any man who will not agree to require the payment of interest on deposits. The State should no longer lose this source of income for the sake of favored institutions.—Newark Sunday Call.

In refusing to allow the directors of the wrecked Middlesex County Bank to compromise and escape the payment of the full amount of the funds stolen by Cashier Valentine, for which they were responsible, Vice Chancellor Pitney has safeguarded to the extent of his powers the rights of the fleeced depositors. No sympathetic sentiment for the men, whose inattention to the trust imposed in them was responsible for giving opportunities to a dishonest official to continue a long continued system of peculation, has been allowed to interfere with the course of justice.—Newark News.

Senator Reed, of Somerset, formally announced his candidacy for the State treasurership in letters received by the Essex Assemblymen this morning. In his letter Mr. Reed said:

"At the suggestion of prominent Republicans, members of the Legislature and others, I have become a candidate for State treasurer, and I greatly hope for your support, and assure you it will be appreciated."

None of the local Assemblymen seen today would announce his choice for treasurer. but there didn't seem to be any particular enthusiasm over the Reed campaign. There is little probability that the treasurership will receive the serious attention of the legislators until after the Senatorship has been disposed of.—Newark News.

In order that he may not hamper the efforts of Griggs for the Senatorship former State Senator Robert Williams, who comes from the former Attorney General's home county of Passaic, has withdrawn as a candidate for State Treasurer. This leaves but two candidates in the field for that important office — the incumbent, Frank O. Briggs, whom Governor Voorhees appointed ad interim, and Senator Charles A. Reed, of Somerset county. It is said that Reed's candidacy will cut a very important figure in the Senatorial contest, and that he has the power to sway things. His well-known friendship for the South Jersey leaders would appear to the distinct advantages of that section's efforts to name the Senator.—Philadelphia Record.

Child Worth Millons.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird, of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. L. W. Randolph.

TAFT'S ROSY VIEWS.

Civil Rule In the Philippines a Success.

STRONG PEACE PARTY IN ISLANDS.

Governor Starts For Washington to Make Report Which He Says Will Be Encouraging—Will Return About March 1.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Governor General Taft, who has just arrived from Manila, started for Washington today. He will stop at Cincinnati, his home, en route. Discussing conditions in the Philippines, Governor Taft said:

"I wish the press would correct the impression that there is war on all the islands. The insurrection is confined to two localities, the province of Batangas and the island of Samar. Yesterday morning I received a most encouraging cable from General Wright, who is the acting governor in my absence. It was said that owing to General Bell's strong repressive measures the trouble in Batangas was being quieted. He further said that 700 rifles had been surrendered and that as there are only from 1,000 to 1,200 rifles in the province there is no doubt that Batangas will be as peaceful as any of the other provinces.

"I wish to impress upon everybody that civil government is a success. There is a strong peace party in the islands, and it is composed of the most influential men among the Filipinos. They are working earnestly and zealously toward bringing about happy relations between their countrymen and the government. They are doing all that is in their power to bring in the recalcitrant leaders. I have never been so encouraged as to the prospects of the Philippines as I have within the past three months. There has certainly been a great change in the sentiment of the people. They are beginning to appreciate the fact that civil government means better times for them.

"If you had seen the farewell receptions that were given me by the people on my leaving the islands, you would have realized that there was sincerity in the expression of the wish for civil government to continue. Before I left I received reports from the governors of the different provinces, and the tone of each report was most encouraging. I am encouraged, and I shall so report to Washington.

"There are thirty-five provinces capable of government. The only place where there is trouble is in the island of Samar. That is the most difficult island for military operations. There are no roads, and the troops have to use watercourses to follow the natives to their fastnesses, but we are all confident that it is only a question of a short time when the island will be pacified."

Governor Taft expects to return to the islands about March 1.

New Ohio Tax Measures.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—Two important tax bills indorsed by Governor Nash have been introduced in the legislature. One provides for an annual tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent upon the authorized capital stock of all Ohio corporations and upon the proportion of capital stock of foreign corporations represented by property or business in Ohio. All companies paying excise taxes are exempted. The other law increases the excise tax from one-half to 1 per cent upon the gross receipts of electric light, gas, pipe line, railroad, electric railway, express, telegraph, telephone and messenger and signal companies. It is estimated that the two bills if enacted into laws will yield not less than $1,600,000 in revenues.

Charged With Many Crimes.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Jan. 22.—A man said to be Melvin Hall, alias James Smyth, has been brought here heavily ironed, shackled to a deputy sheriff and guarded by two special officers. Hall was arrested at the instance of the Canadian authorities, who charge him with grand larceny, for which there are said to be several indictments, with attempted murder and with blowing up dwellings at Morrisburg, Ont., with dynamite. He was apprehended at Watertown, where he was living as a farmer. He refuses to go to Canada and has engaged attorneys to fight extradition.

Large Order For Locomotives.

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 22.—The Norfolk and Western Railroad company has just placed another order for new equipment. It calls for thirty locomotives of the largest class in use on the line, which has proved satisfactory in hauling heavy coal trains over the mountain divisions of the road. Fifteen of these are to come from the Baldwin Locomotive works in Philadelphia and the remaining fifteen from the Richmond Locomotive works at Richmond, Va.

Central Official Killed.

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Angus Brown, division superintendent of motive power of the Central Hudson railroad, was instantly killed at West Albany yesterday afternoon. He was walking on the westbound passenger track and started to cross the eastbound passenger track when he was struck by an express train which was about an hour late.

Brings Suit Against Medium's Estate.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Luther R. Marsh has filed a claim for $26,000 against the estate of Mrs. Clarissa J. Huyler, his deceased medium, for legal services rendered during her lifetime. Mr. Marsh has also brought suit to recover the insurance policies on his life, amounting to $16,000, which he assigned to her.

DR. RIXEY PROMOTED.

President Names McKinley's Physician For Surgeon General.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The president has nominated Dr. Preston M. Rixey to be surgeon general of the navy.

Dr. Rixey, medical inspector of the United States navy, who is to succeed Surgeon General Van Reypen, was President McKinley's physician.

Dr. Rixey was born at Culpeper, Va., July 14, 1852. He is the elder brother of John Franklin Rixey, who for some years has been a representative in congress of the district across the Potomac from the national capital.

In 1873 Dr. Rixey graduated from the medical department of the University of Virginia. After a year's postgraduate course at Philadelphia he entered the navy as assistant surgeon Jan. 28, 1874. After this he saw service in many naval vessels in European, South American and home squadrons.

Since 1887 he has seen almost continuous special duty in Washington, but he was from 1893 to 1895 surgeon of the Dolphin.

In January, 1901, he attended President McKinley in a serious case of the grip, and during the succeeding May he attended Mrs. McKinley during her almost fatal illness in San Francisco.

Dr. Rixey always enjoyed the fullest confidence of the McKinley household.

In the medical profession Dr. Rixey stands high. In the city of Washington he has done some unusually fine work with the surgeon's knife.

Emperor William's Gift to Harvard.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The gift of Emperor William to Harvard university will be much larger than was at first supposed. The emperor's gift consists of casts and some bronzes, illustrating every phase of the German plastic arts from the Romanesque period to the Renaissance. The casts number several thousand, and their originals are to be found at Ratisbon, Nuremberg and Cologne. In fact, every city of the empire possessing anything distinctive or beautiful is represented. The collection embraces casts of monuments and sculptures and architectural casts. The entire cost of the collection will be defrayed from the emperor's private purse and is estimated at about 500,000 marks. Andrew D. White, United States embassador here, has written to President Eliot of Harvard university that the collection requires a special building.

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 22.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to burn the town of Shinnston, in Harrison county, O., yesterday. Several houses were set on fire at the same time, but prompt discovery saved the town. Trouble over illegal liquor traffic is said to be the cause, but there is no clew to the miscreants.

THE PANAMA BATTLE

Exchange of Prisoners Responsible For Disaster.

ALBAN'S SUCCESSOR IS APPOINTED.

Capture of Panama by Revolutionists Considered Impossible Because of the Large Government Force There.

PANAMA, Colombia, Jan. 22.—The exchange of prisoners was responsible for Monday's disaster to the government. From the former the revolutionists heard of the plans of the government. The Lautaro had no steam when she was attacked by the Padilla. This was due to her circulating water pump being out of order.

The Padilla, which had been painted white recently so as to deceive the government officers as to her identity, advanced unrecognized to a spot about 300 meters from the Lautaro. She then began firing at the Lautaro. The position of the latter prevented her from using her two big guns mounted forward, but she returned the Padilla's fire with her small after guns. Her gunner, however, was the first man killed, and the foreign crew of the Lautaro refused to obey orders.

General Alban, who displayed daring courage, was shot on the steamer's deck.

The death of General Alban is an irreparable loss not only to the isthmus, but to the entire republic of Colombia. In the field he was an active and fearless foe. In victory he was magnanimous almost to a fault. This is the tribute paid the late Colombian general by the press of the isthmus. He was a man whose praises were sung even by his enemies.

The surgeon and hospital corps of the United States cruiser Philadelphia, at Panama, were busy Monday rendering medical aid to the men wounded in the engagement. The Philadelphia is the only man-of-war at the isthmus.

The Colombian government is making every possible preparation both here and at Panama to repulse the land attack by the insurgents, which is momentarily expected. There are nearly 1,000 government troops at Panama, under the command of General Garcia.

General Garcia, a veteran officer, has been appointed military commander of the district in succession to General Alban. Senor Arjona is the civil governor.

The capture of Panama by the revolutionists is considered impossible owing to the number of government troops here.

The revolutionists are reported to be at Los Llanos, eight miles from Panama.

A spy sent by the revolutionary general Belisario Porras was captured here Monday. Papers were found upon him which compromise certain important Liberals.

From New York to Manila.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The United States transport Buford sailed yesterday for Manila with a large number of soldiers, including one battalion of the Twenty-seventh infantry from the Plattsburg barracks and one squadron of the Eleventh cavalry. The infantry consists of 12 officers and 414 men. The cavalrymen came from Fort Myer, Va. The squadron consists of 16 officers, 375 privates and 50 members of the hospital corps. On board the transport are also 22 recruits for the Twenty-seventh infantry, 4 for the Eleventh cavalry, 1 for the Eleventh infantry and 1 for the Twenty-eighth infantry, all from Fort Slocum. The soldiers are under the command of Colonel Moore of the Eleventh cavalry. On board were five members of the families of the officers of the Twenty-seventh infantry.

Four Killed by Runaway Train.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 22.—Four persons were instantly killed on the log railroad of the Lackawanna Lumber company at Cross Fork, Potter county. The men were engaged in loading logs on a car when a runaway train consisting of four cars loaded with pulp wood came dashing down the incline road and with frightful force crashed into the car upon which the men were working, killing the four men and smashing the cars into splinters. The place where the fatality occurred is on the side of the mountain, and the grade is seventy-five feet to the mile. The four runaway cars broke loose about a mile above the spot and had acquired a speed of about fifty miles an hour when they crashed into the log train.

Steamship Launched.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 22.—The Nevadan, the first of three vessels which the New York Shipbuilding company is constructing for the American-Hawaiian Steamship company, was launched yesterday. Miss Mildred Morse, the twelve-year-old daughter of President Morse of the shipbuilding company, christened the vessel. The Nevadan, which will be used between New York and San Francisco, will be so fitted as to permit of the burning of either coal or oil as fuel. She will carry about 5,300 tons. The other two ships will be named the Nebraskan and Texan.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Among the bills which were introduced in the Legislature at its brief session Monday evening, there were four by the representatives of Union county. Senator Cross had three.

One supplements the act regulating evidence in ex parte divorce proceedings, another amends the practice regarding contracts in both courts of law and equity, and the third requires keepers of the State prison, State reformatory, State home for boys, State home for girls to refuse to accept prisoners or charges when any inmate of such institution is suffering from any contagious disease until a certificate of the attendant physician has been given that all danger of contagion has passed. Requiring that the sheriff of the county from which such persons are sent to keep them in his custody until such certificate has been given, the time intervening to count on the sentence.

Assemblyman Newcorn's bill provides that any justice of the supreme court may summarily review any proceedings before any fire or police board or commissioners suspending, dismissing, retiring or reducing any policeman or fireman.

MORE GOOD ROADS.

Somerset county has demonstrated that, on one point at least, it keeping up with the times. Its Freeholders have just awarded contracts for the building of two more stretches of macadam roads. The movement in behalf of "good roads" is now well looked upon by the people of that county and the farmers are profiting thereby in material fashion.

Warren county has actually fallen into line and appropriated an amount necessary to build a few miles of good roads. The cause has been hard fought by the anti-progressive ones in Warren but they have finally been defeated and Warren has fallen into line, late but better late than never.

It is Hunterdon county which still remains lost to a realizing sense of the needs of its population. That county figures but little now in the industrial prosperity of New Jersey and it will be relegated to even greater obscurity unless the people of Hunterdon awake to the situation without delay.

While there is naturally some opposition against Senator Chas. A. Reed for State treasurer by those who have another candidate for the place, it is conceded by all that he is a very formidable candidate for the place. He has already been pledged the support of a goodly number of legislators and more are likely to be in line for him when the time comes. While the Senator possesses qualifications that will be of little value in that office, there is no question but he is prefectly fitted to fill the place.

A decision is expected tonight regarding the choice of New Jersey's next United States Senator, to fill the place left vacant by the death of Gen. W. J. Sewell. The long talked-of caucus of the members of the State Legislature is called for this evening and something definite is expected to result from the session. If South Jersey can unite its forces on one candidate, than there is an excellent showing of his election. Otherwise, it is sure to be either John W. Griggs or John F. Dryden.

Bayonne is soon to have a new fence separating the tracks at that point. The people of that city will do well if they demand at once that the fence be painted white. It will be remembered that Vice President Warren approved of that idea. If Bayonne called his attention to its new fence, perhaps the trouble could be averted now.

Bloomingdale's large establishmeut, in New York, was built up from a small concern (dependent on neighborhood custom) chiefly by liberal newspaper advertising, declares the Philadelphia Record. The manager considers both window display and newspaper advertising as indispensable to the fullest success.

Although the weather at the inaugural ceremonies at Trenton yesterday was by no means ideal, Governor Murphy and his friends managed to make quite an event of it.

CITY OFFICES.

Common Council Will Soon Hold a Meeting to Decide Where They are to be Located.

There was some talk of a special meeting of the Common Council for tomorrow evening, but the chances are it will not be held until Monday evening, the time being too short to issue a call for this week. The meeting will be called especially for the purpose of deciding whether there shall be a change in the city offices from the present location to the Smalley building on North avenue.

When the meeting is held the committee having the matter in charge will make a report. As yet it is not known what that report will be, but in justice to the parties interested it is considered only fair that the question be decided as soon as posisible. If the Council is going to move, Mr. Coward wants to know it so that he may arrange to lease his offices. If the Council is not to move, Smalley Brothers want to know it so that they can look for other tenants.

Another matter which will probably come before the Council will be a request from the Board of Heatlh for an appropriation to meet the expenses attendant upon the recent extra work.

MORE WIRES UNDERGROUND.

Believed That This Year Will See Fire Alarm Wires There Too.

Among the improvements proposed for the coming year in this city is the continuance of the work of placing the electric light and telephone wires underground. Much progress has been made thus far in this work and both companies hope to make greater headway this year.

It is also in the line of possibilities that the fire alarm wires may be placed underground this year. This is urged by Chief Doane, of the fire department, and favored by many other officials.

JUST EIGHTEEN.

Event Was Celebrated With Party for Miss Bessie Martin.

In honor of her eighteenth birthday a party was given to Miss Bessie Martin, at her home on Jackson avenue, last evening. There were thirty guests present, a number of them being from Somerville, Raritan and Scotch Plains. Music and dancing were the features of the occasion.

The parlors were decorated with flowers, the color effect being pink and white. Mrs. Horace J. Martin and Mrs. Lynn Woolley received. Refreshments were served during the evening. Miss Martin received a number of handsome presents in remembrance of the occasion.

Installation of Officers.

At the regular meeting of St. Patrick's Alliance to be held this evening, the recently-elected officers will be installed after which an entertainment and smoker will be given. The committee to be in charge has arranged a lengthy programme and promises an excellent time.

Lunch-Box Social.

The Retail Clerks' Association will hold a lunch-box social in the rooms on West Front street Thursday evening. Friends of the association will be invited to attend.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

NEW MARKET.

Mrs. Mary Runyon, an aged widow resident of this place, was buncoed out of a small sum of money Monday in a clever manner by a stranger who has departed for parts unknown. Monday this man called on Mrs. Runyon as the representative of a writing paper concern. When he found he could not sell her anything he unfolded to her a scheme which would greatly benefit her in a pecuniary way. Mrs. Runyon drew three envelopes from a package the man had and found they contained $7. Then the stranger persuaded her to get $13, which was all she had in the house, to invest in the lottery. He took the $13 and the $7 which Mrs. Runyon had drawn and placed them in an envelope which he seemingly gave to her, telling her to lay it away until he should call again in the afternoon. The envelope was then to contain a larger sum of money than at first. This sum was to be divided between the two. As the man did not appear at the appointed time Mrs. Runyon opened the envelope, which was of course empty. It is said several others were nearly taken in by the clever rascal.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Scotch Plains came near having a mad dog scare yesterday afternoon. A hound dog, belonging to John Rikerson, of Bartle avenue, began acting strangely and his owner became afraid that the animal had the rabies. The dog broke its rope and started for the village, closely followed by Rikerson. The animal was corralled in William Corey's yard and shot by a passing driver who happened to have a revolver. The dog was probably only suffering from a fit, but his owner thought it would be better to shoot the animal than to run the risk of its biting anyone.

MORE FREE VACCINATION

CITY BOARD OF EDUCATION HAS ARRANGED FOR IT AT SCHOOLS.

Written Consent of Parents Will First be Required—Most of Children Have Been Vaccinated.

Careful investigation made by Superintendent Maxson and the teachers, shows that the greater part of the children in the city schools have now been vaccinated. In some classes every pupil has been vaccinated, although in some cases the vaccination was done some years ago. In order to secure, if possible, the vaccination of the small remainder, the school department has arranged to have the medical examiners at each school next week to vaccinate free of charge all children whose parents give their consent. No child will be vaccinated without the definite written consent of each parent.

Superintendent Maxson is now arranging to send out cards for the signature of all parents of children who are still unvaccinated. The same carefulness, delicacy and consideration will be exercised in the operation that would be in the physician's own office.

In the higher grades, opportunity will be given for revaccination of those who were vaccinated more than five years ago, or whose vaccination did not take. It is believed that all such would be safer if revaccinated, but for these also, a definite written consent of the parent will be required. All the vaccinations will be free of cost to the parent.

CHIEF IN BED.

Marshal Campbell is Off Duty on Account of Vaccination.

Vaccination has proven to be hard on the system of Chief Marshal Campbell, of the borough. Ordinarily the chief is looked upon as an unusually strong man, but the tiny scrapping attending this preventive treatment has had the effect of making him bedfast.

Last night the chief felt much pain in his arm and retired earlier than usual. During the night he was quite ill, but showed improvement this morning. The attending physician says there is no cause for alarm, and the trouble is something that might be expected.

TOO MUCH RAIN.

Martha Washington Council's Dime Social Was, Therefore, Postponed.

The dime social and entertainment, which was to have been given last evening by Martha Washington Council, D. of A., was postponed for two weeks owing to the inclement weather. Those who were present in K. of P. hall were entertained with an informal programme of vocal solos given by the Misses Hattie and Fannie Eger, Mrs. John Manley and Harry Eger.

Skull and Bones Society.

A number of students at the North Plainfield High School met yesterday morning and formed a Skull and Cross Bones society. The following officers were elected: President, Grover Kipsey; vice president, H. C. Brose; secretary, Clarence Hand; treasurer, Frank James.

NATIONAL BANKS.

Comptroller's Report Shows Industrial Prosperity.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Mr. William Barret Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, has made the following statement:

"The summary of the reports of the condition of the national banks at the close of business Dec. 10, 1901, shows the business of the banks to be in a highly satisfactory condition and sets a new high record in aggregate resources, individual deposits, capital and surplus. At the time of the last report, Sept. 30, 1901, these items had reached the highest point ever known, but the reports of Dec. 10 show a still further rise.

"The aggregate resources show an increase of $27,383,341 since Sept. 30, 1901, and $580,640,942 since Dec. 13, 1900, the total now reaching the enormous sum of $5,722,730,635. The individual deposits increased $36,664,732 since the last report and $340,420,443 during the last year, the total now being $2,964,417,965. The capital stock increased since Sept. 30, 1901, by $9,998,784 and for the year by $32,987,259.

"The surplus and undivided profits increased $18,333,171 since Sept. 30, 1901, and $45,002,018 since Dec. 13, 1900. The total capital, surplus and undivided profits on Dec. 10, 1901, was $1,114,235,943."

IMPORTANT SURRENDER.

Insurgent Leader In Batangas Yields Unconditionally.

MANILA, Jan. 22.—The insurgent leader Briccio Laque and his entire command surrendered unconditionally to the American military authorities Jan. 20 in Batangas province. Laque's command had become so scattered that it was unable to hold out any longer. Laque thinks that a number of his men have fled into Cavite province. He has been given one week to round up and hand over his entire party to the Americans. His command has been operating independently in the neighborhood of Mount Macolod, in Batangas province, Luzon.

Captain Benjamin M. Hartshorne, Jr., of the Seventh infantry was shot from ambush and killed Jan. 2 in the eastern part of the island of Samar. Captain Hartshorne was recently transferred from the Ninth to the Seventh infantry.

Owing to the lack of telegraphic communication in Samar the news of Captain Hartshorne's death came by mail in a report from Second Lieutenant George W. Wallace of the Ninth. Lieutenant Wallace gives no further particulars of the occurrence.

Rich Pay Dirt Found.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 22.—The steamer Amur has arrived from Skaguay. She brought news that rich pay dirt has been found running from 4 to 7 cents to the pan on Good Pasture creek. A stampede has taken place. Circle City is deserted. Good Pasture is a tributary of the Chiloa, which flows into the Tanana. Another rich strike has been made on No. 27 claim, El Dorado, where the second bedrock has been reached. Pans ranging in value from $1 to $5 have been taken out. Two prospectors have arrived at Haines Mission with $10,000 as a result of two weeks' work on Mush creek. These miners, A. Bronson and J. F. Miller, would not give the location of their find. At Dawson great interest centers in the Koyukuk, where rich finds have been made. Many are going from Dawson despite the hardships and heavy cost of provisions in the Koyukuk.

Cashier's Mysterious Death.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 22.—John L. Pearce, thirty years of age, prominent in society in Norfolk and cashier of the Standard Oil company's branch here, was found dead by a newsboy. The body was in a small skiff in Roanoke dock. No possible clew as to the cause of Mr. Pearce's presence in that locality has been found.

The Sultan's Astrologer.

The sultan of Turkey's imperial astrologer, a Greek named Kumbaris, is a worthy representative of the prevalent blend of superstition and abysmal ignorance which characterizes Abdul Hamid's court. This worthy had on one occasion the brilliant idea of erecting a modern astronomical observatory in Yildiz Kiosk. When the work was finished and the instruments in place he found he could neither work nor understand them, and consequently a professional astronomer had to be summoned from Naples. This, however, did not diminish the influence of Kumbaris, who succeeded in preventing the distribution of Mauser rifles among the imperial troops in Constantinople, in 1895, at the first news of Armenian disturbances by the sage reminder that the the previous change in the succession took place immediately after a distribution of new guns. The sincerity of this wonderful piece of advice cannot be doubted, as the self-sacrificing genius who offered it to his worthy rose from his sick bed to do so.—Washington Times.

Hop-Toads as an Edible.

A scandal has been caused in Paris by the discovery that the commercial supply of frogs' legs is largely adulterated with corresponding parts of hop-toads. It appears that frog hunters, who pursue the saltatory game in the swamps about Montmorency, Vincennes, Boulogne, and other suitably moist neighborhoods, have been unable to resist the temptation offered by so convenient and easily-captured a relative as the everyday toad, the result being that a large percentage of the so-called frogs' legs sold in the French metropolis are said to be, in reality, toads' legs. The expert in such matters is not easily deceived. He recognizes the hind legs of the undeniable frog by the whiteness of the flesh, those of the toad being yellowish. But everybody cannot be expected to know the difference, and it is painful to think that the notion of the ignorant Englishman, who for generations has called the Frenchman "Johnny Crapaud," should find a basis of fact in his traditional accusation of toad-eating.—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Tobacco in High Places.

Though Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is a nonsmoker and a disbeliever in the weed, the cabinet has a large majority of smokers. The chancellor's companions in abstinence are Lord Salisbury and Arthur Balfour, who are both innocent of tobacco. Mr. Ritchie smokes an occasional cigarette, but is practically an abstainer. On the other hand, Mr. Chamberlain, the duke of Devonshire, and their colleagues in the cabinet all enjoy the cigarette or cigar. The secretary for the colonies is probably the most persistent and habitual smoker among the cabinet ministers. He prefers a cigar—unlike his son, who cultivates the more modern taste for cigarettes.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A New Jersey commuter relates that an intelligent old German, a friend of his, earnestly urged him, when crossing on the ferryboat, to keep his distance, because, the old man said, he had "the grip," and whoever talked with him would be sure to catch it. A few days later the old gentleman was seen again as good as new, and when appealed to to know what the doctor had done for him to set him up so quickly, said he did not have a doctor at all but used Ripans Tabules. He said they were just a wonderful medicine. He was not the first man who has learned that Ripans Tabules are what people require who have the grip, who have had the grip or are expecting to have the grip.

THREE NEW STYLES.

France, Germany and England at Odds Concerning the Modes.

Three distinct styles are being pushed forward for precedence by the modistes of three countries, and an interesting question is, Which will win? In France the determination is that we must adopt the Eugenie modes, which demand twice as much material as the close and severely simple skirt of today. So the Parisian dressmakers are employing every device to bring about this result. The Berlin modistes are not second to those of Paris in designing elegant garments, and Berlin is determined that we shall adopt the empire, with its short waist and long narrow skirt. England still favors the close and becoming shapes and tailored forms, which have become almost inseparably connected with the English woman. America in consequence has an almost cosmopolitan style particularly her own made up of what is best in all these other modes.

While it is true that too many of our women follow blindly the Paris fashions, there are numerous others who seek something peculiar to their own style and figure. Thus we have all that is best and most artistic. And so it happens that we have gowns with flounces, empire robes and princess shapes, all fashionable and all handsome. Perhaps the empire gowns are the least desirable, for not many women look well in them. But when one does, she is a "dream of beauty."

I found today in one of our largest and most important houses a dinner dress in which all the striving styles are most admirably combined. The short waisted effect is produced by narrow graduated tucks which mold the dress to the waist outlines in a graceful manner.

A deep lace and chiffon bertha effect is produced around the neck, and from that to the bottom of the skirt are two lines of the new passementerie motifs done in lace and chenille on chiffon. They are made separate and are sewed on at will. They make an effective trimming. The dress itself is of the new printed liberty, lined with taffeta in the prevailing tint in the liberty, which in this instance is faint purple and green, representing fleurs-de-lis with the petals all broken off from the stem and scattered among the crushed and bent leaves. Some of the designs on this new printed liberty are exquisite and could have been done by no one not a real artist. The upper part of the gown being suggestive of the empire shape, the waist is formed into a princess by the tucks, and the bottom of the skirt has the flounces to recall the days so longed for by the manufacturers. But these flounces are made of black chiffon and are edged with hello gauze ribbons. So are all the ruffles at the waist and sleeves. These sleeves are as composite as is the rest of the gown.

I have been thus particular in giving a description of this dinner dress as it is one of those leaders in styles which can be adopted for a very general use, and it would be very pretty in the new cotton goods which are now being shown charily or in thin and sheer material with chantilly or some light lace, white or ecru, as garniture.

Much stress is laid on the mercerized cottons, and with reason, for they are as pretty as silks and have all the luster without the high price. They also wear better and offer effects that no other cotton goods can approach in point of beauty. Very many of the ginghams of all kinds and chambrays are mercerized, a fact of importance to those who like a richer effect than the plain goods can afford.

In the more expensive summer goods are silk lace net mull, something new and desirable; silk dotted grenadine stripes, "likesilks," many of them in high art Persian effects and designs, and silk crape grenadines. Mercerized silk poplins are entirely new and have an incredible richness and sumptuousness. Mercerized sateens are also very rich in appearance, and they wear well. The rich bloom does not rub off. A dress made of this material has all the luster of the best silk and costs but a mere trifle in comparison.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

"I certainly believe I had that honor," I returned, "and it's just possible, if you continue in your present career, that I may have the pleasure of doing the same for you. Now, look here, my man, there's some one else at the back of this business, and what I want to know is, who put you up to try your hand upon me? Tell me that, and I will let you go and say no more about it. Refuse, and I must try and find some evidence against you that will rid society of you for some time to come. Doubtless it will not be very difficult."

He considered a moment before he replied.

"Well," he said, "I don't know as how I won't tell you, a seein' you're who yer are, and I am not likely to get anything out of the job. It was a rare toff who put us on to it. Silk hat, frock-coat, and all as natty as a new pin. He comes across us down in the Dials, stood us a couple of drinks, turfed out a suvring apiece, and then told us he wanted the gentleman at Rickford's hotel laid by for a time. He told us 'ow yer were in the habit of going about the streets at night for walks, and said as 'ow he would be down near the hotel that evenin' and when yer came out, he would strike a match and light a smoke just ter give us the tip like. We wos to foller yer, and so do the job wherever we could. Then we was to bring your timepiece to him at the back of St. Martin's church in the Strand at midnight, and he would pay us our money and let us keep the clock for our trouble. Oh, yes, 'e's a deep un, jost take my tip for it. He knowed that unless we 'outed' yer properly, we'd not be able to get at your fob, and then 'e'd not have paid out."

"I see, and not being successful on your first attempt, you followed me again to-night, of course by his instructions as before?"

"That's so, guvner," the man replied, "but I reckon we ain't agoin' to see any money this trip. If I'd ha' knowed who you was, I wouldn't a taken this job in hand, not for no money."

"That is where so many of you go wrong," I said. "You fail to make sufficient inquiries before you commence business. And I understand you to say that the gentleman who put you up to it is to be at the back of St. Martin's church to-night?"

"Yes, sir, that's so," said the fellow. "He'll be there all right."

"In that case I think I'll be there to meet him," I continued. "It's a pity he should not see some one, and I suppose you will not keep your appointment?"

"Not if I knows it," the man answered. Then he added, regretfully: "A regular toff—he was—free with his rhino as could be, and dressed up to the nines. He chucked his 'arf soverings about as if they were dirt, he did."

"It is sad to think that, through your folly, no more of them will find themselves into your pocket," I said. "You should have done the trick last night, and you would now be in the full enjoyment of your wealth. As it is you have had all your trouble for nothing. Now, that's all I want to say to you, so you can go and join your amiable companions as soon as you like. Just one word of advice, however, before you depart. Don't go near St. Martin's church to-night, and, when you want to kick another unoffending citizen to death, be sure of your man before you commence operations."

As I said this I rang the bell and told Wilson to show him out, which he did

"Now," I said to myself after he had gone, "this looks like developing into an affair after my own heart. I am most anxious to discover who my mysterious enemy can be. It might be Grobellar, but I fancy he is still in Berlin. There's Tremasty, but I don't think he would dare venture to England. No, when I come to think of it, this business does not seem to belong to either of them."

I took from my pocket the watch which was to have played such an important part in the drama and consulted it. It was just half-past eleven, therefore I had exactly half an hour to get to the rendezvous. I called Wilson and congratulated him on the success which had attended our efforts of that evening.

"It's a good thing you came out of it so well, sir," he said. "They were a nasty pair of chaps, and would have thought as much of 'outing' you as they would of drinking a pot of ale."

"But thank goodness, they didn't succeed," I replied. "As the saying goes, 'a miss has never killed a man yet.' And now, Wilson, you'd better be off home to bed. Turn out the gas before you go. Good night!"

"Good night, sir," he answered, and then I put on my hat and left the office.

I found when I stepped into the street that the character of the night had changed. Thick clouds obscured the sky, and a few drops of rain were falling. At first I felt inclined to take a cab, but on second thoughts I changed my mind, and putting up my umbrella strode along in the direction of St. Martin's church.

The theaters were over by this time, and the streets were beginning to grow empty. I passed the Gaiety where a middle-aged gentleman, decidedly intoxicated, was engaged in a noisy altercation with a policeman, who was threatening to take him to Bow street if he did not go quietly home, and at last approached the spot for which I was making. I took up my position on the darker side of Holywell street, and waited. So far I seemed to have the thoroughfare to myself, but I had still some three or four minutes to wait.

At last midnight sounded, and as I heard it I concealed myself more carefully in my doorway and watched. I was not to be kept long in suspense, for the new day was scarcely three minutes old when a hansom drove up to the other side of the church, and a man alighted. He paid off the man and wished him good night, and then came along the roadway at the back of the church. From where I stood I could see his figure distinctly, but was not able to distinguish his face. He was dressed in a black cloak, and wore a deer-stalker hat upon his head. That he was the man I wanted I felt sure, for what would anyone else be doing there at such an hour? That he was surprised at not finding his bravoes awaiting him was very certain, for he looked up the street, down the street, peered into Holywell street, where, thank goodness, he did not see me, then along the Strand in a westerly direction, and afterwards came and took up his position within half a dozen paces of where I was hidden. Presently he took a cigar case from his pocket, opened it, selected a weed, and struck a match to light it. The flame illumined his face so that I could see it distinctly. If I had not had myself well under control, I believe I should have uttered an exclamation of surprise that could not have failed to attract attention. The man who had set those rascals on to try and get rid of me was none other than Mr. Edward Bayley, the managing director of the Santa Cruz Mining company of the Argentine Republic!

Here was a surprise indeed! What on earth did it all mean?

LODGE OPENS DEBATE.

Long Discussion of Philippine Tariff Bill Begun.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—For nearly three hours yesterday the senate had under consideration the Philippine tariff bill. The measure was made the unfinished business and probably will hold that position of preference until it shall have been voted on finally.

The debate was opened by Mr. Lodge (Mass.), chairman of the committee on the Philippines.

Mr. Rawlins (Utah) delivered a vigorous speech in support of the minority substitute, in which independence was promised to the Filipino people so soon as a stable government could be established in the Philippines. His discussion of the general Philippine question covered much of the ground that has been gone over during the past two years. Throughout he was accorded careful attention.

Representative William Alden Smith (Mich.), a member of the house committee on foreign affairs, has introduced a resolution directing the state department to request the British government to withhold the sentence of death passed on Commander Scheepers, who is about to be shot.

The house committee on rules decided on a change of the rules so as to exclude the general public from the floor when the house is not in session except on card of admission from a member of congress.

"SCHLEY AND SANTIAGO."

First Copy of New Naval History Leaves the Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—The first copy of "Schley and Santiago" has left the presses of the W. B. Conkey company. The book contains many striking historical events, including facsimiles of autograph letters. The following letter, bearing the admiral's signature and dated Hotel Richmond, Washington, Jan. 1, 1902, referring to the author, says:

"Mr. Graham served with me on the Brooklyn from the beginning to the end of the campaign against Cervera's fleet. He was in a position in the open to know the facts of all the operations against it and has given them as he saw them. The personal views and criticisms of the author I do not indorse, though the facts of the story of the movements and operations of the flying squadron as he tells them in the book are correct so far as I can remember."

The publishers will send to President Roosevelt a copy of the edition de luxe and within a few days will start a special messenger to Europe, where he will first deliver to the American embassador in London two copies of the book, one of them to be presented to King Edward VII. As claimed by the author and publishers, it will be the first presentation of the official history of the naval campaign of the flying squadron from the time it left Hampton Roads until the end.

SEVEN BURNED TO DEATH.

Fire In a Lumber Camp Where Forty Were Sleeping.

HAMBLETON, W. Va., Jan. 22.—In the early morning Camp 5 of the Otter Creek Boom and Lumber company, several miles from here in the forest, took fire and burned so rapidly that seven of the forty men who were asleep in the building failed to get out and were burned to death.

It was not more than five minutes from the time when the alarm was given until there was no chance of escape. The camp was 22 by 50 feet and the upper part all in one room, and in this the forty men were sleeping. Two very small windows and the narrow stairs afforded the only ways of escape, and those who went to the windows, a dozen or more, had to jump twelve or fifteen feet, the others rushing down the steps like sheep, pushing and tumbling and falling over each other. After they were out some of the men inside could be seen in the flames, but not a cry came from the building. The dead were almost entirely cremated. There were scarcely forty pounds of the flesh and bones of all seven brought here last night in a little box.

The men who escaped lost their clothing and were compelled to travel through eight inches of snow, almost naked, to another camp a mile away.

Still Insists He Is Manners.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 22.—Valet Edouard Kern, wanted in New York for the Thebaud robbery, has been removed from Gretna to the New Orleans prison. Klein and West, the men charged with stealing the jewelry which Kern himself stole, have been placed on trial in the criminal court, but their case was postponed until Saturday. Kern therefore is not likely to be taken east before Saturday night. Kern when arraigned as a material witness said his name was Manners. He would not answer to the name of Kern.

Board of Health as an isolation hospital. He then gave a description of the hospital as one of the best equipped in New Jersey, with a capacity of thirty. He said that the Board of Healh is taking every precaution to prevent a spread of the disease by common sense mehods and will continue to do so.

Dr. T. H. Tomlinson gave an interesting history of epidemics of small-pox in Plainfield. The first case recorded was in 1871. A man came from Newark to Plainfield to visit his fiance and he was taken ill with the disease. A temporary hospital was erected and he was cared for there. He recovered and afterward married the young woman of this city.

He spoke of another case, where a man called at his office for treatment. The doctor decided he had small-pox, and quarantined him. The man deliberately ignored the quarantine, left his home and went to a saloon at the corner of Front and Somerset streets. There he threatened to shoot the doctor as well as Dr. J. P. Sutphen because they had made a wrong diagnosis, he claimed. Fifteen days later there were nineteen cases of small-pox in the city and the people were greatly alarmed.

Dr. Tomlinson read abstracts from The Constitutionalist published at that time showing how strict the authorities were in vaccination and the care of the disease. At that time there were seven fatal cases. There were 4,000 vaccinations and the expenses of that epidemic were $4,706.

In conclusion, Dr. Tomlinson gave interesting data and said that, with such an excellent Board of Health as at present, he hoped the time would soon come when small-pox would be entirely annihilated.

Dr. W. C. Boone was the last one to present a paper. His subject was Jenner. The doctor gave a very interesting sketch of the man to whom the people owe everything for the discovery of vaccination. He told of the way he has been ridiculed, yet after many years the physicians from one end of the world to the other recognized his discovery as the only safe preventive of a spread of small-pox.

Dr. Hunt, of Metuchen, a member of the State Board of Health, was among those present. Upon invitation he gave a brief history of the condition of small-pox in New Jersey. He said that at present there are 400 cases in this State, chiefly in Camden, Newark, Hudson county, Hackettstown and Sayreville. He said that it is easy to read a paper on small-pox and at the same time make a wrong diagnosis. He urged great care in this, also prompt quarantine, vaccination, prompt removal to an isolation hospital. He advised the physicians to get a census of the population as regards vaccination so that it could be known who has and who has not been treated. If the proper measures were adopted Dr. Hunt said that he did not believe that business in any community should be interferred with at all. He urged common sense along this line.

At the conclusion Dr. Hedges invited the physicians to join in an informal discussion, but as the ground was so fully covered they all declined. After the symposium refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served and a social time followed.

Those of the profession present were Drs. Edward Rushmore, T. H. Tomlinson, J. T. Fritts, M. B. Long, F. C. Ard, E. W. Hedges, W. H. Murray, J. H. Carman, N. W. Currie, Marcus L. Clawson, A. F. VanHorn, B. VanD. Hedges, Rolland Tomlinson, A. H. Dundon, Norman H. Probasco, J. B. Probasco, Peter B. Cregar, Martha Stillman, T. S. Davis, O. L. Jenkins, W. C. Boone, Albert H. Pittis, and Health Officer Thurlow, of this city; Dr. Hunt, of Metuchen; Dr. Long, of Somerville, and Dr. Cortright, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York.

T. A. B. FAIR.

Rain Kept Many Away, But the Evening Was a Pleasant One All the Same.

The second evening of the week's fair being held under the auspices of the T. A. B. Society, of St. Mary's parish, in the hall on West Fourth street, last evening, was not as successful as the preceding night on account of the stormy weather. Those who braved the storm, however, spent an enjoyable time and were well repaid.

Added to the attractions was a large goose placed on exhibition at the entrance of the hall. This will be chanced off and from the numbers of persons who appeared to be interested the contest will undoubtedly be successful in helping fill the coffers of the organization. As a rule the people attending the affair liberally patronized those having some article or other to be chanced off.

During the evening an informal prorgamme was rendered to enliven the occasion. John Moran, the tenor, rendered a number of popular songs, which caught the fancy of the crowd. Some soprano solos were given by Miss Annie Daley and she was liberally applauded for her work. Dancing was the feature of the evening. Eugene O'Reilly's orchetsra furnished the music and those fond of this form of recreation delighted in gliding over the well waxed floor.

The doll contest is one of the principal attractions. The prize is a handsomely gowned doll, which would gladden the heart of any little one. Saturday afternoon the hall will be thrown open for the entertainment of school children, who will be admitted free. A programme is being arranged for the occasion.

EVERY CARE TAKEN IN FREE VACCINATION

Plainfield Board of Health Follows Most Modern Methods in Vaccinating People.

HOW IT IS BEING DONE.

BOARD ROOMS ARE AN INTERESTING PLACE THESE DAYS.

Physicians, Trained Nurses and President C. J. Fisk Find Plenty to Do During the Vaccination Hours.

An hour in the offices of the Board of Health any afternoon at the present time is one that will interest most any person. The free vaccination continues every afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock and there are many things that interest a looker-on.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow, of West Front street, was on duty and he treated nearly twenty-five persons between the ages of seven and forty. Heretofore, the physician on duty has had several trained nurses present to assist in the cleansing of the arm and the placing of the shield afterward. Among those who have assisted in this way are Miss Edith Anderson, city nurse; Miss Minnie G. Morse, Miss Hazel DeLany and Mrs. E. R. Taylor. They have been valuable assistants in handling the large crowds that have daily visited the free dispensary. Yesterday, President C. J. Fisk and Health Officer Leon Thurlow assisted.

When the crowds are large, it is quite an effort to keep anyone moving. President C. J. Fisk, of the board, is generally present, and if not, Health Officer Leon Thurlow is there to usher the people into the little room where the small operation is performed.

The physician asks the person to be treated to uncover the arm. Then this member is thoroughly cleaned. Following this the blood is drawn to the surface through the use of a small piece of ivory. The vaccine is then applied This work requires but a short time and the person then goes into another room and waits for the drying process.

After the arm is perfectly dry, the shield is placed in position. This consists of a small piece of sterilized gauze with a strip of adhesive plaster top and bottom. This covers the vaccination and the plaster holds it in position. The little operation does not usually cause any pain, but occasionally a small child will become a trifle frightened. Every part of the operation is attended with antiseptic treatment, thus no risks are taken.

As each person called to be treated the name was recorded in a book kept for that purpose. One interesting case, that of a boy, appeared yesterday afternoon. He was treated several days ago and returned to have the sore looked after. His arm was uncovered, it was noticed that the shield was tied down with a long piece of common string. The string cut deep into the flesh, leaving ridges. When questioned the boy said that it was thus tied partly to keep the shield in position and partly to keep the arm from swelling.

HEALTH BOARD NOTICE

A physician will be in attendance at the offices of the Board of Health, in the Smalley building, North avenue, every afternoon this week from 4 to 5 o'clock, to vaccinate any who may apply and to inspect any former vaccinations that may need attention.

President of the Board of Health.

DELICACIES NEEDED.

Contributions for Isolation Hospital Will be Greatly Appreciated.

Any person having delicacies of any kind that they would like to send to the isolation hospital, can do a favor by donating the same for that institution. A postal to Health Inspector William Addis will secure the removal of the goods to the hospital. The patients, as well as the nurses would enjoy any such delicacies. Yesterday a donation of some very fine oranges was gratefully received from a woman living in East Front street. The supplies of old linen and muslin are coming in satisfactorily and will be put to good use. Persons so desiring can leave either delicacies or linen at the Board of Health offices.

MERRY TIMES AT THE FAIR

GOOD CROWD GATHERED AT T. A. B. HALL LAST EVENING.

Tonight Will be Banner Night of the Fair—Visiting Societies are Expected.

The fair at T. A. B. hall went merrily on its way last evening, the attendance being a record breaker. The usual good time was had by all and the numerous attractions were liberally patronized.

By way of entertainment in addition to the dancing which is a feature, vocal selections were rendered last evening by Miss Anna Daley, John Moran, of this city, and John Conway, of Garwood. They were longly applauded.

This evening promises to be the banner night. In honor of the visiting T. A. B. societies from Bound Brook, Elizabethport and South Plainfield, the committee has arranged a lengthened programme. There will by vocal selections by several favorites, a repetition of the backward dance which has already been given and a boxing match between two well known Plainfielders. The dancing will be continued longer than usual.

Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock admission will be free to school children. Several contests will close in the evening.

HE RECITED FAMOUS WORKS

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN AT REFORM HALL BY RICHARD FOOTE.

Tragedian From California Gave Recital for the Local School Children.

Richard Foote, a tragedian from California, gave a free entertainment in the form of a recital at Reform Hall, last evening. The affair was tendered to the pupils of the city and borough schools, and was well attended.

It was called a Shakespearean recital, but notwithstanding that fact the programme was made up to some extent from other sources. In opening he made a short address on the use of elocutionary training, and had something to say of his career as a speaker and actor.

Hamlet's advice to the player and also his soliloquy on death were rendered in an able manner. This was followed by "The Seven Ages." Later in the evening he recited the trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice," and it served to show his ability.

Among the other pieces which engaged his attention and entertained the audience were Meredith's "Aux Italiens" and Poe's "Bells." He also gave several humorous selcetions. A feature of the evening was the singing of "Beyond the Gates of Paradise" by Miss Suzanne Kranz. Miss Margaret Hoffman acted as accompanist.

Returned Missionary to Speak.

Mrs. Booth, a returned missionary from Central Africa, will speak in the Christian Endeavor meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday evening. She will exhibit a number of curios. The meeting promises to be of great interest and a cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

INDIVIDUAL COMMUNION CUPS WERE ADOPTED

Decision in Their Favor at the Business Meeting of the First Baptist Church.

BEEN LONG CONSIDERED

COMMITTEE REPORTED RESULT OF CENSUS MADE OF OPINIONS.

While the Response Was Not Complete It Was Sufficient to Show a Majority Favored the Plan.

Following the mid-week prayer service held in the First Baptist church, last evening, a church business meeting was held when a report was received concerning the adoption of the individual communion cups. This question has been more or less discussed at this church for several months past. Finally, it was decided to appoint a committee and to secure a census of opinion of the church members. While the response was not as large as it should have been, the committee, of which E. L. Bonny is the chairman, felt ready to submit a report.

This was done last evening, when it was learned that a majority favored the individual communion cups. There were very few votes in opposition, the number being twelve. Some one thought as the vote was rather small it might be well to secure a larger vote. No action was taken along this line, however, and it is now assured that the modern method will be used.

A committee will investigate the style, kind and price of these cups and report at an early date. There was no report last evening as to the kind of cup desired or the estimated cost, although it was hinted that the introduction of the cups might entail an expense of between $200 and $300. This was a rough estimate.

Those who favor the individual cups are much pleased with the result. They have long felt that this method is the only safe one so far as sanitation is concerned.

Before the meeting adjourned it was decided to withdraw the right-hand-of-fellowship from David Curtis, who united with the church several years ago.

TALKED ON RUSSIA.

Former Mayor W. L. Saunders Addressed Members of the Current Events Club.

The members of the Current Events Club, of North Plainfield, and a number of their friends enjoyed a rare treat yesterday afternoon in the talk on Russia by Former Mayor Saunders at the home of Mrs. John Clapp, 84 Mercer avenue. Mr. Saunders recently spent a month in Russia.

After giving a clear, geographical description of the country with a brief, historical sketch, he entered into vivid representations of the manners and customs of the people with many personal reminiscenses of the keenest interest. His description of a dinner party at the home of a Russian where he was entertained and the account of his stay with a Russian doctor, named Sergey Nicholavich Kalatchevski, were most entertaining. He gave most valuable information regarding the country, the czars, the serfs, their devotion to the Greek church and their lack of intelligence, putting Russia only a little in advance of China in civilization.

Mr. Saunders is a close observer and a deep thinker and his impressions of Russia so charmingly told cannot but enhance the interest of the members of the Current Events Club, who have taken this country for their winter's study.

ENDED HIS LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

D. C. Hoyt, of the County Hotel, Somerville, Committed Suicide This Morning.

HE DIED IMMEDIATELY.

Brooded Over the Death of His Adopted Daughter—Taken Ill Two Days Ago—Fired Both Barrels Into Abdomen—Has a Son Living in Plainfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 23—Despondency over the death of an only daughter is the reason assigned for D. C. Hoyt, proprietor of the County Hotel, committing suicide in his room there at 9:30 this morning. During the temporary absence of his wife who had been nursing a two day's illness, he took a double barrelled shot gun from a closet and emptied both charges in his abdomen. He was found lying in a pool of blood a few minutes later by the frantic wife but died without speaking to her.

Ever since the death of his pretty adopted daughter, Miss Anna Hoyt, which occurred a few months ago, Hoyt has been moody and inconsolable. She was an estimable and popular young woman and up to within a short time before her death, lived at Plainfield. He brooded to such an extent that his health became impaired and he broke down Monday.

Hoyt was fifty years old and leaves one son, Marcus Hoyt, of Plainfield, who is associated with W. H. Sebring, the clothier. He was well known and prominent throughout the county.

LIVED BY STEALING.

Self-Confessed Thief Given a Heavy Sentence in City Court This Morning.

Charles Layton, claiming the county seat of Hunterdon as his permanent address, was found by Patrolman Higgins on Park avenue, yesterday afternoon, trying to sell a $12 overcoat for 75 cents. He couldn't or wouldn't explain how it came to be in his possession and so he was locked up.

In the city court, this morning, he frankly admitted the stealing the coat from a house somewhere on the road between Dunellen and Bound Brook. He slipped in a back door, he said, and found it within easy reach.

He also admitted stealing a number of smaller articles from the house of R. K. Ramsey, of Bound Brook. These were found in his possession. He had made his living for the past two months by begging and stealing on the side. He was sentenced to $50 and fifty days.

Garrett J. Powers to Wed.

J. The wedding will take place the first week in February. Miss Martin is a teacher in the Newark public schools. Her father is the superintendent of the Lister Agricultural and Chemical Works, of that place, and is well known among the business men of the State.

Charged With Crooked Work.

David Antonio, a Porto Rican, who speaks seven languages, was arraigned before Justice Hand, this morning, charged by C. B. Nicholson, of the First National Bank building, with obtaining money under false pretenses. Enough evidence was furnished to warrant his being held for the Grand Jury. Bail was fixed at $100. Counsellor George Ball appeared for the State and Robert M. Clark for Antonio.

Nearly Killed by Robbers.

James Donahue, formerly of this city, but now of New York, where he has been employed on one of the dry docks, was attacked on the docks a few nights ago by robbers and very nearly killed. As it was, three ribs and a leg were broken. He is now in Bellevue Hospital. His condition is quite critical and there are doubts as to his recovery.

CEDAR BROOK TENNIS CLUB IS FLOURISHING

Annual Meeting Held Last Evening and Officers for the New Year Were Chosen.

THE CLUB HAS NO DEBT.

POSSESSES TWO COURTS WHICH ARE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION.

Another Meeting February 7, When Some Amendments to the Constitution Will be Introduced—Will Enlarge Membership.

Although only a year has passed since its organization, the Cedar Brook Tennis Club is now in flourishing condition. Its progress was revived at the annual meeting of the club, held at the residence of the president, J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue, last evening.

The election of officers was held which resulted as follows: President, J. Hervey Doane; vice president and chairman of the tennis committee, Charles B. Morse; secretary, Alden E. Moore; treasurer, James A. Stafford. All the officers were re-elected except the secretary, Fred M. Letson, who will be unable to take any active part in the club's affairs this year on account of a change in business interests. The club is entirely free from debt and has a small balance in the treasury. The two courts on LaGrande avenue, near Richmond street, are in good condition and completely surrounded by wire screens. Last year the courts were graded and now will only require surface improvements to put them in fine condition. The membership of the club is full and there is a waiting list but the membership will probably be somewhat enlarged this spring. Five new applications were received last night.

An adjourned meeting will be held Friday evening, February 7, when a new constitution will be introduced. Charles B. Morse was appointed a committee to prepare it. It will provide for a board of governors to assume the management of the club under proper limitations. It will also provide dues for associate members and an age limit for active members.

SNEAK THIEF WORKED.

Made Quite a Haul at McVey's Hotel Monday Morning, and Then Escaped.

A sneak thief gained entrance to the upper rooms of McVey's hotel over the restaurant, Monday morning, supposedly at 11 o'clock, and made away with considerable loot belonging to boarders and the proprietor. The fellow worked undisturbed and became so emboldened as to even take linen from the beds.

The police and proprietor of the hotel made an attempt to conceal the facts of the robbery but in spite of their caution it leaked out. Several persons are under suspicion.

PUBLICLY INSTALLED.

Recently-Elected Officers of Gesang and Turn Verein Placed in Office.

A public installation of officers was held by the Gesang and Turn Verein in Saengerbund Hall last evening and a crowd of seventy-five persons enjoyed the occasion. After the formal exercises, music, dancing, speechmaking and refreshments were the features.

During the evening addresses were made by Wm. Gardner, the newly-elected president, and Henry Haur. and the new treasurer. Anton and John Gaub furnished the music for the dances. The refreshments were served in the basement.

Those installed were: President, Wm. Gardner; vice president, Jacob Gaub; treasurer, Henry Haurand; corresponding secretary, Henry Bergen; financial secretary, John Retzer; marshal, Matthias Menzenbach; flag bearer, Charles Meyer, Jr.; guides, Charles Meyer, Jr., and Herman Bremmer.

In the New York news in the current issue of the Coal Trade Journal appears the following item of local interest: "All who know our dear friend, John F. MAY GIVE UP BANQUETS.

Series of Dinners to Agents of Prudential Co. May be Abolished.

The previous custom of the Prudential Insurance Company in giving a series of dinners every year to the district agents, is likely to be abolished this year. It is not the expense that has led to this decision, but it is realized by the superintendents, who are obliged to attend these functions, that it is quite a task to partake of so many dinners within a few weeks. While this is not known definitely to be the reason for doing away with the banquets, it is believed to be so. The banquets have always been a source of pleasure and benefit to the agents and has acted as an incentive to greater effort.

LAKEWOOD RAMMED AGAIN

COLLIDED WITH BOUND BROOK IN ESCAPING ANOTHER FERRYBOAT.

New Central Ferryboats in Collision on North River Yesterday Afternoon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, Jan. 23—The Lakewood and the Bound Brook, both boats on the New Jersey Central ferry line, figured in a smashup in North river yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. In an effort to escape colliding with the Chicago, of the Pennsylvania Railroad line, the Lakewood rammed the Bound Brook. There were a number of Plainfielders on the Lakewood at the time, but although jarred by the sudden impact none were injured.

The two boats met in mid-stream and had safely passed each other, when the Chicago loomed up in the fog before the Lakewood. The captain of the latter boat promptly ordered full steam astern and thus escaped a probable calamity. In doing so, however, he knew of the danger in the rear. The sister boats on the Central collided. Both boats were damaged.

The Lakewood's stern was badly smashed, and a lot of the joiner work ruined. Both boats were laid up for repairs as soon as the passengers were landed safely.

THE PROPOSED NIGHT SCHOOL

ORGANIZATION MAY BE DELAYED FOR A LITTLE WHILE.

Will First Learn Sentiment of the Members—Met the Prospective Teachers.

The members of the Young Men's Association of Hope chapel, at its meeting Tuesday evening, had the pleasure of meeting the instructors who have offered their services for the proposed night school, which is being organized at the chapel. No definite steps were taken in the matter, but the teachers were present and the boys were given the opportunity of making their acquaintance.

Those who will be in charge are: Wililam P. Taylor, mathematics and bookkeeping; Duese VanFleet, English; and William B. Gilbert, writing. All are desirous of helping the boys and have volunteered their services with this end in view. It is possible that a class in mechanical drawing will also be added, but no instructor has been decided upon.

Some of the members are inclined to defer actual study for a short time owing to the pressure brought upon them by preliminary work for the projected entertainment. In order to get the full sentiment of the members a committee, composed of Fred Dixon, George Whitly and Albert Grieb, was appointed to investigate fully and report at the next meeting.

BURNS' BIRTHDAY.

It Will be Observed in Plainfield by the Thistle Club.

Saturday will be the anniversary of the birthday of the Scottish poet, Robert Burns. The occasion will be fittingly celebrated by the Thistle Club, the representative Scotch organization of this city. An entertainment will be given in Skandia Hall, on East Front street, commencing at 6 o'clock and lasting until 11. A committee, consisting of Thomas Hendry, William Gray and William Nicholson, is preparing a programme which from all events will eclipse the lengthy one given at last year's celebration.

LARGE WEDDING HELD AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD

Miss Lenwilla I. Faulks Was Wedded to Harry I. Tappen, of Newark.

HELD AT BRIDE'S HOME.

PRETTY BRIDAL PARTY ASSISTED IN THE CEREMONY.

Was One of The Social Events of the Season at South Plainfield—Ceremony Performed by Rev. J. A. Cubberley.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

South Plainfield, Jan. 23—Miss Lenwilla Irene Faulks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Faulks, of Maple avenue, and Harry Irving Tappen, of Newark, were married at the bride's home last evening, before a large assemblage of friends from Elizabeth, Tarrytown, Franklin Park, Stelton, Freehold, Plainfield and this town. It was a brilliant nuptial function and one of the most important events of the season in the social life of this place.

The interior of the old and quaint homestead was decorated with Christmas greens and potted plants and palms. Bows of white ribbon judiciously distributed here and there added to the pleasing effect. The tables were trimmed with pink carnations.

It was precisely at 7 o'clock when Miss Hazel Myers, of Elizabeth, a cousin of the bride, commenced the opening strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin." At that moment the bridal party entered the parlor where the clergyman was awaiting to pronounce the solemn words of marriage.

The ushers came first. They were Frank K. Faulks, the bride's brother, Harry J. Manning, Earl Myers, of Elizabeth, and Fred N. Manning. Preceding the bride, who was accompanied by her father, William E. Faulks, was the maid-of-honor, Miss Emma C. Faulks, the sister of the bride.

At a spot designated by a rug, the groom and his best man, joined the bridal party and the nuptial ceremony was performed. Rev. J. A. Cubberley, pastor of the First Baptist church of which the bride is an active member, was the officiating clergyman.

After Mr. and Mrs. Tappen had received the hearty congratulations of the guests a wedding supper was served, soon after which they departed for a destination that was kept a profound secret. For favors dainty boxes of wedding cake were given.

The bride was gowned in white silk trimmed with point d'esprit lace. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Her veil of tulle was caught up with a spray of smilax.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Emma C. Faulks, was gowned in white organdie trimmed with cream lace. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, tied with white ribbon. Pink roses were the boutinnieres of the ushers. The flower girls, who were Miss Marion Bigley and Miss Marion Faulks, were neatly attired in white, trimmed with blue.

At the conclusion of their short honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Tappen will repair to their new home at 14 Vanderpool street, Newark, where the groom will resume his duties as clerk with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. David Bigley, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorn, Miss Gladys Thorn, Howard Snoden, Mrs. Reune B. Manning, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Manning, Miss Nellie Manning, Mr. and Mrs. David Randolph, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Cubberley, and Jas. H. Cubberley, of South Plainfield; Miss C. Maud Uhler, of Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Myers, Mrs. P. V. Servis; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Faulks, Wilfred Faulks, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Myers, Earl Myers, Mrs. Samuel Stelle, the Misses Hettie and Viola Stell and Isaac Faulks, all of Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. Ira VanArsdale, of Bound Brook; Miss Clara E. Ward, of Vernon, N. Y.; James Faulks, Jr., of Madison, N. J.; F. N. Webster, of Tarrytown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. John Stelle, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Stelle, Mrs. Angie Stelle, Miss Phobe Stelle, Mrs. Lizzie Conse and Miss Lillian Conse, of Stelton; Mr. and Mrs. V. TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

An oil portrait of ex-Gov. Green has been added to the gallery in the Governor's reception room at the State House, Trenton. It is a passably fair portrait. This is the third portrait added to the State gallery since the last session of the Legislature. Adjt.-Gen. Stryker's portrait has been placed in the main hall and Judge Lippincott's portrait in the Supreme Court room. No portraits are admitted to the State gallaries until the person represented is dead. The State officers' portraits are hung in the rotunda and corridors, the Governors' in the Governor's room, the Judges' in the Supreme Court chamber and the Chancellors' in the Chancery chamber. The number of portraits has already become quite large and in a few years wall space will be exhausted.

Apropos of the beneficial results of vaccination, Dr. W. E. Mattison, a justice of the peace, of Somerset street, tells a story of a professional experience of his away back in the 60's.

A family of six, residing in a small town in Morris county, was living in one room, when the father was stricken with small-pox. In less than a week he died. As soon as the case was discovered, Dr. Mattison vaccinated the mother and her four small children. The treatment given one child was unsuccessful and subsequently he vaccinated the little one again. It, too, was taken with the dreaded disease, but easily won the fight. When the father had died his body lay in that room for twenty-four hours, where all the family were. When the little child was stricken the others were with it. There were no more daeths to record, after the father had passed away.

The doctor says that this is but one of the many experiences he has had with small-pox cases, but it firmly convinced him that vaccination is a marvellous preventive of that dreaded disease.

Lawyers are generally credited with being sharp in a dicker, to the extent that they nearly always come out on the good side, but the set rule sometime fails. This was the case with a local barrister recently who was sadly worsted in a battle with a Plainfield liveryman.

The legal light in question was desirous of purchasing a runabout owned by the keeper of horses, but the price put on it, $140, he deemed too high. He used all manner of persuasion to induce the liveryman to lower the amount, but all to no purpose. The result was that all negotiations were declared off for the time being. A few days afterward the lawyer's wife appeared at the livery and declared her intention of buying a wagon to be given her husband as a birthday surprise. She had heard him remark, she said, that the proprietor was possessed of one which had taken his fancy. The delighted liveryman quickly trundled the runabout to view which he had shown the husband. After talking of its merits for a few moments he declared she could have it for the remarkably low price of $165. Woman like she thought she had stumbled on a decided bargain and at once tendered a check for the amount. The wagon was immediately delivered. The same night the sale was made, the liveryman's phone jingled sharply and on lifting the receiver, he recognized the lawyers voice, just a trifle irritated. Some complaints were exchanged and other things said on the side. The liveryman felt of the check in his pocket, laughed a few and wishing the lawyer nothing but comfort in his new wagon, hung up the receiver.

THEATRICAL.

Those who have been wont to say "there is nothing new under the sun," have certainly never been to Keith's Theatre, New York. Novelty programmes are a feature to which the management lend their constant attention, and have thereby materially aided in placing the name "Keith" upon the pinnacle of vaudeville success. Week after week new faces are seen there, new acts are presented, the latest and most sensational are imported from Europe, and even the most blase theatre-geer has learned by experience that his epicurean tastes can always be gratified by their diversity of talent. Next week Keith's great bill of novelties is headed by the clever monologuist of fistiania, James J. Corbett, better known as "Gentleman Jim," whose success as an entertainer upon the vaudeville stage, has been of meteoric variety, and defies comparison. In his humorous descriptions of the many incidents of importance during his life in the prize ring; his moments of triumph which the whole world felt; his modest manner of speech, and a cultivated elocutionary delivery, have stamped him as the undisputed peer in that line. His success in his new field, as a dress-suit entertainer of refined vaudeville, is a most pronounced evidence of Mr. Keith's encouragement of new artistic ability, and he has surrounded Corbett with a list of vaudeville stars of such magnitude as are seen only upon Keith's stage.

—Attention is called to the recommendation of Charles L. Lewis in the advertisement of the entertainment to be given Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course.

INSIDE FACTS ABOUT THE STATE TREASURER

Newark Call Relates Its View of the Political Fight Over the Appointment.

MR. REED'S CHANCES.

CAUSE OF THE OPPOSITION TO APPOINTMENT OF MR. BRIGGS.

An Old Fight in Mercer With Some Important New Happenings—Newark Call Gives Some Interesting Facts.

There is no doubt, says the Newark Sunday Call, but that the octagonal fight for a United States Senator has entirely overshadowed the contest for the successor to late State Treasurer George B. Swain, so that the campaigning has been more or less under cover, with predilections somewhat of a mystery. The Trenton politicians have not entirely recovered from the moral effect of the appointment of the acting State Treasurer, Frank O. Briggs, so that the storm centre can be really calculated on as being in the region most adjacent to the gilded dome of the State House. The re-election of Frank O. Briggs by the joint meeting of the Legislature is not assured and cannot be accomplished without a remarkable show of hands, particularly on the part of the Mercer leaders and that coterie of statesmen who have for some time made horoscopes on the political horizon on the top floor of the Republican Club, of which Barker Gummere is the president. The Trenton leaders are important and must be looked upon as nominally State leaders, for their geographical condition gives them a wide range of influence among the many statesmen who must, by force of circumstance, come to the State House. They are organized to resist the conditions underlying the appointment of Mr. Briggs, which principal conditions are a solar plexus blow to the candidacy of Barker Gummere for United States Senator and county leader, also an upper-cut to William Hancock, who wants to be re-elected later by the joint meeting as the State Comptroller. Mercer, with its large percentage of office-holders, could not have the important offices named unless ex-Mayor Briggs proved himself a political Hercules, strong enough to move the polished California granite pillars at the front door of the State Capital. The political status of both State Comptroller Hancock and Senatorial Aspirant Barker Gummere has been freely discussed, so that the few words explanatory of Mr. Briggs's position are of much importance and of deep significance. He was defeated at the polls because of organized labor influence. His administration had hardly terminated when he was considered for the important office of State Treasurer. It is openly stated in the public places of Trenton that Barker Gummere and State Comptroller Hancock contributed indirectly to his defeat. Mr. Briggs' friends believe it and so have declared it. He stood for the influence of Fred A. Roebling and ex-Assemblyman Charles Roebling in municipal politics. The Robelings declared a social feud on Barker Gummere and State Comptroller Hancock was implicated only because he had played Damon to Gummere's Pythias. The Roeblings, who were anti-Gummere, never defeated the County Clerk, but they curtailed his influence. It was through the several Roeblings that Goernor Voorhees was influenced to name Mr. Briggs, who is the assistant treasurer of the Roebling Company.

There was a sign, no bigger than a man's hand that indicated that the present Clerk of Chancery, Edward C. Stokes, would come very near landing the United States Senatorial honor. That would mean a new president for the Mechanics National Bank of Trenton, one of the so-called depositories for the million or more dollars which the State carries on hand daily. Mr. Briggs is interested in the Broad Street Bank, while Fred W. Roebling, who is the "Mr. Roebling, of Trenton," is interested in the Mechanics Bank. If the proper shift of events and individuals is made, it is a question whether Mr. Briggs could not be either a bank president at $4,000 a year or State Treasurer at $6,000, or both, according to the cut of the cards. The Mechanics Bank handles from a quarter to a half million dollars of the State money continuously; the rest of it is distributed around the State, where it draws no interest, but where its permanency as a deposit confers profitable favors on the banks who are blessed with directors who have a pull. The Mechanics Bank in Trenton probably earns the favor of a no-interest-bearing deposit because it is forced to do all the hard work of paying the checks issued on the salary list. It is apparent that the interest of any one banking institution of Trenton in the election of a State Treasurer is one paramount with its continuation of prosperity.

If Mr. Briggs is elected State Treasurer it places obstacles in the way of the perpetuation of State Comptroller Hancock. Mr. Hancock has a fine Italian hand that has for years pulled the wires and never pulled the wrong one. Mr. Briggs has no political experience and did all his local campaigning under the guidance of an astute steering committee.

Former Senator Robert Williams, of Passaic, came into the breach. He had long over-due debt of the State of New Jersey. He reached the conclusion that it was a good time to realize for himself. So he claimed, pushed his claim, but found, as he always found, that he was interfering with somebody else. He was an obstacle to the present Secretary of State Wurts getting his reappointment, and former Attorney-General John W. Griggs getting the proper support for United States Senator, so Mr. Williams was persuaded to get out, and having gone out so often before, it caused no nervous prostration. But factional strife goes on just the same in and out of the political clubrooms and editorial sanctums, as it has before.

Senator Charles Augustus Reed, of Somerset, having adjured the early resolution to be a Vice Chancellor, jumps into the State Treasurership contest. He starts off with enough pledged votes to make him a marked man in the contest. He is in no way to make any significant deals, but he has scattered strength that is likely to make him an easy candidate. A consensus of opinion taken yesterday showed that Senator Reed has a chance on the first roll call. His term expires with this session, so that he can promptly resign without in any way jeopardizing the work of the legislative session.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

State Comptroller Hancock is out for Senator Reed for State Treasurer He says: "It is not to be expected that Mercer can have two of the State offices, and if Briggs were elected my chances for success at the end of my term would be lessened."—Jersey City Journal.

Senator Strong has again introduced a bill appropriating $12,000 for the study of ceramic and clay working, in connection with the State Agricultural College. This bill came very near becoming a law last year, and with Senator Strong in a much more influential position in the Legislature, this session, he ought to be able to put it through.—New Brunswick Home News.

CINCINNATI SHOCKED

Packing House Reported Robbed by Trusted Employee.

SHORTAGE MAY REACH $400,000.

Schroth Company's Treasurer and Secretary Has Resigned After Turning Over $72,000 In Personal Property to the Firm.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23.—Sensational reports are published ere of an alleged shortage in the books of Theodore Braemer, who resigned last Sunday his position as secretary and treasurer of the J. & F. Schroth Packing company of this city. The story as first published alleged a shortage of from $160,000 to $400,000, extending over a period of twenty years, and claimed that Mr. Braemer had turned over all of his property and chattels in trust pending an examination of the books by experts. Braemer denied that there was any defalcation, but admitted that he had turned $72,000 in personal property over to Harlan Cleveland, his attorney, and John W. O'Hara, attorney for the Schroths company. While Braemer talked freely about the case, the Schroths refused to say anything, and the attorneys were also reticent.

Braemer is forty-five years old and has been with the Schroths twenty-seven years, most of the time receiving $25 per week as bookkeeper and in recent years twice that much as secretary and treasurer. The firm did a business of about $1,000,000 a year, which was handled by Braemer.

No reports of similar character ever created such a sensation in this city, as Mr. Braemer always has been regarded as a man of the highest business and social standing. He owns one of the finest residences in the city, and it is furnished with all that art can supply.

In all the sensational reports that have been published no reference is made to him as a fast man or as having any bad habits, such as are usually coupled with such sensations. The attorneys and other interested persons will give no assurance that the report of the experts on the examination of the books will be made public when completed, as they state that every possible difference has already been adjusted satisfactorily by the property that Braemer has turned over in trust. All those interested state that they expected after the meeting last Sunday, at which Braemer resigned, that all differences would be settled without the matter ever becoming public.

Smithsonian Institution Report.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The annual meeting of the board of regents of the Smithsonian institution was held yesterday. Secretary Langley's annual report showed increased aid given researches in this country and in Europe. A special room for children has been opened in the institution building to interest the little people in natural history. Professor Langley said the inadequacy of the building for its 5,000,000 specimens had assumed almost scandalous proportions, and the health of its occupants was breaking down. The bolometer and the galvanometer at the astrophysical observatory, according to the secretary's report, have been so improved that less than a hundred millionth of a degree of heat now may be recognized, and even further progress is likely.

Coniderable damage to buildings has been done by heavy snow on roofs.

Coates Thread company, of which concern he was treasurer and general manager.

LOSSES ON TRAINS.

The annual report of the passenger department of the Lehigh Valley Railroad as regards the matter of baggage handled during the year 1901, brings up a rather interesting point in connection with articles that are left on trains by careless passengers.

The writer had occasion recently to read over a report of a certain railroad, which stated that during the year, 1,270 articles of various description were found in the coaches of passenger trains on that line, not including the articles found in Pullman cars. Of these articles, 288 were claimed and returned to owners, the balance of the number, 982, still remaining in the hands of the baggage department of the company, awaiting claimants.

The law of nearly all states in the Union provides that if these articles are not claimed by the owners within one year, they may be sold at public sale, after due notice, after which the claimant has no right to any article so found. The articles left on trains are varied in character, ranging from books to umbrellas, pocketbooks, wraps, valises, merchandise, etc.

It is hard to explain the low percentage of calls made for such articles left on trains, unless it be that passengers, in the main, do not understand that such articles that are found and turned into the baggage departments of the various railroads, are held there subject to orders of the owners. There are probably some articles that are left on trains by passengers and picked up by other passengers, but as a general thing such articles are found by the trainmen, and turned into the railroad companies' offices, as stated above.

The present small-pox scare has resulted in nearly 7,000 people being vaccinated in city and borough and there is every prospect that that number will run up close to 10,000 before the disease is stamped out. Both city and borough health authorities are now holding "open house" and vaccinating all who desire without cost. Every precaution is taken to make the free vaccination just as well done as that by the physicians in their private offices. The city school authorities have now taken up the work and the school children, who have not been vaccinated heretofore, can be operated on free of charge. The written permission of the parents is required, however.

The project of the Plainfield Clinical Society to treat exhaustively the subject of small-pox for the benefit of the local physicians was a decided success. The disease is one with which many physicians are but slightly acquainted and the facts brought out at the meeting held at the Nurses' Home, Tuesday evening, were of much value to all, particularly at this time.

Slowly but surely the alterations at the city disposal beds are being completed. They were put in condition for use some time ago and the last of the improvements are now being made. The city officials are watching the operation of the new system with much interest and, so far, they are well satisfied with the results.

An experienced merchant says it is "between hay and grass" in his and some other kinds of business—too late for large sales of winter goods with profit, too early to push general lines of spring merchandise, remarks the Philadelphia Record. It is the time, though, to hold clearance sales and to advertise in a way to gain the favor of the people for the future.

While it may be that the local hackmen are obeying the hack ordinance better than before, its provisions are still being constantly violated. The Common Council ought either to see that the law is enforced or build a new one which can be.

Another electric light has been placed in the tunnel at the North Avenue station. It is evident that the visit of the Board of Trade to the office of Vice-President Warren was not without some results.

While there were many Plainfield politicians at the inaugural ceremonies at Trenton, it was with the object of seeing the fun rather "wire pulling" that brought them to the State capital.

On account of the press of advertising, local news will be found today on the third page.

One of the pleasant social events of the week was the card party given by Mrs. Evarts Tracy, of Hillside avenue, for Miss Helen Sprague Martin and Miss Helen Martin, also of Hillside avenue. There were twenty-five guests present and a most delightful evening was spent by the young folks.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. "God's Estimate of Christian Labor" was the subject discussed at the prayer meeting in the Baptist church, last night. There will be services tonight and Friday evening but none on Saturday. Owing to a car being off the track near Garwood, last night, patrons of the trolley company were obliged to wait for a Plainfield car from 9 until nearly 11 o'clock. SNATCHED THE BILLS.

Clever Thief Worked a Trick at Mrs. Piatt's Home in Dunellen Recently.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Jan. 23.—Although the affair happened sometime ago, the story of a "standup" which was worked successfully at the home of Mrs. Mary Piatt, of Walnut street and New Market road, has just become known.

It appears that a man called at the residence and endeavored to make a sale of what he claimed to be gold rimmed glasses. While an aged relative of Mrs. Piatt, went up stairs to get sufficient money to pay the first instalment on the glasses he followed her and snatched from her hand the roll of bills, making off in haste. The glasses proved to be worthless, but the matter was never reported to the police.

WHY THEY VOTED NO.

Reasons for Action of Borough Councilmen on the Appropriation.

There has been some misunderstanding as to why Councilmen Lee and Northrop voted against the appropriation for free vaccination at the last meeting of the Borough Council. Both of these members, it has since been explained, acted from the standpoint that it would be best to have the advice of the Borough Counsel before doing anything in the matter. As Senator Reed was not present they desired to wait until such time as he would be able to say whether or not the body is empowered by law to make such appropriation.

Mr. Northrop was also of the opinion that the amount asked for should be itemized, in the interest of the taxpayers. Mr. Lee personally is not a believer in vaccination, but at the same time he declares that this would have no weight with him when acting in the interests of the borough.

Weston, matron of the Deaconess Home in Jersey City, giving interesting statements concerning the work of the Methodist Deaconesses in that city.

Tea was poured by Mrs. I. P. LaRue.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

INSTALLING OFFICER ABSENT

SO OFFICERS OF ST. PATRICK'S ALLIANCE WERE NOT INSTALLED.

The Members Had a Pleasant Time, However, Wtth Programme and Refreshments.

The installation of officers of St. Patrick's Alliance, which was to have been held last evening, was unavoidably postponed through the non-appearance of District Grand Deputy Fallon and staff of Elizabeth. As he is the only one who can conduct the ceremonies and he had appointed no one in his place, the matter went over for two weeks.

Preparation had been made for an enjoyable evening, however, and the members insisted on having the celebration. There were refreshments in abundance and cigars for lovers of the weed. These were served and while they were being disposed of an informal programme was rendered.

The committee in charge during the evening consisted of Luke McGauley, James Ennis, Thomas Coulter, John Harkins and Patrick Harrington. These members will arrange plans for the postponed installation.

A SPIRITED DEBATE.

Appropriation For Military Post at Manila Voted.

CUMMINGS STANDS BY THE SOLDIER.

The Measure Provides $500,000 For Shelter and Protection of Officers and Men on Duty In the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Some of the old partisan fire was injected into the proceedings of the house yesterday when the item in the urgent deficiency bill appropriating $500,000 for a military post at Manila, which the Democrats have been using as a text for speeches in opposition to the Philippine policy of the administration for the last three days, was reached. Mr. Cannon, in charge of the bill, confessed that the appropriation was subject to a point of order, and it went out. In lieu thereof he offered an amendment to appropriate the sum for the "shelter and protection" of the officers and enlisted men of the army on duty in the Philippines.

This the chair held to be in order, and it at once became the subject of a very spirited debate, in which Mr. Richardson, the minority leader; Mr. Williams (Miss.) and Mr. De Armond (Mo.) were pitted against the chairman of the appropriations committee. Partisan applause rang out on each side to cheer on the respective champions, and there seemed to be a solid line up on each side of the political aisle.

But when the vote came to be taken Mr. Cummings, a New York Democrat, voted with the Republicans, turning angrily on his political brethren as he did so and with clinched fist in their faces crying out that he hoped he might be paralyzed when he refused to vote to protect an American soldier. The vote on the adoption of the amendment stood—yeas, 127; nays, 100.

Before the general debate closed Mr. Watson paid a beautiful tribute to the late President McKinley.

Debate on the Philippine tariff bill was not continued in the senate, no member of the body being prepared to proceed with the discussion. The bill providing for the establishment of a department of commerce was under discussion for nearly two hours. Little progress was made with it, as while the debate disclosed no objections to the main features of the bill there was a disposition on the part of the senate to give it careful consideration and to perfect the details of the measure.

The senate in executive session confirmed the nomination of M. A. Otero as governor of New Mexico. Senator Morgan spoke again for more than an hour in opposition to the nomination. When he concluded, the vote was taken without division.

Mr. Cleveland Goes Hunting.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Former President Cleveland has left Princeton for the south, where he will remain several days and spend the time hunting with Colonel E. C. Benedict, Rear Admiral R. D. Evans, General Anson G. McCook and Herman May. The party will go to Georgetown, S. C., and shortly after arriving there will go to the home of Colonel Alexander, who lives on an island eighteen miles from that city.

Entire Property to Be Sold.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 23.—The entire properties of the Everett-Moore syndicate will doubtless be sold. This is admitted by Chairman H. R. Newcomb of the bankers' committee. He said that negotiations are on foot for the disposal of both the telephone and the railway properties and admitted that the cause for holding back negotiations for the sale of single systems is that the committee anticipate the sale of the properties in two lumps.

Pennsylvania Coal Mines Flooded.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Jan. 23.—The severe rainstorm has flooded a large number of mines in this region. A section of the Lehigh Valley railroad near Green Ridge was washed away by Coal Run creek overflowing its banks. The lowlands between here and Sunbury are completely inundated, acres of farming land being swept by culm from the mines.

Commander Adams to Retire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—It is announced at the Brooklyn navy yard that Commander Charles A. Adams, senior aid to Captain Coghlan, is seriously ill and has applied for retirement. He has been thirty years in the service, entering from Wisconsin. In the late war he was executive officer of the Oregon.

American Arraigned In London.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Charles Bright, an American engineer, was arraigned at the Guildhall police court, charged on a treasury warrant with concealing £100,000 of his assets in connection with bankruptcy proceedings. The assets in question are principally shares in a light and power company.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The monthly statement of the collections of internal revenue show that during December, 1901, the total receipts were $22,812,915, a decrease as compared with the corresponding month in 1900 of $2,390,231.

Killed on a Shaft.

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 23.—James D. Huff, aged sixty-one, was caught on a revolving shaft at the American Fire Engine works and killed. He left a wife and eleven children.

Weather Probabilities.

Cloudy; brisk to high westerly winds, slowly diminishing and becoming variable.

ONE CERTAINTY.

Some Plainfield People Fully Realize It Now.

When the back aches from kidney ills,
There's a certain way to find relief.
A sure way to be cured.
Doan's Kidney Pills will do it.
Plainfield people endorse this claim.

Mr. Robert Love, of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Brothers, grocers, of 257 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for eight or nine years—pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated it. At last my back grew weaker and any heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me adtional pain. In the morning my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures, but it was throwing money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper and, being in bad shape at the time. I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved and, continuing their use, all the pain left me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

RIPANS

The scientific combination of healthful drugs in Ripans Tabules often proves effective even in cases where many other remedies have failed. A Philadelphia (Pa.) lady, in a statement below, gives the Tabules credit for curing her permanently: "I wish to express my thanks to you for the good Ripans Tabules have done me," is her first grateful expression. "I was troubled with catarrh of the stomach, indigestion and constipation for the last ten years. I was so constipated that I had to take two injections daily. I could not sleep at night, lost my appetite, and what I did eat did not stay on my stomach. I was in misery. I consulted physicians and tried patent medicines but nothing seemed to cure. A short while ago a friend advised me to try Ripans Tabules. I had not much faith in them as I had taken so much medicine which did me no good. Still, I obtained some and took them, and was agreeably surprised at the result. I kept on taking them and am now regular in my habits and enjoying good health. I feel like a different woman and would not be without them. I write this testimonial hoping others suffering the way I did may obtain permanent relief by using the Tabules."

A FEMININE METHOD of "RAISING CAIN"

WOMEN flatter themselves that they are better than men, and undoubtedly they are in a general way. But there is one special phase of viciousness to be laid at their door which masculinity, to its credit, is seldom guilty of. It is the sending of malicious anonymous letters. The man assassin stabs another in the dark. The woman assassin sends an anonymous letter.

A certain women's club whose name I do not mention because I am ashamed of it grew and flourished till it had several hundred members. As women's clubs go, this one was progressive and harmonious. The sisterhood of all the land pointed to it with pride as to evidence that women need not necessarily squabble among themselves. Of the good it accomplished even men newspaper writers made once in awhile mention.

Well, all this good was destroyed by an anonymous letter.

An election was on in the club. In imitation of the noble superior example of man in such cases made and provided the women became so excited over their rival candidates that their election fight waxed almost as bitter and desperate as a senatorial contest in a state legislature. In the critical nick of time the executive committee received an anonymous letter accusing a prominent member of being, let us say, a villain and a horse thief. What would you have done if you had been chairman of that executive committee? What would any woman or man of common sense have done with this packet of poison? Simply have burned it to ashes and forever after been silent as the grave, and the wicked, cowardly sender would never have had the satisfaction of knowing her packet had even been received.

But no, but no! What does this committee do but lay the thing bare to the whole club! A hullabaloo and a typhoon which can only be compared to an official investigation at Washington or a state capital resulted. A committee was appointed to discover the writer. The committee incubated the letter duly and produced the verdict that a certain member was the guilty person. They decided, however, not to give the verdict out publicly to the club. They said they would not tell. But, really and truly, is woman in her present stage of development so constituted that she cannot hold fast a secret? Must she always, always tell? Believe me, woman will never be the equal of man till she has learned self control enough to keep her mouth shut! The outlook is discouraging.

The decision as to the supposed authorship of the letter was not laid before the club honestly and openly, but it dribbled out privately from the committee one by one, and that fine progressive club became the arena of a historical scandal. Lawyers, handwriting experts and excited women sat up nights with the case, and for once the members of a woman's club did not have to complain that the newspapers paid no attention to their meetings. No, indeed!

The ladies became so wrought up in their speeches that they even unclasped their hands from the front of their waists and shook accusing fingers at one another. Threats were made of heavy suits for damages, whereat some of the women became so scared at the row they had raised that they sought to have the club disband in order to dodge the consequences.

Moral.—But you see it for yourself. In fact, there are two. Of course if you are a lady or even an honest person you will never send an anonymous letter. The other moral is this: Train yourself to keep your mouth shut.

CHAPTER V.

I must confess that the discovery I had made behind St. Martin's church, and which I described at the end of the previous chapter, had proved too much for me. What possible reason could Mr. Bayley have for wanting to rid himself of me? Only the morning before he had been anxious to secure my services in the interests of his company, and now here he was hiring a couple of ruffians to prevent me from doing my work, if not to take my life. When I reached my hotel again, and went to bed, I lay awake half the night endeavoring to arrive at an understanding of it; but, try how I would, I could not hit upon a satisfactory solution. Upon one thing, however, I had quite made up my mind. As soon as the city offices were open, I would call at that of the Santa Cruz Mining company, and put a few questions to Mr. Bayley which I fancied that individual would find difficult and rather unpleasant to answer. This plan I carried out, and at ten o'clock I stood in the handsome outer office of the company.

HE ROSE AS I ENTERED AND BOWED TO ME

"I should be glad to see the managing director, if he could spare me a few moments," I said to the youth who waited upon me in answer to his question.

"He's engaged, sir, at present," the lad replied. "If you will take a seat, however, I don't fancy he will be very long."

I did as he directed, and in the interval amused myself by studying a large map of the Argentine Republic, which hung upon the wall. I had practically exhausted its capabilities when the door opened, and a tall, military-looking man emerged and passed out into the street.

"What name shall I say, sir?" inquired the clerk, as he descended from his high stool and approached me.

"Fairfax," I replied, giving him my card. "I think the manager will know my name."

The clerk disappeared to return a few moments later with the request that I would follow him. Preparing myself for what I fully expected would be a scene, I entered the director's sanctum. It was a handsome room, and was evidently used as a board-room as well as an office, for there was a long table in the middle, surrounded by at least a dozen chairs. At the furthest end a gentleman of venerable appearance was seated. He rose as I entered, and bowed to me.

"In what way can I be of service to you, Mr. Fairfax?" he inquired, after I had seated myself.

"I am afraid there has been a mistake," I answered, looking about me for Mr. Bayley. "I told the clerk that I desired to see the managing director."

"You are seeing him," he returned with a smile, "for I am he."

"In that case I must have misunderstood the gentleman who called upon me two days ago," I replied, with some surprise.

"Do I understand you to say that a gentleman from this office called upon you?"

"Yes, a Mr. Bayley, a tall, good-looking man, of between 38 and 40 years of age."

The old gentleman stared, as well he might.

"But there is no Mr. Bayley here," he said. "We have no one of that name in our employ. I fear the man, whoever he was, must have been playing a trick upon you. I sincerely trust he has done no damage. Might I ask what he called upon you about?"

"He called on me on behalf of your company," I answered. "He informed me that for some time past you have ascertained the gravest suspicions concerning the manager of your mines in the Argentine. He said that information had reached your ears to the effect that the man in question was in league with a notorious swindler in New York, and, though you could not bring any proved charge against him, you were equally certain that he was robbing you in order to fill his own pockets. He appeared to be most anxious to persuade me to go to the republic at once in order that I might inquire into matters and report to you." I was to be away three months, and was to be paid £5,000 and my expenses for my trouble."

"My good sir, this is really preposterous," the old gentleman returned. "I can positively assure you that there is not a word of truth in his assertion. Our manager in the Argentine is an old and valued friend, and I would stake my life on his fidelity. Nothing would induce us to think even of sending a detective out to spy upon him."

THE PAN-AMERICANS

Congress at City of Mexico Has a Busy Day.

CANAL PROJECT WARMLY FAVORED.

The Louisiana Purchase Exposition Indorsed—Also the Success of the Pan-American International Copyright.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 23.—The pan-American conference yesterday dispatched a great amount of business. It passed the recommendations for the preservation of archæological remains and the indorsement of the St. Louis Louisiana Purchase exposition, a message of congratulations to those connected with Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, indorsed the success of the pan-American international copyright and gave approval to an interoceanic canal.

The following is the text of the resolution with respect to an interoceanic canal, which was carried unanimously:

"The republics assembled at the international conference in Mexico applaud the purpose of the United States to construct an interoceanic canal and acknowledge that this work will not only be worthy of the greatness of the American people, but also in the highest sense a work of civilization and to the greatest degree beneficial to the development of commerce between the American states and the other countries of the world."

Volney W. Foster, one of the United States delegates, in behalf of the delegation thanked the conference for its resolution with respect to an interoceanic canal.

A resolution to add two European jurists to the committee of jurists to be appointed to codify American international law was unanimously approved.

Peru's memorial on compulsory arbitration in support of the treaty on that subject which had already passed through the conference was thoroughly temperate in tone. A copy of it at yesterday's session was presented to the Chilean delegation, which made absolutely no objection or observation of any kind. The memorial, without being read, was referred by the chair to the foreign relations department of Mexico, which course had been taken previously with respect to a memorial on voluntary arbitration presented by the Chilean delegation. This places both sides on an even footing in the matter and gives satisfaction to all.

Dr. Vinton Elected Bishop.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 23.—Rev. Dr. Alexander Vinton, rector of All Saints' church, Worcester, Mass., was yesterday afternoon elected bishop of the new Protestant Episcopal diocese of western Massachusetts and has signified his intention of accepting the office if the action of the diocesan convention is confirmed by the house of bishops and a majority of the standing committees of the Episcopal dioceses. Dr. Vinton received 19 clerical votes and 18 lay votes on the first ballot, when 17 gave the majority necessary to elect. The other candidates, Rev. Dr. William S. Rainsford of St. George's church, New York city, and Rev. Dr. Edward S. Lines of St. Paul's church, New Haven, Conn., received respectively 8 clerical and 13½ lay votes and 6 clerical and 13 lay votes.

New York Regents' Report.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Secretary J. Russell Parsons of the state board of regents in his annual report to the legislature for the year 1901 points out that during that period $46,077,577 was expended in this state for public education, of which the state contributed $5,524,158. The total sum was expended as follows: Common schools, $32,798,595; secondary education, $5,702,717; higher education, $7,576,264. These figures do not include the expenditures for private elementary schools. The total increase over the preceding year is $2,973,778, although the total for secondary education shows a decrease of $393,656 and for higher education a decrease of $86,772.

Harsh Treatment For Convicts.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 23.—Ten of the eleven convicts who escaped from the McNeils penitentiary Sunday and who were recaptured without bloodshed are now confined in two small dungeons six by eight feet, five men in each. One man, Carroll, is too sick to be placed in a dungeon. The convicts who were captured Tuesday morning and who were then almost famished were not fed until night, when each one received one slice of bread and a cup of water. They got nothing to eat until last night and will be kept in the dungeons for at least fifteen days. The black holes contain no bedding and are but six feet high.

Buffalo's Deadlock Broken.

BUFFALO, Jan. 23.—Adam Boeckel, Republican, has been elected city treasurer on the three hundred and twenty-ninth ballot. The two Republican factions in the common council met in caucus yesterday afternoon, and it was agreed that each side should submit the names of five men from whom a candidate was to be selected. Boeckel received 17 of the 22 votes in caucus and was later elected at a meeting of the council. Fifteen votes were cast for J. N. Adam, the Democratic candidate, and 22 for Boeckel.

Borough Council Will Act on Building and Fire Lines.

At the next meeting of the Borough Council the proposed ordinances regulating the building lines and also the fire lines are expected to come up for consideration. At present there is no building line regulation, except on Somerset street. As for the fire line regulation there are no limitations as to where frame buildings may be erected. In the interests of the community it is thought that there should be some restriction concerning the building of such structures in the business portion of the borough.

ROSELLE DEFEATED AT HOME

WESTFIELD CLUB TOOK TWO OF THREE GAMES ON ROSELLE ALLEYS.

Decided Surprise at Match in The Daily Press Bowling League Tuesday Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Roselle, Jan. 23.—The Westfield Club bowling team journeyed to this place, Tuesday evening, and captured two games from the Roselle Casino team in The Daily Press Bowling League tournament. It will be remembered that recently the scores were reversed in a contest between these teams when the games were rolled at Westfield.

The visitors secured the first game by a score of 806 and the last by a score of 825. Taking the scores altogether they were not of a very high order. Condit, of the visiting team, was honor man, his score in the first game being 230. He had a total of seven strikes in that time.

The home team did not reach the 800 mark in any one of the three games. In fact the team did not seem to be in its usual good form. It looked for a time as if the visitors would get all three games, but in the second game some poor bowling dashed the team's hopes in this respect.

The scores follow:

STATE SUNDAY-SCHOOLS TO HOLD CONVENTION

Executive Committee Decided to Hold It at Trenton on November 20 and 21.

MANY WILL ATTEND.

ANNUAL REPORT OF GENERAL SECRETARY WAS PRESENTED.

Some Very Satisfactory Figures Were Contained Therein—A Growth During the Year—All Reports Satisfactory.

It has been decided to hold the annual State Sunday-school convention of New Jersey in Trenton, Thursday and Friday, November 20 and 21 and it is predicted that fully eight hundred representative Sunday-school workers will attend. Heretofore the convention has been held triennially. This year it is proposed to make it surpass in interest, helpfulness and spiritual power any that the association has held since its organiaztion in 1858.

The decision to meet in Trenton was made recently when the executive committee held a meeting in that city. Of the thirty-seven members of the committee, twenty-six were present, representing most of the counties. Rev. E. Morris Fergusson, of Trenton, the general secretary, presented the invitation to the association to meet in Trenton. The general plan will be that the delegates will have their expenses paid by the schools sending them.

General Secretary Fergusson's annual report dealt with the condition of the Sunday-schools, the State, the county and department work, and the work of the State headquarters. There is now a total membership in the Sunday-schools of more than 7,000 larger than the number reported last year, and, with the home department members added, more than 9,000 larger.

The exact figures are as follows: Officers and teachers, 39,938; scholars, 311,509; home department members, 14,583; total, 366.030. The number of Sunday-schools in New Jersey is 2,352, being 29 more than last year. The number of scholars uniting with the church is slightly larger. The condition of the organization work is good, and promises to be better.

Miss Josephine L. Baldwin, of Newark, the State primary superintendent, reported eighteen primary institutes held during the year, twenty-one primary unions in active existence, and a very successful session of the School of Primary Methods at Asbury Park last July.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $264, with outstanding notes of $500. The estimates for the year, amounting to $6,000, were cut to $5,350, of which about $3,600 is expected to be collected from the Sunday-schools through the county associations and the balance from individual subscribers.

A re-organization of the work was effected with quarterly meetings of the executive committee, a strong committee on finance, with Rev. Frank A. Smith, of Somerville, temporary chairman, and the other committees as follows: State convention, J. V. Forster, chairman; printing and supplies, James P. Bryan, chairman; normal work, Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, chairman; primary work, Henry H. Dawson, chairman; international convention, Rev E. M. Fergusson, chairman.

This last committee is to appoint forty-eight delegates to represent New Jersey in the International Sunday-school convention at Denver, June 26 to July 1 next, and to make arrangements for transportation.

Previous to the assembling of the committee, a meeting was held of the executive committee of the New Jersey Superintendents' Union. Plans were made for superintendents in the counties, and a committee was appointed to arrange for the banquet at the State convention.

Shaw Will Soon Move.

Druggist R. J. Shaw will soon move from his present place of business to the store on West Front street, now occupied by the Star Clothing Company, February 1. The clothing company holds a lease on the store until April 1, but has consented to give up the lease for Mr. Shaw. The clothing company, it is understood, will move to Perth Amboy.

—The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will meet in regular session Monday night.

MANY TO BE VACCINATED

HEALTH BOARD ROOMS WERE SCENE OF MUCH ACTIVITY.

Kept Doctors Busy Yesterday—All Ages Were Represented in Line.

The free vaccination at the Board of Health offices yesterday afternoon was taken advantage of by a great many persons, ranging from four years to eighty years. There were many colored people among those who called between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock. This was due to the fact that Thursday afternoon is the regular time off for servants.

Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow was on duty attendiang to the treatment of arms. A little later Dr. T. S. Davis stopped in and assisted for a time. Health Officer Thurlow was present and assisted in every way possible. When persons seemed a trifle frightened or nervous, Mr. Thurlow's affable and pleasant manner came in very handy.

Among those who called yesterday were many who, having been previously vaccinated, needed a little attention. It is a fact that nearly every person thus far treated at the offices of the board is now fully experiencing the "delights" of vaccination. The number of "takes" is in the majority, and shows to a large degree what a sweep small-pox would have had in this city had the disease spread to any measurable length.

Nearly forty were vaccinated yesterday. The treatment will be continued this afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock.

MORE SUCCESS FOR T. A. B.

BIG CROWD AT THE FAIR OF THAT SOCIETY LAST EVENING.

Dancing Was the Chief Feature, But a Programme of Interest Was Also Rendered.

Another success was scored last evening at the week's fair being held under the auspices of the T. A. B. Society, of St. Mary's parish, in the hall on West Fourth street. A large crowd was in attendance and the entertainment provided was sufficient to cause many to linger until the small hours of this morning.

Dancing was the principal feature and the floor was continually thronged with those who enjoyed it. O'Reilly's orchestra was on the stage and the music dispensed served to enliven the occasion considerably. The "backward dance" tried on the opening night was repeated by ten young women, all members of the fair committee. Naturally it scored a hit with the crowd.

Added to this amusement was the musical programme. John Moran rendered a tenor solo "My Wild Western Rose," which took with the young people. He also gave "The Rose With the Broken Stem." "Where the Mississippi Flows" was sung by John Conway, of Garwood, and it proved a popular number. Miss Annie Daley sang "Afterwards" in a sweet voice. Several recitations were contributed to the programme of events by Miss Josie Murphy, who is well known to the Plainfield public as a clever reciter. Other features were the acrobatic work of a trio of boys from the Boys' Club and a sparring exhibition.

Tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock the school children of the city and borough will be admitted free of charge and a good programme has been arranged for their special benefit.

Among the delegations present last evening were representatives from the T. A. B. Societies of Elizabethport, Bound Brook and South Plainfield. Members of the Sodality and the Children of Mary, of the local parish, attended in force. The general run of visitors well filled the hall and a fine business was done at the various stands and booths.

Business Session Instead.

In order to be present at the meeting in Warren chapel this evening to be led by Mrs. Whittemore, of the Door of Hope Mission, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Taylor will not attend the meeting of the First Baptist church Christian Endeavor Society. The society will instead hold a business meeting and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will lead at a later date.

Most of Them Vaccinated.

The Board of Health yesterday made inquiry at John Leal's school for boys as to how many of the young men attending school there have been vaccinated. It was learned that a majority had. The rest will be treated soon.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON WESTFIELD'S TOWN HALL

But the Advisory Committee Recommended Purchasing Better Fire Apparatus.

WOULD SPEND $10,000.

THESE QUESTIONS WILL HAVE TO BE VOTED ON BY THE PEOPLE.

A Mass-Meeting Soon to be Called to Get an Opinion in Favor of Town Hall and a Fire Department.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Jan. 24.—There was an important joint meeting last evening of the advisory committee, appointed by the town committee to consider the question of a new town hall and fire department. Some time ago this advisory committee, consisting of J. O. Clark, chairman; W. S. Moorehouse, secretary; H. L. Abrams, J. S. Irving, W. S. Welch, W. P. Tuttle, Jr., and H. L. Fink, was appointed to consider the questions and report to the town committee last evening.

The advisory committee recommended that $10,000 be appropriated to purchase a new steamer, a chemical engine, a hook and ladder truck and four horses; also that the fire house be improved. The question of a new town hall was laid over for a future meeting. Before this money can be appropriated for the things mentioned or a new town hall built, the question will have to be laid before the taxpayers and voted upon at the spring election in March. In the meantime a public mass meeting will be held when an effort will be made to get an opinion in favor of the improvements.

There is no doubt but that Westfield needs a better fire department. It is proposed to adopt what is known as the Buffalo system, that is use the fire department horses for town work, but have them near enough to the fire house in case of fire. In this way the horses will get exercise and it will be a saving to the town. As yet no date is fixed for another meeting to consider the town hall matter, but it will undoubtedly be held at an early day.

EXPENSIVE HORSE.

His Purchase Resulted in Arrest of Geo. Ammerman Who Stopped Too Often Coming Home.

George Ammerman left his home in Neshanic, yesterday morning, with the intention of going to Cranford to buy a horse. He got there and made a bargain. He stopped at several taverns on the way back.

When he reached this city he was unable to manage himself, the horse he was driving or the new one in the rear. Between them the wagon was pretty badly wrecked.

The police gathered Ammerman in and put his horses in a livery. This morning he appeared before City Judge Runyon, but sentence was suspended.

Installation at Lucetta.

At the meeting of Lucetta Council, Daughters of Liberty, Wednesday evening, the officers were installed by W. W. Stratton. One proposition for membership was received, two members were reinstated and one candidate initiated. After the meeting the members enjoyed an oyster supper.

Put Doggie Out of Business.

A stray dog, cavorting about Front street near Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon, started to play tag with a trolley car. The car won out and when it passed on Doggie was down and out. A Board of Health representative viewed the remains later and granted a burial permit.

St. Paul's Conversion.

The Episcopal church tomorrow commemorates the conversion of St. Paul. Services will be held in Grace church at 7:30 and 10 o'clock. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at each service.

DRYDEN WILL BE SENATOR

Was Chosen on Nineteenth Ballot at Joint Legislative Caucus Last Night.

STOKES A CLOSE SECOND.

Caucus Lasted All the Afternoon and Evening—Newspapermen Were Admitted Despite Opposition—Senator Cross' Vote Decided the Contest.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 24—John F. Dryden, of Newark, was nominated as a candidate for United States Senator on the nineteenth ballot at the Republican joint caucus held here yesterday. The battle waged by the supporters of the various candidates for the honor was a keen one, and not until after a conference held by the south Jersey delegation was it evident that the climax to the balloting was near at hand. Former State Senator Edward

JOHN F. DRYDEN.

C. Stokes, proved to be the formidable opponent of Mr. Dryden when the end of the contest was in sight, and when the latter procured the necessary thirty-two votes he was but three votes behind.

Senator Cross, of Union county, cast the deciding vote it appears. He had stood by Griggs during the entire contest and so voted on the last ballot, but when thirty-one votes had been cast on the nineteenth ballot in favor of the Newarker he arose and changed his vote. There was a great demonstration when Senator Thomas McCarter announced the result. As was expected south Jersey kept its forces divided and it was impossible to tell which way that section would throw its strength. It was generally believed that they would concentrate on Griggs, but the Cumberland man turned out to be the choice of the short conference during the closing scenes.

When the caucus convened in the Assembly chamber of the State House, Senator McCarter, the majority leader in the Senate, was in the chair. A fight was made to exclude newspaper men from the gallery, but the proposers of the scheme, who were led by State Senator Charles A. Reed, of Somerset county, were defeated.

The first ballot resulted as follows: Griggs, 15; Dryden, 19; Stokes, 11; Gardner, 5; Baird, 7; Gummere, 6. From this on Dryden kept the lead, and Stokes hung on until the sixteenth ballot when he began to make good gains. On the fourteenth ballot Griggs stood precisely as at the beginning and then his boom began to wane, Stokes passing on the sixteenth ballot.

The final ballot was as follows: Dryden, 31; Stokes, 29; Griggs, 3. Gummere, the candidate espoused by Senator Reed, disappeared from the count with the others as the lines were drawn tighter in the contest. It was on this ballot that Senator Cross coolly announced that he desired to change his choice from Griggs to Dryden. The long fight was ended.

On the last ballot Griggs received the support of Assemblyman Hoagland, of Somerset county and Senator Cross, of Union county, the later changing, however. The votes of Assemblymen Hall, Miller and Newcorn, of Union county, went to Dryden. Senator Reed, of Somerset county, was in the Stokes' ranks.

CHURCH MEMBERS MET IN PLEASANT FASHION

Reception and Social Given at Park Ave. Baptist Church Last Evening.

INFORMAL PROGRAMME

AFFAIR WAS ARRANGED BY THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

Held in Sunday-School Room Which Was Prettily Decorated—The Committees in Charge of the Affair.

One of the most pleasant socials held recently at the Park Avenue Baptist church, was that of last evening given under the auspices of the Laides' Aid Society of that church. The affair attracted a very large number of members of the church and their friends and all joined in having a genuine good time. The Sunday-school room, where the social was held, was prettily decorated with green and white streamers, while banquet lamps placed here and there made the scene an attractive one.

The social features were prominent, but as an extra attraction a pleasing programme was provided, consisting of a number of popular selections by an orchestra led by G. W. V. Moy. The music was all to be desired and there were frequent encores. Mrs. Harry F. Johnson, of Watchung avenue, also favored those present with several piano selections, while Miss Bessie Giles gave a recitation which was heartily applauded.

The affair was in charge of the entertainment committee of the society, of which Mrs. Frank T. Ostrom is the president. This entertainment committee consisted of Miss Julia Wyckoff and Mrs. E. Frank Vail. The refreshment committee consisted of Mrs. Theodore I. Runyon, Mrs. Wheaton S. Lowry and Mrs. A. D. Thompson. This committee was assisted by Miss Charlotte E. Tennant, Miss May E. Tennant, Miss Cora Brokaw and Miss Elsie Giles. The reception committee was composed of the following: Mrs. Martha B. Tennant, Mrs. Nelson Runyon, Mrs. J. W. Richardson and Miss Mary Coles. Those who had charge of the decorations were Aaron D. Thompson, Jr., Frank T. Ostrom, Mrs. E. Frank Vail, Miss Wyckoff and Mrs. George E. Hall. All of the committees worked in perfect harmony and the result was everyone had a good time. After the entertainment refreshments were served at a nominal price to those who wanted them.

STOLE CHINAWARE.

Robbed Residence of Lucius C. Ryce, Last Evening, While the Family Was Upstairs.

A lot of chinaware was stolen from the residence of Lucius C. Ryce, of Webster place, last evening, in a mysterious manner. Entrance was effected to the house sometime before 10 o'clock in the evening, and while the family were still in the sitting room.

A servant in the household, retiring shortly before the hour named, noticed several pieces of chinaware near some bushes in the yard. Being surprised at this state of affairs, she quickly notified Mr. Ryce, who made a thorough search of the premises. He discovered that the cellar door had been forced opened and the intruders had made away with the stolen goods through this entrance. There is no clue to the identity of the perpetrators of the act.

YOUNG WOMEN MASQUERADED

TOOK PART IN SERENADE FOR BRIDAL COUPLE, DRESSED IN MALE ATTIRE.

Sensation for South Plainfield Given by Two Respected Young Women of That Place.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

South Plainfield, Jan. 24—Quite a sensation was caused here, yesterday, by the knowledge that two well known and highly respectable women had made an appearance with a party of young men who serenaded the newly made bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tappen, at the bride's home, Wednesday evening. The sensation was caused by the fact that the young women, one of whom is married, were masquerading in clothes which it commonly falls to the lot of man to wear.

After doing their share in the noise making they were invited by the host to come inside the house and partake of some ice cream and cake, but they declined, fearing that in the brightly lighted room their disguises would be discovered.

But soon the boys, who were all juveniles, began to throw soft mud, with the result that one of the "men" received a large handful in the eyes. The piercing scream which followed was sufficient to cause a closer inspection by the boys of their strange comrades. The sharp eyes of the young lads soon penetrated the disguises, and discovered the identity of the masquerades who beat a hasty retreat and retired to the friendly shelter of a neighbor's house.

BOOK AGENT BEAT CONSTABLE

NOVEL CONTEST IN ORATORY HELD IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

Committee of Lawyers Decided in Favor of the Stranger After a Contest.

Several prominent lawyers and other professional men, making a half dozen in all, formed an audience in Justice Hand's court room, this morning, which witnessed an impomptu declamation contest between two competent exponents of the orator's art.

The contestants were Constable W. R. Mattox, well known locally as a dramatic reciter, and a book agent representing a New York publishing house which is at present pushing a book on oratory. While the volume was being shown about, the suggestion was made that the agent demonstrate if he had profited any by its teachings at the same time showing if he was a better speaker than Mattox who had never read the book. Both readily agreed and a criticising committee composed of George Ball and William G. DeMeza was appointed by Judge Hand to pass on their respective abilities.

Mattox mounted the dais first and gave a creditable rendition of "Grant and the Veteran." He was followed by the agent who gave "Death Doomed," one of Will Carleton's most pathetic pieces. It was accompanied by dramatic gestures and intonations that delighted the small audience.

The judges declared the canvasser the winner but with Mattox a very close second.

CONDITION OF LAWYER KIRCH VERY SERIOUS

A Change for the Worse Since He Was Brought to His Home.

A LONG REST NEEDED.

HIS PHYSICIAN DECLARES HE MUST HAVE ABSOLUTE QUIET.

Has Not Discussed His Strange Wanderings Since His Return—No Plans Made Yet for the Future.

Shattered in mind and body as a result of worriment over his troubles, J. P. D. Kirch, of Somerset street, is in a serious condition. He was a sick man when brought back home Tuesday afternoon, and since then he had grown much worse.

All callers are denied to him and no one broaches the subject of his wanderings. The attending physician, Dr. P. J. Zeglio, says that it is absolutely imperatative that he be kept perfectly quiet for some time to come. Even the newspapers are hidden from his view for fear that he might become unduly excited.

Yesterday he fainted at least four times and these spells have continued since then. Occasionally his mind wanders, and in delirious moments he grows much excited.

He is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kirch, of Duer street, where he was taken on his arrival here. Every care and attention is paid to him.

It is believed that it will be at least two months before he recovers sufficiently to discuss the story of his strange flight and subsequent actions. No plans have been made for the future, but the family is determined that he take a long rest after his recovery.

The dance was given under the patronage of Mrs. Herbert S. Taylor, Mrs. Frank H. Smith, Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, Mrs. Herbert Buxton and Mrs. Fred S. Cutter. The committee in charge consisted of H. H. Coward, F. H. Smith, J. G. McLoughlin and H. S. Taylor. The fourth dance will be given Thursday evening, February 6.

The third in the series of talks on the structure of the English novel given by Miss Antoniette Carroll, of Jersey City, was delivered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon, before a good sized audience. The topic was the "Minor Motif."

Miss Carroll spoke in a pleasing way and she handled her topic in a manner that proved her mastery of the contruction of the novel. She dwelt upon the idea of the minor motive of a modern work of fiction, and illustrated her remarks with quotations from representative authors. The theme of the next talk will be "Robert Louis Stevenson."

PATROL WAGON.

May Not be Long Before City Has One Together With a Police Call-System.

Among the possibilities in the near future is the introduction in this city of a police call system and a patrol wagon. The police board have from time to time had this matter under consideration, but no definite plans have been formed as yet. As soon as the committee can see its way clear to recommend this to the Common Council as one of the needed improvements, it will be done.

It is a recognized fact that it would greatly improve the efficiency of the department. Under the present system if a patrolman arrests a man any distance from headquarters he is obliged to leave his beat unprotected for some time while he takes his prisoner to the lockup. With a call system and a patrol wagon the work of arrest would be made easy and would add much to the general protection of the city.

Itis understood that every member of the police board favors the introduction of the above system.

WHAT IT COST TO HAVE NEW GOVERNOR

Estimated That Inaugural Ceremonies of the Governor Will Cost $10,000.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE.

LARGEST ITEM IS THE COST OF CARING FOR THE TROOPS.

While Transportation and Subsistence Were Furnished, the Troops Will Receive No Pay —Other Items of Expense.

While the bills have not yet all been received, it is estimated by the joint committee of arrangements from the Legislature that the inauguration of Governor Franklin Murphy will cost the State about $10,000. The joint committee consists of Senators Elijah C. Hutchinson, of Mercer, Charles A. Reed, of Somerset, and Lewis J. Martin, of Essex, and Assemblymen Harry R. Leavitt, of Mercer, Ephraim T. Gill, of Camden, Edward E. Gnichtel, of Essex, Somers T. Champion, of Monmouth, and John A. Dennin, of Hudson.

The largest item of expense was the transportation and subsistence of the troops. Quartermaster-General Richard A. Dennelly says this will foot up to about $6,500. Other items of expense were the decorations, luncheon for distinguished guests, carriage hire, music, the erection of the reviewing stand, pay of detectives and a mass of petty outlays for messenger hire, and the like.

To guard against pickpockets at the Governor's reception at the State House Tuesday afternoon and night, fifty special detectives were on duty, circulating through the crowd. Some of the detectives were from New York, some from Philadelphia, and the rest represented Jersey City, Newark, Paterson and all the large cities and towns of New Jersey.

The detectives were engaged from all the neighboring cities for the reason that each set would be able to recognize and checkmate notorious crooks from its own town.

The reviewing stand in front of the State House was a pine structure, 80 by 120 feet in dimensions, with a seating capacity for 800 persons. It was the largest ever built for an inaugural review.

The members of the National Guard received no pay for taking part in the inauguration. It was a voluntary turnout on their part.

At the obsequies of the late Gen. Sewell the soldiers who attended in uniform received a day's pay, having been called out by Brig.-Gen. Wanser, with the approval of the Governor.

The pay for a soldier on such occasions is $1.50 a day, and the officers, according to rank, receive from $2.50 per day for a lieutenant up to $5 for a colonel.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

According to Freeholder William A. Westphal and Justice Fred Huff this weather is suitable for summer attire. The former was seen wearing a straw hat yesterday morning, while the Justice was going about with a linen duster and straw hat. They attracted considerable attention by their unseasonable dress.

A valuable suggestion was offered Tuesday evening at the Nurses' Home by Dr. Hunt, of the State Board of Health, when he recommended a free and general use of bichloride solution, full strength, as a disinfectant. The doctor said that so far as he has been able to learn there is nothing better and it always works successfully.

As an evidence of the swift trolley service in this city, it is a fact that it takes one half hour, at the least, to go from West Front and Liberty streets to the corner of Arlington avenue and West Ninth street. This is the time if you make connections. If you don't three quarters of an hour is the time required for this trip. Any healthy person could walk the distance inside of fifteen minutes.

Installed at Jersey City.

Brigadier General Perry and staff of the Second Brigade, U. V. U., installed the officers of Cushing Command, No. 1, of Jersey City, Wednesday evening. Among those who attended from the local command were: Col. C. B. Stephens, Lieut. Col. Henry C. Drake, Brigade Surgeon J. F. Berg, Chaplain John A. Goodwin, Aide-de-Camp N. G. Pennington and L. C. Sheppard and Officer of the Day William H. Day.

No More Suspects.

The Board of Health has removed the quarantine from all suspected cases of small-pox and there are only the four cases at the isolation hospital. These are improving under the most favorable auspices.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

It looks now as if Senator Reed would land the office of State Treasurer, and we hope he does. As long as a liberally disposed Somerset man has the handling of that two or three million dollar surplus we care not who makes the laws or, in fact, whether we have any laws at all.—Somerville Messenger.

President Francis did the honorable thing by advancing Senator Cross to the head of three important committees and named him for service on three others. Mr. Cross, it will be remembered, was urged by Mr. Francis' critics as an opponent in the contest of president, although the Union member made no effort to defeat the man from Monmouth. President Francis' magnanimity will not be shown in vain. Senator Cross is as close to being a true servant of the public as any named in official records, and all who know him can assure President Francis that the legislation which goes into the hands of the Cross committee will see the light of day or there will be adequate explanations.—New York Press.

Now that the mosquito problem is about to be sprung upon the New Jersey lawmakers for solution, there is no telling when the present session of the Legislature will end. With all the troubles already confronting the senators and assemblymen the placing on their shoulders of this additional burden is a hardship, but apparently they must grin and bear it.

The mosquito question, however, is no laughing matter, as all Jerseymen know. State Entomologist Smith has done his best to enlighten the people of this country as to the methods that should be pursued to rid the State of the imported pest, for he has proved to his own satisfaction that the native born mosquito is not a biter. The stinging insect that has caused such discomfort in the past, even forcing manufacturing establishments to close down temporarily, is an invader and has no inherent rights in New Jersey. It is to repel this hostile foreigner that an appropriation will be asked. No exclusion laws can be enforced against these immigrants from the swamps of Staten Island and other contiguous territory, and those which have already made themselves so much at home, and raised such large families, that they cannot be exported. The only course that can be pursued is to exterminate those now here and then make the conditions of life in this State so uncomfortable for them that they will find their native climes more congenial.

If Prof. Smith can accomplish this much-to-be-desired result with the paltry sum of $10,000, by all means give him the money. Exemption from the tyranny of the horde of invaders would be dirt cheap at such a price.—Newark News.

THEATRICAL.

Theatregoers of Newark are given further opportunity to enjoy the best features in vaudeville at Proctor's in the bill arranged for the fourth week of the season. Glancing at the list of entertainers one is readily convinced that all managerial promises are being redeemed as some of the very best acts in vaudeville are mentioned. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Milton Royle will be the topping features of next week's bill, presenting their clever little comedy, "Capt. Impudence." The Fifth Avenue will have Hoyt's "A Temperance Town" as the dramatic feature of its offering for next week. Edna Archer-Crawford and New Howard-Fowler will head the branch of the Proctor Stock Co. which will present the clever play, "Miss or Mrs." will be the comedy curtain raiser and the vaudeville which will be introduced between acts and before and after play will keep the entertainment continuous. Another strong comedy bill is provided for presentation at the Fifty-eighth Street in "Innocent as a Lamb," a comedy in which the late Roland Reed made one of his strongest successes. A specially selected branch of the Proctor Stock Co. will give the play and will also interpret Clay M. Green's clever travesty, "Surelock Holmes." Continuous vaudeville remains the order of the day at the Twenty-third Street Theatre and some of the biggest bills ever known in New York vaudeville are presented weekly at this popular resort. For next week Mme. Herrmann, widow of Herrmann the Great, will be the feature, presenting her dainty specialty, "A Night in Japan." Special scenery, gorgeous costumes and elaborate electrical effects are prominent features in an exceedingly clever and entertaining act. The dramatic feature will be furnished by Milton and Dolly Hobles, who will present "Why Walker Reformed." "The Mysterious Mr. Bugle" goes up to Harlem, after a big week at the Fifth Avenue, and should serve to draw monster crowds to the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street.

—There will be initiation at the meeting of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., this evening.

EMPEROR RECEIVES.

The Foreign Ministers Attain Their Rights at Peking.

CHINA'S NOMINAL RULER WAS SILENT

Prince Ching Replied to the Addresses of the Ministers, While the Empress Dowager Sat Behind a Screen.

PEKING, Jan. 24.—The ministers of the foreign powers here have attained the goal which has been their aim since intercourse between China and the powers began. They have been received as representatives of sovereigns equal in rank to the Chinese emperor.

The audiences Wednesday between the emperor and the ministers were held in the innermost large hall of the Forbidden City. The emperor sat upon a dais behind a table. There were four princes at the back of his chair and a dozen officials at each side. The dowager empress was concealed by a screen, according to the stories of the attendants, and remained invisible. The audience chamber was furnished ornately, in contrast to the dingy rooms which served for these audiences under the old regime. The secretaries translated the addresses of the ministers, copies of which were handed to the emperor. The replies to these addresses were delivered by Prince Ching.

The emperor was silent throughout the audiences and remained stolid and impassive. Formerly the emperor replied to the ministers in Mantchoo, and the prince interpreted what he said. Today the emperor appeared as an automaton, and the secretaries of the foreign ministers who were present report that he looked weaker, less intellectual and more childish than prior to the siege of the legations.

Sir Ernest Satow, the British representative, made the following address:

"My august sovereign has charged me to express to your majesty his sincere desire to see the independence and the integrity of the Chinese empire maintained intact and that the prosperity and happiness of the Chinese people may be hastened by the removal of obstacles to the free exchange of commodities, by the extension of manufactures and by the utilization of the resources of the soil.

"The wonderful improvements in the means of communication between different parts of the world through the development of steam navigation, railways and telegraphs have brought all countries into much closer relations than were possible in former times. Thus the nations of the world are enabled to profit by the lessons to be learned from each other in the art of government, in methods of education, in the administration of justice and the application of the public wealth to the advantage of the whole people. If, under the enlightened rule of your majesty, the barriers which in the past hindered the free and mutually advantageous intercourse of China with the rest of the world be completely removed and her domestic institutions wisely regulated, it is certain that China, advancing along the path of progress, will attain to a height of prosperity unknown in the past."

The ministers of the foreign powers entered the Forbidden City at the main gate, leaving their military escorts outside. At the second gate they entered yellow chairs, like those furnished for the princes and secretaries. They walked through the inner courts of the Forbidden City, and their cortege retired from the city by the east gate.

China Gets Pay For Seized Silver.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Secretary Hay has handed to Minister Wu a draft on the United States treasury for $376,600, being the value of the silver bullion captured by the American marines at Tientsin. Inasmuch as Minister Wu is charged with the payment of salaries of the Chinese consuls in the United States and with defraying the expenses of the Chinese legations in Washington, in Lima and in Madrid it is believed this money will be applied to such purposes.

Equitable Has Not Changed Hands.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—It having been reported here that control of the Equitable Life Assurance society had changed hands recently, James W. Alexander, president of the society, made the following statement: "The rumor that the management of the Equitable has changed is absolutely unfounded. The management of the Equitable remains and will remain as it is at present."

A Ten-year-old Boy Drunk.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—John Conaty, ten years old, of 546 West Forty-sixth street was charged with intoxication before Magistrate Pool. Policeman Murtha found him in the gutter unconscious. Agent Cole of the Children's society said he understood the boy got drunk on beer stolen from a grocer.

A Duel on Horseback.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 24.—Colonel Gilbert Bentley, a wealthy lumberman, and Riley Ramey, a prominent citizen of this place, fought a duel on horseback here. Colonel Bentley was killed. Ramey gave himself up to the authorities.

COMMENDABLE COURSE.

The course of the First Baptist church, in adopting individual communion cups, commends itself to all thinking people and could well be followed by the other churches of the city. Custom of past years has kept many to the old way but a common sense view of the direct sanitary advantages cannot fail to win supporters to this plan of individual cups, which is now in use in two of the local churches and has just been adopted in a third.

As in everything else, there is a right and a wrong way of doing it. The Communion service in which the individual cups are used can be made just as impressive and solemn, or even more so, as that in which the old style cups figure. Several of the prominent New York churches have introduced the system with general satisfaction and those who were the chief objectors now admit that the small cups detract nothing from the solemnity or impressiveness of the service.

The hygienic reasons for the change are so manifest that it is a wonder that the action was not taken years ago. At one's own house, one would not think of asking his guest to drink from the same cup from which another had already partaken. How much worse is it, therefore, for hundreds of people to drink from the same cup in the house of God. The practice contains unlimited possibilities for the transmission of many diseases. With no other reason against it than that our forefathers used the same means, it is very proper that the local congregations should take this action.

While the city, through the Board of Health, is providing for the care of the patients at the isolation hospital, it is perfectly proper for anyone to send delicacies to the occupants of the institution. The fare, as provided by the city, is a good one and in plenty. Those little things to be found in the home are missing, however, and the life of the smallpox patients can be made a trifle more pleasant if these are provided. Health Inspector Addis is glad to call for anything of that kind if he is notified by postal card or note.

Since Senator Charles A. Reed has occupied a chair in the State House as a member of the Legislature, Somerset county has achieved far more prominence at Trenton than ever before. While State treasurer is a position of much importance, it is not one which is likely to keep the official before the public eye. At present, there are few who are at all in touch with State affairs who are not familiar with the "Tall Sycamore of Somerset."

There is a profitless discussion in the advertising periodicals as to whether women read posters and street car cards, says the Philadelphia Record. Of course most of the purchasing for any family is done by or or under the influence of women, but it is not easy to determine whether women as a rule whether women as a rule read advertisements outside the newspaper. That women read newspaper ads is well known.

It is an entirely erroneous idea which some people have that the vaccinating done by city and borough is hurried through without all due care and the necessary precautions. On the contrary, the physicians are just as careful as if they were working in their own offices while trained nurses are employed to properly prepare the arm for vaccination and then adjust the protecting gauze where needed.

Every reader of The Daily Press will do well to watch the second and third pages for local news. Pressure of advertising and an increase in the typesetting facilities of the office often make it necessary to put much interesting matter of a local character on the pages in question. There is always something of that kind on the second page and frequently on the third page as well.

Now if Vice President Warren would only see that the fence separating the tracks at the North Avenue station is painted white or some other color easily distinguishable at night, the people of Plainfield will begin to think that he really cares what the patrons of the company desire.

The boards in the windows of the old smoking room at the North Avenue station have been covered with curtains. It is another sign that the interview at Vice President Warren's office, between the Jersey Central officials and the Board of Trade accomplished something.

The young men at the North Plainfield High School are preparing to establish a publication similar to the one which has succeeded so well at Leal's School. A school paper has long been desired by the pupils and now it looks as if their desires were about to be realized.

Pastors of Plainfield churches who desire their church notices in the regular column in The Daily Press tomorrow will do well to remember that these notices must reach the office by 10 o'clock in order to insure insertion.

Greatly Improved.

The entertainment given by the Lovett's Boston Stars in the Y. M. C. A. course in 1898 was greatly enjoyed. The company is said to have improved from year to year so that a great treat may be expected by those who are able to attend the entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course Monday night.

Replaced Unsightly Boards.

The officials of the New Jersey Central have caused to be removed the unsightly boards that were recently placed in the windows of the old smoking room at the North Avenue station. In their place clean strips of white muslin have been put up to cover the windows.

A Peculiar Chicken.

Moore & Schelein, the North avenue butchers, had a great curiosity this week in the form of a chicken. One side was distinctively white, while the other side had the customary yellow color. The chicken attracted considerable attention.

Took Well.

Collector Frank H. Smith is among those who have been treated to vaccine. Like the assessment of taxes, it took well and Mr. Smith says that it was a great success. For a few days he did not care whether school kept or not.

Plans for New Residence.

George Taylor, of Elmwood place, has plans out for a handsome residence which he intends to erect for his occupancy on Grant avenue. The work of preparing the land for the celler is about completed.

—For a good butter try Neuman Brothers' Elgin creamery. Sells for twenty-seven cents per pound and can't be duplicated for thirty-five.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. Randolph.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

A spirited horse, owned by Robert Lowrie, became frightened at a train while waiting at the Washington avenue crossing, yesterday afternoon, and turning around started to run away. In turning the animal upset the buggy and threw out Robert Lowrie, Jr., a grandson of the owner, and a companion, and broke the top of the vehicle. Young Lowrie was obliged to let go of the reins after being dragged for a short distance, but the animal was stopped with what was left of the buggy before it had gone far. None of the occupants of the wagon were hurt and the only damage done was to the harness and wagon.

The Card Club met last evening at the home of the Misses Marlow, on Dunellen avenue, and enjoyed a pleasant session. Most of the members were present and participated in the playing. Delegations were present from New Providence, Milburn and Westfield Councils.

He said so to everybody on Park avenue including Patrolman Higgins and the latter thought a cell was the place for the free thinker. This morning after an interview with City Judge Runyon he deposited $5 in the city treasury.

NO NEW CASES.

Inspector Addis is Taking the Supplies to Isolation Hospital.

There are no new developments today in the small-pox situation. The four cases continue to improve under the excellent treatment given. Delicacies are constantly being received for the patients. These are taken to the isolation hospital by Health Inspector Addis, who has been deputized by the Board of Health to take all supplies there. Thus the merchants about town are not asked to run any risks.

Clerks With Sore Arms.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

DRAMATIC SELECTIONS.

Formed the Chief Feature of the Programme at the Reform Club Last Evening.

The regular Thursday night meeting at Reform Hall, last evening, was the most interesting given in some time, due to an unusually fine programme. There was a very good attendance.

The chief contributor was the California tragedian, Richard Foote, who interpreted characters from well known plays. With Miss Margaret Hoffman as "Lady Ann" he gave the wooing scene from Richard III. Later he gave the garden scene from "The Lady of Lyons" with Miss Adele Ohl as "Pauline." His concluding number was a comedy sketch, "A Happy Pair" in which he was supported by Miss Suzanne Kranz. The other entertaining features were vocal selections by Miss Suzanne Kranz and recitations by Miss Winonah Ohl.

Addresses on the temperance question were made by Charles Raybert, J. W. A. Bauersachs, John Goodwin, William C. Smith and Edward Smith.

Mr. Foote will recite at the 4 o'clock meeting in Reform Hall, Sunday afternoon, and Miss Kranz will sing.

STRONG SERMON.

Preached by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes at Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes preached a strong and interesting sermon last evening to a large number of people at the Mt. Olive Baptist church. His text was "The Fruits of Regeneration." After the sermon the chorus from the Baptist Young People's Union sang "I Shall Be Satisfied." At this time the pastor, Rev. E. E. Jackson, presented to Dr. Yerkes a handsome bouquet of flowers.

The service closed with a short address by the superintendent of the Sunday-school, M. C. Dobbins. There were thirty-six testimonies given by the new converts.

Came Here to Eat.

A merry crowd of Rutgers students, chiefly members of the Chi Psi fraternity, accompanied by their young women friends, enjoyed a straw ride to this city last night, after which they had supper at the Hotel Kensington. MASON'S PLAN FAILS

Scheme to Vote Schley a Sword and His Men Medals.

ILLINOIS SENATOR ASKED FOR $10,000

Senator Teller Arraigns Great Britain For Treatment of Boers and Execution of Scheepers—Commerce Bill Is Considered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—An effort was made in the senate yesterday by Mr. Mason (Ill.) to obtain consideration for a joint resolution which he introduced extending the thanks of congress to Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley "for his brave and able conduct while in command of the American fleet at the victorious battle of Santiago." The effort, however, was not successful.

Mr. Mason's resolution, in addition to the thanks of congress, provided that Admiral Schley should be presented with a sword, that bronze medals commemorative of the battle of Santiago should be distributed among the officers and men "under the command of Schley during said battle" and that $10,000 be appropriated to meet the expenses of the resolution. On motion of Mr. Hale the resolution was referred to the committee on naval affairs.

The resolution introduced Wednesday by Mr. Teller providing for intervention on the part of this government in behalf of the Boer commandant Scheepers, sentenced to death by the British South African authorities, was postponed indefinitely, as Scheepers already had been executed. Mr. Teller made a brief but caustic speech on the actions of Great Britain in the Boer war and declared that if the facts of this case were as he understood them "Great Britain in putting Scheepers to death is guilty of a vile assassination."

The department of commerce bill was under consideration during the greater part of the session, but no definite progress was made.

The consideration of the urgent deficiency bill, which has been under debate in the house since Monday, was completed, but owing to the lateness of the hour the passage of the bill was postponed until today. A successful effort was made to increase the pay of rural free delivery carriers from $500 to $600 per annum. Mr. Hill (Conn.) made the motion to increase the appropriation for this purpose. It was resisted by Mr. Cannon and Mr. Loud, chairman of the postoffice committee, on the ground that the method was irregular, but the members with rural constituencies supported it, and it was adopted by a vote of 109 to 78.

Hearing For Oklahoma.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The hearings on admitting Oklahoma to statehood began yesterday before the house committee on territories and was continued today. Delegate Flynn made the opening presentation, speaking for separate statehood for Oklahoma. He was supported in this view by Sydney Clark and others. Another view was presented by a delegation favoring the inclusion of the Indian Territory with Oklahoma in any plan of statehood. One member of the delegation from Indian Territory opposed statehood in any form at this time. Today's hearing dealt particularly with separate statehood for Oklahoma.

Governor Odell's Reception.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 24.—Governor and Mrs. Odell last night held their annual reception of the judges of the court of appeals, state officers, members of the legislature and other persons prominent in political and social life and their wives at the executive mansion. Governor and Mrs. Odell were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Timothy L. Woodruff, Mrs. Bond and the wives of other state officers. The executive mansion was tastefully decorated with a profusion of palms and potted plants, and during the reception there was dancing in the music room.

A GERMAN NEW WOMAN.

Dr. Elizabeth von Richthofen and Her Work as Factory Inspectress.

We could put it all into one word in German, the phrase "protective legislation for working women," and the word would be "arbeiterinnenschutzgesetzgebung." At any rate, whether you can pronounce it or not, that is "it," and it is claiming public attention in the German states in a manner promising for the feminine sex.

Within the past two or three years the innovation has been made of the appointment of women as factory inspectors for operatives of their own sex, of course, inside of very narrow bounds and altogether dependent on and responsible to masculine superiors. The German ladies' paper, Frauen Daheim, contains a resume of the first full reports from the newly appointed women officials. Public sentiment in the empire favors the new system, and the report shows its excellent workings. The writer in Frauen Daheim says that after America, England and France had approved and generally adopted the scheme of women factory inspectors at length in 1897 Saxe-Weimar cautiously ventured to make the experiment. Other states followed. The last one of all to appoint the woman inspector was, mark you, that stronghold of militarism and imperialism, Prussia.

The studious, careful German mind paid a degree of attention to the qualifications for their office of the women inspectors which may well be commended to Americans. The fine lady from society who goes mincing into work places with patronizing air, holding up her skirts daintily and sticking out her little finger, concerning the needs and labors of factory women knowing or caring as little as a bird does about Sunday—this fine ladyish person has place on none of the German lists. Heretofore in Prussia the two women assistant inspectors were both actively employed in factory work in the capacity of department overseers or superintendents. In Wurttemberg the post was given to the widow of a former factory owner, while in Hesse a practicing woman physician was made inspectress. In Baden one of the most learned ladies in all Germany, Elizabeth von Richthofen, doctor of philosophy, who passed her Heidelberg university examinations summa cum laude—with highest honors—has accepted the office of factory inspectress. One admirable requirement for all the women is that they shall have sound health and be able to endure perfectly the fatigues of travel and extremes of heat and cold.

Elizabeth von Richthofen was born at Metz twenty-seven years ago. When she was eighteen, she passed her examinations and became a teacher, first in Metz, later in Heidelberg. It was in the classic old university town in 1897 that she resolved to study for a university degree. She was educated partly in Berlin, partly in Heidelberg. In the summer of 1901 she passed her final examinations magnificently before the faculty of philosophy at Heidelberg, winning the most illustrious honors in political economy.

Such is the woman who in Germany does not esteem it beneath her to accept a place under the government as inspector of factories where women are employed. The precedent might well be followed by American women university graduates as well as by those who have the appointing of factory inspectors. Oddly enough, however, this very fact of her brilliant qualifications for her office at first created a prejudice against Dr. von Richthofen in the dumb and stupid minds of many women artisans. Ignorance and stupidity ever look on learning with suspicion. This prejudice, however, the accomplished Dr. von Richthofen is rapidly overcoming.

In Germany, as elsewhere, the worst obstacles to righting the wrongs of women are the indifference and more or less sullen resignation of the women themselves. German female factory operatives know their wrongs, but they are used to them, and they are often too ignorant to comprehend that any human being can really cherish a disinterested desire to see justice done them.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

"I am beginning to believe that I should like to meet Mr. Bayley again," I remarked. "He has a fine imagination, and, from what you tell me, it seems that I should have looked a fool had I gone out to South America on such an errand."

"It would have been exceedingly inconvenient not only for you, but also for us," said the manager. "I shall report this matter at the board meeting to-day. We must endeavor to discover who this man is, and also his reasons for acting as he has done. Should we hear anything further upon the subject, we will at once communicate with you."

"I should be glad if you will do so," I replied. "I should like to get this matter cleared up as soon as possible. There may be something behind it that we do not understand."

I thanked him for the interview, and then took my departure, more puzzled by it than I had been by anything for a long time. When I reached my office I took the card from a drawer, which Mr. Edward Bayley had sent to me, and dispatched it by special messenger to the office of the famous mining company. That afternoon another surprise was in store for me. Shortly after lunch, and when I was in the middle of a letter to Kitwater, a message was received through the telephone to the effect that the managing director of the Santa Cruz Mining company, whom I had seen that morning, was on his way to call upon me.

"Something has evidently come to light," I reflected. "Perhaps the mystery surrounding Mr. Edward Bayley is about to be cleared up, for I must confess I do not like the look of it."

A quarter of an hour later the manager was ushered into my presence.

"Good afternoon, Mr. Fairfax," he said. "I have come to ask you, if you will permit me, a few questions, and also to tell you that I think we have discovered who it is that is masquerading as the occupant of my position. You gave me this morning a rough description of the individual who called upon you. Can you recall anything particular about his appearance? Any strange mark, for instance. Anything by which we should be able to swear to his identity?"

"I would swear to his identity anywhere, without a mark," I replied. "But since you do mention it, I remember that he had a small triangular scar upon his left cheek."

"Then it is the same man after all," said the manager. "That is certainly extraordinary. When our secretary spoke to me about him after you had left I had my doubts; now, however, they are quite removed. Why he should have called upon you in such a guise is a question I cannot for the life of me answer with any sort of satisfaction."

"Perhaps you will be a little more explicit," I said. "You have not told me yet how it is that you have been able to locate the gentleman in question. This morning you must remember you had no sort of remembrance of him."

"In that case you must forgive me," he replied. "As a matter of fact I was so much carried away by my excitement that I could think of nothing else. However, I have promised you the story, and you shall have it. Some years ago, eight or ten perhaps, we had a young man working for us in the Argentine as an overseer. He was in many respects a brilliant young fellow, and would doubtless have done well for himself in time, had he been able to go straight. Unfortunately, however, he did not do so. He went from bad to worse. At last he was caught in a flagrant piece of dishonesty, and was immediately discharged. When I tell you that that young man had a mark such as you described upon his cheek, you may be able to derive some idea of what follows."

"Might it not be a pure coincidence?" I replied.

"Not in this case, I fancy," he answered. "What makes me the more inclined to believe that it is the same individual, is the fact that our secretary met him in Leadenhall street only a few days ago. He looked older, but had evidently prospered in the world. As a matter of fact, Warner described him as being irreproachably dressed and turned out. I trust his good fortune was honestly come by; but I must own, from what I know of him, that I have my doubts."

"But what possible reason could this individual have for calling upon me, and why should he have made me such an offer as I have described to you?"

The director shook his head. The question was evidently beyond him.

"I can assign no sort of reason for it," he said, "unless he has some hope of being able to get you out of England for a time."

"I don't see how that could benefit him," I replied. "I am connected with no case in which he has any sort of interest."

"You never can tell," the old gentleman replied. "From what I know of him, Gideon Hayle was always—"

"Gideon what?" I cried, springing to my feet. "Did I understand you to say Gideon Hayle?"

"That's the name of the young man of whom I have been speaking to you," he replied. "But what makes you so excited?"

"Because I can understand everything now," I declared. "Good heavens! What an idiot I have been not to have seen the connection before! Now I know why Gideon Hayle tried to lure me out of England with his magnificent offer. Now I see why he set these roughs upon me. It's all as plain as daylight!"

CUBA WANTS RECIPROCITY.

Ruin Threatens the Island Unless This Is Granted.

HAVANA, Jan. 24.—A large meeting in the interest of reciprocity was held yesterday in the Tacon theater, at which Senores Montoro Zayas and Dolz were the speakers. After the meeting a procession was formed, which marched to the palace of the governor general. Here a commission waited upon Governor General Wood and presented the latter with resolutions to the effect that the people of Cuba of all classes—Cuban economic societies, political parties and municipalities—believed that the ruin and desolation now threatening the island rendered useless the efforts of the United States and Cuba to establish a stable government and reconstruct the country.

These resolutions also suggested that the Cuban commission now in Washington be recognized as being representative of the entire island and said that it was a duty which the United States owed Cuba to establish relations of reciprocity between the island and the United States.

The American club, which participated in this manifestation, sent cablegrams urging the establishment of reciprocity to President Roosevelt, the speaker of the house and the president of the Merchants' union of New York.

Reciprocity Opposed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Cuban reciprocity hearing before the ways and means committee was devoted chiefly to the cane sugar interests of Louisiana, which are opposing the proposed concessions to Cuba on the ground that it will cripple the sugar production of that state. A number of large planters and manufacturers of the state were present, and the allied interests of beet sugar and tobacco, which are similarly opposed to concessions to Cuba, also were numerously represented.

ENGLISH SHIPPERS HERE.

They Are Supposed to Come to Form Great Shipping Trust.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The White Star line steamship Celtic, from Liverpool and Queenstown, the arrival of which was awaited with much interest owing to the presence on board of a number of leading English shipping men whose mission here is supposed to be in connection with the rumored transatlantic steamship combine between the White Star, Leyland, American and Atlantic Transport lines, has arrived.

Those on board the Celtic include the Right Hon. William James Pirrie, chairman of the Harland & Wolff Shipbuilding company and a director of the Leyland and White Star lines; Henry Wilding of Richardson, Spence & Co., English agents of the International Navigation company, who was recently unanimously elected chairman of the Leyland line in succession of J. R. Ellerman; J. Bruce Ismay and W. S. Graves, directors of the White Star line, and Ralph Neville and John Dickinson, leading Liverpool maritime lawyers.

The Earl and Countess Grey were also on board the Celtic.

Chicago Canal Dockage Valuable.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—By a proposition submitted to the trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago by the McCormick Harvesting Machine company the vast revenue producing possibilities of the dockage along the Chicago ship and drainage canal have been practically illustrated. The McCormick proposition is to lease a tract of twenty acres on the north bank of the canal for a term not exceeding fifty years on a basis of 4 per cent annually on the value of the ground. The purpose of the concern submitting the proposal is ultimately to transfer its dockage from the river to the canal if its overtures shall be accepted by the trustees. The sanitary district owns a strip 300 feet wide on both sides of the canal, or land 600 feet wide and forty miles long.

Warring Bowlers Make Up.

BUFFALO, Jan. 24.—The warring factions in the American bowling congress got together last night and settled their differences. The election of officers held Wednesday was reconsidered, and a new set of officials was elected. Mayor Charles A. Bookwalter of Indianapolis is the president of the congress for the ensuing year. The convention and tournament of 1903 also goes to Indianapolis. The clause in the constitution regarding the admission of proxy votes at the annual convention, which caused all the friction, was eliminated.

Earthquake Shocks Continue.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 24.—Another slight earthquake shock has occurred at Chilpancingo and terrified the people, but no harm was done. Official data shows that 614 houses, not including the government buildings, were destroyed in the first and second earthquakes. The people continue panic stricken and fear additional shocks. They are leaving their homes to establish themselves in other towns and cities.

Gold Found In Wisconsin.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Jan. 24.—The report that ore taken from the bluffs north of this city includes gold and silver in paying quantities is confirmed by assays made by chemists and metallurgists whose standing places their reports beyond question. The assays show bullion running from $1.30 to $17.30 per ton on samples taken from the ledge. The average per ton is about $8.

NO DANGER.

Chief Engineer Osgood Talks Regarding the Draw Bridge Over Newark Bay.

The practice of moving trains slowly on the Newark bay drawbridge has made many people anxious for fear there is something wrong with the structure. No repairing is being done and this fact tended to add to the alarm.

Chief Engineer Osgood, of the New Jersey Central, says in regard to this: "People kick now because we take them over the draw too slowly. If we took them over at the rate of 60 miles an hour and landed them into the bay they would still kick. But, seriously, the drawbridge is all right. Two years ago, owing to the increased weight of locomotives, the company decided to build a modern draw at Newark bay, one allowing even the heaviest trains to cross at full speed. The frame work of that draw is now building, and will be put in place some time next summer.

"For some months a 'speed rule' has been issued against the draw, not because we fear the trains would land into the bay, but because we want to preserve the efficiency of the draw until the new one is finished. Locomotive engineers in some instances have made too sure of their orders and have crawled over the structure, even though they were allowed an eight-mile-an-hour speed. We, too, have been bothered with many letters of complaint, but the commuters may rest assured that the draw is all right."

SKETCH OF JERSEY'S NEW U. S. SENATOR

Chosen by Republican Caucus, He Will Be Elected at Meeting Next Week.

ABOUT HIS PAST CAREER.

IS NOW PRESIDENT OF THE PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

What Part He Has Taken in State Politics—Has Large Financial Interests, Chiefly in Newark.

Here is a sketch of the man who has been chosen as candidate for United States Senator at the caucus of the Reupblican members of both houses of the Legislature. He will be elected at a joint session of the Legislature Tuesday:

John F. Dryden, president of The Prudential Insurance Company of

JOHN F. DRYDEN.

America, and a leading capitalist in banking, and other large enterprises, has his home in Newark. In person he is tall, spare, and well knit. In demeanor he is dignified, yet kindly and courteous. In mental ability he is equalled by few of the men who have attained, like him, great success in life, and few men are equal to the great burdens and responsibilities that Mr. Dryden has borne for years, and that he seems to bear lightly.

John F. Dryden is of old New England stock. He was born on August 7, 1839, at Farmington, Me., and was educated for the legal profession. His training in law has been of great use to him in his subsequent career. He was not very strong physically, and was of a retiring and studious disposition. At Yale University, where his parents sent him, he devoted himself closely to study, with the result of impairing his health, and by the advice of physicians he was compelled to give up his hopes of graduation and left the university.

The subject of insurance early engaged Mr. Dryden's attention, and he devoted his time to a study of its principles, mastering the theory of finance, the construction of tables, averages, percentages, compounds, futurities and scientific momentary economy. About 1865 he obtained a report on the subject of Industrial Insurance, submitted to the Massachusetts Legislature by Prof. Elizur Wright, the State Insurance Commissioner. It criticised the methods of the Prudentian Assurance Company of London, England. Mr. Dryden procured all the reports of the company and analyzed them, and decided that the Insurance Commissioner was wrong. This gave him the idea of formulating an industrial insurance system for the United States. He submitted plans to some New England capitalists, but they were not received with favor.

In 1873 Mr. Dryden went to Newark, and interested such men as Noah F. Blanchard, William H. Murphy, father of Governor-elect Murphy; Horace Alling, Leslie D. Ward, and others. A bill was passed by the Legislature, and, in 1875, The Prudential Insurance Company of America was founded. From its inception Mr. Dryden was the soul and spirit of the enterprise. For several years he was secretary, and when Noah F. Blanchard, the president, retired, Mr. Dryden succeeded him.

The steady faith, the unconquerable will and indomitable energy of Mr. Dryden carried the company through several crises and overcame many formidable difficulties until the company became firmly planted and began its great growth. From the basement of

INTEREST IN T. A. B. FAIR

ATTRACTIONS LAST EVENING DREW A LARGE CROWD.

The School Children to be Admitted Free This Afternoon—Contests Tonight.

Although the T. A. B. fair has been in progress nearly a week, the interest in it has not decreased in the slightest. There was another large crowd in attendance last evening and the booths and contests were patronized almost as liberally as on the opening night.

Dancing still continues to be the feature and all last evening the floor was taken up with young couples who whirled about under the management of Frank Burke, and his assistant floor manager. Other entertaining features were vocal selections by the favorites, John Conway and Miss Anna Daley. They were liberally applauded.

Interest in the contests is becoming more and more intense as some of them will close this evening. Those competing for the large doll, the Misses Mary Caulfield, Bertha Flynn and Nellie Higgins, have worked hard but so far they have remained very close. The contests for the gentleman's watch, the dinner set, parlor table and sofa pillows, will end this evening. Those for the woman's watch and Father Smyth's picture will be continued until Monday evening, when the fair will close.

This afternoon, school children will be admitted to the hall without charge from 2 until 5 o'clock. Special attractions will be provided for their entertainment.

CONVERTING THE AFRICANS

SUBJECT OF TALK GIVEN AT PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Mrs. Booth, a Missionary in Central Africa, the Speaker—The Work She Has Done.

The Christian Endeavor Society meeting last evening at the Park Avenue Baptist church was one of the most interesting held in some time. Mrs. David M. Runyon was in charge and after the opening exercises, she introduced Mrs. Booth, a returned missionary from Central Africa. Mrs. Booth and her husband have been in Africa eight years and she told of their work in that land.

They have organized industrial schools in Africa and instead of giving the natives money, they are given clothing and necessary food, in return for their labor. Mrs. Booth told of the habits of the people, of their eagerness to learn about Christ and of their willingness to work for the articles given in return.

She said that while she and her husband have been in Africa they have estabished fifty-two industrials school and there have been nearly 400 converts. Numbered among the latter are some of the most earnest, sincere and devoted Christians to be found anywhere. After once learning about Christ and the principles of Christianity they welcome the change from the old superstitions.

After the meeting Mrs. Booth exhibited many curios including the skins of a leopard, snake, baboon and white cat. She also exhibited specimens of the clothing worn by the natives. The service was an interesting and helpful one and at the close many of those present thanked Mrs. Booth for her talk.

Song Service at Hospital.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will go to Muhlenberg Hospital tomorrow afternoon, after Sunday-school, and conduct a song service. Those intending to be present are requested to take with them a copy of Christian Hymns No. 1.

AGRICULTURAL PROGRESS IN SOMERSET COUNTY

The Annual Report of Secretary of Somerset County Board of Agriculture.

SENT TO STATE BOARD.

THE AVERAGE PRODUCT AND PRICES OF CROPS AND STOCK.

Some Interesting Facts in Annual Report of Secretary A. P. Sutphen—He Makes Some Recommendations.

Secretary A. P. Sutphen, of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture, has submitted his report to the secretary of the State Board, to be printed in the annual report. It is as follows:

"Only three meetings have been held during the past year. At the last meeting, the members of the board voted to hold six meetings during the coming year, and, by the distribution among the farmers in the county, of an address, to make an attempt to increase the membership to at least five hundred farmers. Fruit and berry growers ought to become members of this board, then it would be able to get about what it ought to, both for the benefit of its members and of the county.

"There should be a trolley system from Peapack to the Mercer county line, so that both limestone and burnt lime can be transported cheaply all the way down through the center of this county. Peapack can furnish an inexhaustible supply of the best lime, and when the time comes (and I trust it will be soon) that our railroad companies as public servants, are compelled to accommodate the people who gave them the franchise, and to cart coal at living rates, and not at the exhorbitant prices now demanded for freight, then lime can be burnt and furnished the farmers at reasonable rates, and will be commonly used as a fertilizer, and by its use our farmers will be better for all kinds of crops, and much freer of noxious weeds. In the meantime, and while waiting for this cross trolley through the country, the farmers should take advantage of the stone road from Far Hills through Somerville and Harlingen, and with the use of lime and barn yard manure and composts, they can greatly enrich their farms, and their crops will richly pay them. In proof of this, visit the Peapack valley, and the limestone sections of the Muskinetcong and German valleys where lime is freely applied. Crops are kept clean, and the soil is much more easily cultivated. Lime applied judiciously upon our red shale proves a wonderful incentive to the growth of grass, and if a farmer can produce grass, he is almost sure of corn and wheat.

"The oats corp in our county was a failure. Corn, wheat and hay yielded fairly. Prices are much better, and the outlook for farmers is encouraging. Take advantage of the times by intelligent, earnest effort, confer with each other. See that the prices of your products are fixed by you, that the cost of production is reduced, and that you get the right kind of fertilizers, and apply them to the best advantage. Raise the best and get the highest market price!

"It is noted that the organization of this board has proved very beneficial to farmers in the county, that many have improved their methods of farming and become more successful, and we hope to increase the interest in the meetings of the board."

At the close of this report was a report on farm crops, stock, prices, etc., for the year ending December 1, 1901; 100 per cent. being the basis of estimate.

Farm Crops.

Corn 105, an increase of 5 per cent.; average yield per acre, 36 bushels; average price 56 cents.

Wheat 100, average yield 20; average price 70 cents.

Rye 100, average yield 19, average price 53 cents.

Oats 30, a decrease of 70 per cent.; average yield 16, average price 40 cents.

Hay 107, an increase of 7 per cent.; average yield per acre 1½ tons; average price per ton $13.

GOTHAM RESCUE WORK SUBJECT OF TALK

Mrs. Whittemore Speaks Eloquently at Warren Chapel Missionary Meeting.

TASK OF DOOR OF HOPE

AN INSTIUTION WERE FALLEN CREATURES ARE HELPED.

Large Congregation Listens Very Attentively to Experiences of tho Lecturer—What is Being Done to Save Weak Mortals.

An address on the subject of missionary work among the fallen women in New York city, delivered by Mrs. E. M. Whittemore, at Warren chapel, last evening, was listened to by a large and attentive congregation. For over an hour, Mrs. Whittemore, who is the responsible head of the Door of Hope, on East Sixty-first street, talked of her experiences during the years she has labored to redeem those unfortunate creatures, and her remarks showed that she is making a life's work of the task.

In the course of her talk she told many pathetic incidents in the lives of frightfully dissipated mortals, whom she said, were freqently more sinned against than sinning. In all New York, she declared, there are 10,000 places where woman can be dragged down and only five, like the Door of Hope, where they may be raised up. This statement she based on official statistics. The simple Christian methods she uses in leading these fallen women to a sense of their dissipation was related in a feeling manner.

Mrs. Whittemore had something to say of the attitude of the women of the land today toward these creatures. She administered a rebuke to those who brush by these fallen women with a look of scorn, never thinking of their duty to help them. The work by the Door of Hope was dwelt upon at some length by her. It has been established for over a decade and during that period she has never solicited funds for the purpose of its maintenance, relying wholly on voluntary subscriptions of philanthropic persons. All the collections received through her lectures are devoted to the general missionary cause. A number of pamphlets concerning the work she is doing and attending circumstances in the conversion of these fallen women, were placed on sale at the conclusion of the meeting and quite a number of persons purchased the interesting booklets.

TROLLEY CAR TELEPHONES

THE SYSTEM IS BEING CONSIDERED BY LOCAL COMPANY.

They Are Operated Successfully Elsewhere—What the Objects Are.

It appears that the management of the Elizabteh, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, intends to introduce a system of telephones for each trolley car on the main line. Thomas G. Barr, now at the head of the line between this city and Westfield, is considering plans for this system, which has been successfully operated by the Worcester, Mass., Traction Company, where Mr. Barr was formerly in charge.

A wire, supported on the trolley poles, will be strung from the power house in Westfield to the ends of the road. In Westfield a telephone instrument will be connected with the wire, and each car will also contain the talking mechanism, and attached to the telephone in the car will be two long flexible wires. If a motor on the car burns out, or if any sort of an accident happens, the conductor attaches the flexible wires to the main line, rings the bell and calls up Westfield power house. The nature of the trouble is explained and a relief car sent out.

In case of a highway robbery the conductor could notify the Westfield power house and the men there could give a police alarm and start out on an extra trolley to relieve the "held up" passengers. It is beieved the new system will be introduced in the near future.

PREVENTING AN EPIDEMIC

THE CITY BOARD OF HEALTH CONTINUES ITS WORK.

More Vaccinations Yesterday Afternoon—Free Treatment Ends Today.

The number of free vaccinations at the offices of the Board of Health, yesterday afternoon, was reduced somewhat from that of the other days of the week. There were twenty-five treated yesterday by Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow, who was still controlling the little ivory vaccine point. It was noticed that the number of colored people were in the majority. As on the previous days of the week, there were no trained nurses in attendance to assist, the additional work devolving chiefly on Dr. Lufburrow, Dr. T. S. Davis and Health Officer Leon Thurlow. Dr. Davis paid much attention to the arms of those who have been vaccinated and who returned to have the sore examined. There were a few such who had very sore arms, an evidence that the vaccine had taken exceptionally well.

Two persons, a man and his wife, who gave their reisdence as Scotch Plains, were refused free vaccination. They protested that the board offered to perform the operation free, but Dr. Davis said that was true so far as Plainfielders are concerned. The board has not agreed to treat anyone outside of the city. So far as the present arrangements are concerned, today will be the last day for free treatment at this time. No notice has yet been given that it will be continued next week, although such a thing is possible. The Board of Health is much pleased with the advancement of the work thus far and every member as well as many physicians in the city believe that great progress has been made toward preventing an epidemic of disease in the city.

New Chef at the Plainfield.

The management of the Hotel Plainfield announces the engagement of H. S. D. McKenzie as chef. Mr. McKenzie was formerly at the Plaza Hotel, Fifty-ninth street, New York, and he thoroughly understands his business. He and his assistant will give their personal attention to the culinary department. The improvement in the service is marked and the meals at this hotel are sure to be a feature.

A Musician Now.

Fred Bowden, formerly an employe of The Daily Press office, but for two years past a member of the Second U. S. Cavalry Band, returned from Cuba this week. The cavalry is to be stationed at Fort Meyer for the present.

Change of Location.

Rushton & Hansen, the painting firm, will shortly give up its office on Sycamore street. The firm has more commodious quarters on East Front street.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN JOINT CAUCUS

Inside Facts As Told by a Leading Politician in the Fight.

WHAT CAUSED DELAY.

TACTICS ADOPTED BY THE SOUTH JERSEYMEN.

Positions Taken by Union and Somerset Counties' Representatives—Opinion Expressed on Mr. Newcorn's Action.

The result of the Republican caucus at Trenton, Thursday, caused some surprise in this vicinity to the friends of Former Senator Stokes. There is a large proportion of men active in Republican ranks who favored a south Jerseyman for the senatorial office because of the fact that north Jersey is now represented in the higher legislative body. On the other hand there are many adherents of John Dryden, who were highly elated when the news came that the Newarker had been selected after nineteen ballots had been taken.

In speaking of what appeared to be an unnecessarily long drawn out fight in caucus a well informed politician, who was on the ground, says that this was part of the tactics agreed upon among the friends of south Jersey's claims. The rush to rally under the banner of Stokes would have been made much sooner by the friends of the Cumberland man, had it not been for the fact that undue haste would have possibly settled the battle sooner in favor of Dryden.

It was known to the Stokes' campaigners that they had friends who were supporting Former Attorney-General Griggs temporarily in the hope that he might land the prize. It became evident to them as the battle progressed that the fight was fruitless so far as the Passaic statesman was concerned, but their policy was to make the friends of Dryden, who were also supporting Griggs, show their hands first. A stampede on the part of the friends of Stokes would have had the effect of making a like stampede to the camp of Dryden, declares this politician. It was in the hope of making converts slowly that more support was withheld from the Cumberland county school champion. The result of the balloting showed that the judgment of the Griggs-Stokes people was entirely correct. Slowly the Griggs people went over to Stokes, until at last there were but three supporters of the Passaic man. Assemblyman Holman, of Ocean county, and Senator Wakelee, of Bergen county, held back. They were prepared to swing into line for Stokes the moment Senator Cross, of Union county, should flop to Stokes, as they expected he would.

Their fears proved to be incorrect, however, and there was no cause for their changing their votes. Senator Cross, as is well known, made victory complete for Dryden by changing his vote in the last ballot, the nineteenth.

There's a feeling among the anti-Kean people that the action of Senator Stokes was a play on the part of the friends of the Union county United States Senator, to win friends for him when his term expires, and the time comes for re-election. On the other hand, friends of Kean declare that it was the independent action of Senator Cross in the interest of ending the fight speedily and harmoniously.

Assemblyman Hall and Miller, of Union county, espoused the cause of Dryden at the outset and clung to him throughout. Assemblyman Newcorn, however, started out as a Stokes man, but deserted him after the second ballot and went into the Dryden camp. In speaking of this sudden change of base on the part of the Plainfielder, a leading Republican here, said to a Press reporter today that it was a blunder on the part of the assemblyman.

Newcorn, said he, has weakened himself politically by this action. He had lots of friends among the south Jerseymen, and his action would be looked upon unfavorably by them. "At the start of his career," said this politician, "Newcorn has made a mistake and I believe he will realize it."

Senator Reed, of Somerset county, was originally an advocate of Gummere, but it is understood that he supported Stokes, in the hope that a south Jerseyman would land the prize, when there was no hope for Gum-

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Elizabeth Republicans who took part in the parade in Trenton on inauguration day, got an idea that some of the Trenton streets were in about as bad condition as country roads. They declared that Elizabeth's paved streets were much preferable, being cleaner and kept in better repair. By the way, the McKinley Club members did themselves great credit. They were not the largest in point of numbers, but they were decidedly the finest body of men in the civic part of the procession.—Elizabeth Journal.

The new governor of New Jersey will have several highly important appointments to make. Among these will be a new attorney general; and it is said that Senator McCarter, of Essex, is likely to receive this appointment. Another will be a new secretary of state, and this may, as already suggested, go to Col. S. D. Dickinson, of Jersey City. A third is a justice of the supreme court, to succeed Justice Charles G. Garrison, whose term expires in April. It is not improbable that Justice Garrison will succeed himself. — Elizabeth Journal.

Vice President Warren and General Passenger Burt, of the 'Jersey Central, have met and had it out with a committee representing the Plainfield Board of Trade. Plainfield, like Westfield, has many grievances against the 'Jersey Central. The powers that be, promised the committee many improvements for Plainfield, and also stated that things in general along the line would be brought to a higher standard. Mr. Warren stated that new engines and cars had been ordered and that within a short time radical changes for the better would be in evidence.

We hope all this will come true, for the antiqated service now offered 'Jersey Central patrons, is driving New York business men with their families to other towns and cities, where more modern train facilities are offered.—Union County Standard.

The agitation in favor of the use of voting machines at elections in this State has actually begun. Before the first message of Gov. Murphy to the Legislature had been read, in which he recommended the adoption of the machines, a bill was introduced by Senator Wakelee, of Bergen, providing for the purchase and use of the device.

But the Governor and the Bergen Senator differ as to methods. Gov. Murphy favors an appropriation by the State for the purchase of the machines, while the measure fathered by Mr. Wakelee would place the cost on municipalities and allow the various communities the option of using the machines or not. The bill also provides for the creation of a State Board of Voting Machine Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to designate the machine which shall be adopted.

The plan outlined by the Governor appears to be the wiser. It is asserted with good reason that voting machines would result in further purifying the ballot and would make corruption at the polls almost impossible. Admitting this, it follows that the more general the use of the machines, the better. As the Governor has said, the only objection to their adoption is the expense, but with the large surplus in the treasury this is not a valid excuse. The bill of Senator Wakelee should either be amended to conform to the recommendations of the Governor, or a new measure should be drafted along those lines.

Wherever the voting machine has been in use in other States it has demonstrated its effectiveness in recording the will of the people and in furnishing early and reliable returns of the result of the elections. The economy of its operation has more than offset the large outlay necessary to its installation. Should the Legislature see fit to adopt the recommendation of the Governor and provide the appropriation for purchasing the machines, it would very much lessen the burden of election expenses now borne by the taxpayers.—Newark News.

—As a result of vaccination nearly one hundred employes of the Taylor Iron Works, at High Bridge, are detained from work.

—Owing to the prevalence of smallpox in Hunterdon county, the prisoners in the county jail at Flemington have been vaccinated.

Cold Comfort From Doctors.

Doctors say neuralgia is not dangerous. This is poor consolation to a sufferer who feels as if his face was pierced with hot needles and torn with a thousand pairs of pincers. A well dressed man or boy is the admiration of everyone. It does not cost much these days to own good clothes, especially since M. Weinberger opened his clothing store in West Front street. His stock is one of the most complete in the State.

Hodge, the Y. M. C. A. druggist, has been having frequent calls for his own preparation of emulsion of cod liver oil. It is only one of the specialties at his store which has taken well with the public. All are prepared under Mr. Hodge's personal supervision and he has had years of experience in the business.

THEATRICAL.

"Florodora," the play that has broken all records in New York closes at the New York Theatre tonight. The success was so great that the Messrs. Sires concluded to put a new "Florodora" in the Winter Garden, and have made an agreement with Messrs. Fisher and Ryley, the proprietors of the production whereby it will be given in the Winter Garden beginning Monday night, by the New York Winter Garden stock company. The company is one of the largest and best in the world and will present "Florodora," it is expected, better than ever. In the cast are Virginia Earle, who will be seen as "Doloros;" Thomas Q. Seabrooke as "Tweedlepunah," and the other star members in the various roles. New scenery has been prepared, new costumes made and the prettiest aggregation of young women ever seen, even in the original, will make up the sextette.

TO BLOCK SUNDAY TRAINS.

Ocean Grove Will Fight Asbury Park's Demand.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, Jan. 25—"If Asbury Park insists upon Sunday trains, and the railroad concedes the demand, in violation of its several agreements, the Ocean Grove Association has a standing order that Sunday services in the Grove will be discontinued," said Vice President Ballard Thursday.

The Asbury Park Board of Trade has appointed a committee to wait upon the Grove authorities in an effort to dissuade them from opposing the stopping of trains at the local depot on Sunday. Members of the Board of Trade say they are tired of being tied to Ocean's Grove's apron strings.

SKETCH OF JERSEY'S NEW U. S. SENATOR

the State Bank, the institution moved into the Kremlin building, and thence to the $2,000,000 stone structure at Broad and Bank streets, built by the company, which has recently been added to by other great and ornate buildings, making the finest single group of office buildings in the world.

Mr. Dryden was one of the founders of the Fidelity Trust Company, started fifteen years ago, which is about to increase its capital to $5,000,000 and to organize two or more banks into one large bank under its control.

He is largely interested in the North Jersey Street Railroad Company, and is one of the three owners of the Newark and South Orange line, a subsidiary company of the North Jersey system. These and other interests are, however, commonplace to him compared with his love for The Prudential, the great child of his creation, and his interest in its workings He is in close touch with the multitude of details of the vast system. In the construction of the office buildings he gave daily audiences to the architect, and worked on the plans and estimates with an interest that never flagged. His recreation is taken in a superb home at Bernardsville.

A Republican all his life, Mr. Dryden has taken an active interest in public affairs. In 1896 he was one of the New Jersey Republican electors, and served again in that capacity in 1900. When the term of United States Senator Smith expired, Mr. Dryden was put forward as a candidate for the seat, but he made no effort to attain it, and gave no encouragement to his friends. Engrossed with business affairs, he has shown no desire for public office, though always keenly alive to party interests. In the last campaign for governor he appeared at a great meeting in the Newark Auditorium, and made a brilliant speech in favor of the election of Franklin Murphy. To the party organization he has been a generous contributor. He is one of the State committee to raise a fund for a memorial to the late President William McKinley at Canton, Ohio, and he is a steady contributor to religious and charitable objects.

AT METUCHEN.

St. Patrick's Alliance Will Hold Its State Convention There on Monday.

Great preparations are being made by the members of St. Patrick's Alliance for the great State convention to be held in Robins Hall Metuchen, Monday. The local committee is bestirring itself and everything indicates that Monday will be one of the biggest days in Metuchen's history.

Very seldom, if ever, Metuchen is chosen for a State convention of such a large body as St. Patrick's Alliance. There are over 800 branches of the alliance in New Jersey and delegates will be present from the majority of them. Robins Hall undoubtedly be packed. D. C. Whalen used his influence to get the alliance to convene here. He is chairman of the local committee and is assisted by John Powers, Jr., and Thomas Tynan.

The business before the convention, such as electing State officers, will be gotten through with in the one day, if possible. If there should be any business left undone it will be laid over to the National convention which will be held in February. The Metuchen branch, which is Branch No. 2, of District No. 8, consists of nearly seventy members. D. C. Whalen is making preparations to serve dinner to 125 people. There should be at least 500 people from all parts of Jersey in town that day. In the evening there will be a grand ball.

HILL ON THE MERGER

Interstate Commerce Commission Hears Testimony.

RATES ADVANCED BY COMPETITION.

President of Northern Securities Company Declares Such to Be the Fact—The Purchase of Burlington Road Was a Necessity.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—James J. Hill president of the Northern Securities company and president of the Great Northern railway, testified for three and a quarter hours before the interstate commerce commission here yesterday. In answer to questions tending to show the effect of the community of interests plan on rates the veteran railroader declared that competition does not lower rates; but, on the contrary, he believed that it advanced them. He declared that in the northwest, where for twenty years the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern have been at peace, where one road has agreed with the other on rates and maintained the agreements, rates were lower than in any other part of the country.

In regard to the purchase of the Burlington by the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern Mr. Hill declared that the purchase was a matter of necessity and was not due to "a movement in line with the trust idea." He testified to the formation of the Northern Securities company and in doing so gave a reason far more simple than has generally been conjectured.

"There are some old men, some very old men, interested in the management of the Great Northern," said he. "Two of them are over eighty and several over seventy years. They wanted to form a close corporation into which they could confide their interests with the assurance that the road would be managed along the lines which have made it a success. It was to have taken over one-third of the stock of the road. The plan seemed a good one, and then it was proposed to let all the stockholders in—not alone the few owners of the one-third, but all of them. The plan met with approval, and then it broadened into the idea of taking in the Northern Pacific also. The roads had worked in harmony for twenty years, and the change in the holder of the securities would make no difference. It can make no difference and will make no difference."

Mr. Hill talked vigorously and earnestly. At the close of the session, when Chairman Knapp offered to allow Mr. Hill to leave for New York if the latter felt that staying in Chicago would inconvenience him seriously, Mr. Hill declared that his time belonged to the commission and that he desired in every way to aid them to the extent of his ability. Chairman Knapp thereupon said that Mr. Hill would be again called to the stand this morning.

The Patrick Trial.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The trial of Albert T. Patrick, charged with the murder of William Marsh Rice, developed nothing approaching novelty or sensation yesterday. In all five witnesses were on the stand for the prosecution. Of these three—John H. Wallace, paying teller; W. O. Weatherbee, a clerk, and Eric B. Swenson, all of the banking house of S. M. Swenson & Son, with whom Rice had an account—swore that in their opinion the check for $25,000 known as the "Abert" check, because of a mistake in the spelling of Patrick's name, was a forgery. All of these witnesses were subjected to a searching cross examination, so close indeed that at the close of the day's proceedings Recorder Goff announced that in future he would not allow needlessly voluminous questions.

Aid For Art Students.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—The will of Mrs. Priscilla H. Cresson, just probated, creates a trust fund of $500,000, the interest upon which is to be paid to the Philadelphia Academy of the Fine Arts for the expenses of the students of great proficiency in pursuing their studies in Europe. The bequest also includes a legacy for the same purpose by Emlen Cresson, who died in 1889, which becomes operative through the death of Priscilla, his widow. The interest will amount to about $20,000 a year. Allowing $2,000 a year expenses for each student, the academy will be enabled to send ten students abroad each year.

Kansas City Platform Stands.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Democratic members of the house of representatives met in caucus in the hall of the house at 8 o'clock last evening and after a short but spirited contest adopted resolutions declaring that they were without power to promulgate a platform of principles for the party owing to the binding character of the party platform heretofore regularly made at a national convention.

Sugar Conference to Continue.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 25.—The indications now point to a continuation of the sessions of the international sugar conference for a fortnight at least. There is a growing belief that the conference is approaching a basis of agreement on the most important points at issue.

NEW ISLANDS FOR US

Danish West Indian Treaty Is Signed.

AWAITS THE ACTION OF CONGRESS.

The Question of Cession to Be Submitted to a Vote of the People of the Three Islands.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The treaty of cession of the Danish West India islands from Denmark to the United States was signed at the state department yesterday by Secretary Hay and Constantine Brun, the Danish minister. The treaty will be submitted to the senate for ratification immediately.

The new treaty is peculiar in that it will require action not only by the senate and the Danish rigsdag, but by the United States house of representatives as well, since it will be necessary for the house to supply the needed appropriation to defray the expense of purchase. It is regarded as a strong point by the framers of the treaty that the people of the Danish West Indian islands are to have a voice in this question of cession.

The treaty itself does not contain any reference to a plebescite, but the Danish government has given notice that before it ratifies the treaty it will submit the question of cession to the people of the islands. Not much objection is expected here from these people, as the treaty is so framed that they are not called on to surrender their Danish allegiance, and they may remain Danes in fact and in name while enjoying whatever advantages in a commercial way may result from a transfer of the islands to the United States. The plebescite will not be controlled in any sense by the United States. It is stated distinctly that the Danish government itself will take steps to ascertain the inclinations of the people of the islands before the final steps in the transfer are taken.

St. Thomas, the largest of the islands is formed by a chain of high hills running east and west. It is thirteen miles long, measures three miles at its greatest width and contains an area of seventeen square miles. The sea surrounding this island is filled with small islets, called keys, which belong to it. About two miles to the northeast lies the island of St. John, and some forty miles to the south is the third island St. Croix, or, as it is perhaps more generally known, Santa Cruz.

The port of St. Thomas is a good one, and it is stated that 200 vessels can anchor there with safety. The islands are considered of great strategic importance. The initial efforts to secure them were begun by the United States during President Grant's first administration.

The Olympia In Commission.

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—The historic flagship of the Manila Bay fight, the Olympia, went into commission at the Charlestown navy yard today, Captain Henry W. Lyon taking command. Wednesday, Feb. 12, has been designated as her sailing day from Boston, and her orders now read, "For Lambert's Point, Va." After participating in the naval reception and escort to Prince Henry of Prussia the Olympia will go south to become the flagship of Rear Admiral Francis J. Higginson in the important work of the north Atlantic squadron in West Indian and Central American waters. A total of $400,000, about $100,000 less than originally estimated, has been expended in refitting the battleship.

Ohio Bar Will Honor Taft.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25.—Members of the bar of Cincinnati and southern Ohio will give a reception next Monday afternoon to Judge William H. Taft, governor general of the Philippines. The public reception at the Literary club in the afternoon will be followed by a banquet at night. The courts of the city and county as well as the federal courts will close that afternoon as a mark of esteem to Judge Taft, who served for years on the state bench as well as in the United States circuit court of appeals.

Ohio Coal Lands Bought.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 25.—Captain Alfred Hicks of Pittsburg and Thomas K. Maher of Philadelphia have closed a deal for 8,000 acres of coal land situated in Belmont county, O., for a sum close to $1,000,000. The property adjoins the De Armit Coal company's workings and has three mines now in operation. The property will be developed as rapidly as possible. The Baltimore and Ohio, Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling and the Wabash railroads traverse the tract.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Sketches of the new Philippine coins as proposed by the Philippine commission were shown to the members of the house insular committee yesterday by Director of the Mint Roberts. SENATOR CROSS' ACT.

The fact that it was the vote of State Senator Joseph Cross, of Union county, which finally decided the legislative caucus in favor of John M. Dryden as the Republican candidate for United States Senator, has naturally led to many conjectures as to the Senator's reasons for changing his vote from the Griggs column when the nineteenth ballot came around. As Senator Cross comes from the same county as does U. S. Senator John Kean and is a warm friend of that gentleman, his course was generally looked upon as being more or less influenced by the other from Union county.

While Senator Cross might be slightly influenced by the desires of his warm political friends, he is not the kind of a man to accept dictation from any party leader. He is the kind of a man who can be counted on to follow the dictates of his own conscience. In supporting the candidacy of John W. Griggs, there is no doubt that he did so because he believed that Mr. Griggs was the best man for the place. It is a known fact that the so-called Kean faction had no desire to see Mr. Griggs in the United States Senate so Senator Cross' support of that man was undoubtedly from the best of motives.

When it was a sure thing, however, that Mr. Griggs could not be elected, Senator Cross followed a course which was undoubtedly "good politics" from the point of view of Senator Kean and his friends. Mr. Dryden had thirty-one votes and only lacked one more. In a way which called particular attention to the act, Senator Cross asked to have his vote changed from the Griggs to the Dryden column. It decided the contest and put Mr. Dryden and his friends from Essex under direct obligations to the Kean faction in Union county.

When U. S. Senator Kean's term expires, he is going to have a hard fight to secure re-election. South Jersey is going to make a very strong fight to have a representative in the Upper House of Congress from the southern end of the State. If both south Jersey and Essex county are then lined up against the present Senator, he might as well give up the fight at once. With Essex county's support, there is hope for him. As it was the vote of one of John Kean's friends which gave Mr. Dryden the place in the Senate, the former ought to be able to count on some kind of assistance from Essex when the time comes.

John M. Dryden is to be the next United States senator from New Jersey. The real battle was fought in the Republican caucus Thursday and the joint session of the two houses of the Legislature will be but a formal ratification of the action taken at the caucus. It was only after a hot fight that the choice was made. However the election had gone, there was no doubt but New Jersey would have had a very capable man to represent her in the Senate of the United States. The man who has been chosen, possesses great ability as has been shown in his direction of one of the largest insurance companies of the country. He is a man of high integrity, admired by all who know him, and one who will serve his country and State to the best of his ability. He is not a politician but a man of prominence in the financial and business world and should view the affairs of the nation, which come before him, from a broad and unbiased point of view.

When somebody does not see the fence separating the tracks at the North Avenue station and is killed by a passing train, the railroad officials will wish they had taken the trouble to have the fence repainted white.

Free vaccination will begin in the public schools Monday. No pupils will be vaccinated, however, unless they have the written consent of their parents.

FIRST APPOINTEE.

Claude L. Stillman, of Newark, Named as Private Secretary of Governor Murphy.

To Claud L. Stillman, of Newark, came the distinction of being the first appointee of Governor Murphy. The annnouncement of the Governor that he had chosen Mr. Stillman as his private secretary was forcast by those who knew of the intimate relationship that had for a long period existed between the two men and by the confidence that the Governor, in his capacity as a citizen and business man, reposed in Mr. Stillman.

For several years, Mr. Stillman has occupied the important post of assistant secretary of the Murphy Varnish Company, his duties as such including the functions of private secretary to Mr. Murphy as president of the company.

The private business interests of the Governor's secretary will not permit him to give all his time to the official duties of the post of private secretary to the Governor, so, it is understood, Mr. Stillman will occupy the position only temporarily, until such time as the Governor can select a permanent secretary and confidential aid.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 26, "Our Schools and Scholars." Text, Prov. iv.

"Take fast hold of instruction."

One of the chief glories of our land is its system of free schools. This public instruction is also one of the finest bulwarks of our liberties. Almost no other agency is so powerful in uniting the people in common thought and purpose as this. Rich and poor meet together and study the same subjects from the same books and under the same teachers. No matter how different have been the ideas of ancestors in other lands or how widely apart the social conditions and comforts of the present homes, these children are companions in study and sports and learn to know each other.

The schools of the church do not attempt to replace our free public schools. They fill an entirely different demand. There are large numbers of our young people who are far from public schools of high grade or who from special circumstances need particular courses of study not provided in them. Such find in our academies just what they need.

At a certain age it is of great advantage to most young men and women to have the opportunity to associate with others than those they have grown with from childhood. However good the local schools, a growing boy and girl from sixteen to twenty years of age will often gain great advantage by a year away from home at some boarding school. New ideas of life, more refined manners, quickening into activity of dormant powers, often come from this contact with a larger world. Self reliance is cultivated at a time when it is particularly valuable. Deeper appreciation of home and firmer resolutions for a worthy life are quite apt to result also from this separation from home.

Of course there are grave dangers in this school life as well as advantages. The boy or girl who seeks evil will find it. If home restraint has been rigid and mechanical rather than reasonable and affectionate, the removal of the parental punisher and spy may lead the child to riot in forbidden things from pure perversity, lack of moral strength or an unduly repressed and starved appetite or perverted taste and imagination. The boy who was goodish at home and made to walk strictly without due regard to his opinions and the needs of his expanding nature may get wild. We have known boys who had no games at home who learned when away at school to play cards and gamble. These are the exceptions.

Our schools, as a rule, cultivate manliness and pure womanhood in their students and are in general far above the ordinary homes of our people in direct moral and religious influence. The familiarity of the family circle gives place to the more dignified and refined association of the company of semistrangers. Manners are the expression of manliness recognized and growing. Self respect and individual responsibility are recognized as is hardly possible in most homes.

Association with choice minds and spirits of teachers devoted to God and who have made special study of the nature of young life as well as their more particular branches of learning, meeting and competing with other young people who are fitting for life in all departments of activity—all this under the best religious influences is what our schools give our boys and girls.

We need to pray God earnestly, not only this week, but often, to bless our schools and our scholars.

The End Is Not Yet.

To those whose thoughts are purely external and worldly natural death appears like the end of all things. But one foremost purpose of divine revelation is to show that this death is only the beginning of another life. Our earthly existence is for the sake of that life and for the measureless possibilities contained in it. When any one whom we love has undergone this change we keep near to him, and in the peaceful current of the Lord's providence, according as the world where he is living is real to us, and the infinite goodness and wisdom are still felt to be watching over him. Happy shall we be if, at such times, and at all times, and in all circumstances which we naturally dread, and which try our souls, we can be filled with the spirit of the words, "Be ye not troubled, for such things must needs be; but the end is not yet."—Helper.

Frankness and Not Faultfinding.

Frankness in the home circle is one of the most beautiful habits. By this is not meant a habit of cross faultfinding and use of offensive and needless criticism. These things are destructive of home happiness. But the utmost candor of kindly and conscientious expression of differences of opinion is helpful all round in preparing children for contact with the outside world. It gives self control, fortifies against the unkindly criticism which all are sure to meet and leads one to be on his guard.—Christian Instructor.

A Disciple's Prayer.

At sunrise pray: "Now, Lord, Thy day begins;
Receive my thanks; grant strength; wash out my sins;
My feet must stumble if I walk alone;
Lonely my heart till beating by Thine own;
My will is weakness till it rest in Thine;
Cut off, I wither, thirsting for the Vine;
My deeds are dry leaves on a sapless tree,
My life is lifeless till it live in Thee!"

At sunset this: "Now, Lord, Thy daylight fades;
Guide Thou my craft amid the gathering shades;
I thank Thee that Thou steerest my frail bark,
Oh, faithful Pilot, o'er these waters dark!
The waves have bared their threatening fangs of white,
But 'Peace, be still!' Thou speakest. Now comes night;
I drop mine anchor in the silent sea;
Through the long watches I am safe with Thee!"

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning Jan. 26. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Missions; the missionary awakening—In my heart, in my church; Christ's church everywhere.—Rom. xiii, 10-14.

A little over a hundred years ago there was a missionary awakening. Individual hearts were awakened. Their spirit spread to the church, and the result was a tremendous impulse to the cause of Christ. The church became anxious to send the gospel to every creature, to establish Christ's church everywhere, that it might be a light to the gentiles to show them the way to Christ that they might be saved and in Him be kept saved. The results of that great missionary awakening are still with us. The missionary spirit has a tremendous hold upon Christian people and Christian churches, yet there are many who are skeptical and indifferent. Perennial missionary awakenings are possible. Our own hearts may be awakened to increased prayer and zeal in this important cause. Our churches may be awakened to increased sympathy, interest and liberality for the great cause of sending the gospel to the whole world. If asleep on this great cause, "It is time to awake out of sleep."

What will do it? What will awaken our hearts and our churches to a new sense of the great responsibilities and possibilities that are ours in connection with the salvation of the whole wide world?

1. A study of the commands of Christ. Who can study Christ's attitude toward the heathen and not be moved? He came to save the lost. His mission is our misson and the mission of His church. He commanded His church and His disciples to evangelize the world. Who that loves Christ and seeks to do His will can ignore missions after reading His great command?

2. A study of worldwide conditions. The world is lost in darkness and sin. Only Christ can save it. As our present civilization makes its way into every clime and country and gives us a knowledge of all peoples we see as never before their degraded condition and need of Christ. Think of darkest Africa, of caste cursed India, of decaying China! Can you do so without a new desire to send them the gospel, without having a new interest in missions? Such pictures made Cary the cobbler Cary the consecrated missionary. May they awaken in us a desire to send all men the gospel.

3. The application of the Golden Rule to missions. Exchange places with the godless, Christless, hapless people of heathendom. Put yourself in their place and put them in yours. Now ask the question, What would I have them do for me under these changed conditions? Send me the gospel. Thus would we all answer such a question. Therefore the Golden Rule applied to missions should lead to a missionary awakening, for "whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them."

4. The thought of the future. "The night is far spent; the day is at hand." "It is high time to awake out of sleep." God's day of judgment is coming. This fact should awaken us to the responsibilities of that day and awaken in us an interest in the preparation of all men for that day.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. xxxv, 1-10; Ps. ii; lxxii, 8; Dan. ii, 44, 45; xii, 3; Math. xxviii, 19, 20; Acts i, 1-8; viii, 26-40; xiii, 1-3; Rev. xxii, 12.

Envy.

Among the sins that very frequently allure into perilous paths prominently stands envy. Out of selfish, unholy pride grows resentment, which too often bears this poisonous fruit. Yet it seems to change from fruit into a cruel fiend. How it soured the life and marred the character of Voltaire, who displayed it so offensively in his continued effort to detract from the sublimity of Corneille and the charm of Racine! The strength and ugliness of envy were manifest in severing the beautiful friendship once existing between those two fathers of Anglo-Saxon poetry, Chaucer and Gower. Controlled by this demon, it is said that Dryden could never speak of Otway, his rival, with kindness, and even the giant minded Leibnitz on all occasions would refer slightingly to Locke's "Essay" and fiercely strove to overthrow Newton's system. What wonder, then, that lesser minds should be assailed by it. Even Christians indulge it without realizing what it is and how base it may make them. Let us be large enough and sufficiently Christlike to rejoice with those more highly favored than ourselves. There was not a particle of envy in our Lord. If we would walk with Christ, we must give it no place within.

The One Especially Needed.

He who complains that his church is dead and does nothing to put new life into it only reflects upon himself and evinces a manifest blameworthiness. He may seek to lay the fault for the sad condition of affairs at another's door, but God holds him in a large measure accountable for not doing something toward improving matters. By the way, it is not the complaining but the righting church members who counts in the Lord's estimation. It is far better to say little about declining piety and to make much of reviving grace. Where the situation calls for action it is the leader of hope and cheer who is especially needed and who effects the finest results.—Presbyterian.

Secure.

What of the morrow? Lord, in Thee confiding,
Let me not doubt Thy promise and Thy power.
I shall not fear, within Thy love abiding
In peace this very hour.

I shall not dread the dark of any sorrow
Nor any woe that compasseth my way
Since Thou wilt safely guide me through tomorrow
Who keepest me today.

RAINES AND HIS LAW.

Author of New York Liquor Tax Statute Talks Plainly.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 25.—State Senator John Raines at the annual banquet of the Railway Men's Sound Money association here in discussing "Right of Citizens" touched upon many points raised by District Attorney Jerome of New York in a speech in this city a short time ago.

Speaking of hotels commonly called "Raines law hotels," Mr. Raines asked two questions:

"Have you ever suspected that the charges of evil against them were being persistently iterated in the interest of certain persons who desire to do so as a means to an end—namely, to secure the Sunday opening of the saloons? Is it true that the proprietors of some 2,000 or more such establishments ought to be in the penitentiary?"

Continuing, the speaker said: "The vital question is not whether there is one hotel in 1,400 or 2,000 of population. What we wish to know is, How are they conducted? If they are disorderly places, resorts for the depraved and vicious, no law protects them. They exist in spite of law and only through the supineness of the local authorities. Every policeman has knowledge of them if they are located on his beat. Will good citizens have the laws enforced? At least do not make the existence of disorderly places, which can be suppressed, an excuse for countenancing the worst calamity that could befall poor humanity, the Sunday selling of liquor by saloons."

After citing authorities as to the power of local authorities to enforce the Sunday and all night closing provisions of the liquor tax law Senator Raines, in conclusion, said:

"I cannot relieve myself from responsibility by saying, 'You attend to your affairs, and I will attend to mine.' When a sheriff of Erie county refuses or neglects to enforce the law against poolrooms, it is the right of any citizen to ask his removal by the governor. All honor to the governor who, knowing his duty, does not hesitate to perform it! It seems to me that example will be worth more to the interests that stand for the enforcement of law and the preservation of order than any one thing that has happened in twenty years. It is a notice that, whether the sandwich be chained to the table or not, the sword hangs by a hair; that, though few officeholders die and none resigns, some may be removed."

FOR FOREIGN ADVISERS.

Chinese Throne Urged to Copy Japanese Methods.

PEKING, Jan. 25.—The dowager empress and her councilors are seriously discussing the engagement of foreign advisers to reorganize the government. Yuan Shi Kai, viceroy of Pechili, is the inspiration of the movement. He returns to Paotingfu, having devoted several days to impressing the importance of real reforms upon the court and urging the necessity for adopting foreign methods as being the only practical measures. He memorialized the throne, recommending the employment of eight foreigners of eminence in various branches of governmental science, attaching them to different boards.

The scheme in its present form, after having been discussed by the members of the council, is to engage six foreigners as authorities respectively on international law and finance and on military, naval, parliamentary, domestic and governmental affairs.

Yuan Shi Kai and his followers are hopeful of practical results. They are taking Japan as their model, but any attempt to institute a parliament of any sort would meet with tremendous opposition from the Mantchoos.

Boston Wants Local Option.

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—One of the most important petitions for liquor legislation in Boston has appeared in the senate from the Boston Temperance federation, asking for a law for local option in eight districts in this city. The bill asks that each of the different districts which are called Boston (proper), East Boston, Charlestown, South Boston, Dorchester, Roxbury, West Roxbury and Brighton be allowed to vote each year on the question of allowing liquor to be sold in the respective districts. Should such a bill be passed it will cut down the number of liquor saloons in this city materially, as it provides for only one license for each 500 of the population in the district of Boston and for each 1,000 population in the remaining districts.

Dixon Knocked Out.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25.—George Dixon, the veteran colored pugilist, went down and out last night in the ninth round under a rain of body blows delivered by Eddie Lenny. It was an excellent exhibition of sparring. Lenny had the better of the argument throughout. His blocking rendered it impossible for the colored man to land a telling blow, while Dixon proved to be shiftier than his old friends had expected and avoided many hard leads.

Big Fight Off.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—The Yosemite club has decided to postpone indefinitely the proposed Jeffries-Sharkey fight. The chief reason given is the unsatisfactory ending of the recent Sharkey-Maher fight at Philadelphia.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Severe earthquake shocks were felt in Missouri and Illinois.

Rich goldfields were reported in the Norwegian district of Montana.

Lewis Warner, an American horseman, committed suicide at Newmarket, England.

Two hundred fishermen were reported missing as the result of fierce gales on the Japanese coast.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

"I am afraid I do not quite understand," said my companion in his turn. "But it is quite evident to me that you know more of Hayle's past life than I do!"

"I should think I did," I replied. "By Jove, what a blackguard the man must be! He robbed his two partners of enormous wealth in China, left them in the hands of the Chinese to be tortured and maimed for life, and now that he knows that I am acting for them in order to recover their treasure, he endeavors to put me out of the way. But you've not done it yet, Mr. Hayle," I continued, bringing my fist down with a bang upon the table, "and what's more, clever as you may be, you are not likely to accomplish such an end. You'll discover that I can take very good care of myself, but before very long you'll find that you are being taken care of by somebody else."

"This is a strange affair indeed, Mr. Fairfax," said the manager, "and it is evident that I have been of some assistance to you. I need not say that I am very glad, the more so because it is evident that our company is not involved in any system of fraud. I will not disguise from you that I had my fears that it was the beginning of trouble for us all."

"You may disabuse your mind of that once and for all," I answered. "If there is any trouble brewing it is for our friend, Mr. Hayle. That gentleman's reckoning is indeed likely to be a heavy one. I would not stand in his shoes for something."

There was a brief and somewhat uncomfortable pause.

"And now allow me to wish you a very good afternoon," the old gentleman observed.

"Good afternoon," I replied, "and many thanks for the service you have rendered me. It has helped me more than I can say."

"Pray don't mention it, my dear sir, don't mention it," replied the kindly old gentleman, as he moved towards the door. "I am very glad to have been useful to you."

When he had gone I sat down at my desk to think. I had had a good many surprises in my life, but I don't know that I had ever been more astonished that I was that afternoon. If only I had been aware of Hayle's identity when he had called upon me two mornings before, how simply everything might have been arranged! As a matter of fact I had been talking with the very man I had been paid to find, and, what was worse, had even terminated the interview myself. When I realized everything, I could have kicked myself for my stupidity. Why should I have suspected him, however? The very boldness of his scheme carried conviction with it! Certainly, Mr. Gideon Hayle was a foeman worthy of my steel, and I began to realize that, with such a man to deal with, the enterprise I had taken in hand was likely to prove a bigger affair than I had bargained for.

"Having failed in both his attempts to get me out of the way, his next move will be to leave England with as little delay as possible," I said to myself. "If only I knew in what part of London he was staying, I'd ransack it for him, if I had to visit every house in order to do so. As it is, he has a thousand different ways of escape, and unless luck favors me I shall be unable to prevent him from taking his departure."

At that moment there was a tap at the door and my clerk entered the room.

"Mr. Kitwater and Mr. Codd to see you, sir."

"Show them in," I said, and a moment later the blind man and his companion were ushered into my presence.

Codd must have divined from the expression upon my face that I was not pleased to see them.

"You must forgive me for troubling you again so soon," said Kitwater, as he dropped into the chair I had placed for him, "but you can understand that we are really anxious about the affair. Your letter tells us that you discovered that Hayle was in London a short time since, and that he had realized upon some of the stones. Is it not possible for you to discover some trace of his whereabouts?"

"I have not been able to do that yet," I answered. "It will be of interest to you, however, to know that he called upon me here in this room, and occupied the chair you are now sitting in, three days ago."

Kitwater clutched the arm of the chair in question and his face went as white as his beard.

"In this room three days ago, and sitting in your presence," he cried. "Then you know where he is, and can take us to him?"

"I regret that such a thing is out of my power," I answered. "The man came into and left this room without being hindered by me."

Kitwater sprang to his feet with an oath that struck me as coming rather oddly from the lips of a missionary.

"I see it all. You are in league with him," he cried, his face suffused with passion. "You are siding with him against us. By God you are, and I'll have you punished for it. You hoodwinked us, you sold us. You've taken our money, and now you've gone over and are acting for the enemy."

I opened the drawer of my table and took out the envelope he had given me when he had called. For a reason of my own I had not banked the note it contained.

"Excuse me, Mr. Kitwater," I said, speaking as calmly as I could, "but there seems to be a little misunderstanding. I have not sold you, and I have not gone over to the enemy. There is the money you gave me, and I will not charge you anything for the little trouble I have been put to. That should convince you of my integrity. Now perhaps you will leave my office, and let me wash my hands of the whole affair."

I noticed that little Codd placed his hand upon the other's arm. It traveled down until their hands met. I saw that the blind man was making an effort to recover his composure, and I felt sure that he regretted ever having lost it. A moment later Codd came across the room to my table, and, taking up a piece of paper, wrote upon it the following words:

"Kitwater is sorry, I am sure. Try to forgive him. Remember what he has suffered through Hayle."

The simplicity of the message touched me.

"Pray sit down a minute, Mr. Kitwater," I said, "and let me put myself right with you. It is only natural that you should get angry, if you think I have treated you as you said just now. However, that does not happen to be the case. I can assure you that had I known who Hayle was, I should have taken very good care that he did not leave this office until you had had an interview with him. Unfortunately, however, I was not aware of his identity. I have encountered some bold criminals in my time, but I do not know that I have ever had a more daring one than the man who treated you so badly."

I thereupon proceeded to give him a rough outline of Hayle's interview with myself, and his subsequent treatment of me. Both men listened with rapt attention.

IOWA MINE HORROR.

Twenty-one Dead as Result of Dust Explosion.

HEROIC WORK OF THE RESCUERS.

The Catastrophe Occurred After Firing the Usual Noon Shots—The Property Loss Will Probably Reach $10,000.

OSKALOOSA, Ia., Jan. 25.—As the result of a terrible mine disaster at Lost Creek yesterday afternoon twenty-one are dead in an improvised morgue and eight are in a temporary hospital.

The explosion occurred at the noon hour and was what is known as a "dust" explosion. The miners had just fired their usual noon shots, one of which proved to be a fizzle. The burning powder ignited the gas, and the explosion followed. Smoke and debris were blown out of the shaft 200 feet high. Part of the top works was torn away, and the fans and cages were partially wrecked. This made the work of rescue very slow, and it was 3 o'clock before volunteer parties dared to venture into the east entry, where the explosion occurred. When they fought their way in, a horrible sight greeted them. The dead and injured were terribly burned and mutilated, some of them almost beyond recognition. Fire which at first was feared would prove destructive to the entire mine had broken out, and this added terror to the spectacle.

The flames were finally controlled, and after several of the rescue party had succumbed to the fumes all the dead were found and carried to the top of the shaft. At the time of the explosion mere than a hundred men were in the mines, but all of them except those in the east entry escaped with only slight injury. The total property damage will be about $10,000. It was nearly dark when the last of the dead was taken out, and the scenes of anguish among the families of the men were most pitiful. Nearly all of the men were married and leave families in poor circumstances. The mine is owned by the Lost Creek Fuel company of this city and has been in operation about one year.

Mrs. Richardson's Story.

PLATTSBURG, Mo., Jan. 25.—Between sobs Mrs. Addie B. Richardson yesterday made her own defense of the charge of having killed her husband, Frank W. Richardson, who was murdered at their home at Savannah on the night before Christmas in 1900. As a climax in her defense her attorneys produced a letter written by Richardson to his wife while he was an inmate of an asylum for inebriates. It exonerated the defendant of the slurs against her character, acknowledged the writer's own guilt and begged humbly for forgiveness. The reading of the letter, which was admitted as evidence, proved a sensational bit of evidence. The case will go to the jury today.

Steamship Combine Denied.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—W. H. Barnes, a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad company and also of the International Navigation company, denies the reports that the visit of the representatives of the English steamship companies who are now in this country is for the purpose of bringing about a combination and connection of those lines with the International Navigation company. The visit of these representatives at this time, he said, has no significance por other purpose than a desire to get together and harmonize on the question of ocean steamship rates and other matters pertaining to the business.

Rumors of Government Victory.

PANAMA, Colombia, Jan. 25.—A report has reached here to the effect that the forces under the Colombian general Castro had an engagement with the troops under the revolutionary leader General Herrera in the neighborhood of Agua Dulce, in the vicinity of Las Tablas, on the Azuero peninsula, southwest of Panama, in which the revolutionary forces were defeated. Confirmation of this report is awaited. If the government troops and the revolutionists have met near Agua Dulce, this is taken to explain the delay in the expected revolutionary attack upon Panama.

Earth Still Trembles.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 25.—A sharp earthquake shock was felt here at ten minutes past 5 o'clock yesterday morning, awakening people from their sleep. A shock was experienced also at Taxco, in the state of Guerrero. English speaking residents are raising funds for the Chilpancingo sufferers, who are in almost utter destitution. The weather there is hot, and the people continue to camp out.

Another Canal Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Dalzell bill contemplating a canal connecting Lake Erie and the Ohio river has been referred to a special committee from the house committee on railways and canals, and another special committee was appointed to consider the bill of Mr. Mudd of Maryland for government acquisition of the Delaware and Chesapeake canal.

No Attempt to Kill King George.

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 25.—Investigation here of the report that an attempt had been made upon the life of King George of Greece in the park at Phaleron proves the story to be without foundation.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; light to fresh westerly to northerly winds.

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. TEAM WON

THE NEW BRUNSWICK BOYS EASILY DEFEATED HERE.

The Score Was 34 to 15—The Return Game Will be Played February 14.

The New Brunswick Y. M. C. A. basket ball team was badly worsted in a game with the local association in the latter's gymnasium, last evening. For the first part of the game it looked as if Plainfield would have a complete walk-over, but the visitors took a brace and kept the score down, or rather up to 34 to 15.

Both teams played very well in the first half, although the goals seemed to pile up for the home team in spite of everything done to prevent it. The New Brunswickers failed to get a single point and the half ended with the score of twenty-five against them. In the second half the locals became somewhat winded and allowed their opponents to secure five goals. This was all they made.

This is the third time this season the two teams have met and the game was probably the best of all three. A return game will be played at New Brunswick February 14.

The line-up was as follows:

Plainfield.		New Brunswick.
Denton-Heinecke	rf	Stevens
Cranston	lf	Kuhn
Cahoone	c	Manley
Hand	lg	Nelson
Giles-Neal	rg	Nelson

Goals—Cranston (2), Cahoone (2), Hand (3), Giles (4), Stevens, Kuhn (2), Manley, Nelson; fouls—Cranston; referee—C. E. A. Heywood; umpire—Fred Bonney; time-keeper—Le Roy Hallock; scorer—John H. Doane.

The Wife Weakened.

Sentence was suspended on James Scott in the city court, this morning, after his counsel William A. Coddington, had made an earnest plea for clemency. Mrs. Scott, who made the charge on which her husband was arrested, was unwilling to press the complaint and City Judge Runyon deemed it unadvisable to punish the defendant further under the circumstances.

PROBABLY SAME MAN.

Arrested at New Brunswick; His Thought to be the One who Worked Here.

Several days ago the police of New Brunswick arrested a man in that city who was charged with having worked the flim-flam game on a number of persons in that vicinity. After the individual's arrest there were nearly fifteen complaints lodged against him.

From the description of the man obtained by the police it is believed that he is the same one, who worked his clever game in this city, at F. J. Blatz's saloon and George Voehl's bakery. The offender was arrested here and he gave the name of James Johnson although it was said that he travelled under the name of Alphonsus Marion.

As the evidence against the man was not very strong, Captain Kiely made him leave town in short order. When he was arrested in New Brunswick and the complaints received, he was held for the action of the Grand Jury. It is believed that the man is one of the most notorious flim flam workers in this part of New Jersey.

BOBBIE BURNS' BIRTH CAUSED CELEBRATION

Anniversary of Natal Day Commemorated by the Scotchmen Here.

LARGE CROWD PRESENT.

SCANDIA HALL SCENE OF DEMONSTRATION HELD SATURDAY NIGHT.

Councilman William Gloak Master of Ceremonies—Enjoyable Informal Programme—All Sang Auld Lang Syne.

Although far from the Land of the Heather where his name is loved and respected, the Scots of this city do not lose sight of the birthday of "Bobbie" Burns, the greatest of all Scottish poets. Each year they observed it with proper ceremonies, but none have been more enjoyable than the celebration given Saturday evening, in Skandia Hall.

The festivities were under the auspices of the Thistle Club to which all of Plainfield's prominent Scots belong. Councilman William Gloak was the master of ceremonies and a most admirable one he was. Under his direction an informal programme of songs, reels, speeches and instrumental selections, such as only Scots can give and enjoy, passed several hours most pleasantly.

Among those who contributed to the evening's enjoyment were "Chief" Alexander McDuff, Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, Thomas Hendry, Robert Kenney, David Bowden, Hugh Gray, of this city, and Miss Margaret Ritchmond, of Hoboken. A feature of the evening was the singing of "Tampson's Smiddie" by William Wilson, with the accompanying reel effects.

During one of the intermissions, adjournment was taken to the banquet table where a collation prepared by the women was partaken of. Scotch dishes including mutton pies and Scotch hagis were there in abundance while other conndiments made the repast a delightful one.

The anniversary closed with the entire assemblage singing "Auld Lang Syne" with a hearty good will. The committee in charge during the evening consisted of James Couzen, Mr. and Mrs. William Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hendry, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray.

The marriage of Herbert W. Bowen, United States Minister to Venezula, and brother of Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, to Miss Carolyn Clegg, of Galveston, Texas, took place last Friday at Caracas. Miss Clegg, accompanied by the Misses Edna and Marion Bowen, nieces of the groom, who live in this city, sailed for Caracas on November 30, for the purpose of spending the winter at that place. Mr. Bowen's friends in Brooklyn did not know that he contemplated a second marriage. He has been acquainted with his bride for many years.

Mr. Bowen is a son of the late Henry C. Bowen, who was for years one of Brooklyn's most prominent citizens. He was appointed Counsul to Barcelona, in 1890, by President Harrison, and President Cleveland promoted him to the rank of Consul-General.

CLERGYMAN ASSAILS HIGHER CRITICISM

Rev. Mr. Richardson Declares Bible Is An Inspired Book.

AN ABLE ARGUMENT.

RELIES ON BIBLICAL QUOTATIONS TO PROVE HIS STATEMENTS.

Utterances of Prophets Inspired by Christ—Says Theories of Critics Are a Slander Against God's Wisdom.

The theologians called "higher critics" were attacked yetserday morning by Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church. At the morning service his subject was "An Inspired Bible Against the Higher Critics."

The speaker took for a text Isaiah XL, 8—The Word of our Lord shall stand forever. He said in the course of his remarks: "The man who asserts that the Scriptures merely contain the Word of God, juggles with phrazes, and suffers from literary hysteria. We claim that all the Scriptures are inspired of God, and from His Word. Jesus Christ supervised the construction of that Word. True He did not inspire Ahab to use the impious language he did; but the Lord did inspire the sacred writer to select such portions of Ahab's language, which the Lord wished to use as a basis for conveying correction to the world. Inspiration either directed the speaker what to say; or the writer what to write. He directed the historian to select portions from the language of others; also what scene to describe, a topic to treat.

"In the first five books, this significant phraze 'The Lord spake unto Moses,' occurs 560 times; in the 12 historical books the phrase 'The Lord said,' or its equivalent, occurs 200 times; in the 17 peophetical books the phrase 'Hear the Word of the Lord,' or kindred expressions, occurs 1,200 times. 1,960 times is the reader of the Old Testament reminded, that it is God's Word he is reading. Yet, in the face of these facts, the higher critics tell us, that the Scriptures are not any more inspired, than Shakespear or Milton. The facts are against the vagaries of the critics. The Apostle Peter settles this whole question of 'inspiration,' also the kind. In I Peter ii he says, 'The prophets made a most earnest search, what time, or manner of time, the Spirit of Christ which was in them did point unto, when it testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ, and the glories that should follow them.' Peter teaches that Christ was in the world inspiring the prophets what to say and write, ages before He came in the flesh.

"It was Christ who gave the prophet visions of coming history. He gave them insight into 'truth.' It was He, who inspired the Apostles of the New Testament how to preach the gospel, based on the Old Testament prophecies; so in the New Testament there are 830 quotations from the Old Testament. Peter teaches that the utterances of the prophets were the utterances of Christ. The prophets knew the difference between their own thoughts and the thoughts Jesus placed in their minds to utter. So the prophets inquired diligently what those communicated thoughts meant. Those men wrote under the supernatural influence; and according to Peter, they understood they were so writing. This statement of Peter settles the question of Inspiration. The spirit of living and everlasting Christ, supervised the creation of the Holy Scriptures. The notions and theories of the Higher Critics are a slander against God's wisdom and creative ability. These men are too presumptive for safety, and too visionary for reliability."

BISHOP AT ST. STEPHEN'S

RT. REV. DR. SCARBOROUGH ATTENDS MORNING SERVICE THERE.

Speaks on Condition of Parish and Preaches a Sermon—Large Congregation.

By invitation of the vestry, Rt. Rev Dr. John Scarborough, bishop of the diocese of New Jersey, made a special visitation to St. Stephen's parish, Netherwood, yesterday morning. He attended the regular morning service at the church and delivered the sermon, prefacing it with timely remarks concerning the condition of the parish.

The services were conducted by Rev. William Bryce Morrow, the benediction being pronounced by the bishop. In his address the bishop took occasion to say that he had had a talk with the vestry and felt assured that there is a bright future in store for the parish. On his return from the General Convention of the Church, a short time ago, he was sorry to receive the resignation of of Rev. Mr. Simpson, as rector.

He advised the parishioners to do their utmost towards the upbuilding of the church. This, he said, they could do by attending the services regularly and by contributing liberally. He declared that he felt encouraged by the size of the congregation for it showed that there is reason why the work should go on. In conclusion he besought the people to give their hearty support to the vestry until the latter body is able to choose a rector, which he hoped would be at an early date.

For the text of his sermon the bishop selected St. John 1, 41: "He first findeth his own brother Simon and said unto him, we have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted, the Christ." The lesson which he sought to instill in the minds of his hearers was that Christian duty does not end in one's following the Master, but that he must go out and bring his brother to Christ. St. John, when he had found the Messias, said he, first told his own brother and then spread the glad tidings to others. This missionary spirit was the point which was emphasized by the bishop in his exceptionally able discourse.

VACCINATING PUPILS.

A Corps of Physicians Treating the Children in the Various Public Schools.

The free vaccination among the school children was begun this morning at 10 o'clock. The children in the Whittier and Bryant schools were the first to be treated. Dr. VanHorn and Dr. Norman H. Probasco were on duty at the Whittier school, while Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, as medical examiner at the Bryant school, took charge of the work there.

It is proposed to attend to the children of two schools each day and it is believed that the work will be completed this week. The school officials have announced that the treatment will be free, but if any serious complications arise the children will have to visit their family physicians. In other words the school physicians will not attend to the arms after vaccination. It is generally believed that most of the parents of the children will consent to have their children treated.

Song Service at Hospital.

There were fifteen Endeavorers from the First Baptist church society that went to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon and conducted a song service. The inclement weather prevented many more from joining in the service. A half-hour's song service was enjoyed by the patients and the Endeavorers felt repaid for their efforts.

Dramatics at Casino.

The amateur dramatic entertainment to be given at the Casino Saturday afternoon and evening by local talent will be a social event of considerable interest. Two plays, "A Needless Stratagem" and "My Awful Chum," will be presented, and Miss Hariette Cady, a well-known pianist, of New York, will give a recital.

No Dramatics There.

The Plainfield High School Athletic Association has been compelled to give up its proposed dramatic entertainment because of the objection made by the body of teachers. The teachers vetoed the proposition on the ground that much time would be consumed, on the part of the pupils, that should be devoted to studies.

Bible Class Meeting.

The Union Bible Class, taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns, will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

WRONGED HUSBAND CATCHES ELOPERS

Perfidious Man Arrested Here With His Friend's Wife.

HEARING IN CITY COURT

HUSBAND RELENTS AND WIFE RETURNS HOME.

City Judge Runyon in Scathing Terms Arraigns the Man Who Betrayed Friendship—Parties Come From Somerville.

An angry and deceived husband, an erring wife begging for forgiveness and a perfidious friend were the dramatis personae in a one-act drama at police headquarters, yesterday afternoon. But for the intervention of the police it might have terminated in a tragedy.

The principals were Andrew Paff, Jr., of Somerville, his wife and his hitherto regarded friend, Albert Matthews, of the same place. Taking advantage of the husband's absence at business, Matthews installed himself in the household and gained the good graces of Mrs. Paff to such an extent that Saturday afternoon she consented to elope with him. They were arrested early yesterday morning at the North avenue station as they were about to depart for New York. Both spent the rest of the night in cells at the police station, and were later arraigned before City Judge Runyon. The husband weakened, however, and they were allowed to depart.

According to Paff's version of the affair, his wife secured his consent Saturday to visit relatives at Cranford. Although he had no previous reasons for believing so, he conceived the idea that she was deceiving him, and resolved to follow her. He traced her to this city where he found she had come instead of Cranford but then lost the trail. Becoming convinced that something was wrong he visited the Plainfield hotel and on looking over the register found the entry "Mr. and Mrs. Hill and wife, of Trenton," in writing he at once recognized as that of his friend, Albert Matthews. He at first thought of accusing the pair at the hostelry, but wishing to avoid a scene, he informed the police and asked that they be arrested. He then returned to his home in order to avoid trouble if he came in contact with Matthews.

In the meantime someone had informed "Mr. Hill" that an angry husband was below and he immediately departed by a rear door to the North avenue station where he purchased the New York tickets. Returning he secured his companion with the intention of taking the 2:14 train. They were placed under arrest by Sergeant Frederickson as they were about to step aboard the cars.

Paff was communicated with and was present when the pair were arraigned. Matthews was in abject fear of his meeting with the husband and trembled like an aspen leaf. He asked the police to protect him as he feared Paff would not stop anything short of killing him.

Both defendants admitted their guilt and asked to be forgiven. Paff relented at the last moment and stated he would not prosecute Matthews, provided he remain away forever from Somerville and that his wife return home with him. He declared openly that if Matthews came near him again, he would have to suffer the consequences.

There was nothing to do but dismiss the case, but before this was done the court rebuked Matthews and the erring wife in the most scathing terms. Both felt their position keenly and appeared greaty crestfallen.

The Paffs have been married eighteen years and have three children the eldest being fifteen. Mrs. Paff is thirty-four years old and fairly good looking. Matthews is small of stature and his appearance is anything but the kind that would seem to attract feminine hearts.

AWARDS IN THE CONTESTS

WINNERS OF HANDSOME PRIZES AT THE T. A. B. FAIR.

Large Crowd Present Saturday Evening—The Features for Tonight.

Interest at the T. A B. fair, Saturday evening, centered in the close of the contests which had been in progress since the opening night. Those who were striving for the pretty prizes have many friends and all were anxiously waiting the result. In consequence there were no other entertaining features during the evening.

With the excepion of the contest for the gentleman's gold watch which closes this evening, the rivalry for the ladies' gold watch between Miss Nellie O'Keefe and Miss Susie Malloy has been the keenest of all. The timepiece was awarded the former who collected $139.75. The doll contest was very close and was made all the more interesting from the fact that they were three contestants. The prize was secured by Miss Mary Caulfield who turned in $105.89. Miss Bertha Flynn collected $90 and Miss Nellie Higgins $56.85.

The winners of the minor contests were as follows: Sofa pillows, Frank Milnerny and Miss Kate McLoughlin; plate mirror, Thomas Carty.

With the closing of the fair which occurs tonight, the winners of the gentleman's gold watch, a handsome toilet set and a crayon portrait of Father Smyth will be made known. There will also be a number of minor contests decided. For this evening a number of special entertaining features have been arranged and dancing will continue longer than usual.

TREATMENT IS ENDED.

Board of Health Concludes Free Vaccination, But Work Commences in Schools.

The free vaccination treatment under the auspices of the Board of Health was discontinued Saturday evening. During the hours in the afternoon twenty persons were treated. As usual many called to have their arms attended to. In some cases the vaccination had taken exceptionally well and had given the persons much trouble. Severe cases were rare. Today the free treatment began at the public schools, although no one was treated without the consent of the parents.

There is nothing new regarding the smallpox situation. There are only the four cases and these continue to improve every day. The Board of Health does not at present expect any further development of the disease. Every precaution has been taken against it. So many persons have been vaccinated that in almost every quarter of the city the only known preventive has been applied.

CONDITION PROSPEROUS.

Remarkable Advance Made by Life Insurance Company.

Attention is called to the fifty-seventh annual statement of The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, N. J., published in another column.

A comparison of this statement with that of January 1st, 1901 shows a healthful and satisfactory increase in the company's business during the year 1901. The company received for premiums, $11,006,984.89, or $595,622.78 more than in 1900. Its total income was $14,635,609.79, or $761,437.99 more than in 1900. Its total payments to policyholders were $8,337,836.34, or $336,594.54 more than it paid in 1900.

Will Consider Change.

The Common Council will hold a special meeting this evening to decide the question of changing the city offices from the present location in the Coward building, on Park avenue, to the Smalley building, on North avenue.

Preached at Mt. Olive.

Rev. Samuel Harris, of Virginia, who has been conducting special services at the Mt. Olive Baptist church, preached at that church last evening.

JOHN RADLEY MARSH DIED THIS MORNING

Wealthy Resident of Scotch Plains Known Throughout County.

ILL BUT A SHORT TIME.

BUILT UP A BIG TRADE IN THE BEEF BUSINESS.

Leaves a Wife, Two Sons and a Daughter—Funeral to be Held Thursday Afternoon at 2:30 o'Clock.

John Radley Marsh, one of Scotch Plains' oldest citizens and numbered among the wealthiest men of Union county, died a his home there at 2 o'clock this morning He was taken ill one week ago Saturday and despite medical skill of the highest order furnished by Drs. Hedges and Probasco, of this city, and Dr. Westcott, of Fanwood, continued to sink rapidly. Death was due to pneumonia and heart trouble.

The deceased was the son of Nathan and Hannah Marsh and was born at Willow Grove in 1822. Soon after he moved to Scotch Plains and with the exception of six years at Newark always lived there. When a very young man he engaged in the wholesale and retail meat business and not having to compete with the modern western packing houses, he prospered rapidly. His business reached such proportions that at one time he supplied this section, for miles in every direction, with dressed beef and provisions. With the introduction of western beef and its transportation east in refrigerator cars his wholesale trade declined until he gave it up entiely.

He had amassed a fortune at the business but still continued to cater to the retail trade, personally caring for a route through the country. He drove his wagon summer and winter through all sorts and conditions of weather and was in his accustomed seat the day before he was taken ill.

In addition to his meat business he had many real estate dealings and loaned out large sums taking property in security. He was generally very shrewd in these matters but one year he lost $35,000 through depreciation of land on which he was compelled to foreclose mortgages. Most of his holdings are located in Union, Somerste and Middlesex counties. The fortune accumumlated by him is variously estimated at from $250,000 to half a million, although it is a matter of conjecture as not even his family knows.

Mr. Marsh leaves a wife and two sons, George and John Marsh, of Scotch Plains, one daughter, Mrs. Albert Darby, of this city, a brother, Lynus Marsh, of Scotch Plains and one sister, Mrs. Lewis P. Clark, of Bound Brook.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence, Thursday afternoon, at 2:30.

FLAGS FOR ARMY.

A Stand of Colors Presented by Ensign—Topics of Sermons Yesterday.

Special services were held at the Salvation Army barracks Saturday evening, when Ensign McLeod presented to the army a fine American flag and a Salvation Army flag. These flags were made by Mrs. McLeod.

Yesterday morning the ensign preached a sermon on the topic "Married to Jerusalem." His chief thought was that everyone should unise with the church of their choice. In the afternoon a praise and promise meeting was held in which all took part. Last evening Ensign McLeod preached on "The Spirit of Compromise," and took for his illustration Lot and Abraham, showing how the latter served the Lord faithfully, while Lot turned back and did not received the blessing.

Payment of Death Benefit.

D. W. Littell, treasurer of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, has received a check from E. A. Skinner, supreme treasurer, for $3,000, as payment for the death claim of the late John D. Titsworth, who was a member of the above Council. The check was received just six days after the time the proof of the death was mailed from Plainfield.

Mixed-Doubles at Park.

Another bowling match will take place at the Park Club alleys this evening. Mixed doubles will be the game and a good time is promised.

BRIEF LOCAL HAPPENINGS

MENTION OF MINOR EVENTS PAST AND PRESENT.

Items of Interest Gathered Up Within the Boundaries of Greater Plainfield.

Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn has returned from a business trip to Camden and Philadelphia.

Mrs. W. E. Mattison, wife of Dr. Mattison, of Somerset street, is confined to the house by illness.

Miss Dally, of Raritan, has been spending several days with Mrs. Lindsey Wooley, of Plainfield avenue.

Martin Muldowney, of Prescott place, is able to be out again after an illness of two weeks, the result of vaccination.

Mrs. M. A. Callihan and her daughter, Miss Alta Callihan, of Pittsburg, Pa., are visiting Paul Symons, of East Third street.

Manager Charles W. Runyon and Lineman Herbert Chamberlain, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, have returned rrom Three Bridges, where they were attending to the interests of the company in that section.

LITERARY.

The February issue of The Ladies' Home Journal opens with the first part of Miss Portor's new romance of the south, "Those Days in Old Virginia," illustrated by W. L. Taylor. This is followed by Joseph Blethen's story of "The Girls of Flat G," a tale of four girls who established "bachelors' hall." A most interesting and timely contribution is "My Impressions of American Women," by His Excellency, Wu Ting-fang, Chinese Minister to the United States. For the children are "The Journal's Puzzle-School," a new game, and a description of how to make "smoke pictures." The Valentine cover is by Henry Hutt; and the pictorial features include a page of most attractive pictures of dogs, and a double page showing "The College Girl in Music and Drama." By the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

Frank Leslie's popular monthly for February is advertised as "an old name, but a new magazine," and nothing could be more literally true. From the first page to the last the magazine is thoroughly modern, and both in the character of its reading matter and of its illustrations, printed in colors and in black and white, it is in the running with the most expensive magazines. The opening article, called "The City's Edge," is a very human account of the life along the water front of New York City.

The fiction in the number is plentiful, and really first rate. Onoto Watanna's story, "A Pot of Paint," is, as she says herself, the very best thing she has done. Robert Barr, Carolyn Wells, W. B. MacHarg, and several other story-tellers of note, fill up the good measure of short fiction in this number, while this number, unhappily, sees the last of Maurice Hewlett's serial, "The Fond Adventure," which has been running since last November.

Among the things of note in the February magazine number of The Outlook, may be mentioned: A beautifully illustrated article by George Kenuan (now acting as The Outlook's Washington representative) on the proposal for enlarging the White House, with architects plans; an article on Verestchagin by Charles DeKay, of the National Arts Club, with reproductions of famous paintings; a portrait of President-elect Palma, of Cuba, taken by The Outlook's own photographer; "The Centenary of Victor Hugo," by Kenyon West, with portrait; "The Story of Home Gardens" (illustrated decoratively) which describes an interesting movement in Cleveland; Dr. Edward Everett Hale's "Memories of a Hundred Years," which deals this month chiefly with the war of 1812; a remarkable whole-page portrait of Archbishop Ireland; an article appropriate to Washington's Birthday, called "In the Footsteps of Washington," by Charles Hemstreet; together with the usual book reviews, history of the week, and editorial comments on important questions of the day.

Don't Live Together.

Constipation and health never go together. DeWitt's Little Early Risers promote easy action of the bowels without distress. "I have been troubled with costiveness nine years," says J. O. Greene, Depauw, Ind. "I have tried many remedies but Little Early Risers give best results." L. W. Randolph.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Board of Health of Plainfield, is doing a wholesale vaccination business. Young and old cannot escape from the treatment. The city is making every effort to guard against the spread of small-pox in that section.—Union County Standard.

The Senatorial campaign in New Jersey was a spirited affair, but it left no hard feelings. The whole Republican party in the State is proud of its fine triangular show of leading candidates, all three of them of the best sort of timber; and it is proud of the man chosen by the caucus at the end of an exceedingly close and sharp, but entirely loyal contest.

What defeated Mr. Griggs was the circumstance that he had against him not only the traditional claim of south Jersey to one of the two seats in the Senate, but also a rival aspirant from his own section of the State, backed from the start by the great and often decisive influence of Essex county.

What defeated Mr. Stokes was the prolonged disunity of the south Jersey vote. At no time had Sheriff Baird or Congressman Gardner any real prospect or reasonable hope of nomination. If the south Jersey vote had combined earlier than it did upon Mr. Stokes, his canvass would have acquired a momentum probably sufficient to enable him to win in the caucus.

What elected John Fairfield Dryden was the powerful support of Essex, the honorable and tranquilly efficient political management of his interests by the Hon. Thomas N. McCarter, Jr., and his other near friends, and the general impression throughout the State, independent of geographical or factional considerations, that here was a safe, honest and able man, sure if elected to do credit in the Senate to the Republican party and to New Jersey.

That expectation is fully warranted. The same intellectual and moral qualities which have enabled Mr. Dryden to build up in the last quarter of a century one of the phenomenal institutions of this age should make him a Senator of the first rank in influence and usefulness. He is an accomplished gentleman, a thinker and a doer, as little of a talker as any Jerseyman who has sat in the Senate since the time of McPherson, a character solid but suave, and personally about as modest an individual as exists between the Hudson and the Delaware.—New York Sun.

THEATRICAL.

Proctor's, Newark, is open. There is not in all America a handsomer vaudeville theatre than this. Opened to the public on Jan. 6, the attendance has been phenomenally big ever since. The interest taken in refined vaudeville by theatregoers proves that Proctor's fills a long felt want.

"Hon. John Grigsby," which was the last play presented by Sol Smith Russell, and in which he was succeded by Frank Keenan, will have its first New York production at the Manhattan Theatre this evening, following the season of Mrs. Fiske, who goes on the road in repertoire. The fact that Mr. Keenan has been chosen from a large number of applicants for "time" at this theatre may be considered highly complimentary, since the policy of the house is to present only high class American attractions. Mr. Keenan has been very successful throughout the country, and will make a special production of "The Hon. John Grigsby" for his metropolitan stellar debut.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

There's all kinds of meat, but there's only one grade on sale at Smalley Brothers' North avenue market. One order will convince you.

All vegetables in season can be obtained at low prices where the Park people deal. W. W. Dunn, grocer, corner of Duer street and Lincoln place.

It is not the flashily dressed man, who attracts attention, but the one who is neatly attired in well fitting garments. There is much in the cut of the cloth and John G. Bantle, the Watchung avenue tailor, is an expert in the art.

Not how cheap but how good, is the motto Callahan & Son, the Richmond street grocers, adhere to. But of course that doesn't imply that they cling to high prices. A well stocked meat and sea food market forms part of their establishment.

At Gavett's crockery store there is a new lot of novelties in old Dutch pottery, Doulton's antique jugs and Hungarian Medieval glass. The china and glass department is more replete than ever with bargains. A full line of electric and gas fitxures always on hand.

W. W Warnock is still making a specialty of delicious confectionery. He has fresh every day charlotte russe, Napoleons, apple turn-overs and other pastries. His angle cake is the best made in the city. Call 'phone 1134 and leave your orders for ice cream.

It has often been remarked all shoes are the same. This is true in a sense, but not altogether so with the kind sold by A. Willett & Son, at their store around the corner. They sell the very best shoe for the money and the goods can be depended upon to give the best service.

Always abreast with the times is the firm of Putnam & DeGraw. They handle an endless variety of goods, including laces, handkerchiefs, embroideries, umbrellas, toilet articles, men's furnishing goods and all kinds of notions. You save money by trading with this firm.

Valuable points in business—those vaccine points sold by L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist. There has been a great demand for these points, because they are the best made and perfectly reliable. Randolph handles a very complete line of the pure drugs and toilet articles, also the best disinfectant.

J. R. Blair, in the conduct of his men's furnishing business on Park avenue, has never had to resort to special sales to make his goods go quickly. He's going to remove to the Marsh building shortly, but before leaving his present stand he wants to dispose of all he can, in order to avoid the inconvenience of carrying over his present stock. Enough said

Child Worth Millions.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird, of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. L. W. COLD DAY FOR WALES

British Royalty Gets Chilly Reception at Berlin.

PEOPLE AND PRESS ARE SILENT.

Prince at Berlin to Represent King Edward at Kaiser's Birthday Celebration—Feeling Toward America In Sharp Contrast.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—No disrespect has been shown to the Prince of Wales, who arrived here Saturday evening to represent King Edward at the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of Emperor William today. German crowds have a too deeply abiding respect for royal personages and are too thoroughly policed to ever jeer them, but in a city where the lifting of one's hat is as universal as ordinary civility it was singular to see the passing crowds with never a hat raised and to hear no murmurs of applause.

The last experience abroad of the Prince of Wales was his departure amid thunderous cheers from the shores of Newfoundland, while the streets through which the prince was obliged to be driven on his way to visit the British embassador here were without a single British flag.

While receiving the most elaborate attentions from the family of Emperor William and from German officialdom, the Prince of Wales must feel the chilling attitude of the German public. Almost all the newspapers refrain from editorial comment on his visit. The National Zeitung concludes a page editorial on the friendship between the United States and Germany in these words:

"The only object of the visit of Prince Henry to the United States is the cultivation of this sentiment. The German emperor could give the United States no better proof of the feelings and sentiments animating him and the German people in regard to the greatness and development of the Union as a civilizing power than in sending his brother there. Prince Henry goes, as it were, as the interpreter of Germany's friendship for the United States. He is the first German prince from the old reigning house who treads the soil of the great republic, and undoubtedly his acquaintanceship with the most prominent men of the Union will exercise a beneficial effect upon national relations.

"The visit of Prince Henry must dissipate all the foolish and malicious assertions of political antagonism between Germany and the United States and of German plans of conquest in the American sphere of influence and instead thereof strengthen and establish feelings of mutual recognition and equality of standing. No treaty or alliance between Germany and the United States is needed. Ever since the existence of the United States peace, friendship and trade intercourse have prevailed between us."

Coldest Day In Oklahoma.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Jan. 27.—The coldest day of the winter, with the thermometer at zero all day and a brisk north wind, covers all Oklahoma. Large cattle interests will suffer greatly, no matter what provision has been made to protect them. The wheat crop will also suffer loss, as not enough snow has accompanied the blizzard to protect the rank growth. In the new country settlers and especially those in moving wagons, of which there are hundreds, will suffer. In the Indian Territory, principally in the Creek Nation, where the full bloods are in destitute circumstances, the conditions are very bad for undergoing the rigors of such weather.

Blizzard In Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 27.—One of the heaviest blizzards ever experienced in Nebraska has been raging apparently at all points in the state. Reports indicate that the loss to live stock will be heavy, as the snow is flying in blinding sheets, and the temperature has sunk far below zero. Chadron, Tecumseh, Creighton, Valentine and McCook report 12 to 18 degrees below zero, with a heavy wind, snow drifting and passage to human beings or cattle through the storm practically impossible. All trains due from the west are from three to seven hours late.

Schley In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Visitors were not permitted to see Admiral Schley yesterday, and he was given ample time to rest after Saturday's arduous programme. After breakfast in their apartments at the Auditorium the admiral and Mrs. Schley, with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Munger, attended services at the Trinity Episcopal church at 11 o'clock. As their place of worship had not been made public only the usual congregation was present. The admiral will be kept busy today.

Increase of Manufactures.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—According to statistics collected by the census bureau the gross value of the products of manufacture in the United States in 1900 was $13,003,127,682 as compared with $9,372,437,282 in 1890, an increase of 38.73 per cent.

Fire In a New Jersey Town.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Fire at Montclair, N. J., has wiped out several buildings in the business section of the town, and several other buildings were badly damaged. The loss is estimated at from $90,000 to $100,000 and the insurance at two-thirds that amount.

Wisconsin Snowbound.

LACROSSE, Wis., Jan. 27.—The heaviest snow of the season fell here yesterday. The thermometer is falling rapidly. The mercury now registers 10 degrees below zero.

CHINAMEN WANTED.

Americans at Manila Desire What Is Opposed Here.

NEEDED FOR ISLAND'S DEVELOPMENT

Crops Suffering, Lands Uncultivated and Building Retarded For Lack of These Workmen—Conditions in Negros Are Not Good.

MANILA, Jan. 27.—The American chamber of commerce here has formulated an appeal to congress in which it earnestly prays for the enactment of laws allowing Chinamen to enter the Philippine Islands under such restrictions as the United States Philippine commission may enact.

The present restrictive law concerning immigration, continues this appeal, is of no benefit to the Filipinos. Chinamen, if admitted, would not enter into competition with local labor, and their entry into the islands is imperatively needed, as the tobacco, hemp and sugar lands of the archipelago are only partially cultivated. Without this legislation the country cannot be properly developed. Building in Manila has been badly retarded because of this lack of labor, and for these reasons the American chamber of commerce, composed entirely of American citizens representing commercial interests, respectfully prays for immediate action in this matter.

The United States Philippine commission has appropriated $5,000 for improving the harbor of Iloilo and $3,000 to be expended on the Cagayan river, in northern Luzon.

Colonel Charles W. Miner of the Sixth infantry reports the conditions on the island of Negros to be unsatisfactory and that 400 bolomen and forty men armed with rifles under the command of the fanatical bandit leader Papa Isio are terrorizing the people of Negros.

Felipe Buencamino, one of the directors of the Federal party, is endeavoring to inaugurate an exhibition of commerce to be held next December. Mr. Buencamino relies mainly upon exhibits from the United States, China, Japan, Siam and Borneo. The merchants of Manila are inclined to think that this exhibition should be delayed another year, but if sufficient support thereto is promised the United States Philippine commission will be asked to assist in carrying out the idea.

Secret White House Conference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Secretary Long was in conference with the president for over an hour last night, presumably in regard to the appeal of Rear Admiral Schley from the findings of the court of inquiry, which was referred by the executive to the navy department for "comment." The secretary was accompanied by Judge Advocate General Lemly and Solicitor Hanna, who conducted the case before the court. The meeting with the president followed a gathering of these three gentlemen at Secretary Long's apartments, and when they departed for the White House they had with them bundles of papers which had the appearance of legal documents. Secretary Long declined to say anything for publication regarding the conference.

Twenty Millions For Improvements.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 27.—The Dominion government has approved of an issue of $20,000,000 of capital stock of the Canadian Pacific railway subject to the sanction of the company's shareholders, the proceeds of which are to be applied to improvement for enabling the company to handle the immense increase of traffic on its lines, especially in the northwest. The $20,000,000 will be spent as follows: New rolling stock and locomotives, $9,000,000; double tracking, $6,000,000; new plants and shops chiefly in Montreal, $1,500,000; new elevators and improvement of terminals, $3,000,000; miscellaneous improvements, $500,000.

McKinley Memorial Services.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 27.—At many of the churches of Cleveland special McKinley memorial services were held yesterday. In some of the churches where no special services were held the life of the late president was eulogized by the ministers in preludes to their sermons and by incidental mention. Special collections for the McKinley memorial were also taken at many of the churches.

Shot His Son For a Burglar.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 27.—Frank Fleming, son of Wilber Fleming of Verna Center, was shot Saturday night by his father. Frank, who recently returned from the west, thought to give his parents a surprise on his arrival home and was entering a window when his father, mistaking him for a burglar, fired, wounding him in the leg. He will recover.

Southern Furniture Exposition.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 27.—The Southern Furniture Exposition company, with a capital stock of $25,000, has been organized at High Point. The object of the company is to erect there a mammoth building, in which will be held twice a year a furniture exposition for the southern factories similar to the exhibitions at Grand Rapids, New York and Chicago.

Speed In Tunnel Limited.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—An order limiting the speed of all trains passing through the Park avenue tunnel, either north or south, between the Grand Central station and Ninety-sixth street, the northern end of the tunnel, has been issued by the management. Under the new order no trains will be permitted to run at a speed higher than twenty miles an hour

SCHURMAN EXPLAINS.

His Boston Speech Criticised—Declared For Ultimate Independence.

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 27.—President Schurman makes a statement explanatory of his recent Boston speech, in which he advocated the eventual independence of the people of the Philippines.

The substance of his late speech was to the effect that if the Christians of Luzon and Visaya wanted independence and showed themselves capable of assuming it that this country would eventually give it to them. President Schurman said that he believed the policy he advocated would, more than anything else, promote the welfare of the Filipinos. President Roosevelt, he said, had declared in his message to congress that we were to do for the Filipinos far more than any other nation had ever done for a tropical people and that we were to fit them for self government after the fashion of really free races.

He said he stood with President Roosevelt in his policy and was against the policy advocated by General Wheaton, which would mean colonial servitude like that of Java and India, and that it was just as proper for one to advocate a policy of eventual independence at the present time as it would be to urge the adoption of General Wheaton's plan, since the American people have not yet passed upon the question of final Philippine policy.

NEW PARTY FORMED.

National Liberals Declare Against Religion and Sabbath Observance.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 27.—The National Liberal party was organized here yesterday by representatives from all parts of the country.

The preamble to the new constitution, which was adopted, declares for the separation of church and state to the extent of abolishing chaplains in the army and navy, legislative bodies and all public institutions, the taxation of church property and the abandonment of Sabbath observance. The party is the amalgamation for political purposes of freethinkers, and it is more distinctly in politics than the American Secular union. The temporary organization was formed at Buffalo last October, with T. J. Bowles of Muncie, Ind., as president and W. F. Jamison of Cincinnati as secretary, who were in charge of the national convention here, but new officers will be elected today.

The free love element was not admitted into the new organization, but the woman suffragists were admitted. At the Thomas Paine memorial addresses were made by C. S. Darrow of Chicago, J. T. Wyscarver and others.

The Boston Teamsters' Strike.

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—To all the participants in the stirring events that have attended the strike of teamsters during the past week Sunday proved a great boon, as it brought that relaxation of which every one is greatly in need and furnished an opportunity of taking a more calm and comprehensive view of the situation. Not the slightest evidence of weakening is apparent upon either side, and all eyes are looking to Judge Braley of the superior court, before whom the application of the R. S. Brine Transportation company for a permanent injunction to restrain the union officials and members from interfering with its business in any way or in ordering a sympathetic strike will be heard upon its merits at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Should the temporary injunction be vacated there is no telling what scenes of violence may result.

Polish Indignation Meetings.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Representatives of the 200,000 Poles living in Chicago met in five mass meetings in different parts of the city last night to protest against the alleged cruelties of Prussia in her Polish provinces. Nearly all of the speakers maintained that the final effort of the Prussian officials was to crush out even the language of Poland and that this culminating effort of the German officials in Poland was imbued solely with hatred and contempt for the people they rule. It was told how children, flogged by their German teachers for saying their prayers in their native language, had been arrested and thrown into prison, together with their parents, who voiced a protest.

Large Endowment For Cooper Union.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Announcement is made that ex-Mayor Edward Cooper, his sister, Miss Sarah Amelia Cooper, and ex-Mayor Abram S. Hewitt and his family have given $600,000 as an endowment fund to Cooper Union. This announcement was made by Mr. Hewitt shortly after he had confirmed the report that Andrew Carnegie last week gave $300,000, also as an endowment fund, to the same institution. This is Mr. Carnegie's second gift to Cooper Union, the first one, made about two years ago, being of a like amount. Thus Cooper Union is $900,000 richer than it was two years ago.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

General Miles denies that he is a candidate for the presidency.

A large sum of counterfeit money was seized near Ponce, Porto Rico, and two arrests were made.

The will of Miss Cecelia Tully of Boston contains bequests to Catholic institutions amounting to $65,000.

Rear Admiral W. K. Van Reypen, surgeon general of the navy, has been placed on the retired list after forty years' service.

Edward Kern, the absconding valet who turned thief, confessed his identity in New Orleans and was started on the way to New York in custody of a detective.

WORK BEFORE CONGRESS.

Senate Will Discuss Philippine Tariff—House Has No Programme.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The senate will devote its principal attention this week to the Philippine tariff bill. It is the purpose of Senator Lodge, who is in charge of the bill, to keep it before the senate persistently until it is disposed of. He does not count on final action for some time. It is not the present purpose of the friends of the bill to debate it, but the attacks which will be made on it and upon the entire administration of Philippine affairs inevitably will bring replies from many of the Republican senators. It is understood that a majority of the senators on the Democratic side of the chamber will be heard before the bill is passed.

Senator Nelson will take advantage of every chance to have the bill creating a department of commerce considered with the hope of securing action upon it during the week if possible.

The house leaders have made no programme for the work of the present week, as there are no measures of importance pressing for attention, although the antioleomargarine bill and the Hill bill for the exchangeability of gold and silver are both on the calendar and may be taken up before long. Thus far no exact time has been fixed for either of these measures, and the lesser bills will take their chances as opportunity presents itself. There promises to be considerable time to spare during the week, as there are no appropriation bills ready to fill the gap when bills of a general nature are lacking.

BURIED TREASURE FOUND.

Chinese Money Undisturbed During Foreign Invasion.

PEKING, Jan. 27.—Chinese officials have found treasure to the value of over 100,000,000 taels in gold and silver which was buried in the women's quarters of the palace before the court fled from Peking.

The court has granted 5,000,000 taels annually to Yuan Shi Kai, viceroy of Chili, for the maintenance of an army of 100,000 men in Chili province.

Yuan Shi Kai has been given practical control of the army and navy of China and proposes engaging Japanese instructors for the army and British instructors for the navy.

Fatal Rear End Collision.

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 27.—In a rear end collision between two stock trains near Keller, fifteen miles north of Fort Worth, W. T. Stillwell was instantly killed and his body burned in the wreck, and J. C. Adkins was fatally injured. An orange train was closely followed by a stock train running in two sections. The first section had been signaled and had come to a standstill, but the second section owing to a dense fog failed to see the danger signal and crashed into the caboose of the section. The engine plowed its way half through the cab and pinned Stillwell under the wreck. The caboose took fire, and Stillwell, being unable to be released by the trainmen, was burned to a crisp. The car next to the cab also was wrecked and many of the cattle killed and maimed.

Governor Taft In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine Islands, arrived in Chicago yesterday afternoon from San Francisco. He was met at the depot by President S. M. Felton of the Chicago and Alton Railroad company and went at once to Mr. Felton's residence, where he spent the day. Owing to the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Herron, in Cincinnati the governor denied himself to all callers except a few personal friends. Governor Taft left at night over the Pennsylvania road for Cincinnati. It was his intention to hurry on to Washington tomorrow, but the death of Mrs. Herron caused him to alter his plans, and it will be several days before he will reach the capital.

A Daylight Robbery.

THOMASTON, Conn., Jan. 27.—Edward Miller, aged about fifty, a Hebrew traveling peddler, was attacked and robbed by an unknown man while driving on the outskirts of this town about noon yesterday. He received a bullet wound in the head, from which he may die. Miller was known to carry a considerable sum of money with him. The robber made his escape with Miller's horse and team. The rig was later found in Bristol, ten miles away, but no trace of the robber could be found. A sheriff and posse are scouring the surrounding country.

Mrs. Richardson Acquitted.

PLATTSBURG, Mo., Jan. 27.—Addie Richardson has been acquitted of the charge of murdering her husband, Frank W. Richardson, a wealthy merchant, who was shot and killed on Christmas eve, 1900, as he was entering his home in Savannah, Mo. A dramatic scene followed the rendering of the verdict. Mrs. Richardson was overwhelmed with congratulations from friends who had crowded the courtroom to await the arrival of the jury. The jury went out at 3:30 o'clock and returned with a verdict thirty-five minutes later.

Dole's Resignation Desired.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The Post says that Secretary Hitchcock has forwarded a letter to Sanford B. Dole, governor of Hawaii, intimating that the governor's resignation was desired. Governor Dole's term of four years will not expire until May, 1904, but his continued poor health has given rise to many rumors that he was about to resign.

IMPORTANT CAPTURE

Lord Kitchener Reports the Taking of General Viljoen.

BOER CAPTIVES LOST IN A FIGHT.

Burgher General Vilonel, Who Surrendered Recently, Authorized to Organize Corps to Aid the British.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—A report from Lord Kitchener from Johannesburg gives the important capture of General B. Viljoen in the neighborhood of Lydenburg, Transvaal Colony, as well as the captures of small parties of Boers elsewhere. Colonel Wilson last Saturday captured twenty Boers near Frankfort, in Orange River Colony. He was preparing at dawn the next day to move away with his captives when a superior force of Boers made a desperate effort to recapture the prisoners. A hot fight ensued in which all but three of the prisoners escaped and in which a few men were killed or wounded on both sides.

Lord Kitchener has authorized General Vilonel, a burgher who surrendered, to raise an additional Boer corps of 1,500 men. General Vilonel has written a letter to ex-President Steyn, warning the latter of his intention to form such a corps and adding that the Boers in the concentration camps are tired of the useless struggle and are determined to help the British end it.

The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Brussels says in a dispatch that Mr. Kruger has received fresh invitations from Chicago, New York and Philadelphia to visit those cities and that he will probably start upon an American tour next April.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Canadian high commissioner in London, has addressed letters to the press, in which he calls attention to the expanding trade between Great Britain and Canada, expresses his belief that this trade is capable of much greater development and invites correspondence as to the best means of assisting this development by the dissemination of commercial information, etc.

Aged Veteran Dead.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 27.—General Harrison C. Hobart, the last survivor of the Wisconsin constitutional convention and one of, if not the last, survivor of the original five who planned and made the famous Ross tunnel and by it escaped from Libby prison, is dead of old age at the hospital at the Soldiers' home. General Hobart was born at Ashburnham, Mass., and was graduated from Dartmouth college in 1843. In 1846 he came to Wisconsin and began the practice of law. In the territorial legislature of 1847 he represented Sheboygan and Washington counties and on the organization of the state was the first state senator from his district. He aided in the framing of the constitution and had a marked influence on much of the early legislation of the state. During the session of 1849 he was the speaker of the house.

Fugitive Surprises a Sheriff.

PANA, Ill., Jan. 27.—Sheriff Miner of Shelby county was surprised by the surrender of a fugitive whom he had been hunting for a year and for whom he went to San Francisco three weeks ago. This man is George Larison, wanted also by the United States authorities for desertion while on duty at Porto Rico in 1899. He was once arrested after having reached his old home and taken to Jefferson Barracks, but escaped within a few hours and was heard from next near Shelbyville, where he and Tone Baker broke into a Big Four freight car and stole some of its contents. Both were arrested, but escaped.

The New Springfield Rifle.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—General Crozier, chief of ordnance, has prepared a paper in regard to the new Springfield magazine rifle practically adopted for the army in which he gives some interesting statistics to show the superiority of that arm compared with the Krag-Jorgensen rifle, now in use in our army; the Mauser and the German military rifle. These figures show among other things that the new United States service rifle has an initial velocity of 2,300 feet per second against 2,000 feet for the Krag-Jorgensen, 2,200 for the Mauser and 2,145 for the German rifle.

Monastery and Monks Burned.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Cabling from Vienna, the correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says that the newspapers of Athens report the celebrated St. Paul monastery, on Mount Athos, to have been burned last Thursday night and that the prior and nine monks perished, while twenty others were seriously injured. The occupants of the monastery were sleeping at the time the fire broke out, according to the Athens papers, and the monastery itself was damaged to the extent of £80,000.

Bright's Belongings Seized.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—At the request of the British government the police of this city have searched the domicile here of Charles Bright, the American engineer who was arraigned in London Jan. 22, charged with concealing £100,000 of his assets in connection with bankruptcy proceedings, and have seized four trunks containing documents and negotiable securities.

WAKE UP!

In many respects the administrations of Mayor Smalley have been marked by a spirit of progressiveness. The material interests of the borough have been considerably advanced under the guidance of himself and a number of efficient councilmen. Take for instance the improvements made on Somerset street, including the storm sewer, and the renovating of other thoroughfares. These have demonstrated that the present administration is generally alive to the interests of the taxpayers.

Recently, however, several propositions of importance have not received the attention they deserve. Committees appointed in a number of matters, which have come before the councilmanic body, have been dilatory. There's the sewerage question. A long time ago a committee of citizens was delegated to investigate the subject and report upon the feasibility of introducing such a system in the central part of the borough. Practically nothing has been accomplished. Nothing has been done, unless it be that two members of the committee have tendered their resignations and one vacancy has been filled. What the prospects are for an early and satisfactory report, is a matter of conjecture.

Again the progress made by the committee on municipal ownership may well be cited as a case in point. For a time it appeared that the members meant business, but months have passed and the fruit of their labors is summed up in the customary report, made at the council meetings from time to time. This has been "progress," nothing more. Still another example is the matter of a building line ordinance. The proper committee was entrusted to frame a suitable ordinance. Delay has characterized its record. This has also been the case with the proposition to establish a fire line; that is, a limit where the erection of frame structures is prohibited. The aim of these proposed ordinances is for the welfare of the community. The interests of the citizens may be conserved by prompt action on the part of those entrusted with the work. Wake up!

It is the opinion of Printers' Ink that people who think they do not read advertisements regularly are nevertheless unconsciously influenced by them, says the Philadelphia Record. Day after day they take up the newspaper and without reading it carefully they recognize the advertisement of a well known and persistent advertiser and are impressed by it, often without knowing it.

Nearly a fortnight has elapsed since the appearance of the four cases of small-pox in this city. The prompt and efficient action of the local Board of Health arrested the spread of the disease. An isolation hospital and the services of a corps of physicians to vaccinate people may cost money, but what object is money when it comes to the protection of health.

The Boers threaten to mar the coronation ceremonies by giving the war correspondents an opportunity to report some "slight losses" to His Majesty's troops on that day. It might be suggested that they engage Poet Laureate Alfred Austin to issue an "ode to the King" on that occasion. The blow would be less expense and much more effective.

As did many Scottish organizations in other places throughout the country the Thistle Club of this city, Saturday evening, commemorated the anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns. In the face of it there is no need to ask:

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And never brought to min'?"

The agitation in favor of voting machines is increasing throughout the State. Wouldnt' it be well for a legislative committee to consult United States Senator Matthew S. Quay's friends before any model is adopted? They have a little machine that can count up the votes in a surprising manner.

The Newark Evening News says: "In the flood of ballots in the Senatorial caucus, the Dryden superstructure stood firm, for it was founded upon a rock." This is a roundabout way of saying that it had "the strength of Gilbralter."

Probably you haven't missed them, but the socialists who used to harangue at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, have been an absent quantity since September. Plainfield can well afford to be rid of such disturbing elements.

Some days ago a fellow was arrested and fined $500 for having clipped one of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's poems from a newpsaper in the Congressional Library at Washington. Since then his passion has subsided to a noticeable degree.

An exchange contains a long article on "The art of buying a piano." If it only explained how to get the piano honestly without paying for it the story would be much more readable.

Somerset street, since the improvements were made, is a thoroughfare of which the boroughites may be proud, except when that dilapidated antiquated trolley car is in sight.

A Chicago judge declares that a bank account of $25 is sufficient for a man to get married on. Possibly the jurist was thinking of heiresses when he expressed that opinion.

Jerome intends to live on the East Side, in New York. It will afford him a rare opportunity of viewing crime from all sides.

Physicians declare that there is danger of contracting small-pox from handling money. Now don't let that worry you.

It is near time for the peach crop failure stories to arrive. Tales of peach crops blighted by frost are due annually.

QUARTETTE RESIGNS.

Vocalists at the Crescent Avenue Church Will Leave May 1—Where They Go.

The quartette of the Crescent Avenne church has resigned. The resignations of the vocalists take effect on the same day as that of Ward Stephens, the organist, which will be May 1.

Mrs. Dutton and Mrs. MacBride, in all probability, will be heard in New York churches. Rhys Thomas goes to Brooklyn, where he has accepted an engagement, and Mr. Carrington will be a soldist in Trinity chapel, New York. No steps have yet been taken to fill the vacancies.

MISS SLUSSER SPOKE.

Special Christian Endeavor Service at Congregational Church.

A special service under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society was held last evening at the Congregational church. Miss Florence Slusser, of the New York Training School for Deaconesses, gave an interesting talk on her work in New York.

The attendance was rather slim on account of the inclement weather, but those present thoroughly enjoyed the remarks of the speaker. Miss Slusser told of her work in the training school and about the city of New York, and she related many incidents of special interest to those active in Christian work.

Rewards for Attendance.

At the close of the Sunday-school session at Hope chapel, yesterday, Superintendent Squires announced the names of fourteen pupils who had attended every Sunday during the past year. Each one was presented with a neat emblem.

Vacancy Filled.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association, held this morning, Herbert Munroe was elected a member of the board in place of Harold Davis, resigned.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. WANT NO SHIP SUBSIDIES

SUBJECT OF DEBATE AT Y. M. C. A. SATURDAY NIGHT.

Under Auspices of Literary Society—Negative Side Presents Better Arguments.

The merits and demerits of shipping subsidies, as a National policy, were ably brought out in a debate on that subject held under the auspices of the Plainfield Literary Society, at Y. M. C. A. Hall, Saturday evening. The effect on the merchant marines not only of this land but of other countries as well by the adoption and practice of the system was thoroughly discussed pro and con and a decision was given to the opponents of the theory for having presented the better argument.

The subject was: Resolved, That the United States should establish a system of shipping subsidies. George S. Clay, of LaGrande avenue, acted as judge and carefully weighed every point made by the debaters. The first speaker for the affirmative was Harvey K. Linbarger. His chief contention was that the policy would be beneficial to the government, because it would permit it to take possession of the marine craft in time of war. For the negative Carl E. Drange declared that the statistics prove that the merchant marine is growing rapidly and it does not need to be fostered. The repeal of the present navigation laws, he argued, would be more helpful. As a question of economics, said he, the proposed policy, is objectionable, and he named several reasons for this statement.

N. Douglass Drake, in advocating the policy, declared that the American flag is hardly known at the great shipping ports of the world and that other countries had found that this policy has increased the number of their shipping vessels. The last speaker was Charles E. Dolliver whose endeavor was to show that the cause of the prosperity of the shipping marine of other nations is not due to the policy of subsidies. The repeal of antiquated navigation laws of Great Britain is responsible for the excellent condition of its commerce. France, with all its subsidies, is behind the United States, in this respect, said he. The United States, he declared, had tried the policy and it did not give satisfactory results. Mr. Drange summed up for the negative and Mr. Drake followed for the affirmative.

After reviewing the various points made by the debaters, Mr. Clay made a decision in favor of those presenting the negative arguments.

Mrs. Conway Dead.

Mrs. Jane Conway, wife of John Conway, died at her home in South Plainfield, Saturday, after a brief illness. She was thirty-one years old. The funeral services will be held from her late residence, the Selle place, Park avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

B. society in one of the fair contests. In a short time the doll will be christened the "Bride of Erin."

Rev. George Hauser, of the German Reformed church, christened two grandchildren of Charles Giese, at the latter's home, on Elm place, yesterday. The names given were Caspar Waglow and Philip Giese. There were a number of friends present from Westfield and New Market.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

THE PENNSYLVANIA TUNNEL.

High Price For New York Realty No Barrier.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—Samuel Rea, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, who will have direct executive charge of the construction of the extensive New York tunnel for that company under the two rivers and Manhattan island, in discussing the reports that the company will be forced to pay exorbitant prices for property in New York for terminal purposes because speculators have obtained possession of much of the property said:

"When the Pennsylvania railroad first began to purchase property in New York for terminal purposes and before it was known what the purpose of these purchases was or who the real purchaser was certain real estate speculators, observing the activity in real estate in the vicinity of the proposed terminal, bought up certain properties and secured options on others in advance of the company's representatives.

"When it was finally announced that the Pennsylvania railroad proposed to tunnel under the two rivers and Manhattan island, together with the location of the terminal station, these speculators at once placed a prohibitive value upon the property secured by them. Being unable to come to terms with them as to price, there is nothing left to do but to secure it under condemnation proceedings, which will be instituted at the proper time.

"In the purchase of the property by the speculators the prices paid by them were greatly in excess of that paid for surrounding and adjoining property secured by the company and which under such proceedings will form largely the basis of value for the property yet to be obtained, some of which is held by the speculators. On that basis these speculators are likely to be awarded less for the properties held by them than they paid for them."

The company, Mr. Rea continued, would not in any way be handicapped or delayed in the proposed work.

LIBRARIES FOR MEXICO.

Consul Hanna Trying to Secure Some of Carnegie's Millions.

MONTEREY, Mexico, Jan. 27.—If the efforts now making by United States Consul General Philip C. Hanna are successful, $4,000,000 of Andrew Carnegie's wealth will be used in the establishment of libraries in Mexico. Of this amount one-fourth is planned to be used in the establishment of a magnificent library in Monterey. The plan contemplates the expenditure of the remaining $3,000,000 in the establishment of libraries at Chihuahua, Durango, Tampico, Torreon and San Luis Potosi.

General Hanna has taken up the matter with Mr. Carnegie direct and feels confident of success. He says he expects Mr. Carnegie to be particularly interested in the founding of a library in this city because of the establishment here of the ten million dollar steel plant and the consequent importing of skilled workmen from the United States. General Hanna expects to hear something in connection with the Carnegie move within the next few days.

Government Dispatch Boat Fired On.

PANAMA, Colombia, Jan. 27.—A small gasoline launch belonging to the government and named the General Campo, bearing important dispatches for the government general Castro, was sighted by the revolutionary fleet near Rio Grande, off the coast of Agua Dulce, southwest of Panama. Two shots were fired at the General Campo from the revolutionary gunboat Padilla, and the former was obliged to return here. The news received here from the United States concerning the Panama canal is welcome.

Killed by Drunken Husband.

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Bridget Kilroy has been beaten to death at her home in East Boston, the ending of a family quarrel provoked, the police say, by her husband Michael while he was crazed with liquor. The husband is under arrest. At the home five young children mourn the loss of their mother, most of them too young to realize the awful charge against their father. Michael J. Kilroy is a longshoreman, a giant in strength and a demon when in liquor, according to the stories told by neighbors.

The Captives Located.

DJUMALA, European Turkey, Jan. 27.—Miss Stone, the captive American missionary, and her companion, Mme. Tsilka, have been located near Yapyak, in the vicinity of the frontier. The American delegates conducting the negotiations for the release of the captives have arrived at Banisko, about thirty miles southeast of Djumala, and will probably pay over the ransom money at once.

Bequest For Pennsylvania Masons.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—Under provisions of the will of William McClary, who died Jan. 15, many thousands of dollars are bequeathed to churches and charitable institutions. The estate is valued at upward of $112,000. Among the bequests is one of $20,000 to the Pennsylvania grand lodge of Freemasons to be used for the support of the Home For Aged Masons in this city.

Railway Manager Dies Suddenly.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 27.—W. G. Nevin, general manager of the Southern California, San Joaquin Valley and the Santa Fe Pacific railroad system, died suddenly last night.

Florida's New Secretary of State.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 27.—Governor Jennings has appointed H. Clay Crawford secretary of state to succeed his father, who died recently.

"Up to about six months ago," says a gentleman living in Brooklyn, N. Y. "I was a constant sufferer from liver trouble and indigestion. I grew so thin that one could almost look through me, and was as cross and hateful to my family as a man who drinks. I tried this and that remedy which was recommended to me by physicians and friends without obtaining any benefit, and had given up all hope and resigned myself to death, which I firmly believed was not far away, but am thankful to say that I am still alive and gaining so rapidly in flesh and strength that my friends scarcely know me, and I owe it all to the use of Ripans Tabules. While coming home one night a gentleman I met produced a box of Tabules and told a friend how much good they had done him. I resolved that I would try them, but had little hope of their benefiting me. I think that it was the end of the second week I took them that I began to realize my whole system was undergoing a complete change. I could eat heartily and never feel the worse for it, and besides my food was digested and I commenced to gain flesh. I would most urgently ask any one who may be suffering as I did to try Ripans Tabules. I have no fixed time for taking them, but take them at all hours of the day."

The NEW WOMAN and HER SPHERE

MRS. J. C. CROLY (Jennie June) was the only president the New York Woman's Press club ever had. She herself founded the club about thirteen years ago. How much she was loved by its members may be judged from the fact that at every biennial election she was returned as its head, and the appearance of any candidate against her was a mere matter of form to satisfy the requirements of the bylaws of the organization. Although Jennie June was past seventy at the time of her death, no one could think of her as an old woman. Her figure was girlish, her hair was still dark brown, she still took a young woman's interest in the active pursuits and advancement of her sex. We must always remember these two facts concerning her—she opened the way for woman's employment on the daily newspapers; she was the mother and founder of women's clubs. Two American women before her had been known as contributors to newspapers, but they were never regularly members of the home staff of one. These were Margaret Fuller and Mrs. Lippincott (Grace Greenwood). Mrs. Lippincott still lives. She was present at the October meeting of the New York Woman's Press club, and Mrs. Croly introduced her to the audience in a few graceful, tender words. In response Grace Greenwood, who wrote European letters for Horace Greeley, made a little speech to the club. It was something to remember to see Grace Greenwood introduced to an audience by Jennie June. And already Jennie June, the younger of the two, has gone from this earth. May she enjoy the rest she never knew here!

Miss Norma Munro, daughter of Norman Munro, the publisher, has controlled and personally managed all the business interests of her father since his death. Miss Munro is an accomplished musician, a graduate of law and an all round athlete. She is as fearless as she is clever.

Mrs. Lydia Biggs of New Castle is one of the best farmers in Delaware. Her lands, fences and various buildings are as neat and in as good order as is a well kept front yard. Mrs. Biggs is a dairy farmer, keeping thirty cows and selling their milk. She is entirely prosperous and is laying up money, proving in one case, at least, that a woman farmer can succeed where a man did not do so, for her husband died heavily in debt. Besides having his obligations to pay, his widow had a family of small children to rear, but this brave, capable woman was equal to all the demands on her.

It is strange that more women do not carry on the business of farming. A woman of brains and determination makes an admirable farmer. It is true she cannot do the hard work a man can, but the art of amassing money consists not in hard work, but in utilizing the hard work of other people. This is a profound truth.

The solar plexus is the largest nerve center in the body. It is situated behind the stomach, just above the waist. It practically controls a large portion of the nervous system. Breathe deeply and as you do so mentally send sensation to this solar plexus. This will wake it up and develop it and increase your nervous power if you persist. "Wake up the solar plexus," says Elizabeth Towne.

The committee of revision on the tenets of the Presbyterian faith have been extremely busy and have recommended various changes. Gentlemen, while you are about it wake up your solar plexus and recommend also that the word obey be stricken from your marriage service. The creed that a woman must obey a man has long since dropped into desuetude among enlightened people, and it is time to drop it out of the Christian churches.

It gives me very great pleasure to make note of the fact that both house and senate of the legislature of Wyoming have passed a resolution heartily indorsing woman suffrage and recommending the enfranchisement of women in every state and territory of the Union "as a measure tending to the advancement of higher and better social order." What is more, the legislature requested the governor of Wyoming to forward a copy of the resolution to the legislature of every other state and territory in the Union, and the press of the United States was also asked to call attention to the resolution. Splendid! The slow old world does move.

Talk of your spry old men! Mrs. Mercy L. Day, a Maine woman, eighty-one years old, not long since rose early one morning, fed the calves and pigs and helped milk eight cows. Then she had a wagon loaded with apples, butter and eggs and drove alone to the town, twenty-three miles away, to market them. She sold out her wares immediately, did some shopping while her horse was resting and eating and then started on her return trip, completing most of it the same day. The age of a woman is not a matter of years, you see. It is a matter of slumping and giving up mostly.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

"That is Hayle all over," said Kitwater when I had finished. "It is not his fault that you are not a dead man now. He will evade us if he possibly can. The story of the roughs you have just told us shows that he is aware that you are on the trail, and, if I know him at all, he will try the old dodge, and put running water between you and himself as soon as possible. As I said to you the other day, he knows the world as well as you know London, and, in spite of what people say, there are still plenty of places left in it where he can hide and we shall never find him. With the money he stole from us he can make himself as comfortable as he pleases wherever he may happen to be. To sum it all up, if he gets a week's start of us, we shall never set eyes on him again."

"If that is so we must endeavor to make sure that he does not get that start," I replied. "I will have the principal ports watched, and in the meantime will endeavor to find out where he has stowed himself away in London. You may rest assured of one thing, gentlemen, I took this matter up in the first place as an ordinary business speculation. I am now going on for that reason and another. Mr. Hayle tried a trick on me that I have never had attempted before, and for the future he is my enemy as well as yours. I hope I have set myself right with you now. You do not still believe that I am acting in collusion with him?"

"I do not," Kitwater answered, vehemently. "And I most humbly apologize for having said what I did. It would have served me right if you had thrown the case up there and then, and I regard it as a proof of your good feeling towards us that you consent to continue your work upon it. To-day is Friday, is it not? Then perhaps by Sunday you may have something more definite to tell us."

"It is just possible, I may," I returned.

"In that case I am instructed by my niece to ask if you will give us the pleasure of your company at Bishopstowe on that day. After the toils of London, a day in the country will do you no harm, and needless to say we shall be most pleased to see you."

I remembered the girl's pretty face and the trim neat figure. I am not a lady's man, far from it, nevertheless I thought that I should like to renew my acquaintance with her.

"I shall be very pleased to accept Miss Kitwater's invitation, provided I have something of importance to communicate," I said. "Should I not be able to come, you will of course understand that my presence is required in London or elsewhere. My movements must of necessity be regulated by those of Mr. Hayle, and while I am attending to him I am not my own master."

Kitwater asked me one or two more questions about the disposal of the gems to the merchants in Hatton Garden, groaned as I describe the enthusiasm of the dealers, swore under his breath when he heard of Hayle's cunning in refusing to allow either his name or address to be known, and then rose and bade me good-by.

During dinner that evening I had plenty to think about. The various events of the day had been so absorbing, and had followed so thick and fast upon each other, that I had little time to seriously digest them. As I ate my meal, and drank my modest pint of claret, I gave them my fullest consideration. As Kitwater had observed, there was no time to waste if we desired to lay our hands upon that slippery Mr. Hayle. Given the full machinery of the law, and its boundless resources to stop him, it is by no means an easy thing for a criminal to fly the country unobserved; but with me the case was different. I had only my own and the exertions of a few and trusted servants to rely upon, and it was therefore impossible for us to watch all the various backdoors leading out of England at once. When I had finished my dinner I strolled down the Strand as far as Charing Cross station. Turner was to leave for St. Petersburg that night by the mail train, and I had some instructions to give him before his departure. I found him in the act of attending to the labeling of his luggage, and, when he had seen it safely on the van, we strolled down the platform together. I warned him of the delicate nature of the operation he was about to undertake, and bade him use the greatest possible care that the man he was to watch did not become aware of his intentions. Directly he knew for certain that this man was about to leave Russia, he was to communicate with me by cipher, and with my representative in Berlin, and then follow him with all speed to that city himself. As I had good reason to know, he was a shrewd and intelligent fellow, and one who never forgot any instructions that might be given him. Knowing that he was a great votary of the Goddess Nicotine, I gave him a few cigars to smoke on the way to Dover.

"Write to me immediately when you have seen your man," I said. "Remember me to Herr Schneider, and if you should see—"

I came to a sudden stop, for there, among the crowd, not three-carriage lengths away from me, a traveling-rug thrown over his shoulder, and carrying a small brown leather bag in his hand, stood Gideon Hayle. Unfortunately, he had already seen me, and almost before I realized what he was doing, he was making his way through the crowd in the direction of the main entrance. Without another word to Turner, I set off in pursuit, knowing that he was going to make his bolt, and that if I missed him now it would probably be my last chance of coming to grip with him. Never before had the platform seemed so crowded. An exasperating lady, with a lanky youth at her side, hindered my passage, porters with trucks piled with luggage barred the way just when I was getting along nicely; while, as I was about to make my way out into the courtyard, an idiotic Frenchman seized me by the arm and implored me to show him "ze office of ze money-changaire." I replied angrily that I did not know, and ran out into the portico, only to be in time to see Gideon Hayle take a seat in a hansom. He had evidently given his driver his instructions, for the man whipped up his horse, and went out of the yard at a speed which, at any other hour, would certainly have got him into trouble with the police. I called up another cab and jumped into it, promising the man a sovereign as I did so, if he would keep the other cab in sight, and find out for me its destination.

"Right ye are, sir," the cabman replied. "You jest leave that to me. I won't let him go out of my sight."

Then we, in our turn, left the yard of the station, and set off eastwards along the Strand in pursuit. Both cabmen were sharp fellows and evidently familiar with every twist and turn of their famous London. In my time I have had a good many curious drives in one part of the world and another, but I think that chase will always rank first. We traveled along the Strand, about 100 yards behind the other vehicle, then turned up Southampton street, through Covent Garden by way of Henrietta street into Long Acre. After that I cannot pretend to have any idea of the direction we took. I know that we passed through Drury Lane, crossed High Holborn, to presently find ourselves somewhere at the back of Gray's Inn. The buildings of the Parcels' Post depot marked another stage in our journey. But still the other cab did not show any sign of coming to a standstill. Leaving Mount Pleasant behind us, we entered that dingy labyrinth of streets lying on the other side of the Clerkenwell House of Detention. How much longer was the chase going to last? Then, to my delight, the other cab slackened its pace, and eventually pulled up before a small public-house. We were so close behind it that we narrowly escaped a collision. I sprang out, and ran to the other vehicle in order to stop Hayle before he could alight.

"Wot's up, guvner?" asked the cabman. "Don't go a worriting of yourself. There's nobody inside."

He was quite right, the cab was empty!

FANCIES OF FASHION.

Fur Is Used for Trimming All Sorts of Swell Garments.

Little Change Noticeable in Cut of Skirts and Sleeves — Blouses and Teajackets as Popular as Ever.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

THE impulse that provokes every woman to fine dressing, and to outdress every other woman if she possibly can, is not hard to understand after a careful inspection of the prevailing fashions. Never since the time when the extravagant styles of the French court were so faithfully followed by fashion's devotees has dress been so luxurious and gorgeous as at the present moment; not that sweet simplicity has been entirely overlooked, but it is a simplicity only to be achieved by the cunning of the master hand.

Any woman who has made a study of this interesting subject knows that fashion, after all, is but a huge wheel, constantly revolving and coming back, with more or less regularity, to the starting point; and out of one fashion is evolved another. It is for this reason that the woman who gazes dolefully at the balance which threatens to be on the wrong side of her bank account may yet take heart of grace, for who knows but that another turn or two of this same wheel may bring a revival of the pretty, simple fashions of other years, and in the meantime, if she keeps her wits about her, she can turn herself out smartly attired at a moderate cost, everything considered.

We hear a great deal just now about the full skirt; but certainly the latest models indicate very little, if any, change. They continue to show the same wonderful amount of froufrouing round the feet as of yore, and still keep the graceful clinging appearance about the hips seen in all the well-fitting skirts of the last two seasons. Let us hope that the present style will remain with us for a long time to come, for the full skirt is not pretty or generally becoming.

DAINTY EVENING WAIST.

Dame Fashion evinces a decidedly strong tendency towards shortening the skirt to all tailored gowns, which is an extremely sensible idea and one we can all approve so long as it is confined to the walking skirt, but according to my mind the skirt of our best gowns, for grace and beauty, should always be long and trailing.

Perhaps the most noticeable change in fashion this season is to be found in the newest sleeves, though with few exceptions they have not reached very voluminous proportions as yet. As the very full sleeve can only be worn becomingly by the very few, let us trust the present happy medium may remain in vogue for many months to come, but I much doubt it, for there are always some women who try to out-fashion Fashion, regardless of appearances. However, for the moment we are safe. The only garment in which the big sleeve should find a place is the long evening coat. There it is appropriate and comfortable, because easy to slip off and on over the dainty evening bodice.

In the interesting matter of trimming fur is the thing most sought after. In fact, there is a perfect craze for this royal looking ornamentation, and when mixed with lace, according to the latest edict of Dame Fashion, makes as rich and effective trimming as one could well desire. On skirts the fur trimming usually takes the form of bands, varying in width from one to twelve inches, while quite often the bodices, particularly those hailing from Paris, have a small pouched vest made of it, over which is placed a small jabot of cream tinted lace, the soft meshes of the fine lace serving to bring out the beauty of the fur beneath. House and street gowns, with their rich and varied trimming, continue to grow more beautiful and elaborate with each passing hour.

Material showing a rough and somewhat hairy surface is used almost exclusively for handsome street gowns, while for house wear smooth-faced cloth, silk and silk and wool mixtures are most in evidence.

There is a well-defined rumor from Paris that real empire dresses will be worn this winter—not in the modified form of those seen early in the season, but exact copies of those worn in the time of Napoleon's reign, but from what can be learned nobody seems anxious to adopt such a costume in this country. However, time alone can solve the interesting question.

As each season approaches there is always a feeling of some uncertainty about the continued popularity of the ever useful and generally becoming blouse. Some authorities claim its prestige is decidedly on the wane, while others, equally well-informed on all matters pertaining to fashionable dress, emphatically declare it will never die. That its requeim will not be sung this season is certain, but further than that I cannot say. Within the week I have seen some charming models, from the garment of utility to a mysterious dream of lace, fur and chiffon. Most certainly the cult of the blouse is thoroughly understood by the fashionable dressmaker of the day who well knows that no matter for what occasion a blouse is required, it must be as well cut and as well made as our best dress bodices. Some of the new evening blouses are beautiful beyond description. The handsomest are either plain white or black and white in combination, very elaborately embroidered and trimmed with fur and yards upon yards of fine lace. Spotted silks are still being used, and so are plain and spotted pannes and velvets, and rich satin orientals, as well as charming novelties in flannels, the latter, of course, being for more useful wear.

For smart afternoon and evening wear lace and accordion-plaited chiffon, mingled with a sparing fairylike touch, and sometimes bordered with mink or sable, compose some of the most delightful new models. Russian blouses made of velvet and trimmed with mink are to be reckoned among the handsomest and highest-priced models. On the plainer blouses, made of silk or flannel, big collars give place to very neat high collars and soft stocks of black and colored satins or velvet, always surmounted by a dainty little muslin turn-over collar.

There is nothing more delightfully restful after a hard day's shopping than to get quickly into a garment in which one feels at perfect ease.

The sharp contrast between the hard lines of the boned bodice and the comfortable looseness of the teajacket appeals very strongly to the majority of womankind. They count the teajacket among their most valuable possessions, and it is perhaps for this reason that fashion makers have devoted so much time and attention to this ideal garment. It would be quite impossible to imagine anything more charming than the new models in teajackets and lounging robes, and it really seems as if originality of design and perfection in workmanship could go no further. The materials of which they are composed seem to have been woven for this special purpose, while the trimming used is appropriate and beautiful in the extreme. Sumptuous embroideries appear on some of the most exclusive models, and on others fur and lace in combination reign supreme. In the matter of style the designs are quite varied, but at the present moment the empire shape seems to be the general favorite. Other desirable models are fashioned after the Watteau period in the silks of that time. The Japanese shape also plays an important part this season, and for those who like this rather severe style nothing could be more effective than a teajacket made of Japanese silk, turned back with revers of a contrasting color.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

According to recent investigation it has been decided that it is prefectly proper to spell Pluckemin with either an "e" or an "a." There is a place in Scotland bearing the same name.

To take away New Jersey's reproach, Professor John Smith, State Entomologist, has asked of the New Jersey Legislature an appropration of $60,000, through the State Board of Agriculture, that he may make experiments with intent to exterminate mosquitoes. Professor Smith believes that the horde of insects, which has brought the State into disrepute can be exterminated. With this amount of money in hand, he believes he can go into the matter in a thorough way that will result successfully. Whether he succeeds or fails in getting the appropriation, all will agree that the abatement of the nuisance is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

The Washington (Warren County) Star, of this week, reports an interesting fact in connection with the epidemic of small-pox at Hacketstown. In the article on the subject the following appears:

"Dr. F. M. Cook has been appointed by the Board of Health to canvass the town and vaccinate all who have not previously taken this precaution. It has been noticed that those who have died from the disease have never been vaccinated, those who have it in the worst form are persons who were vacc'nated long ago, and those who have been recently vaccinated have it in a very light form. There are no exceptions which proves conclusively the theory held by nearly all physicians, that vaccination is the best weapon with which to fight the terrible plague."

It will be remembered that in Chief T. O. Doane's annual report for the fire department, he recommended the purchasing of new hose. This is needed much by the department, and at a meeting of the fire and building committee, recently, the question was discussed. It is believed that the committee will see its way clear to ask the Council to purchase new hose this year. Another matter for consideration, as recommended by Chief Doane is the advisability of purchasing a combination chemical and hose wagon, to take the place of the old wagon now doing duty in the West End. It is believed that the old wagon can be turned in at a fair price in consideration for a new apparatus. This would give the city much better protection, especially the West End of the city. Many fires can often be quickly extinguished if a chemical is on hand early. Under the present condition of affairs if a fire broke out in the West End of the city the chemical engine has a great distance to travel from the heart of the city.

Of course, the apparatus now used in the West End answers the purpose well, and would continue to do so if it were not for the fact that it is in a somewhat rickety condition. The driver is of necessity compelled to take great precaution in going to fires on this account.

Another improvement hoped for by Chief Doane, in the near future, is an equipment in the East End of the city. As that section is now growing very fast more protection is needed and every time a fire occurs the apparatus is taken from the heart of the city leaving that part unprotected.

Narrow Escape.

While the 8:34 train from this city was passing through the Fanwood cut, Saturday morning, a tramp, who was plainly seen standing on the embankment, hurled a large stone through one of the car windows. It knocked the hat from a Somerville commuter and then fell in the lap of Lawyer I. P. Runyon, of this city. The former was cut by flying glass but Mr. Runyon escaped injury. No attempt was made to capture the tramp.

Operatic Production.

The opera of "Patience" by Gilbert & Sullivan will be given in this city in April with a chorus of thirty and the following soloists: Sopranos, Mrs. Robert Giddes and Miss Etta Raybert; contraltos, Mrs. F. M Ward, Mrs. C. M. Ross and Miss Grace Phillips; tenors, George H. Smith and William J. Tallamy; baritones, Fred R. Pope and William Holmes; bass, Raymond McGee.

Endorse Fast Days.

A light diet is recommended, this week, by the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, so that all may be able to do justice to the turkey supper to be given by the society in the lecture room of the church Thursday and Friday evenings, Jan. 30 and 31. Supper will be served each evening from 6 until 9 o'clock.

FREE FROM CONTEST.

Coming Session of Congress to Be Without Excitement.

Two Men from Iowa Will Continue to Shape National Legislation — Some Historic Speakership Fights.

[Special Washington Letter.]

BY CONSTITUTIONAL requirement the congress must convene annually on the first Monday in December; and in compliance with that mandate of the basic law the statesmen are gathering.

Usually at the beginning of a new congress there is a scramble for the speakership and the offices of both the senate and the house of representatives; but this year there is no contest, no excitement, no indication of acrimony in any quarter.

The writer has witnessed many organizations of the congress, and remembers well the contests which resulted in the elections of Randall, Carlisle, Reed and Crisp to the speakership. In those days the adherents of the aspirants for that high honor were busy by day and by night during the two weeks preceding the convening of the congress. The older members were carefully watching the railroad depots and the hotel registers, either personally or by proxy, in order to gather in the new members and secure their votes in caucus for their favorites.

In November, 1883, the democrats had a majority of the house of representatives and the great contest was between ex-Speaker Sam Randall and John G. Carlisle, resulting in the selection of Carlisle. It was the first great battle inside of the democratic party between the protectionist and free trade elements. William R. Morrison, of Illinois, was the leader of the Carlisle faction, and his successful management naturally caused his subsequent selection for the chairmanship of the committee on ways and means. In that capacity a free trade bill was formulated by him, and it was well known as the Morrison bill. It was a celebrated measure, and all of the newspapers gave columns upon columns to its discussion. So fleeting is fame, however, that the name of neither Morrison nor Carlisle is now known to the average reader of daily newspapers.

The next great speakership contest was at the beginning of the Fifty-first congress, in November, 1889, when Reed, of Maine; McKinley, of Ohio; Burrows, of Michigan; Cannon, of Illinois, and Henderson, of Iowa, were the leading candidates. Mr. Reed was selected, and McKinley was made chairman of the committee on ways and means. A protectionist bill was framed which became celebrated as the McKinley bill. That measure was rejected by the people in 1890, and McKinley was defeated for reelection to congress. It is a singular fact that out of McKinley's defeat for the speakership and his defeat for reelection grew his presidential opportunities. He was twice elected governor of Ohio, in which position he served without flaw or blemish. The fame of the McKinley bill did not die. Thus he became the champion of protection, and his party kept him to the front until finally he was made president of the republic. Very well might he have repeated Tennyson's popular lines:

"I hold it truth with him who sings
To one clear harp in divers tones;
That men may rise on stepping stones
Of their dead selves, to higher things."

The next great speakership contest was in November, 1891, when Crisp, of Georgia; Mills, of Texas; McMillin, of Tennessee, and Springer, of Illinois, were the leading candidates for that honor. The writer was in the room of the committee on appropriations that evening, when Springer, of Illinois, concluded to withdraw in favor of Crisp; and that brought about the selection of Crisp, with the subsequent appointment of Springer to the chair-

HON. JOSEPH H. MILLARD.
(One of the New United States Senators from Nebraska.)

manship of the committee on ways and means.

Some time in May, 1889, Speaker Reed declared his intention of resigning from congress, and that opened another fight for the speakership in which Henderson, of Iowa; Hopkins, of Illinois; Sherman, of New York, and Bingham, of Pennsylvania, were the candidates before the republican caucus; but it was all over before the congress convened, and Henderson was chosen. That is an interesting story, and it has never been told before. Here are the facts:

During the six months preceding March 2, 1899, Henry Casson, ex-secretary of state of Wisconsin, was a candidate for the position of director of the census. Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, was chairman of the committee on the census. The Wisconsin men begged Mr. Hopkins to act as chairman of the committee on the census, in urging Casson's appointment; but Mr. Hopkins declined to exert his influence in that manner, and on March 2, 1899, Mr. Merriam, of Minnesota, was appointed director of the census. In June following, when the speakership contest was being waged, it was a question whether the great west would support Hopkins, of Illinois, or Henderson, of Iowa. The Wisconsin members gathered in Milwaukee to decide for whom they would vote for the speakership. It was the recollection of the refusal of Mr. Hopkins to support Mr. Casson for the census directorship, and the keen recollection of the fact that Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, had diligently supported Mr. Casson, that was mainly instrumental in influencing the Wisconsin congressmen to decide in favor of Henderson; and that settled it. The entire west fell into line for Henderson, and Mr. Hopkins withdrew. Col. Henderson also had the support of Pennsylvania's big delegation, by the withdrawal of Bingham, in his favor, and he was selected unanimously.

HON. PARIS GIBSON.
(New United States Senator from the State of Montana.)

The contest for the speakership of two years ago will not be repeated. Speaker Henderson will be chosen without opposition by the republican caucus, and will be elected; because the republicans have a large majority in the house of representatives. This admitted fact accounts for the quiet and apparent apathy in political circles at this time. The democratic minority will choose Hon. James D. Richardson, of Tennessee, and all of the members of that party will vote for him. This is not an empty honor. The man who is chosen as the leader of the minority at this time will tacitly retain his leadership until such time as the democrats shall have a majority; and then, if he lives, Mr. Richardson will undoubtedly be chosen for the speakership. Therefore, it is that Mr. Richardson seeks and will receive the nomination of his party, because he is looking to the future for his preferment. Wise men in the political world must have the sagacity to peer into the coming years, and "learn to labor and to wait."

There will be no political contest of any kind in the organization of the senate. That body always has a "president pro tempore," whose duty it is to preside during the absence or inability of the vice president to perform his functions. When the last congress adjourned Vice President Roosevelt was the presiding officer of the senate, and Senator Frye, of Maine, was the presiding officer pro tempore. Inasmuch as the senate is a continuing body, and does not need reorganization every two years (as the house of representatives does) Senator Frye will take the gavel and call the senate to order, without the intervention of a caucus or other parliamentary machinery.

Because the senate is a continuing body, it will not be necessary to elect sergeant at arms, secretary or other officers. The senate, in January, 1900, elected its officers, and they will continue to serve until such time as the present minority shall have a majority, when complete changes will occur in all of the prominent official positions.

The senate has no masterful official who has power to shape legislation. The party which happens to be in the majority at any time holds caucuses and selects the chairmen and members of the committees. The senate itself retains the power which the house gives to its presiding officer. The senate majority always recognizes its oldest members, those longest in continuous service, as leaders.

Because of these diverse conditions in the two bodies comprising the congress, a singular condition is now presented. Senator Allison, of Iowa, is chairman of the committee on appropriations, chairman of the steering committee which shapes legislation, and chairman of the majority caucus. Because of his 24 years of continuous service, he is the recognized leader of the senate in all things.

Thus, by reason of events which seem to have shaped themselves, two men from Iowa, Senator Allison and Speaker Henderson, both of them not only from the same state, but also from the same county, and from the same city, Dubuque, have marvelous power in the congress. The one shapes and controls affairs in the house of representatives; the other as unostentatiously shapes affairs in the senate. These two men, from the same city, have more power in national affairs than any other two men on earth, excepting the czar of Russia, and the emperor of Germany. And the senators and representatives cheerfully follow their leadership; for they are honorable men, as well as capable of performing their high functions.

RICHLY RENDERED RECITAL

GIVEN BY WARD STEPHENS AT CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

Affair Held Saturday Evening—Was Enjoyed by a Large Congregation.

A large audience greeted Organist Ward Stephens when he gave his second recital in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Saturday evening. That it was an artistic success was the unanimous opinion of the hearers when the final number was completed.

The programme was made up of seven numbers and of these Boellmann's "Suite Gothique" was undoubtedly the favorite. It was in four parts, all rendered with a strong finish, making a decided contrast later to the delicate "Hommage a Mendelssohn" by Calkin. The two selections from Guilmant, Allegro from first Sonata and Communion in G. were pleasing through their true interpretation.

At the close of the recital Mr. Stephens was congratulated on the feeling with which the numbers were rendered. The programme in detail was as follows:

Rousseau, "Fantaisie;" Boellmann, "Suite Gothique." Introduction—Choral (Maestoso). Menuet Gothique (Allegro.) Priere a Notre-Dame (Tres lent.) Toccata (Allegro;) Calkin, "Hommage a Mendelssohn"; Clarke, Gavotte; Guilmant, Allegro from first Sonata; Guilmant, Communion in G.; Saint Saens, "Marche Heroique."

NO ACTION YET TAKEN CONCERNING OFFICES

Adjournment of City Fathers Without Deciding Matter of Change.

OFFER OF THE SMALLEYS

MORE DEFINITE PROPOSITION IS AT PRESENT DESIRED.

Outline of Offer Made—Question to be Settled at the Regular February Meeting of the Common Council.

It was expected that the question of changing the location of the city offices would be definitely determined at the special meeting of the Common Council last evening. When it was learned that the finance committee, to whom both propositions, one from J. B. Coward, the present landlord, and Smalley Brothers, the prospcetive ones, was ready to report, it was believed that the question would be settled, but such was not the case.

It is confidently believed by many that the Council will move to the Smalley building, and that it is only a question of a short time when a vote will make the change, but in the absence of Chairman George P. Mellick, of the finance committee, who is in the west, no vote was taken. Councilman Leslie M. Daniel stated that he expected Mr. Mellick home in time for the meeting, but had received word from him that the proposition of Smalley Brothers would be received and that action could be taken. Mr. Daniel stated further that the proposition did not arrive and late Saturday night he called at Smalley Brothers place of business and received it. This he presented to the Council.

By the proposition Smalley Brothers offer the city for one year with the privilege of a renewal for a term of years, the easterly store room in their building located on the ground floor, for the city offices, and promise to erect a vault for the safe keeping of the city's documents and books. They also agree to install such fixtures as are necessary to divide the same into offices. They offer the third floor for the Council room, furnished with proper desks, revolving chairs and also rooms for the use of committees. The rental for this room is $1,000 a year. If the Council want room No. 1, on the second floor, for the use of the Mayor, this will be rented for $100 additional.

After the reading of the proposition it was referred to the finance committee. Then Mr. Tolles moved that Council take a recess for a time to consider the matter. The members were only out a short time, when they returned and Mr. Daniel offered a report of progress. A motion to adjourn was offered and the meeting came to an abrupt end.

It was learned after the meeting that the reason for deferring the matter was that the proposition was not in the shape desired by the members. They want a more definite proposition. So far as can be learned there is not much opposition to the proposed change. The question will be brought up next Monday evening at the regular February meeting, when in all probability a decision will be made.

The only members absent from last night's meeting were Councilmen van Herwerden and Mellick.

BANKS OPEN EVENINGS.

A Custom of Joplin, Mo., Where H. C. Smith Holds Position.

Hector C. Smith, of Prospect avenue, who several weeks ago accepted a position as civil engineer at Joplin, Mo., has returned home for a short time. Mr. Smith is engaged in surveying for a new railroad line.

He says that Joplin is a thriving business town. A peculiar fact in connection with the business of the place is that the banks remain open until 9 and 10 o'clock every evening. Nearly every man belongs to the Board of Trade there, and everything possible is done to induce the location of manufacturing concerns in that town.

Unique Affair.

An innovation in the way of socials will be introduced at the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow evening, when the men of the church will take charge of the regular social. The men will first give a supper, after which there will be a social. The members of the church and congregation are cordially invited.

T. A. B. FAIR HAS CLOSED

THE WIND UP LAST EVENING WITH AWARD OF PRIZES.

Net Receipts Aggregate $1,000—To Liquidate Debt and Repair Building.

The St. Mary T. A. B. fair which was conducted during the past week in T. A. B. hall, terminated last evening with almost phenomenal success. A conservative estimate places the total net receipts at not less than $1,000. The exact amount will be determined upon at a meeting of the fair committee which is to be held Thursday evening.

The remainder of the contests were closed last evening and each one netted large sums. The gentleman's gold watch was won by William Spencer who collected and turned in $154. His competitor Frank Burke collected $151.55. This contest was probably the closest and most interesting of any held in connection with the fair. The handsome dinner set donated by Mrs. Eugene Gross was won by John Hines and the toilet set went to Dr. Boone.

Others securing prizes were Miss Nellie Casey, Father Smyth's crayon picture, Mrs. Nellie Deady, large sofa pillow, M. D. O'Keefe, parlor table, John Madden, parlor lamp and Miss Margaret Shannon, hall settee. The various tables and other attractions did a thriving business and the amount derived from this source reached $325.

It is the intention of the T. A. B. officers to apply part of the money, $425, to liquidating the debt on the society building. The remainder will be devoted to repairs.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS MET

NOTHING EXCEPT ROUTINE BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

Clinical Assistants Appointed—Report of the Matron—Dispensary Work.

Nothing of importance beyond the transaction of routine matters was accomplished at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg hospital, last evening. The several committees having in hand important projects, including the new institution, reported progress. These were received and given due acknowledgement.

The clinical assistants for the ensuing year were appointed as follows: Drs. Albert Pittis, Marc L. Clawson, P. J. Zeglio, J. H. Buchanan and A. F. VanHorn. The monthly report of Miss Young, matron at the hospital, was read as follows: Patients admitted 31; discharged cured 20; improved 4; cured 2; remaining 20. The dispensary physicians treated 37 patients and 211 visits to this department were made.

The remainder of the evening was spent in informal discussion, during which several matters pertaining to the welfare of the institution were brought up. Nothing definite, however, was decided upon.

Observe McKinley Day.

McKinley Day, which is due tomorrow, will be appropriately observed in the evening by the members of the First Presbyterian church. Instead of the regular prayer-meeting service there will be several short papers presented bearing on the life of the late President, treating of the various stages in his life. A hearty invitation is extended to all to attend the service.

Mode of Baptism.

At the morning service in Mt. Olive Baptist church, Sunday, Rev. E. E. Jackson preached a strong sermon on the true mode of baptism, which he declared to be eomplete immersion. The sermon was given at the request of a number of the pastor's friends, who did not agree with him. By special request he will repeat the discourse at a later date.

Narrow Escape.

Harold Burke, aged four years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burke, of East Second street, broke through the ice at Tier's pond, Saturday afternoon, and narrowly escaped drowning. He was rescued just in time by some boys who were near at the time. Aside from a thorough soaking the boy suffered no injury.

New Pastor Here.

Rev. George B. Shaw, of New York, who has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, has been in Plainfield for several days gradually becoming acquainted with his new work. He has also been assisting in the union services that have been held at New Market.

FALLEN ANGELS' HOME.

Hell As Such Existed Before Creation of World.

Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, delivered a strong sermon Sunday evening on the topic "Hell, What Is It? Where Did It Originate?"

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Richardson said that Hell was in existence before the world was created and that it was a place occupied by the fallen angels. He refuted the general idea that it was created afterward and declares that God threatens to cast into Hell such persons as do not accept Him.

WILL NOT SPRINKLE STREETS

CITY STREET COMMITTEE WILL NOT ACT FOR THE PRESENT.

Will Delay Action So As Not to Increase the Tax Rate at Present.

After the special meeting of the Common Council last evening, Chairman Tolles, of the street committee, called the members of his committee together to discuss still further the question of street sprinkling by the city. The committee has already had several meetings to consider this subject, but little progress is made each time. At last night's meeting of the committee it was believed, after a discussion, that it would not be practical to attempt to sprinkle. There was no definite decision to this effect, but it seemed to be the general opinion of all.

If the city decides to do this work it will mean an increase in the tax rate. The members do not want to make this increase, especially as the Board of Health will require and must have money this year on account of the extra expense attendant upon the outbreak of small-pox and free vaccination. As previously stated, if the committee can see its way clear to advise sprinkling by the city at a rate that is reasonable, this will be done, otherwise the report will be adverse. The committee, it is said, is not in doubt as to the wisdom of such work being performed by the city, believing that in the end it would mean a saving in the wear and tear on the macadam streets, but it is not willing to recommend such action when the expense is likely to be such that will prove a burden to the tax-payers generally.

HELD UP BY WRECK.

No Meeting of Assembly Last Night as Members Couldn't Get There in Time.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 28—The freight wreck on the Pennsylvania Railroad at the coal chutes last night delayed so many members of the Legislature that there was no quorum present when the Assembly was called to order.

After waiting three-quarters of an hour the house adjourned until this morning, and a few minutes later the missing members put in an appearance.

The open session of the Senate was a brief one, the only business being to receive the report of the commission appointed to provide a suitable gift for the battleship New Jersey, and the introduction of a few bills of minor importance.

Both houses adjourned until this morning.

Ill With Appendicitis.

Miss Emma L. Droll, of Stebbins place, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Droll, was taken suddenly ill last week with appendicitis. The physicians in charge are considering the advisability of an operation. It is just about a year ago when a younger sister, Miss Rosa Droll, was attacked with the disease and underwent a successful operation at Muhlenberg hospital.

Death From Small-Pox.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 28.—The first death from small-pox since the present light epidemic broke out in this city occurred yesterday. The victim is Mrs. Gustave Fromm, thirty-nine years old, who resided at No. 624 Fulton street.

Social at Church Chapel.

Under the auspices of the social committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church, a social will be given in the chapel Thursday evening. Russell Bond is chairman of the committee and some novel features are promised.

Boroughites to Wed.

The marriage of Miss Jessie Coddington and Wm. Morrison, both of the borough, will take place tomorrow evening at the home of the bride, on Mountain avenue.

BOROUGH SCHOOLS ARE MUCH OVERCROWDED

School Board Tried to Make Temporary Arrangement to Relieve Existing Condition.

HAVE DIVIDED A CLASS.

ONE HALF TO BE TAUGHT IN MORNING AND OTHER IN AFTERNOON.

Superintendent Wightman Will Make the Arrangements for Temporary Quarters—Committee Couldn't Find Any.

Lack of sufficient accommodations for the pupils of the borough schools has given rise to an intricate problem, which formed a topic for solution at meeting of the North Plainfield Shcool Board, held last evening. No satisfactory decision was arrived at but, in its place, a temporary arrangement was made.

It appeared to be the unanimous opinion of the members of the educational body that the time is rapidly approaching when permanent quarters will have to be secured as the increase in the number of pupils has passed all expectations. It was pointed out that there is absolutely no available space in the Somerset street school building for the seventh year grammar grade. Many pupils are in a position to be advanced but the room for their use is wanting.

Dr. J. H. Cooley, chairman of the buildings committee, reported that after a thorough search none could be found to answer the purpose. The committee had considered a number of places with the result that some were not suited as school rooms while others would not answer the sanitary requirements. The only relief could be found in erecting a new building but this was not touched upon seriously.

It was finally agreed that the superintendent of schools, Homer J. Wightman, be instructed to make such temporary arrangements as he should see fit, while the board continue its labors. The class, which can not be accommodated satisfactorily, numbers seventy pupils. For the present, it will be sub-divided, one section receiving instruction in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The hours for the first section of thirty-five will be from 8:30 until 12:30 o'clock in the morning and for the second section from 1 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

This will mean increased work. In order not to overtax the present teaching corps an additional teacher was selected. The appointee is Miss Mary Yoran, who was graduated from the classical department of the Cortlandt Normal School several years ago. She has been an instructor in the Herkimer, New York, schools for the last three years. Miss Yoran will have charge of the afternoon class.

AN EDITOR NOW.

Church Paper to be Conducted by Miss Smith.

Miss Ernestine Smith who, for some time past, has been a valuable helper in the business office of the Sabbath Recorder, has been assigned to new duties. Commencing with February 1, she will be editor-in-chief of The Sabbath Visitor, a children's paper issued by the Seventh-Day Baptist Publication Society. Miss Smith is greatly interested in the work of the children in this denomination and with her guiding hand the paper is sure to be one of interest to its readers.

DISTRICT MEETING.

Will be Held in Rooms of Perseverance Lodge Friday Night.

There will be an important meeting of Knights of Pythias, Friday night, in the rooms of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., when a deputy chancellor will be elected for district 14. Deputy Chancellor Frank Putnam's term will expire February 19. Members of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., are earnestly requested to attend. That same night Perseveverance Lodge will appropriately celebrate its fifteen hundredth meeting.

Critically Ill.

Ralph Vail, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vail, of West Eighth street, has been critically ill with pneumonia. Dr. G. W. Endicott and two trained nurses have been in attendance. Today a slight improvement is noted in the patient. Mr. Vail is not physically strong, having suffered a similar attack once before.

BIG COPPERS TO MEET.

Chiefs of This Country and Canada to Assemble at Washington.

Richard Sylvester, of Washington, D. C., president of the organization of Chiefs of Police of the United States and Canada, has announced that the annual convention will be held in Louisville, Ky., May 7.

Chiefs of police from all over the country will be in attendance and it is not at all improbable that Chief Kiely will be among them. Invitations to be present have been extended to the heads of 200 foreign departments, and it is expected a number of them will respond.

BOTH CLAIMED THE DOG

JUSTICE HAND CALLED UPON TO DECIDE THE QUESTION.

Fred J. Harris and Dan J. Galbraith Were Principals in a Law Suit.

Fred J. Harris, of West Fifth street, and Dan J. Galbraith, of West Fourth street, were the plaintiff and defendant respectivley in a case before Justice Hand, this morning, wherein each sought to prove that he was the owner of the same collie dog. Both sides presented five witnesses and a mass of evidence which made it impossible for the court to decide the question off hand. Decision was reserved until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The canine is at present in the possession of Galbraith.

Harris claimed the dog was presented to him by his father-in-law, William B. Grannatt, when it was but a few weeks old. Galbraith, he said, had entered his premises January 11 and removed the animal despite the protests of Mrs. Harris. Mr. Grannatt admitted that the dog had wandered to his home and he did not know the original owner. Galbraith declared the dog was purchased by him some years ago and that it is now five years old. The plaintiff's witnesses averred that it was only a year old.

The dog was brought into court for the purpose of recognition and immediately responded to calls from everybody whether principals or spectators.

TALKED ON JAPAN.

Divinity Student Made Address at C. E. Meeting of Trinity Reformed Church.

George Korteling, a student in Rutgers' Theological Seminary, was present at the consecration meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church last evening. He gave an address on Japan which was very interesting and stimulating.

Miss Sadie M. Searing was the leader of the meeting and introduced the speaker. At the close of the meeting one new active member was added to the roll and the society was honored by a request from Miss Sarah Curry, of New York, to be placed on the honorary roll of the society.

ONE NEW OFFICER.

New Escort Elected at Meeting of Redwood Camp, M. W. of A.

Redwood Camp, No. 10,262, Modern Woodmen of America, at its meeting last evening elected Frank Scheurlein escort in place of W. H. Hepburn, resigned. There was a large attendance and the interest shown was evinced by the fact that six propositions were received.

At the next regular meeting the State initiatory team will administer the degree to a dozen applicants for membership. The team comes from Newark and numbers among its members the high State officers.

Fund of Information.

The current issue of the Fireman's Herald says: Auguste Saltzman, formerly chief of Plainfield, N. J., who was appointed by the late President McKinley and the Chiefs' Association to represent the United States and its fire service at the Berlin Firemen's exhibition last May, who has since been touring Europe, returned to this country on the Vaderland Tuesday of this week. He comes with a fund of information concerning foreign fire departments.

Possible a Trust Company.

A rumor to the effect that a trust company will shortly be incorporated to do business in this city, gained circulation on the streets today. It is said that two rival factions are considering plans, but no definite arrangements have been made.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement is announced of Miss Mabel A. Woodruff, of East Second street, and Harry S. Potter, of Duer street.

AN ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT

A LARGE CROWD APPRECIATED AFFAIR AT Y. M. C. A.

Lovett's Boston Stars Was the Attraction, in Regular Course, Last Evening.

A large crowd, which completely filled the place, thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment given by Lovett's Boston Stars, at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. The affair was one of the series in the Star course, and proved to be a happy feature.

Probably the feature of the programme was the clever comic recitations of Frank Reynolds, a general favorite. His Re-Told Tales were specially laughable. In one of these he told of the man who wanted to be president, and could not tell his policy until each member of his family told what a chief executive of the Nation should do. When it finally became the turn of the head of the household to say what he would do, he declared that he would resign forthwith. It was an amusing number. Mr. Reynolds' selection, Characterizations, was also a funny piece.

Miss Emma Denham, as a violinist, won much applause, particularly by her rendition of the Hungarian Rhapsody. The charming soprano contributions of Miss Alice Mailyn received a warm reception, as did also the recitation of Miss Georgia Harvey.

As a concluding number the comedietta, the Interview, was rendered and it provoked tumultuous applause. In this sketch were Miss Harvey, Miss Natalie Norris, Martin Grange and Mr. Reynolds.

FREE VACCINATION IS OVER

THE CITY BOARD OF HEALTH HAS OPERATED ON 1,391.

Estimated That Nearly 8,000 People in the City Have Just Been Vaccinated.

It is estimated that up to date nearly 8,000 persons in this city have been vaccinated. This includes those treated free by the Board of Health, and all private cases treated by physicians at their offices or at the homes of their patients. The total number vaccinated under the auspices of the Board of Health is 1,391.

The free treatment was discontinued yesterday afternoon. Many persons who have been vaccinated called at the offices of the Board expecting to find a physician to look after their arm. Health Officer Thurlow was on duty at the offices and he referred all to their family physicians.

For the present there will be no more free vaccination and all supplies used in this operation which were left over, were returned yesterday to the druggist from whom they were purchased. The room which was used for vaccination during the past two weeks will now be used as a laboratory by the Board. The proper fixtures have been installed and such things as will be needed in the making of tests, examinations and the like will be placed in the laboratory.

Now that the rush in vaccination is over, Mr. Thurlow will resume his work of looking after the milkmen and their dairies. He was waging a lively campaign against these dealers when the small-pox developed, and he will now take up the work when he left off and secure full details as to the kind of milk sold and under what conditions it is secured.

Blood Poisoning Set In.

William Casey, of West Sixth street, who recently crushed his finger while at work at the Pond Tool Works, is not yet able to return to his position. Blood poison has set in and the physician is endeavoring to check it as quickly as possible before it extends too far.

Braves to Pow-Wow.

The members of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, will leave for Atlantic City tomorrow, where they will pay a fraternal visit to Arasapha Tribe, of that place. It is expected that at least twenty members will make the trip.

Condition of Health.

Dr. Wm. E. Honeyman, secretary of the North Plainfield Board of Health, reports that the condition of the public health is good. At present there are four cases of scarlet fever, three of diphtheria and two of measles. There is no smallpox.

—Neuman Brothers' Old Government Java coffee at twenty-eight cents is equal to if not better than the highest grades sold at other stores.

BENEVOLENT COUNCIL'S SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Camden county is not discouraged because she has lost the United States Senatorship, and now she will probably demand the State treasurership as a balm for her wounded feelings. Former Mayor Cooper B. Hatch is a tentative candidate for the position, and if South Jersey can unite on him he is likely to become a formidable opponent of the others already in the field.—Newark Evening News.

The New York Tribune's campaign in the matter of New Jersey's Senatorship forms a lustrous chapter of conservative journalism. Genius in escaping embarrassment is of an order that, occasionally, may be displayed even so as to command admiration. It is the gift of one who can sustain the aspect of brandishing a powerful weapon which, after the contest, shall appear to have been indispensable to which ever side has won.—Jersey City Evening Journal.

Congressman McDermott's bill in the House of Representatives for an appropriation of $50,000 to erect a statue to the famous Frenchman, Piere L'Enfant, who originally laid out the city of Washington, is a tardy tribute to a man who did a splendid service to the country. It is a notable fact that when Napoleon III. decided to remodel Paris his architect, Baron Haussman, borrowed the Washington plan. The new Paris created by him is a reproduction of the ideas of Pierre L'Enfant, which have made Washington the most beautiful city in the world.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

There are stupid persons who fancy it is funny to refer to New Jersey as foreign to the sisterhood of States and to her mosquitones as colossal, multitudinous and exceptionally fierce and venomous. There is hardly a State in all the Union which does not owe chartered emciency of its great Trusts and many other corporations to the superlative creative policy of New Jersey. For generations Jersey justice has been the wonder and emulation of nearly all the States, while her applejack has carried cheerfulness to the furthest boundaries of the Union.

Considering the wanton slander of Jersey mosquitoes by a reckless newspaper press it is not surprising, perhaps, that the insect mongers of the Department of Agriculture at Washington should include these among the pests which have been doomed to extinction. It is hard though, even scandalous, that the salaried State Entomologist of New Jersey should join in this wicked war.

As the Hon. Mr. Righter justly obsreves, some of the best blood of New Jresey runs in the veins of this maligned insect; but it is not for this that the mosquito is to be saved from extinction. Rheumatism is the reproach and the despair of the doctors, who plunder the pocket of the rheumatic patient until he becomes exasperated, and then forward him to their confederate robbers who keep hotels and baths at Hot Springs. The rivalry of the inexpensive and efficient Jersey mosquito is too much for these conspirators, and they have encouraged the fallacy that its puncture is poisonous. Now, however, that they have undertaken to divert the tax money of New Jersey to the slaughter of the people's own benefactors they are to be met by the solid delegation from the most enlightened counties in the State. There is reason to hope that the great wrong contemplated by the State Entomologist will not be perpetrated.—Philadelphia Record.

BOLD TRAIN ROBBERY

Express Messenger Covered With Winchesters.

ONE SAFE OPENED; ANOTHER TAKEN.

Scene of the Daring Theft Near Branchville, S. C., the Site of a Successful Holdup Two Years Ago.

BRANCHVILLE, S. C., Jan. 28.—A carefully planned and audacious express robbery took place about 7 o'clock last evening on the Southern railroad when the passenger train from Charleston reached nearly the exact site of the successful robbery of two years ago, five miles from Branchville.

Seven or eight men were riding on the platform between the engine and baggage car, concealed by the darkness. None was masked. At the fifty-five mile board two men crawled over the tender and covered the engineer, John Reynolds, with Winchesters. They fired two shots, one ball passing through Reynolds' cap. Fireman Cobb escaped by jumping off. Conductor Black, who ran out, was covered and ordered back. By order of these men a brakeman uncoupled the express car, mail and baggage cars, which were taken to Fifty-eight station, leaving the rest of the cars on the main line. Here several shots were fired into the express car, and one man climbed up, covered Express Messenger Hall with a Winchester and compelled him to open the door. Three men entered the car and stripped the local safe. After threatening Hall with instant death if he did not open the through safe and finding he knew nothing of the combination, the safe was rolled out on the platform. Then the engineer was ordered to return with the three cars to the train, and he obeyed, bringing the train without further incident to Branchville.

Nothing was seen of the men or the safe on passing Fifty-eight station. There was only a small amount of booty in the local safe, and no one here knows the contents of the through safe. No mail or baggage was touched, and no passengers were molested. The robbers took their pistols from the only employees who were armed, and resistance was out of the question.

The leader is supposed to be Barton Warren. Warren was arrested, charged with having single handed robbed the Southern express car just below Branchville in the fall of 1899. The case resulted in a mistrial. Bail was furnished. A few days before the next session of the court, five months ago, he killed Thomas Watson, his former friend, but one of the principal witnesses against him.

Warren has been at large since, and some say that he has been seen in Branchville at night several times since, though $800 reward had been offered for his capture. Since the killing, it is said, there has been another attempt before this daring performance to rob the express train between Branchville and Orangeburg.

Important Railway Decision.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 28.—The New Jersey court of errors and appeals has decided that the North Jersey Street Railway company has not an interest in the soil of the streets of Newark through which its cars run that is assessable locally as real estate. This decision reverses the decision of the supreme court rendered some time ago, the opinion of that court having been written by Justice Van Syckel. The case decided yesterday was a test, and its outcome has been watched with much interest, as had the supreme court been sustained many millions of dollars would have been added to the tax ratables of the municipalities of the state.

Prominent New Haven Man Dead.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 28.—Private telegrams received here announce the death at Los Angeles, Cal., of Major T. Atwater Barnes, president of the New Haven Trust company of this city. Mr. Barnes was one of the wealthiest and most prominent business men in New Haven. With his wife and son Frank he left this city on Jan. 16 for the Pacific coast, hoping that the change of climate would prove beneficial to the health of Mrs. Barnes. Major Barnes was apparently in good health at the time.

Written Designations Permissible.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The postoffice department has decided that hereafter a written designation of contents is permissible on envelopes or wrappers of third class mail matter. This action is the result of numerous complaints of annoyance and hardship to the public resulting from the construction of an act of congress of Jan. 20, 1888, which barred written designations such as "book," "printed matter" and "photo."

Bold Jail Delivery.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 28.—The prisoners in the county jail here attempted to escape. One man, Jesse Jones, a negro charged with forgery, is dead, and Jailer N. D. Knapton is injured. Harry Folsom, Samuel Blain and Andy Rogers, all charged with grand larceny, succeeded in getting away. Bloodhounds are on their trail, and it is expected they will be captured soon.

Boer Lanager Surprised.

PRETORIA, Jan. 28.—General Bruce Hamilton by a clever night march surprised a langer between Ermele and Bethel, in the Transvaal Colony, and charged the Boers, who fled in all directions and were pursued many miles by the British. As a result of this expedition eighty-two Boers and a quantity of stores were captured. The casualties were small.

A DYNAMITE HORROR

Eight Killed and One Hundred Injured In New York.

EXPLOSION IN RAPID TRANSIT TUNNEL

Big Hotels, Private Residences and Hospitals Wrecked In the Murray Hill Section—Grand Central Station Also Suffers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—By an explosion of 1,000 pounds of dynamite eight persons were killed, 100 injured, some mortally, others only painfully, the buildings within an area of ten blocks from Fortieth street and Park avenue were wrecked, and half a dozen hotels were damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars. The catastrophe occurred in the rapid transit tunnel at Fortieth street and Park avenue at seven minutes after 12 o'clock noon yesterday.

All of the Murray Hill district was shaken as if by an earthquake. Hotel patrons were panic stricken. The facade of the Grand Central station, the Grand Union hotel, the Murray Hill hotel, the Manhattan hotel, the Vanderbilt hotel, the Eye and Ear hospital, in Park avenue at Fortieth street, and the Home For Ruptured and Crippled, at Forty-second street and Lexington avenue, were riddled as if by a hurricane of small stones.

Every police precinct in Manhattan was ordered to send its reserves to the scene. The reserves of the Highbridge, Alexander avenue, Morrisania and Tremont stations were also called for.

There were thousands of persons in the streets within a few blocks of the scene of the explosion when it occurred. Most of these were stunned. Hundreds were thrown flat, and the force of the affair was so great as to start a current in all directions having the strength of a hurricane.

Plate glass windows in store fronts, dwellings, hotels, railroad trains, elevated and surface cars and in the Grand Central station were shivered into millions of pieces. Scores of pedestrians were cut and maimed in the shower of glass that descended in Third, Lexington, Park, Madison and Fifth avenues and in Depew and Vanderbilt avenues, at the sides of the Grand Central station, as well as in the streets from Thirty-fifth to Forty-eighth street.

Eyewitnesses declare that for nearly five minutes after the explosion the air seemed to be filled with particles of wood and glass that descended upon them like hail. The larger pieces cut through their clothing and inflicted wounds.

The police say that scores were injured in this manner whose names will never be obtained.

Every plate of glass in the Murray Hill hotel seems to have been broken. All of the windows in the front of the Grand Central station, on the Park avenue side of the Grand Union hotel, in the front of the Hospital For the Ruptured and Crippled at Forty-second street and Lexington avenue and nearly all in both the Forty-second street and Madison avenue fronts of the big Manhattan hotel were blown into the rooms.

The Manhattan Eye and Ear hospital, in Park avenue, directly opposite the scene of the explosion, was temporarily abandoned. All the windows in the hospital were broken, and because of the cold it was necessary to move the patients at once. There were sixty patients in the hospital at the time of the explosion. Many of the patients were badly shocked, and some of them were cut by flying glass.

It is feared that the foundation on the northeast corner of the Murray Hill hotel has been dangerously jarred and undermined.

The explosion ripped Park avenue as though a thousand giant plows had been rammed through the earth. Heavy timbers twisted and torn in most fantastic shapes are about the great gaping hole at the bottom of the hotel. The heavy wall separating the Park avenue trolley car tunnel from the rapid transit work is partly blown out of existence.

New Jersey Farms.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The census report on agriculture in New Jersey shows that on June 1, 1900, the farms numbered 34,650, valued at $162,591,010. Almost 43 per cent of the value is in buildings. The value of farm implements and machinery was $9,330,030 and live stock $17,612,620, giving the total value of farm property $189,533,660. The value of all crops and animal products, including animals sold or slaughtered on farms, in 1899 was $43,657,529.

Son of President Tyler Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Dr. Lachlan Tyler, son of John Tyler, tenth president of the United States, and brother to the president of William and Mary college, is dead in this city from appendicitis. Dr. Tyler, who was fifty years old, had been connected with the department of health for several years. The interment will be at Richmond, Va.

South Carolina Postoffice Robbed.

WALTERBORO, S. C., Jan. 28.—Robbers broke in the postoffice here through the rear door and blew open the safe. They secured about $250 in money, some stamps and a lot of private papers belonging to the postmaster. They left no clew as to their identity.

German Embassador's Dinner.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Dr. von Holleben, the German embassador, gave a dinner of twenty-one covers at the embassy last night, the guests of honor being Captain Karl Frans and three officers of Kaiser Wilhelm's cadet ship Moltke, now at Baltimore.

IN ICE KING'S GRASP.

Severest Weather of the Winter In the West.

RAILWAY TRAINS GREATLY DELAYED

In Many States Zero Temperatures and Blinding Snowstorms Cause Suffering and Cripple Business.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—The wind, which had blown a half gale for several hours has died away, and the cold is not as difficult to endure, although the temperature is still low.

The most severe conditions exist in the Lake Superior region, where the temperature ranges from 8 below to 12 below and the wind blowing a gale.

At Houghton, Mich., the storm was declared the worst within a generation The mercury was 10 below, and the wind blew thirty miles an hour. There were numerous cases of frostbitten faces and hands while persons were walking the distance of one square. At Sault Ste. Marie for the first time this winter it was found impossible to run the ferries across the strait of Mackinac.

All over the Lake Superior country trains were delayed and electric street car lines were practically out of business. In southern Illinois and Indiana there were reports of ruined fruit crops and of damaged wheat. From Michigan came the old cry of a peach crop destroyed.

Great Suffering In Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—The weather here is the coldest experienced in this part of the southwest this winter, with the following temperatures reported: Clinton, Mo., 17 degrees below zero; Lawrence, Kan., 16 below; Abilene, Kan., 15 below; Kansas City, 7 below. At Clinton the thermometer fell 49 degrees within twelve hours. Near Jewell, Kan., a Missouri Pacific train was ditched by running into a snow bank. No one but the engineer was injured. The weather in all parts of the southwest has moderated greatly, and the indications are that the severe cold is at an end.

Railway Trains Delayed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 28.—Nearly every passenger train is from one hour to six hours late, while coast trains due here are from twelve to fifteen hours late owing to the severe storm in the northwest and are delayed not only by snow, but by the exceedingly low temperature which makes it impossible to keep up a full head of steam.

Michigan Blizzard Increases.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Jan. 28.—The blizzard that has raged here for twenty-four hours has increased in violence. Snow is drifting badly, and all trains are delayed. For the first time this winter the car ferries cannot make the trip across the strait of Mackinac.

Cold In Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 28.—The cold here is the most severe of the winter. The minimum temperature by government thermometer was 8 degrees below zero, and the mercury has been hovering about the zero mark all day.

Coldest Day In Iowa.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Jan. 28.—The mercury has touched 16 below zero here, the lowest temperature of the winter.

Ten Marines Still Missing.

MANILA, Jan. 28.—The ten men of the command of Captain David D. Porter of the United States marine corps who failed to return from the expedition into the interior of Samar when Captain Porter and twenty-six members of his party reached the coast of that island on Jan. 21 are still missing, and little hope of their safety is entertained. The expedition, led by Captain Porter and numbering thirty-six men, was in the interior of Samar for two weeks. The men were provided with rations for only five days. Their progress was delayed, and they suffered great hardships.

A New Jersey Tragedy.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Jan. 28.—The village of South River, near here, is excited over a tragedy. William Scholl, thirty-two years old, attempted to murder his employer, Gustav Wall. Thinking his victim dead, he then ran to the German Presbyterian church, of which he was sexton, and after setting fire to the building went to the basement and sent a bullet through his head, killing himself instantly. Before turning his revolver on himself he shot his dog, which had followed him into the church.

Senator Gorman Notified.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 28.—United States Senator Elect Arthur Pue Gorman has been officially notified of his election here. The notification took place at the Hotel Rennert. A joint committee from the house and senate conveyed the information, which was officially announced in brief addresses by Senator Spencer C. Jones of Montgomery county and Delegate Robert W. Wells of Prince Georges county. Mr. Gorman responded briefly.

Atlanta to Invite the Prince.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 28.—The city council of Atlanta has decided to invite Prince Henry to visit Atlanta and appointed a committee to formulate the invitation. The invitation was preceded by telegrams from Governor Candler and Mayor Mims urging Secretary Hay and Baron von Holleben to have Prince Henry change his itinerary so as to include Atlanta.

THE KAISER'S BIRTHDAY.

Celebration In Berlin Marked by Many Scenes of Enthusiasm.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—Emperor William, who was born Jan. 27, 1859, signalized his birthday by conferring territorial titles on all the regiments which had hitherto borne no distinctive names. In an army order on the subject his majesty says:

"In my army are united the traditions of many German races and lands. It is my endeavor—indeed, my duty—to cultivate these traditions. With us the army and the nation are one. The history of my country is bound up in the army. May the new titles keep alive the remembrance that the empire was created by the capacity of its individual members and that it is the duty of every one belonging to the army to strive to bring honor to his race or his home in rivalry with others. May this thought serve as an incentive to the troops to cherish the spirit which alone in the army can bring the greatness of victory."

Emperor William held a "congratulation court" in the white hall, at which all the great dignitaries of state were present. His majesty shook hands with the imperial chancellor, Count von Bulow, and the foreign representatives, conversing with them, and subsequently chatted with the Prince of Wales.

In the afternoon Emperor William and the Prince of Wales repaired to the armory, both wearing the ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle. The crown prince, Frederick William; Prince Eitel and the headquarters staff accompanied them. His majesty was warmly cheered by large crowds along the route, and the cheers led by General von Hahnke, chief of the emperor's military cabinet, were repeated within the armory.

Later in the day Emperor William drove in an open carriage through Unter den Linden. The great crowds present heartily cheered his majesty.

The empress' birthday present to the emperor was a model of her left hand executed in marble by Professor Begas. The only ornament on the hand is a wedding ring.

Among the guests at the birthday banquet, held in the white hall of the palace, was King William II. of Wurttemberg, the Prince of Wales and the Duchess of Albany. After the banquet the emperor and empress held a reception.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

Joint Meeting Tomorrow Will Elect Senator Sewell's Successor.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 28.—The senate had a very brief session last night Governor Murphy sent his first nominations to the senate. One of these was that of General Peter F. Wanser to succeed the late General Sewell as major general commanding the national guard of the state. General Wanser has for some time been in command of the First brigade of the national guard, which is made up of the First regiment of Newark and the Fourth regiment of Jersey City. General Wanser is an ex-mayor of Jersey City.

Governor Murphy also sent to the senate the nomination of Charles G. Garrison to succeed himself as supreme court justice. Justice Garrison is a Democrat and has the circuit embracing Camden and Burlington counties. Both nominations were referred under the rules.

A report was received from the commission appointed at the last session to suggest a suitable testimonial to be presented by the state to the battleship New Jersey. The commission recommended a silver service as a gift that would be most acceptable.

The assembly held no session, and an adjournment was had because of a lack of a quorum.

The two houses at noon today voted on the United States senatorship, and tomorrow at noon the joint meeting will be held, when John F. Dryden will be formally declared United States senator from New Jersey to succeed the late General Sewell.

Indian Execution Interrupted.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Jan. 28.—Fred Tiner, a full blood Shawnee Indian, alleged to have outraged three Shawnee squaws on last Thursday, was tied to a stake to be burned to death by members of his tribe, men and women. He was first cruelly tortured. His face was beaten out of shape, his ears were torn nearly off by squaws, and other horrible tortures were being applied when Deputy United States Marshal Davis arrived from Arbeka, I. T., quickly took in the situation, held the mob back with a gun and single handed cut the thongs, backed away from the crowd with his prisoner and safely escaped to Weweeka, where Tiner was placed in jail.

Kruger Not Able to Come.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 28.—The rumors that Mr. Kruger, having received invitations from Chicago, New York and Philadelphia to visit those cities, would probably start upon an American tour next April arose from the efforts of some pro-Boers who are anxious energetically to further their propaganda in the United States, and it is probable that some Boer delegates will start for America in the spring, but unless there occurs a material improvement in the health of Mr. Kruger it will be physically impossible for him to be a member of this party.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

Governor Odell's Lunacy Bill Reported Favorably.

ALBANY, Jan. 28.—In the senate last evening the judiciary committee, which previous to the session had held a meeting, reported favorably the bill suggested by Governor Odell abolishing boards of managers of state hospitals for the insane, with the amendments that were made last week to the bill in the assembly.

The Democratic members of the judiciary committee dissented from the report. They are Senators Grady, McCarren and Dowling. The principal amendment was the substitution of boards of visitors in place of boards of managers, said boards to report monthly and the members to receive expenses only.

Senators Slater and Elsberg, both Republicans, also dissented from the report of the judiciary committee on the bill. Both senators subsequently declared their intention of voting against the passage of the bill.

The assembly session was brief, with a breezy debate on Assemblyman Bennett's bill to regulate public dancing. The bill applies only to a concert hall near a cathedral in a street in his district in New York city. Assemblymen Dale, Ullman, Sulzberger and J. E. Smith of the minority attacked the bill. It was advanced, as was also these bills of importance:

Mr. Costello's, amending the labor law relating to tenement made articles.

Mr. Weeks', increasing to twenty-five years the penalty for assault with intent to kill.

A delegation of osteopaths have arrived in Albany to be present on the legislative field of action for the next few days in the interest of the Brackett bill regulating the practice of osteopathy. They will make a systematic canvass of legislators, and every senator and assemblyman will be personally asked to lend his support to this measure. The osteopaths believe that the time is now ripe to secure state recognition.

NEELY'S SHORTAGE.

Inspector Gregory Says It Amounts to Over $130,000.

HAVANA, Jan. 28.—The chief witness yesterday in the trial of the charges growing out of the Cuban postal frauds was Inspector Gregory, who testified to having come to Havana when the postal frauds were discovered to inspect the department of finance of the Cuban postoffice.

Gregory said that the accounts of C. F. W. Neely were examined from three different standpoints and that even with a credit to Neely of the 392,000 stamps destroyed there was a shortage in his accounts of $30,600, while with the exact amount debited against him by Washington and shown by the auditor's books there was a shortage of $100,813. Gregory said the cash account showed a shortage of $110,278 and estimated the total shortage at $131,413. Regarding the miscellaneous account kept by Neely, Gregory said he had discovered several charges the amount of which corresponded to certain private bills of Estes G. Rathbone which Neely had charged to this account and for which there were no vouchers.

Inspector Corcoran testified to having ordered the arrest of Neely in New York.

"SECRET TRUST" DISCLOSED.

Evidence Given In Patrick Trial Reveals Line of Defense.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The defense partially disclosed its hand in the trial of Albert T. Patrick when the first evidence was brought out of a "secret trust," which, they allege, accounts for Multimillionaire William Marsh Rice's action in turning over to Patrick every dollar of his vast estate.

The first mention of the secret trust came out during the cross examination of Detective Sergeant James F. Valley, who caused a sensation by admitting that Patrick had told him of the secret trust and that under it Patrick would not get one penny of Rice's property.

Valley said that he went to the autopsy to arrest Patrick and Jones in case evidence of violent death was found and that he did not make the arrest because there seemed no ground for the same.

Y., and the Eighth artillery corps band, also from Fort Columbus.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS

Senate Has Heated Debate on Philippine Matters.

ARMY OFFICERS TAKEN TO TASK.

General Wheaton's Criticism on the Action of Senate and Regarding President Schurman's Speech Declared Outrageous.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—An animated and prolonged discussion was precipitated in the senate yesterday over the right of army officers to criticise utterances made in the senate or elsewhere on the conduct of affairs in the Philippines. At times it became somewhat acrimonious, officers in the Philippines being taken sharply to task for statements attributed to them in dispatches from Manila.

Rising to a question of privilege early in the session, Mr. Dubois (Ida.) had read an Associated Press dispatch from Manila in which General Wheaton was quoted as criticising some utterances of Professor Schurman in a speech delivered in Boston. Mr. Dubois thought the president, in the circumstances, would be warranted in reprimanding General Wheaton for his criticisms. He declared that any comment upon the action of the senate was "outrageous and indecent" and that the minority had had quite enough of threats and blackmail.

The debate thus precipitated took a wide range. Mr. Lodge (Mass.), Mr. Spooner (Wis.) and others maintained that no newspaper utterance ought to be accepted as the basis of a reprimand of any officer unless it was supported by an investigation indicating the accuracy of the report.

Rising to speak to the pending question, Mr. Money (Miss.) delivered an extended speech, in the course of which he went pretty thoroughly over the whole Philippine question.

Mr. Platt (Conn.) took sharp issue with the Mississippi senator on some of his conclusions of constitutional law, contending that the United States could not be expected to grant independence to the Filipinos and to relinquish all rights in the islands merely because of the natives' desire for liberty.

The senate in executive session received the treaty with Denmark, transferring the West India possessions of that country to the United States. The exact consideration specified in the treaty to be paid by this country is $5,000,000. The senate ratified the extradition treaty with Servia and the trademark treaty with Guatemala. Senator Cullom, as chairman of the committee on foreign relations, first explaining that both treaties were after the usual patterns in such cases and had been favorably passed upon by the committee.

Connecticut Inventors Lead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The commissioner of patents has submitted to congress a report of the business of his office for the year ended Dec. 31, 1901. During the year there were received 43,973 applications for mechanical patents, 2,361 applications for design patents, 115 applications for reissues of patents, 2,410 applications for registration of trademarks, 1,064 applications for registration of labels and 233 applications for registration of prints. There were 27,292 patents issued, including designs; 81 patents reissued, 1,928 trademarks registered, 878 labels and 159 prints. The number of patents that expired was 19,147. The report shows that in proportion to population more patents were issued to citizens of Connecticut than to those of any other state, one to every 1,198.

Danish Islands Are Divided.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The St. Thomas (D. W. I.) correspondent of The Daily Mail declares that opinion in the matter of the transfer of the ownership of the islands is extremely divided, the higher classes being against the shopkeepers and artisans and in favor of the sale of the islands to the United States. On the island of St. Croix feeling is also high. Here the majority of the planters favor the sale, but the public generally is against it.

COMING EVENTS.

January 28—Union Bible class of Rev. D. M. Stearns at Y. M. C. A. Hall at 2:15.

"WHO KILLED COCK ROBIN?"

As a distinguished citizen of New Jersey remarked the other day "little things are the turning points of history." The phrase is peculiarly applicable to the situation at the Republican senatorial caucus last week. On the nineteenth ballot the battle between the rival forces, composed of the friends of Dryden and Stokes, respectively, reached its height, and one solitary vote decided the interesting contest. It clothed one man with a senatorial toga and defeated the ambitions of another.

Whose vote was it that caused this shifting in the wheel of fortune? Generally throughout the State people will say that it was that of Senator Cross, of this county, although from various sections comes the answer that this or that man's vote caused the change. Can it not just as well be attributed to Assemblyman Newcorn's vote? The Plainfielder was generally believed to be an avowed supporter of Chancery Clerk Edward S. Stokes. In the Union county delegation in the lower house, he alone supported the Cumberland man, Hall and Miller having espoused the cause of Dryden at the outset.

For the first two ballots, Mr. Newcorn stood by Mr. Stokes and then when his name was called on the next ballot he changed, giving his vote to Mr. Dryden. To his friends and the politicians generally in this city this unexpected move on his part came as a surprise, not that all were chagrined at the change but rather that the majority believed that he would support Stokes as long as the battle waged. Had be continued as he started, who can say what the result might have been. Would it not be within the range of probability that Mr. Stokes would have been the choice of the caucus? Especially so when it was openly declared by Senator Wakelee and Assemblyman Holden that they would change their tactics and vote for Stokes the moment Cross should shift to Dryden. By Mr. Newcorn's standing loyal to Stokes, the single vote added to the Dryden column by Cross would not have elected him. On the contrary it would have resulted in two more votes for Stokes, which would have been sufficient to elect the Cumberland man.

Again, with Mr. Cross the aspect of the situation was different. He had promised his support to Griggs. To quote his own words, he stayed with him "just as long as there was any possibility of success." When the attempt to land the former Attorney General proved futile, he says "then I did what my friends have for weeks been asking me to do." His change was logical, and was counted upon by many in the joint caucus. Why then, should the honor of electing Dryden be bestowed upon the Union county Senator. Wouldn't it be just as fair to say that Assemblyman Newcorn's vote decided the contest?

It is Captain Keily now, but his friends declare that it will be Chief Kiely after the next regular meeting of the Common Council. That body is depended upon to take the part of a degree team, and "raise the chief." The National organization of police chiefs meet at Washington in the near future, and it would not be amiss to send the local head of the department in the full regimentals of a chief. Although he is rather stout in build, there's no danger of anyone mistaking him for Devery.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, has asked the fire and water committee of the Common Council to purchase additional hose. Some contend that the material on hand in the department is sufficient. No one ever heard of a fire department being too good; but lives and fortunes have been lost by a poor service. Better purchase the hose and be on the safe side.

The friends of reform, in New York, seem to think that the fact is that the administration is suffering with an attack of pneumonia. The Metropolis has become so diseased with moral rottenness that it will take some time before it recovers. Be patient, the subject is already showing signs of convalescence.

The people of Germany are advocating government control of the steamship lines. Railroads have been managed by the authorities in the War Lord's country for some time past. Government ownership is rapidly gaining a foothold on the continent as well as in the British Islands.

When doctors disagree, what's to be done? On Sunday a Baptist clergyman, in Trenton endorsed Higher Criticism, and on the same day a Plainfield pastor, of the same denomination, denounced it. It would be an uninteresting world if everybody agreed.

The mere application of a coat of whitewash did not improve the condition of the borough jail to any material extent. It is a foul smelling place, and the sooner other quarters are obtained for the purpose the better.

It is reported that all together there have been 120 cases of small-pox at Hackettstown. The result thus far has been four deaths. Plainfield is blessed. Only four cases and no fatal results.

Pierpont Morgan has called down Schwab for gambling at Monte Carlo. Why shouldn't the president of the American Steel Corporation be compelled to confine his operations to Wall street?

The Liberty Bell is receiving marked attention from the girls since its advent at Charleston, South Carolina; but there's really no cause for the southern beaus becoming envious.

"Histories make men wise," says Francis Bacon. From a National stand-point it might also be remarked that they sometimes make trouble.

There is talk of reducing tariff on beet sugar as a blow to the trust. That'll be a sweet morsel in the mouths of the sugar magnates.

It's lucky that base ball is out of season. "Glass arms" might easily be caused by vaccination.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

In "A Summer Journey to Brazil," a comparatively new book by Alice R. Humphrey, the subject of direction in travelling is spoken of in this quaint way. "Many people who 'loved geography when they were young' have still no realizing sense of the reversal of the seasons south of the equator, and do not know how interesting a voyage they might easily make if they went 'up and down in the world' instead of going around it."

Of the very few who have indulged in this purpendicular journeyings are Henry M. Humphrey and family, of Hillside avenue, and Mrs. Humphrey has given the impression of her travels in this book full of charm and interest.

Figures Never Lie.

The following letter shows the strange results of a little figuring by a mathematical woman:

January 10, 1902.

To the Editor:—I see by the advertisement of None Such Mince Meat in your columns that the makers state, with pardonable pride, that last year they sold 10,000,000 packages, which made 20,000,000 mince pies—two pies to the package. This led me to do a little calculating on my own account with this remarkable result:

Allow that each pie was only one inch thick, and pile 20,000,000 pies on top of each other. The result is a column of pies 315 miles high.

It means that there were eaten thirty-eight None Such pies every hour, twenty-four hours a day every day last year.

Allowing ten minutes to eat a pie, it would take thirty-eight men, eating continuously day and night for the whole year, to consume them.

Certainly None Such Mince Meat must have thousands of hungry and faithful followers. Your truly,

Mrs. J. E. Cummings.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. Randolph.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

HAD ITS FIGHT OUT.

Pickerel Waited Until Kimble Went and Killed a Deer.

Then the Old Walloper Made Things Lively for His Human Antagonist, But in the End Was Ignominiously Vanquished.

"The biggest pickerel I ever caught," said Jack Kimble, of Panpack, Pa., to a New York Sun correspondent, "waited to have its fight out with me while I went and killed one of the biggest doe deers I ever saw, although I didn't want to kill the doe. I had to.

"It was over on Big Pond, in Palmyra. George Killam and I were fishing through the ice. One of my tip-ups had tipped with a vim that only a big fish could put into a tip-up, and the minute I grabbed the line and began to haul in I knew the boss pickerel was on the hook.

"Big pickerel like that are apt not to stay on the hook a great while, and if you want to land 'em you don't want to give 'em much time to dally with the hook, and at the same time you want to be mighty careful how you haul 'em up from below and out of the hole in the ice.

"I didn't give this fellow any more time than I thought was necessary for him to get a good hold on the hook, and I was hauling him up without any delay in the hauling. I had got him where I could see him surging in the water and doing his best to get loose, and his jaws stood open like an alligator's.

"'Gosh'mighty!' said I. 'He's the daddy of 'em all.'

"Just then I heard something that I hadn't expected to hear, but I knew instantly what it was. It was the plaintive bleat that a doe deer gives when in horror or pain. I forgot about the big pickerel. I dropped the line, and it went whizzing back through the hole in the ice.

"I looked in the direction from which the cry of the deer had come. A quarter of a mile away, near the upper edge of the pond, I saw the doe. She was a big one, and was struggling on the ice with three hounds, which had chased and captured her.

"I started on a run toward the deer, hoping to get to her in time to rescue her from the dogs and save her life, but although I got there in very quick time, and clubbed the dogs off of the doe, they had injured her so badly that I had to kill her. The season for legal killing of deer was over, but neither George Killam nor I could see any good reason why we should let that nice fat lot of venison, although we had to kill it against our will, lie there and be feed for dogs, so we took it ourselves.

"HE'S THE DADDY OF 'EM ALL!"

"'Those infernal dogs,' said I to George, 'have cost me the landing of the boss pickerel of Big Pond,' for I hadn't the slightest idea that the pickerel would stay on the hook and wait to have the fight out with me.

"Consequently, when I got back to my tip-up and saw it still in the air, I was considerably surprised, but when I took hold of the line to haul it up and got a jerk that almost pulled me into the hole, I could hardly believe it could be. A second jerk, though, woke me up.

"'George,' I hollered, 'blamed if he hain't waited for me!'

"I took up the fight where I had left it, and by and by had the old walloper out on the ice, where he tried his best to get at me and snap his jaws on me, until I knocked him in the head with an ax.

"Now, to say a pickerel weighed nine pounds may not seem very big, but in a country where, if a fellow catches one that weighs three pounds he will walk ten miles to tell about it, a nine-pounder is more than a whopper. And that is what this one that waited to have its fight out with me until I went and killed a deer weighed—nine pounds."

Lizards Change Their Color.

The common lizard changes its color like the chameleon. It will become black after remaining upon black soil for about half a minute, but upon an old-fashioned wooden fence the animal soon assumes the motley gray hue of a weather-worn rail. Upon a green leaf the same lizard will take on a greenish tint.

Kansas farmers are feeding wheat to their cattle. It is said that in the absence of profitable fields for investment for grain-sale money they are holding their wheat for better prices.

MORE EVIDENCE.

It is Coming in Rapidly in Plainfield.

Evidence on the following subject will prove of interest to every Plainfield reader. So many people go through the same experience daily. This public statement should be proof positive to every wavering doubter. Read it carefully.

Mr. George S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of R. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Manufacturing Company, says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would soon pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment, by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

NOT A WILD WEST STORY

A traveling salesman for Liebig's Beef Extract Co. says: "I am a Westerner by birth, a Californian, but my statement about Ripans Tabules is not a wild and woolly West story. I started out from San Francisco about ten months ago, and have been on the road for my company from the Golden Gate to New York City, thus having an opportunity to see and hear what people talk about and what concerns them. One theme of conversation seems to be Ripans Tabules, and you hear Ripans, Ripans at every spot and place. People not only talk about them, but buy them, and the demand everywhere for Ripans Tabules is simply astounding. As a traveling man I have to contend with changes of air and water, and what is more demoralizing to the digestive apparatus, changes of cooking. As a result my stomach will sometimes rebel. This never lasts long though, for when I have a disagreeable feeling coming on I take Ripans Tabules and they never fail to give relief. I am never without one or more of the indispensable little 5-cent cartons. Traveling men nearly all fortify themselves with as many Ripans cartons as they can carry comfortably when starting out on a trip, for on the road it is sometimes a bother to obtain them when most needed. 'Have a Ripans Tabule' is the common salutation among the genial and hospitable 'boys' on the road, for a Tabule is a much more acceptable gift than a cigar or a cocktail, particularly in a case of need. The cartons are such neat, handy little things they can always be carried in the vest pocket."

WANTED—A case of bad health that R-I-P-A-N-S will not benefit. They have helped thousands and will help you. One gives relief. Note the word R-I-P-A-N-S on the package and accept no substitute. R-I-P-A-N-S 12 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

OVERTRIMMED SKIRTS.

French Models Lately Imported Are Covered With Frills.

All the newest skirt models show much trimming and ornamentation. A favorite model is made with three gored flounces edged with applique or irregular velvet dots. The first ruffle reaches half way down between the waist and the knee. The second reaches a little below the knee, and the third forms the fullness at the bottom of the skirt. For tall and slender women there are skirts laid in tiny ruffles from the waist down. These ruffles are edged with narrow applique of lace. Accordion plaited skirts are also very stylish, and they have for sole trimming rows of narrow velvet or appliqued figures of lace.

Draped effects are appearing on many of the French models, but the draping is very slight and conforms to the lines of the figure. There is a perceptible increase in the fullness of skirts around the bottom, and this is probably to go with the rapidly increasing size of sleeves.

The black broadcloth costume in the illustration is one of the most stylish models of the season. The jacket is made blouse fashion and is double breasted, fastening with two rows of jeweled buttons. The high collar and wide revers are of chinchilla. The sleeves are full and are gathered into a stitched band of the cloth. The flaring cuffs are edged with the chinchilla. The skirt is made very simply, with a stitched band heading a gored flounce.

The smart hat is of the chinchilla trimmed with a bird of paradise.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

EVENING CLOAKS.

Many of Them Show Oriental Effects.

Evening coats, many of them, show an oriental effect. This is caused by the wide, baggy sleeves, the straight bands of fur and the rich linings. Persian applique finds place on many of them. Another favorite trimming is on the medallion order and is composed of ovals of painted or figured chiffon, lace, etc.

The evening coat in the cut is made of black peau de soie, laid in tiny perpendicular tucks. There is a wide flounce about the bottom, and this flounce is ornamented by clusters of four horizontal tucks. The garment is fastened by means of jeweled chains and buttons. The sleeves have a wide flare and are finished by rolling cuffs of ermine. The wide collar and lapels are also of ermine. The lining is of flowered silk in pompadour colorings.

The hat which goes with this is made of ermine and black velvet and is trimmed with two bunches of velvet chrysanthemums. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHAPTER VI.

I flatter myself that I am a man who is not easily disconcerted, but for the second time that day I was completely taken aback. I had watched that cab so closely, had followed its progress so carefully, that it seemed impossible Hayle could have escaped from it. Yet there was the fact, apparent to all the world, that he had got away. I looked from the cab to the cabman and then at my own driver, who had descended from his perch and was standing beside me.

"Well, I wouldn't have believed it," I said aloud, when I had recovered somewhat from my astonishment.

My own driver, who had doubtless begun to think that the sovereign I had promised him was in danger, was inclined to be somewhat bellicose. It appeared as if he were anxious to make a personal matter of it, and in proof of this he sternly demanded of his rival what he had done with his fare.

"You don't think I've ate him, do yer?" asked that worthy. "What's it got to do with me what a fare does? I set 'im down, same as I should do you, and now I am on my way 'ome. Look arter your own fare, and take him 'ome and put him ter bed, but don't yer a'come abother in' me. I've done the best day's work I've ever 'ad in my life, and if so be the pair of yer like to come into the pub here, well, I don't know as I won't a stand yer both a two of Scotch cold. It looks as if 'twould kind a' chear the guvner up a bit, seein' as how he's dis'pointed like. Come on now!"

If is one of my principles, and to it I feel that I owe a considerable portion of my success, that I never allow my pride to stand in the way of my business. The most valuable information is not unfrequently picked up in the most unlikely places, and for this reason I followed my own Jehu and his rival into the publichouse in question. The man was visibly elated by the good stroke of business he had done that night, and was inclined to be convivial.

"'E was a proper sort of bloke," he said as we partook of our refreshment. "'E give me a fiver, 'e did, an' I wishes as 'ow I could meet another like 'im every day."

"They do say as how one man's mutton is another man's poison," retorted my driver, who, in spite of the entertainment he was receiving, visibly regarded the other with disfavor. "If you'd a give us the tip, I'd 'ave 'ad my suvering. As it is I don't take it friendly like that you should a' bsked us."

"Yer can take it as yer darned well please," said the other, as he spoke placing his glass upside down on the counter, in order to prove beyond contradiction that it was empty. I immediately ordered a repetition, which was supplied. Thereupon the cabman continued:

"When I 'as a bit of business ter do yer must understand that I does it, and that no man can say as I doesn't. A gent gets into my keb and sez he: 'Drive me until I tell yer to stop, and go as fast as yer can,' sez he. 'Take every back street yer know of, and come out somewhere Hoxton way. I'm not partic'lar so long as I go fast, an' I don't git collared by the leb that's after us. If yer help me to give 'im the slip there's a five-poun' note for yer trouble.' Well, sez I to myself, this is a proper bit of business and there and then I sets off as fast as the old 'orse cud take us. We turns up Southampton street, and you turns up after us. As we was agoin' down 'Enrietta street I asked him to let me 'ave a look at his five-poun' note, for I didn't want no Bank of Fashion or any of that sort of truck shoved into me, you'll understand. 'You needn't be suspicious, cabby,' sez he. 'I'll make it suverings, if you like, and half a one over for luck, if that will satisfy yer?' When I told him it would, he give me two poun' ten in advance and away we went again. We weren't more than 'arf a mile away from here—thank ye, sir, I don't mind if I do, it's cold drivin'—well, as I was a sayin' we wasn't more than 'arf a mile away from here, when the gent he stands up and sez to me: 'Look here, Kebby, turn the next corner pretty sharp, and slow down at the first bye-street you come to. Then I'll jump out.' 'Right yer are, guvnor,' sez I, and with that he 'ands me up the other two poun' ten and the extry half-suvering. I fobbed it and whipped up the old 'oss. Next moment we was around the corner, and a-drivin' as if we was a trying to ketch a train. Then we comes to a little side street, an' I slows down. Out 'e jumps and down he goes along a side street as if the devil was arter him. Then I drives on my way and pulls up 'ere. Bilked you were, guvnor, and I don't mind sayin' so, but business is business, and five poun' ten ain't to be picked up every day. I guess the old woman will be all there when I get 'ome to-night."

"That's all very well, cabby," I said, "but it's just likely you want to add another sovereign to that five-pound ten. If you do I don't mind putting another in your way. I tell you that I want to catch the man I was after to-night. He's as big a thief as ever walked the earth, and if you will help me to put my hand upon him, you'll be doing a service, not only to me, but to the whole country at large."

"What is it you want me to do?" he asked, suspiciously. "He treated me fair, and he'll take it mean of me if I help you to nab him."

"I don't want you to do anything but to drive me to the side street where you put him down. Then you can take your sovereign and be off home as quick as you like. Do you agree?"

He hesitated for a space in which a man could have counted 20, and then set his glass upon the counter.

"I'll do it," he said. "I'll drive yer there, not for the suvering, but for the good of the country yer speaks about. Come on."

I gave my own man his money, and then followed the other out to his cab. He mounted to his box, not without some help, and we presently set off. Whether it was the effect of the refreshment he had imbibed, or whether it was mere elation of spirits I cannot say, the fact, however, remains that for the whole of the journey, which occupied ten or twelve minutes, he howled vociferously. A more joyous cabman could scarcely have been discovered in all that part of London. At last he pulled his horse to a standstill, and descended from his seat.

"This 'ere's the place," he said, "and that's the street he bolted down. Yer can't mistake it. Now let's have a look at yer suvering, guvner, and then I'll be off home to bed, and it's about time too."

I paid him the sum I had promised him, and then made my way down the narrow street, in the direction Hayle had taken. It was not more than a couple of hundred yards long, and was hemmed in on either hand by squalid cottages. As if to emphasize the misery of the locality, and perhaps in a measure to account for it, at the further end I discovered a gin-palace, whose flaring lights illuminated the streets on either hand with brazen splendor. A small knot of loafers were clustered on the pavement outside the public, and these were exactly the men I wanted. Addressing myself to them I inquired how long they had been in their present position.

"Best part of an hour, guv'ner," said one of them, pushing his hands deep down into his pockets, and executing a sort of double shuffle as he spoke. "Ain't doin' any harm 'ere, I 'ope. We was 'opin' as 'ow a gent like yourself would come along in the course of the evening just to ask us if we was thirsty, and wot we'd take for to squench it."

"You shall have something to 'squench' it, if you can answer the questions I am going to ask you," I replied. "Did either of you see a gentleman come down this street, running, about half an hour or so ago?"

"Was he carrying a rug and a bag?" asked one of the men, without hesitation.

"He was," I replied. "He is the man I want. Which way did he go when he left here?"

"He took Jim Boulter's cab," said another man, who had until a few moments before been leaning against the wall. "The Short 'Un was alookin' after it for 'im, and I heard him call Jimmy myself. He tossed the Short 'Un a bob, he did, when he got in. Such luck don't seem ever to come my way."

"Where is the Short 'Un, as you call him?" I inquired, thinking that it might be to my advantage to interview that gentleman.

"A-drinkin' of his bob in there," the man answered. "Where d'ye think ye'd be a-seein' 'im? Bearin' 'isself proud like a real tort, and at closen' time they'll be chuckin' 'im out into the gutter, and then 'is wife'll come down, and they'll fight, an' most like both of 'em'll get jugged before they knows where they is, and come before the beak in the mornin'."

"Look here," I said, "if one of you will go in and induce the gentleman of whom you speak to come out here and talk to me, I would not mind treating the four of you to half a crown."

The words had scarcely left my lips before a deputation had entered the house in search of the gentleman in question. When they returned with him one glance was sufficient to show me that the Short 'Un was in a decidedly inebriated condition. His friends, however, deeming it possible that their chance of appreciating my liberality depended upon his condition being such as he could answer questions with some sort of intelligence, proceeded to shake and pummel him into something approaching sobriety. In one of his lucid intervals I inquired whether he felt equal to telling me in what direction the gentleman who had given him the shilling had ordered the cabman to drive him. He turned the question over and over in his mind, and then arrived at the conclusion that it was "some hotel close to Waterloo."

This was certainly vague, but it encouraged me to persevere.

"Think again," I said; "he must have given you some definite address."

THE RACE PROBLEM.

Strange Ethnological Condition of Affairs in Louisiana — White Population Gaining on the Negroes.

[Special New Orleans Letter.]

CONTRARY to general belief the white population of Louisiana is gaining over the negro population. The whites are multiplying more rapidly, and the negroes are increasing only in a small relative per cent.

This is a strange revolution of the races! Louisiana has for nearly 100 years been "black," to use a local expression. This colored majority was about 100,000, but, within the past ten years, the whites have been gaining and the negroes relatively decreasing, and the whites are now about 80,000 in the majority. This increase is not because of the immigration of whites to this state, so much as it is to the greater per cent. of the deaths of the blacks. The death rate in New Orleans, and in other cities of the state, is about 24 negroes in 1,000, and only about 17 whites to the 1,000. In the country the percentage of blacks is about 20 blacks, against about 15 whites to the 1,000 inhabitants. These figures are somewhat alarming to the white planters of the state, who look far ahead into the labor market. The principal cause of this decrease of negroes, in proportion to their numbers, is their ignorance of sanitary laws, and the indifference to those laws by the few who do understand them. As a rule, the negroes rarely send for a physician when ill. They resort to the old family methods of curing by herbs, and physicking by old women. Many of them resort to the laying on of hands, and curing by faith. This is more in practice than is generally known. They refuse all aid of the plantation physician, and resort to voodooism, and the casting out of the "evil spirit." They believe that half of their ills are due to being "bewitched" by an enemy. No argument can influence them, and when they sicken they die, unless the voodoo doctor can throw off the spell.

The use of cocaine, especially by the women, is another cause. The use of this drug has spread very extensively within the past few years, and even the children are addicted to the habit. The excessive and increasing use of whisky is another cause of the decline of the negro in Louisiana. Within the past few years saloons have multiplied largely. The colored districts in the cities are thickly dotted with groggeries, and one is found at every crossroads, and on nearly every large plantation. In the cities the decimation of the blacks is particularly shown in the negro quarters, and it is also shown that crime is on the increase in those districts. It is the same in the country. While the negro population is smaller than the white population, at least two-thirds of the crimes are committed by negroes. This is mainly due to the use of whisky. The negro is usually peaceful and docile. While a large number of negroes have, within the past few years, migrated to the northern cities, the main causes of decrease of their number, relatively, are as stated above. The lower part of the state, notably the "German coast," which was largely inhabited by rich sugar planters before the war, furnishes a striking example of the decrease of the negro population. For many years after the war this was the "black district" of the state, and it is perhaps the most healthful section of Louisiana, but near access to New Orleans, and the multiplicity of saloons on the "coast," has had its effects. In the "hill" parishes of the state the whites are not gaining so rapidly over the negroes as they are in the lower portion. The saloons are as numerous, proportionately, but the sanitation is better than in the cities, and the smallpox is not so prevalent. This disease flourishes most among the negroes, especially in the colored districts of the cities.

The migration of negroes from the rural districts to the cities is also causing the planters much concern. The negro has learned that some people live without working, and he thinks that it is easily done, just as do some youths who leave the farm for the city, where they have read of people making fortunes in big speculations. This migration is partly filled by white people settling in the country parishes, but they farm on their own account. The planter must look elsewhere for labor. This migration of the negro also affects the landowner who has subdivided his large plantation and rented it in tracts to the colored farmer. He must now look elsewhere for tenants. By this migration and decrease from other causes the planter and the large landowner are no little concerned over the situation. The acreage is reduced, and the number of small farmers has decreased within the past year from these causes. The white farmers are taking steps to decrease this migration by giving even better terms to their colored tenants and better wages to their day laborers. This decrease naturally affects the labor market, and the profits of the white farmer. They also discourage all acts of lawlessness by mobs, for when one lynching occurs it demoralizes an entire neighborhood. In the rural districts, where officers are few compared to the population, life and property are as a rule poorly protected, and where there are a number of saloons there is always more or less trouble between the worst element of the negroes and whites. But the better element of both white and colored discourage this warfare, as it unsettles labor conditions and keeps alive a spirit of race hatred. For underneath the surface there lies that feeling in the negro that he was wronged of his liberty by his white master, and his descendants have inherited that feeling. This is human nature. The white man believes in the superiority of the Caucasian race, and while he is willing to accord to the colored man his rights under the law he draws the color line of equality there.

The negro population of the slaveholding states at the beginning of the war between the states was about 4,000,000. It has increased about 100 per cent. While the white population is increasing from immigration, as well as from natural causes, the negro population, at least in this state, is now keeping pace with the white people. This furnishes a subject for ethnologists, and for the labor statisticians. The inequality in numbers is small, comparatively, at present, but it seems, from the conditions at work, that it will grow larger within the next few years, and, in the course of a generation, the labor conditions of the south will assume quite a different phase, and the race problem may cease to be a disturbing issue. There are causes at work which only students of economics may fathom, or discern, by reasoning from cause to effect. It is also argued by those who have studied the negro question of the south, that he is retrograding morally, or, rather, that there was more religion among the 4,000,000 negroes of slavery days than there is now in double that number. While a slave, the negro was required by his master to attend church. There was an upstairs "gallery," or corner downstairs for the negroes in the white neighborhood church, and the slave had the same religious instruction that his master had. While the negro was not taught to read, and it was punishable by law to teach him, it was not considered that it was necessary to educate him in order to Christianize him. There was very little whisky drinking and lawlessness among them. They could not get the whisky, and had little opportunity to leave the plantation. This may be considered negative goodness. Small acts of lawlessness were punished by the master. The negro of to-day is a great church-goer also, but how much of his religion is on the surface, and how much is genuine, he alone knows. He "gets" religion in an emotional manner, perhaps. It may not last long, but it is effective while it does last, and for that he is entitled to credit.

While the cotton area has been decreased by the migration of negroes from this state, the white farmers are now giving more attention to truck farming, and since the recent building of railroads in north Louisiana this industry has become profitable. The farmers can get their produce to market more readily, and thus get almost enough ready money to support the farm. The railroads have given an impetus to this industry, and not only garden product for the cities is being more generally planted, but the farmers are turning their attention to fruits. Until a few years ago they considered cotton as king, and planted little of anything else. Several failures of crops reversed the olden-time belief in this staple.

FILLED IMPORTANT PLACES

GOVERNOR MURPHY SENT TWO NOMINATIONS TO LEGISLATURE.

Justice Garrison Reappointed to Supreme Court Bench, and Wanser Major-General.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 28—Governor Franklin Murphy forwarded to the Senate, last evening, two important nominations. They were those of Justice Charles Grant Garrison, of Trenton, to be a justice of the Supreme Court for the full term of seven years, and Brigadier General P. F. Wanser, of Jersey City, to be major general of the State National Guard. The former is a re-appointment. General Wanser is to succeed the late Major General Sewell.

Judge Garrison has served fourteen years on the Supreme Court bench. He was born in Swedesboro, this State, in 1849, and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania as a physician. After practicing medicine in his native town until 1876, he entered the law office of Samuel H. Gray, now attorney general, at Camden. He was appointed judge advocate general of New Jersey in 1884, and four years later was nominated by Governor Green to the Supreme Court bench for the full term of seven years to succeed the late Governor Joel Parker. In 1895 he was reappointed by Governor Werts for another full term.

General Wanser became a member of the New Jersey National Guard when it was organized in 1869, and rose from private through the several grades to brigadier general. In 1892 he achieved a notable political victory by being elected mayor of Jersey City over Allan L. McDermott, the present Democratic Congressman from the old Eighth Congress District. General Wanser is the postmaster of Jersey City and is about forty-eight years old.

SMALL-POX IN PRISON.

Senator Cross' Bill to Provide for the Emergency.

Senator Cross has introduced a bill in the Legislature which provides that the time of prisoners sentenced to any of the State institutions, who are unable to enter, owing to the existence of contagious diseases at the institution, will begin to run immediately.

The necessity of such a bill has been found since the State prison has been quarantined on account of small-pox. In a number of jails throughout the State there are prisoners who have been sentenced to terms but who are compelled to wait until the quarantine has been raised.

There are no prisoners detained in the jail at Elizabeth on this account, but there are several who will no doubt be sent to Trenton very shortly.

To Open New Series.

In order to comply with many applications for stock, the directors at a meeting of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association, held last evening, decided to open a new series March 24. The first, second and third series of this association have now matured and all stockholders have received their money.

FIGHT FOR STATE TREASURER

SENATOR REED'S FRIENDS CLAIM HE WILL GET IT.

Somerset County Man Will Have Majority in Upper House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 28—The State Treasurership fight is engaging the attention of the legislators and politicans, it being second in importance to the election of the United States Senator, which takes place tomorrow. Frank O. Briggs, the ad interim appointee, of this city, and State Senator Charles A. Reed, of Somerset county, are the rival candidates for the office.

The friends of Senator Reed claim that he will secure a majority of the seventeen votes in the upper house, and this claim is conceded by the Briggs people. Very few of the senators are counted upon as favorable to the Trentonian. It is said that the local opposition to Mr. Briggs has been withdrawn, and that the Mercer county delegation will be free to vote for him. It is hardly likely, however, that he will secure the solid delegation. James C. Coe, of Bergen county, has loomed up as a possibility. Essex county is said to be reckoned upon as in opposition to Reed

Some of the more enthusiastic friends of Mr. Briggs claim that he will have enough votes in the lower house to insure his election, but this prediction is not taken soberly by the more astute politicians. A wild rumor was started the other day to the effect that the legislature would be compelled to choose a treasurer tomorrow. The only constitutional provision is that when any vacancy is filled by the governor the commission expires at the end of the next session of the legislature, unless a successor be sooner appointed. It is expected that the fight will continue for at least another week.

LITERARY.

The publishers of "The American Boy," have secured from Will Levington Comfort, who was the youngest newspaper correspondent in the Philippines at the time of the death of General Lawton, an exciting story based upon fact, relating the experiences of the youngest correspondent in General Lawton's army. The hero of the story was the first of the newspaper correspondents to cable to America the news of the death of General Lawton at the hands of the insurgents. By an almost superhuman effort the boy correspondent, who was with the army at the time of the shooting, made his way through the enemy's country to the cable office and flashed the news to America three hours before the other correspondents got possesssion of the cable. It was a notable achievement on the part of a boy. The story begins in the February number of "The American Boy."

Scribner's Magazine for February contains discussions of the greatest national importance; short fiction by clever writers, beautirully illustrated; several art articles; an instalment of F. Hopkinson Smith's serial of artist life in New York; and poems by Winston Curchill, Edith Wharton and others. There are four short stories in this number. Henry James returns to the field in which he as won his best success—the contrast of a certain type of American girl with a phase of the old civilization of England. "Flickerbridge" is delighted in its satire and play of humor—with unusual characters. A new writer of short stories appears in this number. "Crowned with Glory and Honor" is written by Mary R. S. Andrews. It is a pathetic sketch of a young West Pointer's romance. Cyrus Townsend Brady, who as archdeacon of Kansas witnessed one of the rushes of settlers into Oklahoma, tells a most dramatic tale, with the "rush" as a main incident. Christy illustrates it. Francis Lynd contributes a railroad story illustrated by E. B. Child.

VACCINATION AT SCHOOLS.

Started Yesterday and Continued Today—Few Being Treated.

The free vaccination which was commenced yesterday in the schools is progressing favorably, although it has been learned that many children have been treated by family physicians. Yesterday Dr. N. H. Probasco and Dr. VanHorn vaccinated fifteen at the Whittier School, and Dr. T. H. Tomlinson and Dr. Rolland Tomlinson treated four at the Bryant School.

This morning Dr. Tomlinson vaccinated seven in the Lincoln School, while Dr. N. H. Probasco and Dr. VanHorn treated fifty-four at the Irving School. The children in the Franklin School will be attended to tomorrow, those at the Washington School Thursday and those at the Wadsworth School Friday.

Lecture Tomorrow Evening.

The illustrated lecture on Japan will be given by Tamaoki, the Japanese, who resides in this city, at the Camera Club rooms tomorrow evening, instead of this evening, as previously announced.

Images of the Moon.

Some night when the moon is at its full and the air is free from haze go outdoors with a hand mirror and hold it so that the moon's image will fall on it. Make the experiment preferably when the moon is well up in the heavens. Instead of seeing one image, as you will expect, you will see four. One of these images will be very bright, but the other three will be dull, like unburnished silver. They will be in a straight line, one of the dull images on one side of the bright image and two on the other side of it. Turn the mirror slowly around and the images will appear to revolve around a common center. The explanation of this queer little phenomenon may be found in the fact that there are two surfaces in a mirror, one in front and the other in the back, where the quicksilver is. The brightest of the images is from the moon itself; the others are what are known as secondary images, reflected from the front to the back of the mirror, and thence to the eye. A similar experiment may be made with the planets Venus, Jupiter and Mars, or with any of the first magnitude stars, such as Sirius, Capella, Arcturus, Vega and Antares. The planets and the stars, however, make only three images, the number of images depending on the breadth of the object. A perfectly clear night is essential.—Detroit News-Tribune.

A Scrap in Art.

"I'm no kicker, and I mind my own business," said the old man with the red face as he sat down in the car, "but there are things that put me out. I was just in a secondhand store where the man had a figure of Ajax defying the lightning, and he was trying to sell it to a woman for Patrick Henry delivering his great speech before congress."

"And you mixed in, of course?" queried the one addressed.

"Of course. Could I stand by and see art debauched in that fashion? Yes, sir, I mixed in."

"And the secondhand man?"

"He also mixed in. He claimed to be a full-sized figure of Samson tearing down the temple, and he threw me over a bedstead, rolled me over a lounge and flung me up the basement steps. Think of it, sir—a man like that dealing in art in this, the twentieth century!"—Boston Globe.

Sunshine a Soporific.

No sirup of poppies, no tincture of opium, no powders of morphine, says one of the medical journals, can compare in sleep-producing power with sunshine. The worst soporific is laudanum and the best is sunshine. Therefore it is easily understood that poor sleepers should pass as many hours in the sunshine as possible. Many women are martyrs and do not know it. They shut the sunshine out of their houses, they wear veils, they carry sunshades, they do all that is possible to keep off the subtlest and yet most potent influence which is intended to give them strength and beauty and cheerfulness.—Science.

Gone on the Game.

Mrs. Brassie (to husband, returning from the stock exchange in state of desperation)—Why, my dear, what is the matter? Something terrible has happened, I know.

Mr. Brassie—It is useless to attempt to conceal it from you, love; I am ruined.

"Is that all, dear? Why, from your horrible depressed appearance I was afraid you had been beaten at golf."—Richmond Dispatch.

GREAT NETWORK OF TROLLEYS FOR JERSEY

How the Systems in North and South Parts of the State Are to be Connected.

PLANS FOR THE FUTURE.

TRENTON WILL BE THE CENTRE OF RADIATING LINES.

Will Connect With the Lines in Eastern New Jersey—Third Rail System to New Brunswick Soon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 29—With the incorporation of the Delaware Valley Traction Company, the opening of spring will see the beginning of enterprises which will connect Trenton with hundreds of towns and villages in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

One of the first lines to be built is the Newton and Yardley, which will connect the Yardley, Morrisville and Trenton Railway with the Newton Street Railway, which has a line extending from Bristol to Doylestown, twenty-seven miles. The completion of this link and the link from Doylestown in Perkasie will place Trenton in direct touch with the whole Eastern Pennsylvania system. The Yardley, Morrisville and Trenton and the Newton and Yardley roads are controlled by the Lehigh Valley Traction, and this will afford a direct line to the Lehigh Valley from tidewater. The Lehigh Valley Traction has under construction a line from East Bangor to Portland, in Northampton county, Pa., and when completed it will be possible to go from Trenton to the Delaware Water Gap by trolley, nearly 100 miles, and all over the Lehigh Valley Traction's lines.

The Trenton, Lawrenceville and Princeton Railroad is also controlled by the Lehigh Valley Traction, and will be extended into the city within the next few months. The extension into the centre of Princeton will be finished within sixty days, and when spring opens plans will be formulated for its continuation toward Bound Brook or New Brunswick.

The Camden and Trenton, the Delaware Valley Traction and the Mercer County Traction are all headed that way, too.

The Delaware Traction, which is backed by a Baltimore syndicate, will build a line from Trenton to Pennington and another to Hamilton Square and Robbinsville, near Hightstown. The same management also controls the Philadelphia, Bristol and Trenton Passenger Railway, which will be extended from Bristol to Morrisville, opposite Trenton, during the summer. The same interests are also in control of the Morrisville Passenger Railway, which possesses the unique distinction of having sixty feet of track laid, on the ground sought by the Pennsylvania Railroad for an approach to its Delaware bridge, and over which it is expected there will be a legal battle.

The Camden and Trenton has the right to run through the streets of Trenton. Extensions on these streets will be completed in six months. This will make a direct line to Camden and connect there with all the South Jersey lines.

It is said that the Trenton and New Brunswick Railroad Company, which is chartered to build a line from Trenton to New Brunswick, to be operated by the third-rail electric system, has succeeded in borrowing $1,000,000 on bonds, and will begin construction inside of three months. It is probable it will run across to Plainfield, and from there to Morristown, or some other point on the proposed Northern Counties Railroad, which is to cover the upper part of the State.

The Trenton Street Railway Company has under construction a line from the courthouse to the lower Delaware River bridge, and this will afford what is practically a second line to Morristown.

The New Jersey and Pennsylvania Traction, recently incorporated, proposes to construct lines in all parts of the city of Trenton and give a three-cent fare, with unlimited free transfers. The company is a protege of the Lehigh Valley Traction, and has a capital of $1,000,000. Franchises will be asked soon. Rights of way have been obtained on several of the streets, and enough are now secured to assure the company of being able to reach the centre of the city from the connections with the Trenton, Lawrenceville and Princeton,

MONEY IS GONE.

James Burke, Hay Carter, Can't Find His Money and His Former Companions Who Had Left.

James Burke, a hay carter, residing on Plainfield avenue, reported to Sergeant Frederickson at 3 o'clock this morning, that he had been relieved of $80 while sleeping in the Elizabeth station of the New Jersey Central last night.

The robbery was committed, he declared, by Howard, or "Doc" Doty and another man, both from this city. The men were about him when he fell asleep, he said, and when awakening, they had left. He felt for his money and found it gone. The matter was also reported to the Elizabeth police.

Doty is the man who skipped town a short time ago after being released from police headquarters in the custody of his counsel. He is wanted on a charge of fast and reckless driving.

WANT NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

ONLY WAY TO SOLVE BOROUGH EDUCATIONAL PROBLEM.

Remarkable Increase in Attendance at Public Schools Must be Provided For.

The growing need of more school accommodations in the borough is seriously engaging the attention of the North Plainfield Board of Education. When the schools opened last fall, the attendance surpassed all records and some children had to be turned away temporarily. As soon as possible temporary quarters were engaged to make room for some of the smaller pupils, but still the regular quarters were cramped. New teachers had to be engaged to take charge of the additional classes.

Immediately the proper committee of the board set about to hunt up permanent quarters for the overflow.

After a thorough search the committee has accomplished nothing.

Some arrangements have been made by Superintendent Wightman whereby all may receive instruction but only at great inconvenience. Now comes the cry for another school building. Both structures in the borough are commodious and substantial, and it is claimed have answered the purposes well.

One prominent boroughite advocates erecting a building on the High School lot, facing on Vine street. There he says may be found ample space for a large structure, which might form an annex to the Somerset street building.

In order to carry out this project, said he, it would be necessary to call a special school meeting for the purpose of allowing the citizens to pass upon the matter. If they favor the proposition the cost of erection may be met by an appropriation voted by them, and work on the structure could begin at once. He believes that if this were done it would remove all inconveniences by fall, for when the time arrives for the children to return to their studies after the summer vacation, the annex would be ready for occupancy.

The standard of the schools in the borough, he says, is considered high and a reputation for thorough training has been made. It would reflect much credit, he concludes, if the people insisted upon the erection of another building.

WM. WATT WEDDED.

A Prominent Somerville Business Man Takes a Wife.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 29—At 8 o'clock last night in St. John's P. E. church, William Watt, a prominent business man of this place, and Miss Lena A. Mann were made husband and wife by the rector, Rev. Harrison B. Wright. The couple were attended by the groom's brother, Thomas Watt, and wife. Only immediate relatives were present. The bride wore a handsome gown of brown.

A reception followed at the beautiful apartments that had been fitted out by the groom. Some very pretty gifts of cut glass and silverware were received.

Designs of the Goat.

Some time ago J. Hervey Doane took a picture of "Miss Calanthe," the Pythian goat. Recently, F. C. Lounsbury, of the Crescent Embossing Works, had a plate made and has several pretty designs of embossed work with the goat attired in her lodge regalia.

Entertained Her Friends.

Miss Shotwell, of West Ninth street, entertained a number of friends at her home, Saturday evening. Several hours were spent in a social way.

POPULAR YOUNG FOLKS WEDDED LAST EVENING

Miss Evalene B. Searing and Theo. E. Burroughs Married at Bride's Home.

A PRETTY CEREMONY

AN INFORMAL RECEPTION WAS HELD AFTER THE CEREMONY.

Those Who Accompanied the Young Couple—Charming House Decorations—Will Reside in Plainfield on Their Return.

A pretty home wedding, uniting in marriage two popular young people of this city, took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus V. Searing, 70 Westervelt avenue, when their daughter, Miss Evalene Barnes Searing, became the wife of Theodore Edward Burroughs, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burroughs, of 326 East Fifth street.

The happy event was celebrated at 6:30 o'clock in the presence of the members of the immediate families. Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbtyerian chruch, officiated. Owing to the limited room at the home invitations to the ceremony were few, but a reception followed at which there were nearly seventy-five guests present.

The home was attractively decorated with smilax, palms, hydrangeas and pampas grass. In one corner of the parlor there was a pretty arrangement of smilax and a wedding bell of the same. This was studded with small incandescent lights of varied hues. In the hallway along the stairway there was arranged the pampas grass and hydrangeas. The electric part of the decoration was the work of A. V. Searing, Jr.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine. She wore a veil with orange blossom adornment and carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Jessie MacKillop, as maid-of-honor, who was gowned in white with trimmings of ribbon and lace. She carried pink roses. The best man was Frank Urian, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom received the hearty congratulations of all. From 8 until 10 o'clock a reception was held during which time Mr. and Mrs. Burroughs were showered with best wishes. While the reception was being held refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. After all had been given an opportunity to congratulate the bride and groom they left the scene of festivities for the wedding journey in the south. Upon their return they will reside for a short time with the groom's parents prior to their beginning housekeeping.

A large collection of handsome and useful presents, including a valuable heir-loom, were received by the bride. This heir-loom was a full tea set, a gift to the mother of the groom when she was married. Other gifts included furniture, glass, silver and goldware, pictures, bric-a-brac and chinaware.

The bride and groom are both active members of the First Presbyterian church and are identified with nearly every department of work there. The groom is a valued employe of the Manhattan Electric Supply Company, of New York, and both he and his wife have a host of friends. At the reception there were guests present from Hempstead, L. I., Brooklyn, New York, Westfield and Plainfield.

Settled With Trolley Co.

Hetfield & Hetfield, counsel for John L. Force, of Westfield, have effected an amicable settlement in a suit for damages brought by their client against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central New Jersey Street Railway Company. Mr. Force injured an ankle while stepping from a car at Westfield in December last.

Few to be Vaccinated.

The Borough Board of Health has discontinued the free vaccination treatment. Six persons were treated yesterday afternoon by Drs. Pittis and Dundon, in the Council chamber. It is thought that the small number of applicants presenting themselves for treatment does not warrant the board in further continuing the practice.

Finishing Touches.

Workmen are now engaged in finishing the work at the Smalley building on North avenue. When the building first occupied there yet remained a few things needing attention. It is this work that is now being done.

FORMAL VOTE FOR SENATOR

John F. Dryden Formally Chosen U. S. Senator at Joint Session.

WAS HELD THIS NOON.

The Vote Was Taken in the Two Houses of the Legislature Yesterday—Met in Joint Session Today and Announced the Result.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 29—John F. Dryden, of Newark, was formally declared elected to a seat in the United States Senate at the joint session of the upper and lower houses today, and is now privileged to be sworn in at Washington at such time as he may select. Senator John Kean will present the credentials of his colleague to the President of the Senate some time this week, it is expected.

By a strict party vote, the Senate and House of Assembly here at noon, yesterday, declared him to be the choice of the majority, and at noon today the journals of the two branches of the legislative body were compared and the election was duly ratified in joint session. The yesterday vote stood: Senate—Dryden, 17; McDermott, 4. House—Dryden, 46; McDermott, 14.

Assemblyman Bachellor named Dryden in the House and McCarter in the Senate, while McDermott was named by Assemblyman Hammill and Senator Gebbhardt. Hammill's speech was rewarded with applause from both sides of the house. Generous tributes were paid to the memory of General Sewell by both of the Republican nominators.

The State Republican leaders will accompany Senator Dryden to Washington and will witness his installation as the junior representative in the upper house of Congress. It is said that an effort will be made to change the seat of power, which has been belonged to Camden, to Newark, the home of the senator-elect.

PROGRESSIVE HEARTS.

Last Evening's Attraction at the Park Club Attracted Many There.

Progressive hearts were the attraction at the Park Club last evening, and as usual, a most pleasant evening was spent by the members and their friends. There over fifty guests present, all taking part of the games. There were four prizes, which were awarded to those securing the lowest number of points. Miss Elsie Brokaw and Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Jr., won first and second prizes for the women, their tallies being 25 and 28. Elliott T. Barrows and F. O. Ball were awarded the first and second prizes for the men, their tallies being 21 and 29.

After the game refreshments were served and a social time followed. The affair was given under the auspices of the entertainment committee of the club and was in every particular a success.

LOST WHILE DRUNK.

Such Was Lacey's Defence to the Charge of Larceny.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 29 — Yesterday Jacob Lacey, of Lambertville was arraigned before Justice William R. Sutphen on a charge of having purloined $20 worth of Thomas Richards' clothing. Lacey was employed by Gatson & Richards, who have the contract for the repairs the New Jersey Central is making at Manch Chunk, and Richards says he gave Lacey the clothes to take there, but he never showed up with them. Lacey claims he was intoxicated and left them on the train. He was held for the Grand jury.

Keep Away From Washington.

According to a new order issued by Postmaster-General Wilson all postmasters, as well as letter-carriers, clerks and attaches of postoffices are strictly forbidden to visit Washington for the purpose of securing legislation in their behalf. Upon the conviction for such an act the employe is liable to removal.

To Change Location.

George Richter, the Somerset street barber, will shortly remove his shop from its present location to one several doors below. In connection with his tonsorial work he will conduct a cigar store and pool room.

THINGS POLITICAL ARE BEGINNING TO MOVE

An Election is Drawing Nigh in North Plainfield and There is Talk of It.

IT'S RATHER EARLY YET

LIKELY THAT ROBERT CLARK, JR., WILL BE RENOMINATED.

Not Anxious to Go Back, But Administration Wants Him—Some Democratic Possibilities For Councilmen.

It's a little early for the game yet, but a political contest is due in the borough, Monday, March 10. The cards haven't been shuffled, of course, and it is hard to predict at this time just how things stand. At any rate there will be two vacancies in the Council to fill, for the terms of two of the present members expire in March. These men are Robert Clark, Jr., and S. S. Swackhamer.

Mr. Clark has excellent chances of being renominated, even against his will. It is well known that this conscientious member of that body is adverse to continuing in office after the expiration of his present term, but his services are so valuable that it seems improbable that he will be allowed to decline a renomination without a strong protest. He is the present head of the street committee, and the general opinion appears to be that the borough will suffer by his retirement.

Should Mr. Clark consent to run again there will be but one other name to be placed on the Republican ticket. Who will be selected is a pure matter of conjecture. Several names have been suggested, but the administration is said to favor only such men as will be able to devote a share of their time to the interests of the community. The present trouble seems to be that the time of the "commuter" members is too much taxed by other affairs, and consequently the borough is made to suffer, as matters are delayed frequently.

It is improbable that Mr. Swackhamer will receive a renomination from the minority party. He is the 'lone star" representative of the Democrats at the present time, and has not taken much interest in the proceedings of the councilmanic body. In fact he seldom attends the sessions, possibly by reason of lack of spare time. This will make it imperative for the Democrats to choose two men for their ticket.

Among those who have been mentioned as desirable men to represent the Democratic party are A. J. Winckler, of Park place; John Becker, of Somerset street; Frank Krewson, of Summit avenue; and Andrew Love, Sr., of Duer street. With the present Republican majority it is not likely that the Democrats will be able to land a man in office, but it is considered that there is a fighting chance, provided good men are named.

Injured in Explosion.

Among the guests at the Murray Hill Hotel in New York, which on Monday sustained such a great shock from the explosion of dynamite in the subway near, were Mrs. Louise Worthington and her daughter. Miss Laura Worthington, who formerly resided in Plainfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Keep, of Brookline, Mass., who spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Keep's sister, Mrs. John H. French, of West Seventh street.

Ready for Business.

Health Inspector William Addis recently had an excellent photograph taken representing him in his contagious disease regimentals. This comprises a rubber outfit, coat, hat, gloves and boots, with an arrangement for protecting the face. Of course, Mr. Addis does not take any unnecessary risks in going about, but when called upon he is thoroughly protected by his suit.

Nearly An Accident.

Not understanding the brakeman's signal, the engineer of a drill engine continued forcing a train of freight cars along the siding at Boice, Runyon & Company's yards, yesterday afternoon. The end car climbed the abutment and stopped only when it overlooked Park avenue. It was returned with some difficulty.

ROAD BUILDERS IN SESSION

R. A. MEEKER CHOSEN SECRETARY OF STATE ORGANIZATION.

Annual Meeting of New Jersey State Association of County Engineers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 29—The road builders of New Jersey met in this city yesterday afternoon. It was the annual meeting of the New Jersey State Association of County Engineers, the meeting being held at the Road Commissioner's office here.

James Owen, of Essex county, the president of the organization, was in the chair. In the course of his remarks he said that the State had passed through the missionary stage so far as good roads are concerned and now it is a matter of refinement. The education of the people concerning roads is complete. Now the sole question is that of methods. The kind of stone, size, manner in which it should be applied, and the kind of binder, are the problems.

Many diverse views were expressed and this added interest to the discussion. The talk could not be completed and it will be taken up at the next meeting, which will be on the third Tuesday in May.

The officers selected are: President, James Owen; vice president, J. J. Albertson, of Camden county; secretary, State Supervisor R. A. Meeker, of Plainfield; treasurer, Joshua Doughty, Jr., of Somerset county.

Dunham, of 325 East Fifth street, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jennie Andrews Quick to Archibald Harvey Derby, Tuesday afternoon, February 11, at 5:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents. The first day of the present term of the Union county courts, January 7, a meeting of lawyers of Union county was held at the Courthouse, Elizabeth, and preliminary steps were taken to organize a Bar Association. A committee was appointed to prepare a plan and report at an adjourned meeting to be held January 22.

On that day a very largely attended meeting was held. The plan reported by the committee was carefully examined, amended and adopted. According to the plan an incorporation consisting of seven members was formed, the seven members being Frank Bergen, Edward S. Atwater, Craig A. Marsh, N. C. J. English, George T. Parrot, Patrick H. Gilhooley and James C. Connolly. The incorporators met yesterday afternoon at Mr. Bergen's office at Elizabeth, all being present, adopted by-laws and organized.

It is the intention of the members of the Bar of this county who have taken the lead in organizing the association to make it an effective influence for the administration of justice.

FAMILY DEPARTED.

Oscar Green Said He Didn't Take Trouble to Look Them Up, Will Do So Hereafter.

Oscar Green, a waiter employed in a local restaurant, was the defendant in the city court, this morning, in a non-support case brought against him by Overseer of the Poor Ayres. The complaint was made on behalf of Mrs. Green who declared her better half had wilfully deserted her.

Oscar declared that he and his wife had lived together for sixteen years until a short time ago in perfect peace and harmony. On returning home from work a few evenings ago he found his wife had departed from their home on Manning avenue, taking the furniture and their five children. He never took the trouble to find where she was located and has since been keeping the even tenor of his way in single harness.

A little persuasion from City Judge Runyon resulted in Oscar's agreement to look after his family.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

"One sure outcome of the contest for the Republican nomination for United States Senator," says the Camden Courier, "would seem to be the nomination of Edward C. Stokes for Governor in 1904." This is as it may be. There is nothing sure in politics, and it is a far cry to 1904. The narrow margin by which Mr. Stokes was defeated for the Senatorship has unquestionably added to his present prominence as a State leader, but whether it has increased his actual strength is not so certain.

Unless the stories of the Republican caucus are all wrong, it was purely accidental that Mr. Stokes was second man on the decisive ballot. It is understood that the South Jersey members had agreed to take up the different candidates from that section in succession, but the action of Senator Cross in switching from Griggs to Dryden, upset the programme and gave Mr. Stokes an apparent strength, which, in fact, was largely fictitious.

Mr. Stokes may be the next Republican candidate for Governor, but to say that because he accidentally came within three votes of the nomination for United States Senator makes him the "logical candidate" to succeed Governor Murphy, is straining logic rather severely.—Newark News.

A new and formidable candidate for State treasurer has entered the lists in the person of ex-Mayor Hatch, of Camden. There are now four avowed candidates, the ad interim appointee, Mr. Briggs, of Mercer; Mr. Hatch, of Camden; Senator Reed, of Somerset, and James C. Coe, of Bergen. From this list, Senator Reed's name should be erased for various reasons, not the least of which is the fact that he is a member of the body empowered by law to elect a State treasurer. Senator Reed's election should not be considered as within the range of possibilities.

As far as known, any one of the remaining three would give satisfaction in the office. South Jersey puts in a claim to the place, because it failed to land the United States Senatorship. It is not improbable that this may be considered valid and reasonable, in which event the choice will lie between Messrs. Briggs and Hatch. The former has the advantage of possession, but this superiority is perhaps more apparent than real. In fact, both Briggs and Hatch are to some extent embarrassed by the fact that their aspirations interfere more or less with the plans of present officeholders of Mercer and Camden who are seeking reappointment.

The one essential that should be insisted upon is that the late Treasurer Swain's successor shall be a man of the same type of character. It is no place for a shifty and self-seeking politician.—Newark News.

LITERARY.

McClure's Magazine for February is one of the best all-around numbers its editors have got out The timeliness of the articles, their range of subject and the variety of short stories make it possible to read the number from cover to cover without monotony.

Two articles stand out for special notice as among the most opportune and readable magazine articles for the month—"Marconi's Achievement," by Ray Stannard Baker, and "Grover Cleveland," by William Allen White.

An article of much importance is Sir Harry Johnston's account of the pygmies of the great Congo Forest.

"Roberte Peary and His Campaign for the Pole" furnishes the subject for a capital article by Sturgis B. Rand, which is fully illustrated by photographs at Peary's summer camp at Cape Sabine. A splendid account is given of Peary's famous "white march" across Greenland by which was first established the insularity of that great frozen land.

The short stories are so good that it is hard to pick out any one for first mention. For every story the right illustrator seems to have been chosen.

In this number also is concluded Stewart Edward White's serial, "The Forest Runner."

THEATRICAL.

A programme which commands immediate attention, and challenges comparison, has been prepared for next week at Keith's Theatre, New York. The motto of the theatre, "The best show in town," but feebly expresses the magnitude of such a collection of famous vaudeville stars. Every artist of vaudeville who can boast of the distinction of being under contract to appear at Keith's, is undoubtedly the recognized peer in his particular line of amusement, and it is a fact that such a contract is the medal of superiority among the artists. Next week the great Rudinoff, distinguished entertainer, who has appeared before all the Royalty of Europe, will offer his novel performance, including artistic smoke pictures, bird imitations, and his wonderful Finger Shadows. Lillian Burkhart and her excellent company also appear; and R. J. Jose, the famous contra tenor, supported by fifty voices, will offer a grand revival of the popular "Song Sheet." The other stars include the three Dumonds, French musical grotesques; the famous Vaidis sisters; Fred Niblo, the star of monologue; the Onllaw trio; Joe Maxwell & Co.; Colville and Mc Bride; Kleist Bros.; Carson and Willard; Collins and Hardt, and the wonderful Biograph. Noon to 11 p. m., 50 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leland, of Hudson, N. Y., who have been spending a number of days in Plainfield, have returned home.

Child Worth Millions.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird, of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. L. W. THE PATRICK TRIAL.

Texas Lawyer Says Rice and Accused Man Never Met.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Captain James A. Baker of Houston, Tex., member of a law firm that for forty years was counsel to the late William Marsh Rice, an aged millionaire, whose murder Albert T. Patrick is accused of, was called as a witness yesterday at the trial of Patrick before Recorder Goff. Captain Baker said Patrick had been an attorney opposed to Rice in the litigation following bequests of millions by Mrs. Rice which Mr. Rice claimed as his property. Once Patrick offered Baker $350,000 to settle the litigation. The offer was spurned.

After Rice's death Captain Baker said he was astounded to find Patrick in charge of the old millionaire's affairs. He told Patrick that Rice had often expressed an intense bitterness toward him because of Patrick's part in the litigation.

The witness swore that to the best of his knowledge Rice and Patrick had never met.

Captain Baker at the afternoon session of the court said Patrick told him that he (Patrick) had met Rice through a newspaper advertisement and that they had reached an understanding and as a result the aged millionaire was to make Patrick residuary legatee of his estate, exacting a promise that Patrick would give part of the fortune to charitable institutions and exploit Rice's name as a philanthropist. Patrick said, however, that he was to get nine-tenths of the estate unconditionally, according to Captain Baker's story.

MRS. M'PHERSON'S WILL.

Executor Baldwin Will Not Settle With Dr. Muir.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Aaron S. Baldwin, executor of the estate of the widow of the late Senator McPherson of New Jersey and the principal beneficiary by the widow's will, states that he has received through counsel an offer to abandon the contest over Mrs. McPherson's will if an allowance of $5,000 a year was made to Dr. Joseph Muir, who was the husband of Mrs. McPherson's daughter, the late Mrs. Edla Muir. Mr. Baldwin said he had declined the offer on the advice of counsel and that he did not think he had any right to make a settlement. Mr. Baldwin said, "I told Dr. Muir when he called on me at my office in New York that I proposed to carry out the provisions of Mrs. McPherson's will regardless of consequences and that if he desired to contest the will he was at liberty to do so."

The will provides that Mr. Baldwin should have a salary of $5,000 a year as executor of the estate and manager of the stockyards business the estate includes and that if he survived Mrs. Muir he was to have the income of the estate for life. After his death $50,000 is to go to Christ hospital, Jersey City, $10,000 to the Emergency hospital, Washington, and the remainder to Yale university. The estate is worth about $1,000,000.

MACKINAC CITY, Mich., Jan. 29.—The car ferry Ste. Marie was trying to force a passage through the heavy ice in the strait from St. Ignace to this place and made good progress until within one and a half miles from her dock, when she became fast in the ice. She is probably disabled, as she is blowing signals for help. No crossing has been made since Sunday afternoon. The ice is piled and packed thirty feet deep in places. Large numbers of passengers are delayed on both sides of the strait, waiting for the steamer to cross. All trains are late.

ATE RAW DOG MEAT.

Captain Porter and His Men Delirious From Starvation.

A TERRIBLE TALE OF SUFFERING.

Full Particulars of Horrors of the Samar Expedition Not Yet Obtainable Owing to Leader's Prostration.

MANILA, Jan. 29.—General Chaffee curtailed his trip and has returned here. He says he found the conditions apparently satisfactory everywhere except at Samar, where continuous rain during the past two months has retarded the campaign, especially against such an elusive enemy.

The condition of Captain David D Porter's marines who took part in the expedition into the interior of Samar is much worse than previously described. They suffered fearful hardships and were without food for several days. The natives who accompanied the marines claimed they were unable to distinguish the edible roots, which the marines did not believe. The anger of the marines against the natives is intense. None of the latter returned with the marines.

The marines suffered so acutely from starvation that they ate the raw flesh of two dogs.

When Captain Porter and the first three of his men staggered into camp, they were delirious, and difficulty was experienced in ascertaining the whereabouts of their companions.

Williams of the First infantry headed the relief expedition in the face of a torrential rainstorm which flooded the rivers. He succeeded in reaching the remaining ten men, who would otherwise have certainly perished. He found them all delirious. Two of the men were discovered in the branches of trees barking like dogs. Some of the marines are so ill that they are not likely to recover.

General Chaffee has endeavored to obtain full details of the trip of the marines, but Captain Porter is not yet able to lucidly explain matters.

The expedition into the interior of Samar led by Captain David D. Porter of the marine corps numbered thirty-six men. It had been absent two weeks. The marines had been provided with rations for only five days. On Jan. 21 Captain Porter and twenty-six members of his party reached the coast of the island of Samar. The other ten men were missing, and little hope of their safety was entertained.

Major Lot and three Filipino lieutenants, with ten rifles, three revolvers and twenty-four bolos, have surrendered to Major Anderson of the Sixth cavalry at Lipa, province of Batangas. Lot was brought in sick on a litter. He was cordially hated at Lipa, where he looted $35,000 worth of jewelry from prominent families.

Nickerson's scouts have captured Colonel Lot, a brother of Major Lot near Batangas.

Lieutenant William L. Karnes of the Sixth cavalry has had a slight engagement with some Filipinos, during which he killed two insurgents and captured a captain and two soldiers.

The general outlook in Batangas province is decided favorable.

WILD DAY IN SENATE

Bitter Personal Attacks Made During Philippine Debate.

SHARP ADMONITION FROM THE CHAIR

Teller Compelled to Retract by Lodge—Tillman and Spooner In Wordy Warfare—Department of Commerce Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A Philippine storm was central in the senate chamber yesterday for nearly three hours, but was void of definite results. At times it looked very serious, and the spectators who thronged the galleries watched it with breathless interest.

Acrimony in senate debates is not infrequent, but old senators say it has been years since there has been such a hurricane of bitter vituperation, of personal taunt, of ugly charges and of unmodified criticism as was witnessed yesterday. Not since the discussion of the resolution leading up to the Hispano-American war have any scenes occurred in the senate comparable with those of yesterday. Even that debate lacked the personal bitterness manifested at times. Irritation was aroused on both sides of the chamber, and once or twice personal encounters between senators seemed imminent. Once when Senator Teller taunted the Republican senators by declaring they knew the statements made in a recent dispatch from Manila in which General Wheaton was represented as criticising the opponents of the government's policy in the Philippines were true a half dozen Republicans were on their feet in an instant. Senator Lodge, at whom the taunt seemed to be aimed particularly, hurriedly crossed from his seat in the center of the Republican side to the main aisle of the senate and, white to the lips, passionately challenged the statement of the Colorado senator and demanded that he withdraw it. Senator Teller so modified the statement that further hostilities at that time were averted.

One of the sharpest colloquies of the session was between Senators Spooner of Wisconsin and Tillman of South Carolina. The race problem, involving the lynching of negroes, was interjected into the controversy, and much feeling was manifested by both senators. In the course of the colloquy Mr. Spooner declared that if the same rule were to be applied to the colored people in the Philippines as Mr. Tillman referred to in the south then "God help the colored man in the Philippines."

"God help him in the Philippines now!" shouted the South Carolina senator passionately. "You have already butchered in three years three times as many as the Spaniards did in three centuries."

"It is one thing," retorted Mr. Spooner, "to kill men with arms in their hands against the government and against the flag. It is another to burn them."

Senators in their excitement seemed for the moment to have forgotten the subject of debate. The chair (Mr. Frye) was able with difficulty to maintain order. When the discussion finally was ended for the day, the chair felt called upon seriously to admonish senators that the rules of the body had not been observed, and after reading the rule which had been violated he expressed the hope that in the future senators would have a care to observe it. Such an admonition has not been made by the presiding officer of the senate in many years.

Prior to the outbreak on the Philippine question the senate concluded the consideration of the bill establishing a department of commerce and passed it. The name of the new department was changed to that of the department of commerce and labor.

Just before the adjournment of the senate yesterday Senator Spooner introduced a substitute for the Nicaragua canal bill. The new bill is a practical authorization to the president of the United States to choose between the Panama and the Nicaragua routes.

Pig Iron Production.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—The bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association says that the American Iron and Steel association has received from the manufacturers complete statistics of the production of all kinds of pig iron in the United States in 1901, also complete statistics of the stocks of pig iron which were on hand and for sale on Dec. 31, 1901. The total production of pig iron in 1901 was 15,878,354 gross tons against 13,789,242 tons in 1900, 13,620,703 tons in 1899, 11,773,934 tons in 1898 and 9,652,680 tons in 1897.

Summons For Jerome.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The row which occurred during the examination of witnesses of the subway explosion in the coroner's office culminated in the issuing of a summons by Magistrate Brann for District Attorney Jerome on complaint of John H. Murray, a coroner's clerk, who alleges that Jerome struck him. A statement was also made by three of the coroners, one of whom declared that the district attorney is a "paranoiac, a lunatic and is crazy."

Prince Henry Will Leave Quietly.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia has declined an invitation from the municipality of Bremen to attend a banquet upon the eve of his departure for the United States. The prince has declined other invitations to festivities proposed in his honor at Bremen, as he thinks it better to leave quietly and that any rejoicings can be made after his return.

THE MANCHURIAN TREATY.

Celebration of Chinese New Year Will Delay Signing.

PEKING, Jan. 29.—Governmental business will be practically suspended for one month on account of the Chinese New Year festivities.

While the Manchurian treaty is almost ready to sign, it probably will not be signed until after the New Year. Russia has not committed herself in writing to a reply to the written statement of the Chinese plenipotentiaries containing the objections of the latter to the treaty, but it is learned upon the highest authority that Paul Lessar, the Russian minister to China, has verbally conceded all China's objections to this treaty, excepting the Chinese demurrer to the prohibition of taking artillery into Manchuria without the consent of Russia. This appears to be a comparatively unimportant point, and M. Lessar is communicating with the government concerning it.

Russia insists that a new agreement with the Russo-Chinese bank be signed simultaneously with the Manchurian treaty. This new agreement, which it has been attempted to keep secret, with considerable success, is most important to the other governments, in that it gives Russia, through the Russo-Chinese bank, exclusive mining and other privileges. It is said that Russia will compensate herself through this agreement with the bank for her apparent compromise on the treaty.

Prince Ching in this connection says substantially:

"Russia has our territory. We have been compelled to buy it back, and we have made the best bargain we could, securing material reductions on Russia's original concessions."

The emperor will give an audience to the diplomatic corps here today, when the dowager empress will assume the position of de facto ruler. She will then meet the ministers for the first time officially, sitting beside the emperor and not concealed by a screen, as has heretofore been the custom.

Bogus Coins Disturb Ponce Traders.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Jan. 29.—Governor Hunt has cabled to the treasury department at Washington asking that an expert be sent here to settle the counterfeit question at Ponce, where $3,000 in bogus silver was recently seized. Business there is practically suspended. The merchants of Ponce are refusing to accept any silver coins of the dates of 1898, 1899, 1900 and 1901. The counterfeit dollars are poorly executed, but the alleged spurious halves and quarters defy detection. They are apparently of the full weight. The bankers here have examined samples of the silver from Ponce and say the coins are good. There are no experts here or at Ponce.

Admiral Schley In Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 29.—Rear Admiral Schley, who, under the chaperonage of the board of trade and the Knights Templars, will be Louisville's guest until Friday next, arrived here over the Monon road at 7:15 o'clock last evening. He was greeted by an admiral's salute and a shouting crowd of many hundreds at the depot. He was escorted to his carriage by the full committee representing his hosts and was driven to the residence of Marion E. Taylor, president of the board of trade. Here the admiral and Mrs. Schley spent a quiet evening. The trip from Chicago was one long ovation.

Teamsters' Strike Still On.

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—Everybody connected with the teamsters' strike is anxiously awaiting the outcome of the injuncton proceedings instituted against the union men by the R. S. Meantime the Brine company's teams are working under police guard.

GEORGETOWN, S. C., Jan. 29.—Ex-President Cleveland and party came up from the shooting preserves at Ford Point yesterday on the government launch Water Lily and left in their private car attached to the northbound train at 4:30 o'clock. TAX MEASURES DISCUSSED.

Krum Bill Severely Amended by New York Senate Committee.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—For several hours yesterday afternoon the senate committee on taxation and retrenchment deliberated on the two principal tax measures now pending in the legislature, the Krum bill taxing foreign corporations and the Stranahan mortgage tax bill. The Krum bill was amended in so many important particulars that little remains of the original measure.

The foreign corporation tax bill is amended so that domestic and foreign corporations, with the exception of transportation and transmission companies, are placed on the same footing. The organization tax for domestic corporations is reduced from one-twentieth of 1 per cent to one-fiftieth of 1 per cent.

The license fee for foreign corporations, which answers to the domestic corporations' organization tax, is reduced from one-eighth to one-fiftieth of 1 per cent.

The dividend tax on all corporations, excepting transportation and transmission companies, is wiped out entirely. In its place is a direct tax on the capital stock of one-tenth of 1 per cent on the first three millions, one-twentieth of 1 per cent on the next two millions, up to and including five millions, and $50 per million for the balance.

"In other words," said Senator Krum in explaining the amendments that had been made, "the provisions are substantially those in the New Jersey law, and I think they are exactly the same provisions."

THE TUNNEL EXPLOSION.

New York Officials Investigating. Loss Placed at $1,000,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—District Attorney Jerome is pushing his investigation of the explosion in Park avenue. Assistant District Attorney Rand is examining witnesses as rapidly as possible. So far as the investigation has gone it shows that it was dynamite that exploded and that the explosion was caused by a fire in the powder house. There was no other explosive in the house at the time.

The explosion was one of the worst catastrophes that has ever visited the city and will be put down as one of the calamities foremost in the destruction of property. Conservative estimates place the damage to property in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

That the death list is comparatively so small is matter for congratulation and seems hardly less than miraculous, for hundreds of people had the narrowest escapes from being killed outright.

The number killed outright was six. The number injured was 154, according to latest reports.

Captives Not Released.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The state department has received a dispatch from the United States representatives in Turkey regarding the case of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary held captive by brigands, and her companion, Mme. Tsilka. Its contents were disappointing, the captives not having been released, as was hoped would be the case from the manner in which the negotiations looking to that end had been progressing lately. Officials are averse to discussing the case freely, but it is understood the hesitation of the brigands in bringing the matter to a prompt conclusion is due to their distrust of the attitude assumed by the Turkish authorities. The ransom money demanded has not yet been paid.

Fatal Rochester Fire.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 29.—A four story brick building at 15 Caledonia avenue, occupied by the Rochester Machine and Screw company and W. H. Hutchison & Co., carriage trimmings, and the Brighton Manufacturing company, was totally destroyed by fire last evening. The loss is roughly estimated at between $50,000 and $60,000, practically covered by insurance. Eight firemen who were near the walls of the building when the roof suddenly fell in were buried under a mass of brick and iron and all badly injured. One of the men died a few minutes after his rescue from the mass of wreckage, and two others were taken out in a critical condition and may die.

Big Fire In St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 29.—At 9:45 o'clock last night fire broke out in the six story building in Washington avenue occupied by the L. Bauman Jewelry company, and in fifteen minutes the building was a roaring furnace from cellar to roof. A heavy wind was blowing, and the fire spread in all directions with great rapidity. At 10 o'clock the Lindell hotel, which is situated directly east of the Bauman building, caught fire, but was saved after hard work.

Stove Foundry Destroyed.

TROY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—The old Empire stove foundry has been destroyed by fire. The plant, which was one of the pioneers of the stove industry, has not been in active operation for a number of years. The building was occupied by several firms, including the Mount Ida Nickel works and the Hislop Scale works. The loss is $30,000; insurance, $25,000. Sparks from an emery wheel ignited a quantity of gasoline. An explosion resulted.

Postage Without Stamps.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Assistant Postmaster General Madden has forwarded to the house a draft of a bill or provision for incorporation into the postoffice appropriation bill to permit the payment of postage in bulk on large quantities of third and fourth class mail matter without stamps affixed.

CUBANS PLEAD CASE

Island Planters Before Ways and Means Committee.

FREE SUGAR IS STRONGLY URGED.

Powerless to Help Themselves Because Chained to Us by the Platt Amendment, Cubans' Welfare Rests With United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—At the Cuban reciprocity hearings yesterday before the ways and means committee delegations representing the beet sugar industry of Colorado and a number of Cubans representing the planters of the island were in attendance.

The first speaker was F. K. Carey of Colorado, who spoke of the bright prospects if not endangered by Cuban concessions which, he asserted, would redound to the great advantage of the American Sugar Refining company. The present movement, he said, was only another chapter in the inevitable conflict between the domestic sugar producers of this country and the refining company, the latter seeking to crush the former.

F. B. Machado, head of the delegation of Cuban planters, said in part:

"The Platt amendment, attached as an appendage to our constitution, chained the Cubans to this country to such an extent that we are powerless to help ourselves or to develop our internal life because the pathways for dealing with outsiders are closed to us. Therefore Cuba must starve if necessary without even the right to ask for relief.

"It has been said here that the Cubans have the cheek to knock at your door for alms like beggars. The Cubans will be eternally grateful to you for giving us our liberty even with the Platt amendment, but that does not mean we are eternally forbidden to come to you and that your final word has been said in Cuba. As we have no personality, at whose doors shall we knock?"

Mr. Machado spoke of Cuba as a military defense of the gulfs. Guns on Morro Castle were more effective than at the mouth of the Mississippi river, so that if the international interests of the United States ever required the American eagle to keep her claws there Mr. Machado asked if it was not a natural duty to look to Cuba's welfare and not her ruin.

The other members of the delegation of Cuban planters—George R. Fowler, Joaquin Piedra, Octavio Smith and Octavio Davis—were heard at the afternoon session, their statements being along the same general lines as those of Chairman Machado.

Commissioner Degetau, the representative of Porto Rico in Washington, made a brief statement to the effect that Porto Rico opposed the reduction of duty to Cuba as likely to be a menace to Porto Rico sugar exports. Already Cuba had placed a $12 duty on Porto Rico coffee, thus injuring that trade, so reliance was now placed in a continuance of the sugar trade.

Mr. Mendoza of the Cuban delegation made a rejoinder to Mr. Degetau, expressing surprise that Porto Rico should cast her influence against Cuba after Porto Rico had reaped all the benefits of the war which Cuba conducted.

"We had the fighting," said Mr. Mendoza, "and now they get free sugar to the United States on account of our war."

"We had no fighting to do," responded Mr. Degetau, "because we received the Americans with open arms."

W. L. Churchill of Bay City, Mich., chairman of the beet sugar delegation from that state, declared that the real issue was between the sugar trust and the domestic producers and expressed confidence that congress would not cast its influence on the side of the trust.

Passengers who have arrived here report having seen a steamer towing two vessels off Chorrera. The government has sent strong re-enforcements to resist any attack on Colon. General Pinto, with 3,000 men, has marched from Cali to Bogota to re-enforce the government troops at the capital.

The guests at the musicale numbered more than 200 persons, well known officially or in society.

COMING EVENTS.

January 28—Union Bible class of Rev. D. M. Stearns at Y. M. C. A. Hall at 2:15.

STREET SPRINKLING.

For another year at least, the work of sprinkling the city streets will remain in the hands of private corporations. After carefully investigating the subject, the members of the Councilmanic street committee have reached the same decision as did Mayor Rockfellow and a similar committee a few years ago. While the work can be done economically by the city, it will require such an increase in the tax rate that the members have decided against it.

No one doubts for a minute that it would be an excellent thing and greatly prolong their usefulenss if the macadamized streets of Plainfield could be sprinkled regularly. Heretofore, they have been watered only where the property-owners have been willing to bear the expense. Theoretically, it seems right and just that the work should be done by the city. It is expensive work, however, no matter how carefully it is done, and the cost to the municipal government would run up to a height that few realize.

While many people are willing to bear the cost of street sprinkling and paid some private individual or corporation for doing the work, a decided increase in the local tax rate, such as would be necessary to meet the expense of city street sprinkling, would undoubtedly call forth a decided protest. With the increased expenses of the Board of Health, the street committee has decided that it will be the best policy not to ask the tax payers to also bear the additional cost of street sprinkling.

This action was not unexpected by those who were interested in the previous examination and it will probably meet with the approval of a majority of the people, particularly the tax-payers who would have to bear the burden which, in many cases, is now cared for by the lessee of the property.

A number of newspapers throughout the State have opposed the candidacy of State Senator Charles A. Reed for the State treasurership on the ground that the office should be given to a member of that body, the Legislature, which has the selection of such an official. As this will be by no means the first time that a state senator has been appointed to a State office before his successor is elected, it would seem that the argument is not a strong one. By the time that the State treasurer assumes the reins of office, the session of the Legislature will be over and only the very unexpected, in the shape of an extra session, would make it necessary for the Senator to act in the dual capacity. In the latter event, it would be very easy for Mr. Reed to resign the senatorship and have it acted upon at the special session, whenever it is held.

Some one has done wrong and New York has just suffered from two terrible disasters in which many human lives have been lost and hundreds of others endangered. Each promises a reform in its particular direction. If only these reforms came before the calamity is needed to direct public attention in the desired way. These fatalities should be lessons to public officials to be constantly on guard against possible dangers which may threaten the public.

The hackmen at the North Avenue station continue to violate the local hack ordinance with impunity. There were several who openly solicited passengers right on the platform as they left the trains last evening. Either the ordinance should be enforced or the Common Council should amend the present one so that it can be observed.

The Elizabeth Board of Trade is preparing to awaken new life in that organization with the aid of a banquet. Prominent speakers are promised. It looks as if the attempt would meet with success as the merchants and business men of the county seat are responding liberally and promise to attend the function in force.

The nomination of Brigadier General Wanser as successor to the late William J. Sewell as major general of the New Jersey National Guard, was no surprise to the public. Gen. Wanser was the logical appointee and the honor accorded him was a deserved one.

The time will probably never come when the friends of a defeated candidate will agree as to how his defeat came about.

It is pleasing to note that the local building and loan associations are prosperous and doing well. It is a good sign.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

A few days ago a member of a certain family, in which there has been contagious disease, called at the office of the Board of Health to secure some disinfectant to use about the home. The quarantine had been removed a short time before. After the disinfectant had been supplied, the party asked if they might have the yellow card that had been used at their home. The request was granted, but an inquiry was made as to why it was desired. The party replied that it was wanted as a souvenir and intended placing it in a room at home among a collection of curios.

Stone Walk Wanted.

During the recent spell many complaints were made regarding the absence of a suitable stone walk on Madison avenue, between Front street and the bridge. The complainants say that other people are required to lay a walk and they do not understand why an exception should be made in this case.

WOULD CONTROL STOCK HERE

PLANS FOR A TRUST COMPANY FOR CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

Persistent Rumors Say That Such a Company Will Soon Be Organized Here.

Another institution, a trust company, is to be added to the features of this city, according to rumors which can be traced to responsible sources. It is declared that the proposed corporation will be in full operation in the spring, but the parties promoting the scheme will give out no definite information.

It is desired by those backing the movement to obtain as many subscribers to the stock in this city, as possible, so that the control of the institution will not be hampered with by outside parties. Already two locations are in view for the company's concern, and it is said that an option has been obtained on one of these. It will occupy a site in the business part of the city, for the convenience of the merchants, who will be able to draw interest on their deposits, whether they be subject to check or on time.

Trust companies are doing business in Morristown, Elizabeth, New Brunswick and Bayonne and all are said to be in excellent condition, receiving the support of the townspeople generally. The one in Elizabeth was only recently started. It was brought about by absorbing the First National Bank, of that city. Frank Bergen is the president of the institution, which is controlled by able business men. It is a similar sort of an institution that the Plainfield promoters are advocating at the present time, and from the statements of one of those interested in the scheme, it looks much as if it will become a reality.

Rehearsals of Orchestra.

The regular Y. M. C. A. orchestra rehearsal was held last evening. Instrumentalists are asked to attend the next rehearsal Tuesday evening of next week and on the same evening of each week thereafter.

Somerville, Jan. 29—The Somerville Board of Health, at its meeting last night, passed a resolution requiring the Somerville Board of Education to have the pupils of the public school vaccinated within one week. This precaution is taken because of the prevalence of smallpox in near-by towns.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

"Speaking about dreams," said the Boston insurance man, as he relighted the stub of his cigar, "I can't say that I do or do not believe in them. One night, during the palmy days of the Louisiana lottery, I dreamed that a certain ticket hit the capital prize. Two days later a friend showed me that very ticket and I gave him $25 for it."

"And hit the prize?" was asked.

"No, sir," didn't come within a mile of it."

"And have you any other instance?"

"I have. A year or two later I fell asleep in a hammock one day and dreamed that I was the biggest ass in America for dreaming that other dream."

"And did it turn out as you dreamed?"

"Waal, I have my wife's word for it every hour in the day, and so I guess it did. She wanted that $25 for a spring hat, you see."—N. Y. Sun.

The Compass and the Pole.

The north pole attracts one end of the needle of the compass and the south pole attracts the other. Therefore the needle points in the same direction whether one is north or south of the equator. The magnetic poles however, are not at the poles of revolution, but about 20 degrees from them. There are two of them in each hemisphere. Sir James Ross in 1831 found the principal north magnetic pole at a point above Hudson's bay, 70 degrees 5 minutes north and 96 degrees 43 minutes west from Greenwich. The secondary magnetic focus in the northern hemisphere lies in Siberia, about 70 degrees north and 115 degrees east from Greenwich. The south magnetic pole is at a point 73½ degrees south and 147½ degrees east from Greenwich, with a secondary focus at a point not closely determined. —N. Y. Sun.

Couldn't Surprise "Ma."

"Ma" had been imported from Michigan, where she had lived for 60 years, with the exception of one visit to "Deetroit" and one to York state. The importation of "ma" was for the sole purpose of making housekeeping easier.

It was incumbent upon the daughter and her husband to show "ma" Chicago and see her eyes bulge. "Ma" had other ideas, however, and refused to be impressed. The Masonic temple, the elevated railroad and the thousand and one contrasts to her simple country home did not arouse even an exclamation.

Finally, as a last resort, "ma" was introduced to a phonograph. The machine played band music and marches, and wound up with a tenor solo of some merit.

"Ma" was asked what she thought of that, and it was expected that she would be speechless.

"Well, it's pretty good, I guess," said ma, "but 'pears to me it would sound just as well if the man was in the next room."—Chicago Tribune.

A Royal Rip Van Winkle

King Otto of Bavaria, After Having Been a Maniac for Twenty-Six Years, Regains Health and Reason.

THE ways of Providence are indeed inscrutable. Iconoclasts of every age and country have denied, with vituperation and vehemence, the possibility of miracles, and yet every day God works wonders that are beyond the comprehension of the human brain. Twenty-five years ago Prince Otto of Bavaria became a raving maniac and had to be confined in the castle of Fuerstenried. He imagined himself to be either a dog or a pig, would not allow himself to be touched and lay for days on the floor kicking his heels. His clothes were never changed until they fell to pieces. In the few semi-lucid intervals of his life he was the victim of acute melancholia, at others of homicidal mania. Disease in its most loathsome form took hold of him, and his physical collapse seemed inevitable.

ONE OF THE BAVARIAN PALACES OWNED BY KING OTTO.

And now comes the startling news that the miracle has been performed. Otto, for a quarter of a century a filthy animal and worse than a leper, has reawakened to sanity and health, and may demand to be placed on the royal throne of Bavaria, to which he succeeded in 1886, upon the death of his erratic brother, the unhappy Ludwig II. Fortunately for the powers that be, Otto is not conscious that he is king. Twenty-six years of history are missing from his knowledge. He asks after his mother, Lucie Marie, and King Ludwig, both of whom, of course have long been dead. What will happen when the true state of affairs is broken to him, how his frail mind will bear the shock, is not easy to predict.

Certain it is, however, that should his recovery be permanent, Otto's title to the crown cannot be withstood; and the aged Prince Luitpold, who has been regent since 1886, will have to retire. Prince Luitpold, whose eightieth birthday was recently celebrated with increased enthusiasm, is the king's uncle. He commenced his regency as the best-hated man in Bavaria, but has discharged the duties of his high office so admirably that suspicion has given place to confidence and esteem. He is a great believer in national unity and has frequently declared himself as a German prince first and a Bavarian ruler afterward. On the other hand, Otto, before losing his mind, bitterly opposed such an acknowledgment of Bavarian inferiority and expressed genuine hatred for Prussia.

In view of this condition of affairs the question arises whether the Bavarian court and ministers will care to assume the responsibility of intrusting the throne to their titular king and take the chances of open rebellion against the federation at whose head stands Emperor William, backed by the armies of a mighty nation. Whatever may happen, Bavaria will not be allowed to secede from the German empire, even if she has to be forced back as the seceding states were forced back into the American union.

Should the Bavarian ministers decline to make a dynastic change, the kingdom would, on Prince Luitpold's demise, pass to his son Ludwig, who is described as an ideal royal personage, possessed of an immense private fortune, which he uses for charity. He is married to the Archduchess Austria-Este-Modena, who is the head of the elder line of Stuart, and who, the White Rose leaguers of England claim, should now be queen of England. She is descended from Henrietta Mary, the eighth daughter of Charles I., while the late Queen Victoria was descended from a daughter of James I. Their eldest son, Prince Rupert, also a charming gentleman, in the ordinary course of events would have become king of Bavaria, but the awakening of the royal Rip Van Winkle suggests other and more serious possibilities, among them civil war and its attendant terrors.

Russia Now Controls Manchuria

Muscovite Intrigue and Aggressiveness Triumph Over British Diplomacy and Protests of the Powers.

RUSSIA has a voracious appetite. Forty years ago she began to feed on Chinese territory and ever since she has eaten out of the same platter. The construction of the Trans-Siberian-Manchurian line of railroad, which virtually will connect St. Petersburg with the Pacific coast, and the Boxer uprising of 1900 have furnished her with sundry excuses for invading the rich Chinese province of Manchuria and taking possession of a number of prosperous island and seaport towns. Great Britain employed the skill of her most distinguished diplomats to frustrate Russia's ambitious plans, but instead of tying the hands of the Muscovite government the representatives of the London foreign office really forced the dismemberment of China's northernmost province. A year ago northern China was in a state of anarchy. From the Amur river town of Blagovestchensk down to the port of Newchwang life and property are at the mercy of rebellious Manchus and Boxers. While the international forces were occupying Tientsin and Peking, the Russian Cossacks, under command of Gen. Gribsky, occupied every strategic point along the Amur river. The invasion was preceded by what is now known as the massacre of Blagovestchensk, on the north banks of the river. The Chinese brigands, always the bane of that country, had become bold and daring beyond precedent. Russia, on her side of the Amur, viewed the disturbances with pleasure, and when reports reached St. Petersburg that attacks had been made on several railroad stations in Manchuria, Gen. Gribsky was instructed to act on the offensive. Fearing that the Chinese residents of the town might side with their compatriots on the other side of the river, they were routed out of their houses one morning, shot or felled, if they made any resistance, or, fleeing to the river, drowned. Not less than 4,000 persons perished in the carnage, which preceded the virtual occupation of Manchuria by Russian troops.

By bribery and threats the Russian officers won over scores of local governors and magistrates, arranged for the collection of maritime customs by officials wearing Russian uniforms and for the issuing of passes on the Korean and other frontiers by Russian officials.

In order to make her hold on the seacoast more secure, Russia has built a modern town called Dalny, on the site of the ancient village of Talienwan. The modern city is complete in every detail, has harbor, public buildings, church, fort, roads, public gardens and boulevards. The only thing it lacks is inhabitants; but such advantages have been offered to prospective citizens that Dalny, which is to be one of the terminals of the Siberian-Manchurian road, will soon be a point of importance. The treaty port of Newchwang, situated a few miles from the new town, although open to other powers, is in reality a Russian harbor, and has been ever since last year's troubles when a Russian general assumed its governorship.

However much the "galled jade" may wince, poor Madame Britain cannot dislodge Russia from Manchuria without revolutionizing tradition which has it that the bear never releases the prey upon which its paws have once been laid.

Sleeplessness
is a terrible affliction. The most common cause of it is some form of indigestion. Ripans Tabules positively cure indigestion. They do not act like opiates, producing an unnatural, immediate effect, but gradually exert an influence over the nervous system, which results in ready sleep, sound and refreshing.
"I am glad to give my testimonial in regard to the great worth of Ripans Tabules," writes a middle-aged lady, living in Philadelphia, Pa. "I slowly recovered from a severe illness and was getting along very well, only I could not sleep, which kept me from gaining strength. A friend advised me to take Ripans Tabules, which acted like a charm, giving me refreshing slumber and also renewing my strength. I was also troubled with dyspepsia, and found to my great surprise that as my strength returned I was cured of this disease also."
WANTED.—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., 10 Spruce St., New York.

OVERTRIMMED SKIRTS.

French Models Lately Imported Are Covered With Frills.

All the newest skirt models show much trimming and ornamentation. A favorite model is made with three gored flounces edged with applique or irregular velvet dots. The first ruffle reaches half way down between the waist and the knee. The second reaches a little below the knee, and the third forms the fullness at the bottom of the skirt. For tall and slender women there are skirts laid in tiny ruffles from the waist down. These ruffles are edged with narrow applique of lace. Accordion plaited skirts are also very stylish, and they have for sole trimming rows of narrow velvet or appliqued figures of lace.

Draped effects are appearing on many of the French models, but the draping is very slight and conforms to the lines of the figure. There is a perceptible increase in the fullness of skirts around the bottom, and this is probably to go with the rapidly increasing size of sleeves.

The black broadcloth costume in the illustration is one of the most stylish models of the season. The jacket is made blouse fashion and is double breasted, fastening with two rows of jeweled buttons. The high collar and wide revers are of chinchilla. The sleeves are full and are gathered into a stitched band of the cloth. The flaring cuffs are edged with the chinchilla. The skirt is made very simply, with a stitched band heading a gored flounce.

The smart hat is of the chinchilla trimmed with a bird of paradise.

EVENING CLOAKS.

Many of Them Show Oriental Effects.

Evening coats, many of them, show an oriental effect. This is caused by the wide, baggy sleeves, the straight bands of fur and the rich linings. Persian applique finds place on many of them. Another favorite trimming is on the medallion order and is composed of ovals of painted or figured chiffon, lace, etc.

The evening coat in the cut is made of black peau de soie, laid in tiny perpendicular tucks. There is a wide flounce about the bottom, and this flounce is ornamented by clusters of four horizontal tucks. The garment is fastened by means of jeweled chains and buttons. The sleeves have a wide flare and are finished by rolling cuffs of ermine. The wide collar and lapels are also of ermine. The lining is of flowered silk in pompadour colorings.

The hat which goes with this is made of ermine and black velvet and is trimmed with two bunches of velvet chrysanthemums.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

"Now I do remember," said the man, "it seems to me it was Foxwell's hotel, Waterloo Road. That's where it was, Foxwell's hotel. Don't you know it?

"'Foxwell's Hotel is a merry, merry place,
When the jolly booze is flowin', flowin' free.'

Now chorus, gen'men."

Having heard all I wanted to, I gave the poor wretches what I had promised them, and went in search of a cab. As good luck would have it I was able to discover one in the City Road, and in it I drove off in the direction of Waterloo. If Hayle were really going to stay the night at Foxwell's hotel, then my labors had not been in vain, after all. But I had seen too much of that gentleman's character of late to put any trust in his statements, until I had verified them to my own satisfaction. I was not acquainted with Foxwell's hotel, but after some little search I discovered it. It was by no means the sort of place a man of Hayle's wealth would be likely to patronize, but remembering that he had particular reasons for not being en evidence just at present, I could understand his reasons for choosing such a hostelry. I accordingly paid off my cabman and entered the bar. Taking the young lady I found there a little on one side, I inquired whether a gentleman had arrived within the last half-hour, carrying a bag and a heavy traveling-rug.

Much to my gratification she replied that such a gentleman had certainly arrived within the past half-hour, and was now at supper in the coffee-room. She inquired whether I would care to see him. I replied in the negative, stating that I would call next day and make myself known to him.

"We are old friends," I said, "and for that reason I should be glad if you would promise me that you will say nothing to him about my coming to-night."

Woman-like the idea pleased her, and she willingly gave the promise I asked.

"If you want to see him you'd better be here early," she said. "He told me when he booked his room that he should be wanting to get away at about ten o'clock to-morrow morning."

"I'll be here well before that," I replied. "If all goes right, I shall call upon him between eight and nine o'cock."

Feeling sure that, after what I had said to her, she would say nothing to Hayle about my visit, I returned to my own hotel and retired to rest.

Next morning I was up betimes, had breakfasted, and was at Foxwell's hotel before eight o'clock had struck. I proceeded straight to the bar, where I discovered my acquaintance of the previous evening, in curl papers, assiduously dusting shelves and counter. There was a fragrance of the last night's potations still hovering about the place, which had the dreary, tawdry appearance that was so different to the glamour of the previous night. I bade the girl good morning, and then inquired whether she had seen anything of my friend. At first she did not appear to recognize me, but on doing so she volunteered to go off and make inquiries. She did so, to return a few moments later with the information that the gentleman "had rung for his boots, and would be down to breakfast in a few minutes."

"I wonder what you will have to say for yourself when you see me, Mr. Hayle," I muttered. "You will find that I am not to be so easily shaken off as you imagine."

I accordingly made my way to the dining-room, and seating myself at a table ordered a cup of coffee and an egg. The London egg is not a favorite of mine, but I was prepared to eat a dozen of them if necessary, if by so doing I could remain in the room long enough to find myself face to face with Gideon Hayle. Several people put in an appearance and commenced their morning repast, but when a quarter of an hour had elapsed and the man I wanted had not presented himself, my patience became exhausted and I went in search of my hourie of the bar.

"My friend's a long time coming down," I said. "I hope he has not gone out to breakfast?"

"You must be mistaken," she answered. "I saw him come downstairs nearly a quarter of an hour ago. He went into the dining-room, and I felt sure you must have seen him. If you will follow me I'll show him to you."

So saying she led the way along the dingy passage until she arrived at a green baize door with two glass panels. Here she stopped and scanned the dining-room. The boots, who had just come upstairs from the lower regions, assisted in the operation, and seemed to derive considerable satisfaction from it.

"There he is," said the girl, pointing to a table in the furthest corner of the room; "the tall man with the black mustache."

I looked and was consumed with disappointment. The individual I saw there was no more like Hayle than he was like the man in the moon.

"Do you mean to tell me that he is the man who arrived late last night in a cab, and whose luggage consisted of a small brown bag and a traveling rug?" I asked. "You've been having a game with me, young woman, and I should advise you to be careful. You don't realize who I am."

"Hoighty toity," she said, with a toss of her head that sent her curlpapers dancing. "If you're going to be nasty, I am going. You asked for the gentleman who came late last night with a bag, and there he is. If he's not the person you want, you mustn't blame me. I'm sure I'm not responsible for everybody's friends. Dear me, I hope not!"

The shock-headed boots had all this time been listening with the greatest interest. He and the barmaid, it appeared, had had a quarrel earlier in the morning, and in consequence were still far from being upon the best of terms.

"The cove as the gent wants, miss, must be 'im as came close upon 11 o'clock last night," he put in. "The toff with the bag and blanket. Why I carried his bag up to number 47 with my own 'ands, and you know it."

The girl was quite equal to the occasion.

"You'd better hold your tongue," she said. "If you don't you'll get into trouble."

"What for?" he inquired. "It's a free country, I 'ope. Nice sort of toff 'e was, forgot all about the boots, and me a-doin' 'is browns as slap-up as if 'e was a-goin' out to dinner with the queen. But p'reaps he's left a 'arf-sovereign for me with you. It ain't likely. Oh, no, of course it isn't likely he would. You wouldn't keep it carefully for me, would you? Oh, no, in course not? What about that two bob the American gent gave you?"

The girl did not wait to hear any more, but, with a final toss of her head, disappeared into the bar.

"Now, look here, my friend," I said to the boots, "it is quite evident that you know more about this gentleman than that young lady does. Tell me all about him, and I'll make it worth your while."

"WHAT IS IT?" I INQUIRED. "ANYTHING WRONG?"

"There ain't much to tell," he answered. "Leastways, nothin' particular. He was no end of a toff, greatcoat with silk collar, neat browns, gloves, and a bowler 'at."

"Mustache?"

"Yes, and waxed. Got a sort of broad-arrow on his cheek, and looked at ye as if 'is eyes was gimlets, and he wanted to bore a hole through yer; called at seven, breakfast at half-past, 'am and eggs and two cups of corfee and a roll, all took up to 'im in 'is room. Ordered a cab to catch the nine o'clock express to Southampton. I puts 'im in with his bag and blanket, and says: 'Kindly remember the boots, sir,' and he says: 'I've done it.' I said I 'adn't 'ad it, and he told me to go to—, well, the place as isn't mentioned in perlite company. That's all I know about 'im."

He paused and shook his head in the direction of the bar, after which he observed that he knew all about it, and one or two other things beside.

SKELETON DINNERS.

Meals That Abound in Spirituous Fluids, But Are Deficient in Solids.

"What's the matter, old man? You look as though you had been up against it," remarked a well-known man about town the other day, meeting another of the same kidney, reports the Philadelphia Record.

The comment was not uncalled for. Bleary-eyed, pale and nervous, the young man thus addressed did show every evidence of extreme dissipation. He pressed both hands to his throbbing head and ejaculated: "Skeleton dinner last night. Never again. Once is enough for a lifetime." Then he groaned.

"What's a skeleton dinner?" asked his friend.

"It's a dinner with nothing to eat," was the reply. "What you lack in food you make up in drink. Friend of mine gave it at his house last night. First course, oyster shells and cocktails. Second course, hot water in bouillon cups, with sherry on the side. Third course, papier mache fish, 'nother cocktail. Next course, lamb chops with the meat scraped off and claret. Then the skeleton of a turkey and gobs of champagne. By that time the thing seemed so funny we didn't care whether we got anything to eat or not. So we drank champagne till the cows came home and the roosters were crowing. That's a skeleton dinner. If you ever sit down to a table where an alleged humorous host begins by setting oyster shells before you, it's up to you to play foxy."

OLD TOWN OF MENDON, MASS.

Monument in Commemoration of the First Massacre in King Phillip's War.

A few days ago the old town of Mendon, Mass., unveiled a monument in commemoration of the first massacre in King Philip's war.

The town was purchased of the Indians in 1653, and on July 14, 1675, the date of the massacre, contained about 26 settlers scattered over a wide territory. The town was eight miles square, and from it several other towns have been erected. Matunas, chief of the Niamuc Indians, led a war party into the settlement, killing Rachel Pufferand her son and a son of John Rockwood, and burning all of the buildings. Other settlers escaped, and the town was abandoned for some years. It is stated, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, that Matunas was one of Eliot's converts, but he was not converted sufficiently to cure him of savagery.

The monument was a huge bowlder properly inscribed, the gift of Gen. William F. Draper and his two brothers.

Our chief interest in Mendon comes from naming one of the towns of Monroe county for the old home in Massachusetts. Some resident of Mendon, in Massachusetts, must have brought the name with him to western New York.

EXPLOSIVE CASKS.

Those That Have Once Been Filled with Nitroglycerin Are a Nuisance.

"One of the most puzzling of many difficult problems that confront our trade is how to get rid of the empty casks that have contained nitroglycerin," said a manufacturer of explosives. "The wood of the casks becomes so saturated with nitroglycerin that in explosiveness it equals the nitroglycerin itself.

"It does not pay, nor is it safe, to refill the casks. To burn them is out of the question. If left around they are a constant menace, for while all men are prone to show their respect for a dangerous explosive, there are few that think any harm can come of a kick at an empty barrel. There is nothing to do but to explode the casks.

"This is generally done by placing them on open ground and firing a rifle bullet at them from a safe distance. The concussion produced by the bullet is more than enough to bring about an explosion. And there is one good thing about those casks when they go off—there are no fragments to pick up, as they are completely disintegrated, so to speak, being blown into minute particles."

Foods That Impair the Sight.

Some foods are very injurious to the sight. A case was brought under the notice of an eye specialist in which the eyes of a whole family were affected by eating rabbit pie. In each instance, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, the patient had become afflicted with a peculiar defect of vision that is technically known as "failure of accommodation." Stale sausages and sour cream cause a weakening of the sight known as "amblobia." Blindness resulting from eating tainted fish has been found almost impossible to cure, and quinine is also responsible for some persons' half-blind condition. This drug affects the optic nerve in a manner that sometimes ends in blindness.

A Four-Yard Apology.

The letter of apology recently sent by the emperor of China to the German emperor is described as an exquisite work of art. It is painted on a single piece of yellow silk over four yards in length, and is beautifully illuminated with dragons, flowers and arabesques, embroidered in gold thread and silk of various colors. The work is so perfectly executed that at first sight the embroidery is mistaken for enamel. The letter is inclosed in a yellow silk envelope, which is also elaborately embroidered, and fastened by ivory studs of the most ingenious character.

BEAR TAKES A RIDE.

Travels to Camp in the Sled of His Would-Be Slayers.

A Hunting Comedy Which Has No Equal in Maine History—Brain Proves Himself a General, Yet Loses His Life.

As soon as the first snow fell and the hunters began to bring in the deer, Harry Grant, a student at Boston university, came to Rockville, New, for big game. On his third day near nightfall he came upon a big buck, about four miles from camp. He shot the buck and prepared to drag it in.

The snow was deep and soft, and before he had gone a mile he was tired, and wished he had shot a smaller deer. The more he thought it over the more he was convinced that his venison would keep until morning. Then he came upon an opening in the side of a hill, large enough to hold the body of his deer. Into this he thrust the carcass, and, hastily covering it with brush and snow, went to camp for a late supper.

During the meal Bill Gerrish, an old hunter, came in and sat beside the student, who told all about his hunt.

"Yes," said Gerrish, "I reckon I've got some game down Moose mountain way, too, though I guess 'tain't dead yet. He's got a trap onto him, though, that'll tell me where he is so long as the snow holds."

He then told Grant about a bear he had been trying to trap all fall. The animal was cunning, however, and would not look at any kind of bait so long as the snow stayed away, preferring spiced ants and fat grubs in safety to beef and honey where there was a chance of danger.

After the storm the bear became more reasonable. On two nights he had sprung the trap and eaten the bait by digging below the spread jaws and jarring the trencher from below. The third night he attempted the same maneuver, but was caught by the paw, because Gerrish had taken the precaution to set the trap bottom side up.

Gerrish had followed the wide mark left by the trap all day, and was going out to take up the trail the first thing in the morning. As Grant's deer was cached near by, they agreed to go together, with the horse and sled which Grant had hired.

As the horse and sled went down the hill the men saw something big and black and shaggy emerge from the mountain, something that grunted and growled and bit at the brush as if it were alive.

"By gosh!" cried Gerrish, "I thought you told me you had a dead deer, and, darn me, if you haven't a live bear." He glanced at the hind leg of the animal, and seeing there was a trap attached, continued: "It's my bear, too, for that's my trap. What's caught in my trap is mine."

"Shoot him!" yelled Grant, fumbling with the magazine of his rifle, which was half filled with snow. "Kill him first and find out who he belongs to later."

He had freed his rifle from snow and was bringing it to his shoulder when Gerrish broke in with:

"Don't shoot, you blamed fool! You'll sure kill the horse, and then the hull camp will laugh at us."

While the men were debating the bear had gained his feet, and, looking about for the cause of the trouble, saw the horse and made haste to seek reprisals for injuries. The animal leaped to the floor of the sled and was about to assault the horse from behind when the wooden toggle in a ring of the chain attached to the trap brought up on the hind runner.

The bear could just reach the horse by stretching out his foreclaws. Before he had made the second grab the horse had concluded that anywhere else was safer than there, and was off for camp at a three-minute gait.

Fifteen minutes or so later a frantic and badly blown horse dashed up in front of the camp, bringing in a live and very ugly bear on the sled. As no hunter was along to explain the mystery, it was inferred that the bear had killed both men and then ridden to camp to make a report.

As soon as Bruin had been killed and the horse had received treatment for his wounds and been put into the stable the full force in camp was sent out to search for the bodies of the men.

Two miles out from camp they were found, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, sound in body, but much distressed in mind. Slung from a pole carried between them were the head and forequarters of Grant's deer, the bear having eaten the hind quarters for supper after crawling into the hole late at night.

SOME IMPORTANT BILLS HAVE BEEN INTRODUCED

Several Measures of Importance Introduced at Yesterday's Legislature Session.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

THREE IMPORTANT TAX MEASURES BROUGHT BEFORE ASSEMBLY.

Senator McCarter Introduced Bill Granting Authority For Proposed Railroad Tunnel Under Hudson River.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 29—The introduction of bills was the only important happening at yesterday's session of the Legislature, aside from the formal vote for United States Senator.

Three important tax measures made their appearance in the House yesterday, being introduced by Mr. Tennant, as the result of Monday's decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals setting aside the tax levied by the city of Newark on the franchise of the North Jersey Street Railway Company.

The first bill provides that the term "real estate" as used in the tax act of 1866 shall include the franchise or right of an individual or corporation to maintain underground or elevated railroads, cables, electric wires, pipe lines or the like. The second bill amends the Voorhees Franchise act by increasing from 2 to 5 per cent the annual tax on the gross earnings of companies included under the act.

The third amends the act providing for the taxation of railroad and canal property, and requires that it shall be assessed and taxed at local rates, less one-half of 1 per cent, which is to be assessed and paid to the State. The tax, less the latter amount, is to go to the municipality in which the property is located.

Mr. McCarter introduced in the Senate a bill granting the necessary authority from New Jersey for the proposed Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel under the Hudson river. The bill empowers the formation of any other corporation which may be necessary in the carrying out of the enterprise, and gives authority for the construction of approaches and terminals on the Jersey side and a tunnel as far as the centre of the Hudson river. No permission is given by the act for any surface lines or open cuts in any municipality, but any company having a line less than ten miles in length may be merged with any other company having connecting lines. This is to admit the establishment of a continuous system after the construction has been completed. Ten years is allowed after taking advantage of the act for the completion of a single track tunnel.

FEW TOOK ADVANTAGE.

Most of the School Children Were Vaccinated Outside of School.

While the Board of Education will provide free vaccination for the children at the various schools no provision is made for free treatment afterward. The Board has distinctly informed the parents of the children that the family physician will have to look after all arms in case they need attention. This has led many parents to have their children vaccinated by their family physician. A majority of the children have therefore been treated at their homes or at the office of their physician. The largest per centage of school vaccinations was at the Irving school yesterday, there being 54 out of an enrollment of over 500 treated.

STARTING NEW SHOPS.

Jersey Central is Transferring Men to Elizabethport Shops.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Jan. 29—The Central Railroad Company is rapidly transferring men from the old shops of the company to the new car shops, now almost completed, near the Elizabethport station.

Two hundred men were sent there yesterday, and in a short time all the hands in the old shops will be moved. The company will employ 1,200 men in the new shops, which will gradually absorb those at all points on the line, it is said, between Jersey City and Phillipsburg.

Extra Dividend Declared.

The prosperity of the City National Bank is attested by the fact that the institution has this day declared an extra dividend of 1 per cent. in addition to the regular dividend of 4 per cent. for the past six months. This is the first occasion the bank has paid 5 per cent. as a half-yearly dividend, and it is especially gratifying to the stockholders.

GOLF.

Eleven of the twenty-four clubs in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association sent delegates to the third annual meeting held yesterday at the home of Miss Ruth Underhill, New York. The following officers were selected for the coming year: President, Mrs. W. Fellowes Morgan; vice president, Mrs. Wm. Shippen; secretary, Miss Ruth Underhill; treasurer, Miss F. E. Wickham; member of executive committee, Mrs. A. E. Patterson. The representatives at the meeting from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club were Miss Maude VanBoskerck and Miss Lida vanHerwerden.

WINTER SPORTS.

All Y. M. C. A. gymnasts are requested to attend a preliminary meet which is to be held in the association gymnasium Saturday evening. There are to be seven events in all, gymnastic and athletics, and in these seven men will be chosen to enter the State meet at Newark. The participants securing the highest number of points will be appointed to the coveted places.

BASKET BALL.

A basket ball game will take place in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Monday evening between teams from the Plainfield High School and Leal's school. The contest promises to be an exciting one as both teams have been putting up good games.

JUNIORS' FAIR CONTINUED

THE BIG CROWD STILL CONTINUED AT SECOND EVENING.

Principal Features of Last Evening's Entertainment—Exciting Contests.

The second evening of the week's fair being conducted under the auspices of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., in Washington Hall, proved as successful as the initial occasion Monday evening. There was a good sized crowd present and a merry time was enjoyed by all.

In all departments the sales were gratifying. From present appearances it seems as if the affair will be a record breaker, judged from a financial standpoint. The donations received have been unusually large and these are being disposed of rapidly. As for the contents, considerable spirit is shown in this feature. A handpainted book marker is being contested for among the trio of councils in this city.

Frank Shepherd and Clarence Pope furnished the principal features of the entertainment last evening. The little sketch, "Is He In," provoked much applause. The trend of the sketch is that an actor is handicapped in his work by the absence of his partner, whose place is supplied in an awkward way by a tramp. The hobo mixed things up in great shape, much to the amusement of the audience.

Suhr's Imperial Orchestra contributed the musical features and the dancing floor was a centre of attraction. This evening will be women's night and the members of many women's lodges are expected to attend. Slack wire work will be a feature of the programme promised.

DRAMATIC SELECTIONS.

Programme to be Given at Reform Club Meeting Tomorrow Night.

The programme at the regular Thursday night meeting at Reform Hall, tomorrow evening, promises to be the best that has been given in many months. The California tragedian, Richard Foote, assisted by several well known artists, will interpret characters from "Othello" and give two one act dramas.

From "Othello" the great handerchief scene will be given with Mr. Foote in the title role, Miss Suzanne Kranz as "Desdemona" and Miss Margaret Hoffman as "Emilia." An original one act play by Mr. Foote, "The Sculptor's Daughter" will be rendered by the author, Miss Adele Ohl and Miss Hoffman.

The programme will close with an original sketch, "The Fallen Angel" with Mr. Foote and John Goodwin taking part. It pictures the death of a brilliant mind crazed by drink and morphine. John Goodwin will impersonate the rum seller. The admission will be free.

Sister is Dying.

Miss Annie Holcomb, one of the teachers in the North Plainfield schools, left early this morning for Trenton in response to a telegram. Miss Holcomb's sister is reported to be dying at that place.

Borough Vaccination.

The Borough Board of Health has discontinued free vaccination. In the four days that the physicians worked, 168 person were treated.

GREAT NETWORK OF TROLLEYS FOR JERSEY

Yardley, Morrisville and Trenton and the Pennington branch of the Delaware Valley Traction Company. Jilson J. Coleman, who acted as the expert in the purchase of the SanFrancisco lines by a syndicate which paid $26,000,000 for them, a few weeks ago, is president of this company, and has powerful backing.

Any one of the four lines projected to Bound Brook will bring the State capital into connection with the entire North Jersey system, which embraces all the territory from Raritan, in Somerset county, thirty-eight miles from New York, to New York City, and from Newark to the Oranges, Montclair, Caldwell, Paterson and other North Jersey points.

The Camden and Trenton, on the south, will open up the territory to all the suburban towns around Camden, as well as Mt. Holly. The Philadelphia, Bristol and Trenton Railway will afford a direct line to the Quaker City, and, of course, connect with all the vast network of roads branching out from there. The Yardley, Morrisville and Trenton will connect Trenton with all the Bucks County and Lehigh Valley system, embracing over 300 towns and villages.

They Knew the Man.

A certain young theologian went down from Oxford to Birmingham to preach. He was one of those extremely flowery talkers who dazzle rhetorically the tender souls of the younger members of the congregation, and the elders of the church were besieged to have him down again.

They at length consented, but, alas! they had forgotten his name. So they wrote to one of the professors, saying: "Please sent us that floweret, streamlet, rivulet, starlight man to preach for us next Sabbath. We have forgotten his name, but we have no doubt you will be able to recognize him."

He was recognized. He was sent. He is now pastor of the church.—Stray Stories.

A Rich Man's Town.

New York city is rapidly becoming a rich man's town. Rents have not only risen rapidly in the past few years, but it is freely predicted that they are bound to go higher. First-class apartment houses bring rents of from $1,200 up, an advance in the past year of 25 or 30 per cent., and a figure that makes comfortable living for small wage earners pretty nearly impossible on Manhattan Island. The congestion of Brooklyn bridge and the ferries, not to mention "L" trains crowded daily with passengers to and from the Bronx, amply attest the statement. And that conditions are steadily becoming worse is recognized in five new bridges and two subways now in progress of contemplation.—Detroit Free Press.

The Man and His Wife.

Once upon a time a man proposed marriage to a woman who presented a fine appearance in form and whose wealth was reported in six figures. He was accepted and they were married. Then he learned of matters before known to her banker and dressmaker alone, and found out that she was not a Venus and that her bank account had been overdrawn to pay her modiste.

"Alas!" he said, "there are many deceptions in this life."

THE NEW DIRECTORY IS OUT

PUBLICATION IS REMARKABLY COMPLETE IN EVERY DETAIL.

Contains a Very Accurate List of People and Business Houses.

The Plainfield Directory for 1902 has been issued. It is complete in every detail, and even an improvement on that published last year, which was a most thorough edition. Together with this city, North Plainfield, Westfield, Mountainside, Dunellen, Fanwood and Scotch Plains are included in the handy volume. It is handsomely and durably bound.

In size it is somewhat larger than previous issues, having 408 pages replete with needful information. As far as style is concerned no change has been made. Typographically speaking the book is a success. Especially well gotton up is the business section of the directory. The compiled list of lodges, with information concerning the same, will prove useful to many will also the church features of the volume.

One addition has been made to the directory. Mountainside borough appears for the first time, and is included with Westfield in the work. The book is issued by the Wand Directory Co., 101 West Front street.

It will repose in a case made especially for it.

Observed the Day.

In the North Plainfield High School, this morning, appropriate recognition was taken of McKinley Day. At the chapel exercises Miss Ursula Krewson made a concise address on the life of McKinley. There was also special music. In the lower grades the day was also observed.

McKinley Service.

It is a pleasure to testify to the generally high character of druggists. But because of a few exceptions to the rule it is necessrry to caution the public to be on guard against imitations of Perry Davis' Painkiller. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

LITTLE DONE AT TRENTON

The Governor Sent a Special Message Regarding Constitutional Amendments.

NEW SENATE CHAMBER.

Senator Hutchinson Introduced Bill Appropriating $200,000 for One—Governor's Appointments Confirmed—Senator J. F. Dryden Gave Reception.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 30—Aside from the formal election of John F. Dryden as United States Senator to succeed the late William J. Sewell, the chief happening of yesterday at the State Capitol was the special message of Governor Franklin Murphy concerning the proposed constitutional amendments, the legality of the publication of which has been questioned. Short sessions of both houses were held and a few bills introduced.

In the afternoon from 1 o'clock until 3, a reception was given by Mr. Dryden to all the members of the Legilature and other State officials. He was roundly congratulated on his election.

Governor Murphy, in his special message, said that he had learned from the Attorney General that the statute in relation to the publication of the proposed constitutional amendments had not been complied with, and that errors had occurred in the proposed amendments as published. The Governor recommended a careful investigation of the whole subject, and suggested that the Legislature take prompt action to correct such errors as had been made.

The Senate passed and the House concurred in a resolution requesting the Attorney General to furnish the Legislature with all the information concerning the proposed amendments, and to submit at the same time his opinion in connection with the information.

Assemblyman Horner, the Republican leader of the House, said that from present indications the only practical solution of this vexed question would be the repassage by the Legislature of the proposed constitutional amendments, and their submission to the people in the usual way, in accordance with the statutory requirements. This procedure would not, of course, bring the proposed amendments to a popular vote until 1904, a delay of three years, on account of the errors referred to by the Governor in his special message.

The Senate in executive session confirmed the governor's appointment of General P. Farmer Wanser as major general of the National Guard of the State, and also of Charles G. Garrison as associate justice of the supreme court.

Senator Hutchinson appeared as sponser for a bill authorizing the governor, State comptroller and State treasurer, constituting the State House commission, to provide a new Senate chamber and committee rooms for the upper branch of the Legislature, and to furnish the chamber and rooms in a suitable manner.

The bill limits the expenditure for this purpose to $200,000, and was referred to the committee on appropriations. Places for a new Senate chamber were considered in the Senate when the recent addition to the State House was decided upon.

Escaped Injury.

F. E. Keep, of Brookline, Mass., has telegraphed to his Plainfield friends assuring them of the safety of himself and wife. They were in the Murray Hill Hotel when it received serious damage from the explosion of dynamite in the subway near and were reported injured. Mrs. Worthington and her daughter, who were also stopping at the hotel, escaped without injury.

Engagment Announced.

The engagment of Miss Marie Tartar, of West 24th street, to Andrew Klowinzke, of Elizabeth, is announced. The marriage will take place in the Hungarian Catolic church at Bayonne, Saturday, Feb. 8. The bride and groom will reside at Elizabeth.

Death of Mrs. Gray.

Mrs. Bernard Gray, formerly of this city, died in Brooklyn yesterday morning. The remains will be brought here tomorow noon and the interment will take place at Hillside cemetery.

BOROUGH YOUNG FOLKS WEDDED LAST EVENING

The Event Was a Simple But Pretty One Attended by Relatives and Friends.

AT THE BRIDE'S HOME.

MISS JESSIE M. CODDINGTON MARRIED TO WM. D. MORRISON.

Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes—Couple Unattended—Will Reside in the Borough on Return From Honeymoon.

A quiet though charming nuptial event was the marriage of Miss Jessie May Coddington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Coddington, of Mountain avenue, to William D. Morrison, of Stone street, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, last evening.

An assemblage of relatives and intimate friends, probably numbering four score in all, had gathered to witness the festal occasion, and the tastefully adorned parlors were well filled with this joyous party, when the opening strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" came as a signal that the happy affair was about to take place. It was precisely 7:30 o'clock when Miss Lela Kibbe, of Bound Brook, commenced this bridal march and simultaneously the radiant young couple wended their way down the broad stairway to the scene of the function.

Standing beneath an artistically formed bower of palms, ferns and smilax, the religious ceremony was conducted by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the Firts Baptist church. It took but a few moments and no sooner was it solemnized than one and all of the assemblage of guests made haste to extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Morrison. The reception lasted for several hours. At a late hour the happy couple slipped away, although not without being showered with the white grained symbol of good luck.

The boneymoon will be spent in Washington, D. C. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will reside with the bride's parents on Mountain avenue. After the pair had left last evening the young people enjoyed the merry waltz until the midnight hour was drawing nigh. As an additional feature a number with musical ability contributed in making the affair still more delightful by rendering vocal selections.

At the wedding the bride was gowned in embroidered net over white silk. She carried a shower of bouquet roses, but wore no veil. Neither the bride nor the groom was attended, it being the desire of both to have the affair as unostentatious as possible. The house was well decorated with roses, ferns, smilax and palms, neatly arranged about the spacious rooms and hallways. Among the guests were friends and relatives from New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Elizabeth, New York and Brooklyn.

The gifts to the bride were noticeable by reason of the quality as well as the unusual number. In the array were specimens of the jeweler's art in silverware, elaborate designs in cut glass, Haviland and Dresden china, Favrile glass, quaint shapes in bric-a-brac, and useful furniture as well. Not the least welcome in the collection was a check for a substantial amount and some large sized coins in gold.

NEW PARTNER.

There Will Be Some Changes to M. Silvert's Place.

M. Silvert, proprietor of the Somerset street jewelry store, contemplates enlarging his place of business. The adjoining store room, now occupied by George Richter as a barber shop, will be added to his present quarters. The partition between the two will be removed and the entire structure thrown into one large room.

These improvements will be made by February 15, at which time Mr. Silvert will enter into partnership with his brother, Carl Silvert. The firm name will be Silvert Brothers.

Good Time Planned.

Greenbrook Council, No. 1725, Royal Arcanum, will meet Thursday evening, February 6, at which time there will be initiation, followed by an entertainment and smoker.

Committees to be Appointed.

There will be a meeting in a few days of the Plainfield Unitarian Society, when committees for the ensuing year will be elected and other matters will be considered.

MEN PREPARED SUPPER AND ENTERTAINMENT

A Novel Social Held at the Seventh-Day Baptist Church Last Evening.

AN ELABORATE MENU.

MASTERLY EFFORT BROUGHT OUT UNSTINTED PRAISE.

Waiters in Burnt Cork and Dress Suits—Chafing Dish Was Well Handled—The Programme for the Evening.

The men of the Seventh-Day Baptist church gave their annual dinner and entertainment in the parlors of the church last evening. If anyone had previous doubts as to the ability of the men to manage such an affair, their suspicions must have vanished during the evening. The men not only arranged the dinner, as well as the entertainment, but they cooked everything that was served in the kitchen at the church and furnished the entertainment themselves. Everyone who partook of the dinner pronounced it the best, and the men were loudly praised for their masterly effort. As a result the Woman's Society for Christian Work, for whose benefit the affair was given, will receive a large sum as profit.

The rear parlor of the church, where the dinner was served, was made attractive in decorations of pink and green, streamers of these colors in crinkle paper were prettily festooned about the room, while on each table there was an artistic arrangement of the colors in the same kind of paper.

An attractive and unique menu was a true guide for all who desired to partake of the dinner. On the outside cover was a large letter "U" and in the centre was printed the word "Men." Inside appeared the following very appetizing menu:

Blue Points.

"He was a bold man that first ate an oyster."—Lord Bolinbroke.

Tomato soup. Mock turtle soup.

"Oh, beware, my lord, of jealousy!
It is the green-eyed monster which does mock
The meat it feeds on."—Othello.

Olives. Pickles. Celery.

"Sister of parsley, a zest thou addest!
And thou, oh peaceful olive, e'er unctious!"—Young.

Creamed oysters.

"What sweet delight a quiet life affords."—Drummond.

Hot roast beef. Cold roast lamb.
Cold boiled ham.

"What say you to a piece of beef and mustard?"—Taming of the Shrew.

French fried potatoes.

Creamed potatoes.

"And some poor plot with vegetables stored,
Be all that heaven allots thee for thy board."—Leonidas.

Ice cream.

"Glittering square of colored ice,
Sweetened with syrup, tinctured with spice."—Aldrich.

Assorted cake.

"Wouldst thou both eat thy cake and have it?"—Herbert.

Tea. Coffee. Chocolate.

"Why should every creature drink but I?"—Cowley.

Watchung Spring Water, natural and aerated.

"There is no small pleasure in pure water."—Ovid.

"Serenely full, the epicure would say,
Fate cannot harm me, I have dined today."—Sydney Smith.

On the last page of the menu card appeared an excellent picture of the church. The menu was prepared under the direction of Frank J. Hubbard, who was the chairman of the main committee and also chef. He was assisted by Dr. Frank Clawson, Dr. O. B. Whitford, W. H. Rogers, Ira N. West, while William C. Hubbard was treasurer of the committee.

Probably the waiters attracted the most attention. They were Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, head waiter; O. S. Rogers, Asa F. Randolph, George L. Babcock, Charles P. Titsworth, J. L. Pope, Wendell Mosher, Arthur J. Spicer and Paul Whitford. They were all blackened and appeared in evening dress. Each one proved himself an adept in the art of waiting at a dinner and the service was perfect.

Another feature was the serving of "toothsome" dishes, by Drs. Frank L. Clawson and O. B. Whitford. They looked after the chafing dish. There were a great many dinners served, after which those present enjoyed an entertainment prepared by a committee consisting of Arthur L. Titsworth, chairman; H. M. Maxson, William C. Hubbard and F. A. Dunham.

The programme consisted of an instrumental trio by Ernest Wilcox, of Westfield, flute; Arthur Mosher, violin; and Arthur L. Titsworth, organ; selections by the Zobo quartette, H. J. Martin, L. A. Hummer, J. C. Martin, H. J. Martin, Jr., and L. M. Hummer, accompanist. There were also several recitations by Arthur E. White and other selections by the Zobo quartette.

LADIES' NIGHT AT THE FAIR

DELEGATIONS FROM WOMEN'S FRATERNAL ORDERS WERE OUT.

Benevolent Council's Fair at Washington Hall Was Continued Last Night.

In accordance with the schedule arranged at the beginning of the week, last evening was set aside as "ladies" night at the Benevolent Council fair being held in Washington Hall. The women were there in large numbers, delegations being present from Old Glory, Lucetta and Martha Washington Councils.

Dancing was a feature of the evening. In addition several informal entertaining features were provided. Among these were slack wire walking by Frank Sheppard, which proved to be a novel performance.

This evening will be Junior night and delegations will be present from Somerset and Franklin Councils of this city, William G. Holton, of Dunellen, and Twilight Councils, of Fanwood. The councils turning in the largest amount of money will be awarded a beautiful hand painted book-mark. There will be a strong vaudeville programme.

DESCRIBED BY A NATIVE

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON JAPAN AT CAMERA CLUB ROOMS.

N. Tamioka, Student at Dickinson College, Told About His Home Land.

Pictures of some of the most beautiful spots of the Flowery Kingdom with a lecture by a Japanese was what a fair sized audience saw and heard in the Camera Club rooms, last evening. But for the stormy weather the attendance would no doubt have been much larger.

The lecturer was N. Tamioka, a young student at Dickinson College, who is at present stopping at tehe home of Rev. Dr. J. H. Whitney, of this city. Although but three years in this country, he has mastered the language sufficiently to speak it very intelligently and his hearers had no difficulty in understanding him.

The pictures shown were among the best that have ever been seen in this city. They were for the most part views in and about the city of Tokio, the young man's home, with which he was familiar. Those of the Tokio Park, corresponding to New York's Central Park, and the Tokio river night scenes were especially good.

Mr. Tamioka compared most of the pictures with the sights to be seen in this country and frequently added some little witticism which made his lecture very pleasing.

The stereopticon was operated by Charles Vail.

IMPROVING RAPIDLY.

Patients at Isolation Hospital Are Doing Well and Find Something to Do.

The four cases of small-pox at the isolation hospital are now improving rapidly. All of the patients are up and about their rooms and are beginning to feel more like themselves again. The two boys spend much of their time playing about and in drawing on paper. Mr. Campbell is now allowed to read newspapers and smoke a pipe, both of which he enjoys very much. Mrs. Patterson devotes her time in other ways to her liking.

After the desquamation period the patients will be kept under quarantine for seventeen days before they will be allowed to go home. Every precaution will be taken so that there may be no spread of the disease from those now having it. The hospital is kept as clean as is possible. Miss Stryker, who is in charge, is very strict and careful in her work and everything necessary is done in a strict sanitary and common sense manner.

No More New Cases.

There have been no new cases of scarlet fever at Oak Tree and those ill are improving. The school is still closed and will remain so for some time to come.

AS YOUTH, SOLDIER, STATESMAN AND MAN

Thus Was the Life of President McKinley Described at Memorial Meeting.

WAS VERY INTERESTING

SERIES OF TALKS GIVEN AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

Many Attended Despite the Storm and All Listened With Interest to the Papers on the Martyred President.

McKinley the youth, the soldier, the statesman, and the man, formed a highly entertaining quartette of subjects at the special memorial service held in honor of the martyred president at the First Presbyterian church, last evening A goodly sized congregation was there and it is needless to say that the remarks of the various speakers were of much interest.

E. W. Williams was in charge of the meeting and he conducted it in an able way. The early career was dwelt upon by Edwin E. Gamo, whose paper was especially well written and delivered. Grove Himman followed up Mr. Gamo's remarks by telling the story of McKinley as the soldier boy who rose from the ranks to a majorship by pluck and bravery.

It was assigned to Rev. C. E. Herring, the pastor, to express his views on the late chief executive as a statesman. The clergyman said that three things impressed him in studying the life of Mr. McKinley in Congress and in the president's chair. The first was that he was deferential to the opinions of sober advice; the second that he was firm in conviction and the third that he never sacrificed principle to personal glory.

Mr. Williams closed the formal discussion by telling of McKinley the man, having gathered his information while a Washingtonian. Incidentally he told the love the Nation had for him, as was shown in its attitude at the time the mortal blow was struck and during his agony.

When the meeting was thrown open for general discussion, Miss M. J. Petrie made a short address in which she pointed out a dominating feature of the man, and that was his domestic relations. The great love he bore his frail wife and home life in general was the topic she dwelt upon.

THREW ACID.

Young Man Scarred Wife's Features For Life by Throwing Acid at Her.

Mad jealousy on the part of her husband resulted in a West End young woman having acid thrown in her face, Monday evening, which will scar her features for life.

The couple met by accident in a Scotch Plains hotel and the husband at once accused the other of being there to meet male friends. A quarrel ensued and the man in a passion drew a bottle from his coat and dashed the contents on the left side of the woman's face.

She was severely burned, but fortunately the eyes were not touched. She returned to this city and has since kept to the house.

BUSINESS TO BE DONE.

What Council Will Consider at Its Meeting Monday Night.

The regular February meeting of the Common Council will be held Monday evening, when it is expected that several important matters will be considered. It is believed that the question of changing the city offices will be one of the chief topics, while there is sure to be many topics of more or less importance to engage the attention of the members. Another matter of some importance will probably be the introduction of an ordinance changing the title of Captain Kiely to that of Chief of Police Kiely.

Wheel Has Disappeared.

On returning home from work a few evenings ago, Harry Vail, of Orange place, left his wheel on the front porch. On returning for it a short time afterward he found some one had been ahead of him. The theft was reported to the police, but so far no trace of the wheel has been found.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was tendered to Miss Sarah Hopewell, of Watchung avenue, Tuesday evening, by two score of her friends. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and musical entertainment. Refreshments were served at midnight.

PUBLIC LIBRARY FOR THE BOROUGH PROPOSED

Would Probably be Under Control of the Borough Board of Education.

DONATIONS OFFERED.

BOROUGH SCHOOL LIBAARY NOW CONTAINS 3,000 VOLUMES.

Would Form Nucleus for a Larger Library—Site on Vine Street Has Been Suggested—Probable Cost of a Building.

From unquestionable sources it is learned that there are good prospects of a public library being established in the borough at an early date. The plans are not ripe yet but, although the proper authorities refuse to discuss the matter, it is certain that serious consideration is being given the subject.

It is said that the institution will be under the control of the North Plainfield Board of Education, although this has not been finally decided upon. More than one man of means in the borough has signified a willingness to contribute to such a worthy institution. Contrary to all precedent, Andrew Carnegie will not be appealed to to lend his financial aid to the project. The money will be raised in the borough, if possible, and it is thought that there are a number of men who will contribute liberally.

The Vine street front of the school property has been suggested as a suitable site. The only hindrance would be the likelihood of the school authorities wishing to reserve this tract for a school building as was mentioned in yesterday's Daily Press. A rough estimate has placed the cost of the proposed library building at $2,500, and it may be that this entire amount would not be needed.

The idea is to make it as broad as possible so far as the circulating privileges are concerned. It would be thrown open to the public at large, although the primary object would be to aid the school children and young people generally. Already there is a nucleus for the library. There are no less than 2,500 volumes in the Somerset street school at present. These cover a wide range, fiction, history, biography, art, science, travel, and general literature constituting the make-up. When Superintendent Homer J. Wightman assumed charge of the schools some five years ago there were but 500 books on hand, but under his wise administration the collection has been increased rapidly.

The State gives an amount in cash equal to the purchase price of any volume placed in the school, and this revenue permits additions to the library from time to time. All tuition fees collected by the school authorities are reserved for the library fund and there is a snug little sum on hand now for such purposes.

REDUCED TO ONE.

James Burke Now Charges Geo. McEntee With Stealing $40 From His Clothes.

The complaint made to the police yesterday by James Burke, of Plainfield avenue, that he had been robbed of $80 by two Plainfield men in the Elizabeth depot, was later modified to include but one. The amount was also reduced to $40.

The accused man is George McEntee, a hay carter, and he was arrested yesterday afternoon. He was arraigned before Justice Nash, this morning, and after entering a plea of not guilty, demanded a hearing.

Burke admitted not seeing McEntee take his money, but based his complaint on evidence furnished him by an employe at the depot where the alleged robbery occurred. In order to have this man present at the hearing McEntee was remanded until tomorrow morning, being unable to furnish bail.

Handsome New Office.

Charles H. Hand, the real estate dealer, has taken possession of a handsome new office on Watchung avenue, adjoining the one formerly occupied by him. The office is a modern one in every respect and well adapted for Mr. Hand's increasing business.

Afternoon Tea.

Mrs. H. M. Stockton, of Central avenue, will give a tea at her home Friday afternoon, Februrry 7, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, left today for New Orleans where they will stay the remainder of the winter.

HEAD CRUSHED BY THE CARS

David Greninger, Brakeman, Killed While on Duty at Dunellen This Morning.

WAS SHIFTING THE CARS

No One Knows How it Happened, But He Was Found by Companions With Skull Fractured Lying Across the Tracks—Been Married a Month.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Jan. 30—David Greninger, of Bound Brook, met sudden death in a mysterious manner, here this morning, while discharging his duties as a brakeman on the night shifting engine. The fatal accident occurred shortly after 5 o'clock and his body was found a few minutes later, cold in death.

The drill engine had been used to move some cars in the vicinity. When a short distance west of the station Greninger attempted to couple some cars. This was the last seen of him alive. When discovered with his neck was broken and his skull fractured, he was stretched across the track. It is supposed that he slipped and fell between the cars.

The train hands tenderly conveyed the remains to Walter Runyon's undertaking establishment. Word was sent to his wife, he having been married a month ago. The county physician was also notified. The dead man was about twenty-five years of age, and had been an employe of the railroad coupany less than two weeks.

ALMOST A HOODOO.

Thirteen Guests at James H. Masker's Wedding Anniversary—But 'Twas a Good Time.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 30—James H. Masker, manager of the day ticker at the Central depot here, and his wife celebrated the twelfth anniversary of their wedding Tuesday night. Had it been the thirteenth year of their wedded bliss the good people who attended would have taken a seat 'way back in superstitious horror for there were just thirteen guests, including the host and hostess and their son, who partook of the sumptuous repast provided for the event.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Masker entertained the Ladies Social Aid Society of the Baptist church and then there were just thirteen present. However, such a little matter did not mar the pleasure of either occasion, both of which were very enjoyable.

The bride of twelve years was Miss Hattie M. Dickey and the couple were married by Rev. Addison Parker, then pastor of the Baptist church here. They have one son, Claremont W. Masker.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The health officials of the city of Boston have for months been combatting an outbreak of smallpox, but, in spite of all efforts so far put forth, the disease has continued to be what is designated as "semi-epidemic" there. Frustrated on every hand in their effort to control the contagion, the authorities have at last begun a system of compulsory vaccination. One hundred and twenty-five physicians, each accompanied by a policeman, are now engaged in making a house-to-house canvass, and every person who has not recently been vaccinated must submit to the operation.

Had this coursebeen pursued earlier, the grave situation now confronting the people of Boston might have been avoided. The efficacy of vaccination in preventing smallpox has been shown more effectively in the past year, during the prevalence of the disease in many communities, than ever before. The statistics gathered by health authorities regarding the matter have been most convincing, and in no other city has better proof of this assertion been secured than in the facts and figures compiled in Newark.

While the outbreak of contagion in this city has not reached the proportions of an epidemic, or even a "semi-epidemic," still the situation is serious enough to warrant the taking of the most effective steps known to stamp out the disease. It would be foolhardy to wait until small-pox is entirely beyond the control of the health authorities before resorting to heroic measures. Profiting by the experiences of Boston and Philadelphia, is it not time for Newark to take similar action? Compulsory vaccination is the only safe and sure weapon with which to fight small-pox.—Newark News.

THEATRICAL.

Francis Wilson and company in the London Gaiety Theatre success, "The Toreador," are drawing immense audiences to the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York. In the character of "Sammy Gigg," the English footman, who, through an adroitly conceived train of humorous complications, is mistaken for the champion bull-fighter of Spain, Mr. Wilson is seen at his best. He has never had a role which gave him such exceptional opportunities for funmaking as his present character. This production is not, however, a "one part" piece. It possesses several characters which bear a very important relation to the development of the story. These include William Broderick as the toreador; Melville Ellis as Augustus Trill; Joseph Coyne as Sir Archibald Slackett; William Blaisdell as Pettifer, the animal trainer; Adele Ritchie as Dora Selby; Christie MacDonald as Nancy Staunton; Maude Raymond as Mrs. Hoppings, and Queenie Vassar as Susan, Gigg's sweetheart. These names, those of widely known players, indicate that the leading parts are all in trained hands. Although the story possesses a most interesting sentimental vein, its chief aspects are comic. Intended mainly as a vehicle for the exposition of refined stage humor, it keeps an audience in a roar of laughter when not sitting entranced by the unusually fascinating musical numbers. Miss MacDonald has two songs which have been much commended—"The Little Yaller Boy Who Sang to the Moon" and "The Language of Flowers." Miss Ritchie has a number which she sings very effectively, called "Keep Off the Grass." Mr. Wilson has made a special hit singing "The Hall of Fame," a topical song with a timely lyric and catchy air. "The Toreador" possesses every element of an unusually successful amusement.

LITERARY.

Advanced spring and summer styles are pictured in The American Queen for February. Dainty embroidery designs are also shown and the "Beauty and Toilet" and "Domestic Science" departments are up to the usual high standard. Articles on "A Mother's Duty to Her Daughters," "Thrown on Her Own Resources," "In the Home Circle" and "Exercise for Growing Girls" are particularly interesting. The cover, in red and black, is one of the Malcolm Strauss series and is very attractive. Price of magazine, 50 cents per year. Office of publication, 31 East 17th street, New York.

The Cosmopolitan is fortunate in its fiction for February. Stories of love, adventure and humor from the pens of famous authors make the "Midwinter Fiction Number" vitally interesting. "S. Cohn & Son" by Zangwill deals with the Anglization of a Jew and the inevitable tragedy of his love for an English girl whose race prejudice triumphs over her nobler feelings. In "The Valley of the Dead" Thomas A. Janvie pictures the struggle of a dashing young engineer between love and duty. "Mr. MacGlowrie's Widow" is the title of a western story in Bret Harte's happiest vein, and "The Fish" is one of E. W. Kemble's best humorous skits.

Cranberry Jelly.

This is very easily made, as the cranberry contains more vegetable gelatine than any other fruit. Pick over and wash a quart of berries, add half a pint of water and cook slowly for a quarter of an hour, or until the skins crack, then put through a sieve, or strainer. Return again to the fire, add the sugar, stir until dissolved and then let it boil without stirring for five minutes longer. Wet small molds in cold water, fill with the jelly and stand in a cold place until firm enough to turn out. This jelly will keep well and a large quantity can be made at one time. A nice way is to fill individual molds with this jelly and serve a mold to each person. Another way to serve it is to mold it in glasses; turn it out and cut into slices like bread and serve in this form.—Washington Star.

Swore But Were Not Profane.

He had side whiskers and the cranky expression worn by men who quarrel with street car conductors. He had pushed a dozen people aside while hurrying toward the entrance of a Park row office building and had reached the turn-stile door when the wind blew a little typewriting girl up against him so hard that she trampled on his heels on the way into the building.

He turned suddenly and faced her, and, shaking his finger at her angrily, blurted:

"If—if—if yer were a man I'd tell you to go to hades!"

"And if you were a man," she replied, "I'd tell you the same!"

Then she passed to the elevator with an angelic smile and went heavenward. —N. Y. Sun.

Cosmic Dust.

Small particles from the sun itself projected into space may account for the zodiacal light and for the solar corona. Such particles would be electrified and develop cathodic and X-rays. The atoms of the surrounding gases would be ionized. The positively charged atoms would remain near the sun, the negative ions would form centers of condensation for the cosmic dust, which would pass outward into space. The sun-lit side of the earth would receive a constant stream of such particles, which would remain in the upper air.—Science.

WHAT CONGRESS DID.

Philippine Discussion Renewed—Senator Cullom on Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—For an hour yesterday the senate had under discussion the question whether a censorship of press dispatches exists in Manila. While no such turbulent scenes as Tuesday's were enacted, the debate for a time was very spirited. The secretary of war was quoted as saying that no press censorship now existed in the Philippines, and a letter from General Greely, chief signal officer of the army, was presented by Mr. Beveridge (Ind.) making the statement officially that there was no censorship of press dispatches and that "the press is entirely free." It was contended by the opposition that a press censorship did exist in the Philippines and that copies of every news dispatch filed with the cable company was filed with the military authorities. That, it was maintained, constituted a virtual censorship.

Mr. Cullom, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, delivered an extended and carefully prepared speech on the history of the reciprocity negotiations.

The house adjourned after being in session twenty-five minutes. Mr. Hopkins (Ill.) reported the permanent census bill and gave notice that he would call it up today. A request to make the oleomargarine bill a special order for next Monday was objected to on the Democratic side.

WOMEN WANTED.

General Bell Says Their Influence Is Invaluable In the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—One American woman can contribute more to the reformation of the Filipinos than any company of American men, soldier or civilian, according to a personal letter received by Major General H. C. Corbin, adjutant general of the army, from Brigadier General J. F. Bell, commanding the department of northern Luzon.

General Bell says that he is a strong believer in permitting the wives of American officers on duty in the Philippines to join their husbands, declaring that the women exert a most potent influence in our political purposes with regard to the islands. General Bell says that in his old volunteer regiment, the Thirty-sixth infantry, there were twelve young women, wives of officers. He encouraged them to go with their husbands to the towns the latter were commanding, and the people soon became so devoted to them that when the time came to depart for the United States the natives, irrespective of age or sex, wept like children.

General Bell says that the American women exert their influence through the Filipino women, the latter having more influence on public opinion than the men of the islands.

Governor Removes Officers.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 30.—Governor Jelks has temporarily relieved all field and staff officers of the Third infantry, Alabama national guard, from duty and himself assumed command of the regiment. At the same time the governor announced the verdict of the general court martial which sat at the state capitol five days early in January to try Lieutenant Colonel Osceola Kyle of the regiment, who was charged by its commander, Colonel Higdon, with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. Kyle, it is said, wrote Higdon a letter which was regarded by him as insulting and as prejudicial to the service. Kyle was found guilty.

In McKinley's Memory.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30.—The birthday of the late President McKinley was observed here by the members of the Ohio legislature in joint session in a flow of oratory which has not been equaled in many years in the halls of the house of representatives. All party differences were laid aside, and the time was devoted to loving remembrance. The joint session was presided over by Senator T. M. Hosea of Cincinnati. He delivered a short but eloquent address. Other speakers were Governor George K. Nash, Senators Harding and Royer and Representatives Stage and Thomas.

German Invasion of South Africa.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Mr. Hales, the correspondent of The Daily Express in Berlin, predicts that should peace eventuate in South Africa commercial Germany will sweep down upon South Africa and endeavor to divert its trade to Germany. There is no doubt, says Mr. Hales, that the Germans will leave no stone unturned to take the fruits of the war from Great Britain. Mr. Hales prophesies that the German invasion of South Africa will eclipse the rush of Germans to America fifty years ago.

DEED IS PRESENTED.

Trustees Receive From Carnegie $10,000,000 Gift.

GREAT INSTITUTION IS INITIATED.

The Founder Outlines His Plan For the Washington Hall of Learning—Dr. Gilman Is Chosen President.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—An adjourned meeting of the trustees of the Carnegie institution was held at the state department yesterday afternoon and a long step was taken toward permanent organization and the initiation of the work of the institution. Abram S. Hewitt of New York called the meeting to order, and Secretary Hay was elected temporary chairman and Mr Charles D. Walcott temporary secretary. William E. Dodge of New York was elected to the board to fill a vacancy caused by the declination of ex President Cleveland, who sent a letter regretting his inability to serve. After the roll call Mr. Andrew Carnegie made a brief address, presenting the deed of gift. He said:

"I beg to thank you deeply for so promptly, so cordially aiding me by acceptance of trusteeship.

"My first thought was to fulfill the expressed wish of Washington by establishing a university here, but a study of the question forced me to the conclusion that under present conditions were Washington still with us his finely balanced judgment would decide that in our generation at least such use of wealth would not be the best.

"One of the most serious objections and one which I could not overcome was that another university might tend to weaken existing universities. My desire was to co-operate with all educational institutions and establish what would be a source of strength and not of weakness to them, and the idea of a Washington university or of anything of a memorial character was therefore abandoned.

"It cost some effort to push aside the tempting idea of a Washington university founded by Andrew Carnegie, which the president of the Woman's George Washington Memorial association was kind enough to suggest.

"Gentlemen, your work begins, your aims are high. You seek to extend known forces and to discover and utilize new forces for the benefit of man. Than this there can scarcely be greater work. I wish you abundant success and venture to prophesy that through your efforts in co-operation with those of kindred societies in our country contributions to the advancement of the race through research will compare in the near future not unfavorably with those of any other land. Again I thank you."

The deed itself recites in substance, as follows:

"That Andrew Carnegie deems it his duty and highest privilege to administer the wealth which has come to him as a trustee in behalf of others, and, entertaining the belief that the best means of discharging that trust is by extending the opportunities for study and research in our country, he transfers to the trustees named $10,000,000 of registered 5 per cent bonds of the United States Steel corporation."

This gift is to be held in trust, the income from the bonds or from other securities that may be substituted for them to be applied to paying the expenses of the trustees, who are to receive the bonds and collect the interest and may sell the same and invest the proceeds according to the laws of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts and who are not made responsible for the safety of the bonds or for their depreciation. They may appoint officers, fixing their salaries, and provide for the financial business of the trust. The income is to be expended in founding in Washington an institution to co-operate with those now or hereafter established and in the broadest and most liberal manner encourage investigation, research and discovery, show the application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind, provide such buildings, laboratories, books and apparatus as may be needed and afford instruction of an advanced character to students properly qualified to profit thereby.

After accepting the deed of gift the trustees proceeded to adopt bylaws and then elected the following officers: Chairman of the board of trustees, Abram S. Hewitt; vice chairman, Dr. J. S. Billings; secretary, Charles D. Walcott. Dr. Daniel C. Gilman, late of Johns Hopkins university, was elected president of the Carnegie institution. The board then adjourned for the day.

STEEL TRUST REPORT

Good Record of Big Corporation For First Ten Months.

A SURPLUS OF $174,344,229 SHOWN.

Cost of Properties Owned and Operated by Several Federated Companies Is $1,437,494,862 — A Cash Business Done.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—A preliminary report covering the operations of the United States Steel corporation since it came into existence ten months ago has been placed in the hands of the stockholders of the company. It is a forerunner to the more extended resume to be submitted at the annual general meeting on Feb. 17 and is designed to familiarize the share owners with the financial status of the company and the trade situation in the market where it buys and sells. The report, signed by both Charles M. Schwab and Elbert H. Gary, declares present business and future outlook viewed ahead through 1902 to be highly satisfactory. The report said:

"The outlook for the year 1902 is very bright. Everything indicates that all of the facilities of each subsidiary company will be taxed to their utmost to supply the demand that is being made. The actual business now booked and of which shipment is being called for faster than it can be supplied amounts to more than half the total combined annual capacity of all the companies. The heavier products, like rails, billets, plates and structural material, are sold up to the productive capacity of the mills until nearly the end of the year. In the more highly finished products the consumption in each case is greater now than at the corresponding period in 1901, which, it should be remembered, was an abnormally heavy year. The expectation therefore of those closely connected with the manufacture and sale of these highly finished products is for a demand even larger than that of 1901 and up to the limit of production."

Discussing prices, the report said they could have been advanced, but that it was decided to be better policy to refrain from doing so.

The report reviewed the larger financial operations of the company, including those of its organization, printed the recently published statement of earnings for the first nine months of the existence of the company and gave a condensed general balance sheet for Nov. 30, 1901. The settlement with the underwriting syndicate was also stated.

The condensed balance sheet for Nov. 30 showed that on that day the accounts receivable aggregated $45,269,453, the bills receivable $2,821,463 and the cash on hand $55,315,527, a grand total of $103,406,444. The current liabilities on Nov. 30 were stated at $50,269,630, and the surplus of the corporation and the subsidiary companies was placed at $174,344,229. The cost of the properties owned and operated by the several federated companies was given as $1,437,494,862.

"The business of the companies," said the report, "has been put on practically a cash basis."

TRIAL OF PATRICK.

Captain Baker's Testimony Shakes on the Cross Examination.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Captain James A. Baker again occupied the witness chair at the trial of Lawyer Albert T. Patrick for the murder of William Marsh Rice, almost the entire two sessions of court being taken up with his cross examination. In this cross examination the captain admitted that he had expressed no opinion as to the genuineness of the signatures of various papers bearing Rice's name and which he now calls forgeries until he had obtained the opinion of hand writing experts.

Captain Baker furthermore admitted that Patrick before his arrest had told him he desired a full investigation of his relations with the aged millionaire. The witness, too, declined to swear positively that Patrick was not present in Rice's apartments when the old man was at one time making depositions relative to litigation he was involved in. The prosecution has been endeavoring to prove that Patrick and Rice never met.

When Mr. Osborne, for the people offered the 1896 will in evidence as to the genuineness of the signature, Mr Moore, for the defense, objected, declaring that the ruling of the court of appeals in the Molineux case was pertinent. After listening to Mr. Moore, who argued the document was improper and irrelevant as evidence, Recorder Goff sustained the objection.

Norman Meldrum, a banker, testified that the signatures on the sixty-five thousand dollar and twenty-five thousand dollar checks were forgeries.

CUBA POSTOFFICE CASES.

Fourteen Witnesses Examined at Havana.

HAVANA, Jan. 30.—Fourteen witnesses were examined during the hearing here yesterday of the postoffice fraud cases. Inspectors Hamilton, Keys and Waters corroborated the testimony given by Inspector Gregory regarding the inspection of accounts and the ascertaining of the amount of the frauds.

Former Assistant Auditor Reynolds said that a book was opened for the accounts of the postoffices of Cuba, but that no entries had been made in it. Reynolds testified that he had asked the former deputy auditor of Cuba, W. H. Reeves, one of the defendants, the reason for this and that Reeves had said the people below, meaning Estes G. Rathbone or C. F. W. Neely, did not want entries made in this book.

Cross examined by counsel for Rathbone, Reynolds said that Rathbone had not told him or ordered him not to keep this account.

A Cuban named Ramirez, who was attached to the auditor's office, testified that once he objected to entering an account for the furnishing of Rathbone's residence and was told that this was all right. Ramirez said he afterward informed General Maximo Gomez that matters were not running right at the postoffice.

Three Killed by Runaway Cars.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 30.—Three people killed, two fatally hurt and a score of others more or less injured is the record made by two runaway cars on the Monongahela branch of the Pittsburg Railway company last night. A number of others were hurt, but none seriously enough to be taken to the hospital. The accident happened at the foot of the long hill running into Wilmerding from McKeesport. A car without passengers got beyond control of the motorman and dashed down the hill, a quarter of a mile long, at a terrific speed. At the bottom it jumped into the Pennsylvania railroad station, carrying away the side of the depot and tearing up the platform.

She was a descendant of the famous house of Bentivoglio, and one of her brothers, Count Bentivoglio, is prominent among Italian noblemen of today. Her father was a native of Bologna, Italy, and her relatives are still in Europe, with the exception of a sister.

WAR TAX REDUCTION

Bill to Be Framed by Committee at Once.

PRACTICAL REPEAL IS FAVORED.

A Majority of Ways and Means Members Said to Be Prepared to Cut Off Almost the Entire $68,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Republican members of the ways and means committee held a private conference last night and decided to frame a bill for the reduction of war revenue taxes before proceeding further with the subject of Cuban reciprocity.

Chairman Payne at once called a meeting of the full committee for 11 o'clock this morning, when work on the war revenue reduction bill was begun. No draft of a bill has been prepared by the Republican members, but it is pretty fully understood that the majority is prepared to favor a measure effecting very large reductions, amounting practically to a repeal of the entire war taxes and aggregating about $68,000,000. The restriction of recent hearings to beer and tea led to the belief that reductions might be confined to these two articles, but the sentiment of the majority now appears to be favorable to a much larger reduction.

At the conference it was the prevailing view that as Cuba had been the cause for incurring the war revenue taxes the burden should be removed from this country before considering the extent of relief to be granted to Cuba.

The question of what percentage of reduction in tariff rates could be made for Cuba was not considered at the meeting last night, owing to the determination to leave this until after the war revenue reductions had been accomplished.

A St. Paul Church Burned.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 30.—Late yesterday afternoon the People's church, an independent church with Congregationalist affiliation, of which Rev. Dr. S. G. Smith is pastor, was destroyed by fire. The building was large, containing an auditorium with a seating capacity of 2,300, kindergarten, industrial school and other branches, besides smaller meeting rooms, and was situated on Pleasant avenue, just above which runs Summit avenue, with many handsome residences. The residence of President James J. Hill of the Great Northern on Summit avenue is just back of the church, but was at no time in danger. The church was built in 1888 and, including its large organ, represented an outlay of $105,000 and had no church debt. The insurance was only $50,000. Dr. Smith's valuable private library was in his study and was consumed.

A Small Naval Engagement.

PANAMA, Colombia, Nov. 30.—The Colombian government fleet, consisting of the steamers Boyaca and Chucuito and the armed launch General Campo, which left here Tuesday morning to make an attempt to break the blockade of Agua Dulce, where the revolutionary fleet was last seen, and to communicate with General Castro, the Colombian commander, met the insurgent steamer Padilla at Yeguala, thirty miles from Panama, and opened fire on her. The revolutionary steamers Darien and Gaitan appeared on the scene soon after the engagement began. The fire of the Chucuito was so well directed that it caused the revolutionary fleet to draw in toward the shore, where the enemy's ships were protected by land batteries. The Chucuito and Boyaca then retired unmolested and arrived here at 5 p. m.

Miners' Convention Closed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 30.—The thirteenth annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America adjourned sine die last night after selecting Indianapolis as the place for holding the convention next year. Other cities after the convention were Scranton, Pa.; Pittsburg, Birmingham, Ala.; Columbus, O.; Kansas City, Kan.; Springfield, Ill.; Spring Valley, Ill.; New York city and What Cheer, Ia. The convention before adjournment voted $1,000 for the aid of the widows and orphans of the miners killed in the Iowa disaster, adopted a ringing resolution against "government by injunction" and adopted a resolution favoring the re-enactment of the Chinese exclusion act.

It Would Be a Big Explosion.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 30.—Fifteen hundred cases, or 75,000 pounds, of dynamite forms a part of the cargo in the hold of the Norwegian steamship Daggry that is ashore near Gull shoals life saving station, off the Carolina coast. Heavy railroad iron composes the balance of the cargo. An easterly gale has lashed the sea into a fury. At last reports the ship was listing heavily to starboard and was being beaten unmercifully by the waves. If the railroad iron and dynamite get together, an explosion of terrible force is looked for.

ONLY ONE SOLUTION.

There is one problem which the borough of North Plainfield will have to solve and solve without delay. It is the question of providing proper educational facilities for its children. It admits of but one final solution, the erection of a new school building. While temporary relief may be afforded, it is simply a matter of time before the North Plainfield Board of Education will have to prepare another building.

During the last year or two, the increase in the attendance has been all out of proportion with that of previous years. There is no way to account for it. The fact remains that the children are there and that the borough must provide proper instruction for them. The board has been attempting to provide immediate but temporary relief for the overcrowded conditions and has succeeded fairly well. The lack of even-suitable temporary quarters, however, has made that work extremely difficult.

Now comes the question of providing some permanent relief and the only possible course has already been stated. There must be a new school building in the borough. While it may not come this year or next, the need for it is there and there is not the slightest chance that the demand will in any ways lessen. Something will have to be done and the members of the board are beginning to wonder f it might not as well be now as a year or two later.

It is but natural that the board should hesitate to issue bonds and increase the indebtedness of the borough but careful consideration of the subject will show that there is no other alternative. If the board goes carefully about the work and sees to it that the work is well but economically done, the thinking citizens of the borough will approve of its course. There is likely to be some opposition to any plan that will increase the bond issue of the borough but the problem must be answered and this is the only way of answering it. The only question which can be raised is as to the proper time to take such a course and circumstances would lead one to believe that the proper time had arrived.

The story, which has been going the rounds of some of the papers in the State to the effect that Senator Charles A. Reed was about to change his vote for John F. Dryden when Senator Cross managed to do it first, show how little acquainted some people are with the real situation at Trenton. While Mr. Reed originally favored Barker Gummere for the Senatorial place, he was always strongly of the belief that the honor should go to south Jersey. So it was when his favored candidate had no chance, he lined up with the south Jersey men in an effort to get the nomination for that section. The suggestion that he intended to desert to the Dryden camp is too ridiculous to be considered.

The name of Francis J. Blatz has been mentioned for the place of borough recorder. Counsellor Blatz has long resided in the borough and graduated from its public schools. He has hosts of friends there. Since his admission to the Bar, he has labored steadfastly in his profession and is fast winning for himself a prominent place in the local array of legal talent. While his participation in politics has been very small, he is a very popular young man. Although rather young, perhaps, for a judicial position, he has already demonstrated an old head on young shoulders.

Plainfield is fortunate far above many suburban cities in that it now possesses a reliable directory. The issue for 1902 of the Wand Directory Company has just appeared and it fully warrants the claim of being equal of any published in a suburban city and far ahead of any previous Plainfield directories. While there may be a few mistakes, it is far more reliable than the average directory.

It is to be hoped that Senator Mc Carter's bill or another on similar lines will be passed by the State Legislature without delay. The building of a tunnel under the Hudson river is going to prove of inestimable value to this State and it is the duty of the legislators to lend every possible aid in order to carry such a project to a successful conclusion.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the birth of the martyred President, William McKinley. With so many holidays near at hand, it would hardly be right to add another at this time but it was eminently fitting that the public schools should properly observe the day.

There will be an election in North Plainfield in March as usual. The Meeker Election law affected the cities only and the spring elections will continue as before in the boroughs and townships.

The Union County Bar Association promises to be a strong factor for the proper administration of justice throughout the county.

Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. A delicious wedding supper was served, after which the couple left for a short honeymoon tour.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

DUNELLEN.

The sociable by the men and women of St. John's R. C. church was held, last evening, in Apgar Hall, and was a great success in every way. A large crowd was present from here, Plainfield and Bound Brook, and enjoyed the dancing, music for which was furnished by Suhr's Imperial Orchestra, of Plainfield. A considerable sum will be added to church fund as the consequence of the affair.

The musicale for the benefit of the Presbyterian church fund will be given this evening in the church, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Bible class. An excellent programme of instrumental and vocal music will be presented by musical favorites from here and Plainfield.

The revival meetings in the Presbyterian church ended last night after being held every evening for nearly three weeks. A large number of new members will be added to the church as a result of the meetings.

Michael Moynihan has returned to his studies in the Plainfield High School after an illness of several days, occasioned by the results of vaccination.

A delegation of members from Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will attend the installation of officers in Bound Brook tonight.

The people of this place were much more prompt in getting their sidewalks clean after the snow stopped last night than in some time.

George Kuldoshes, the plumber, expects to remove from his present quarters during next month.

This is the fifth of Weather Prophet Coles' snow storms which he has predicted for this winter.

Mrs. Matthew Eganey, who has been sick for a few days, is considerably improved.

Only one session was held in both schools yesterday on account of the storm.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its regular weekly meeting this afternoon.

HEAVY SNOW DIDN'T COME

THREE INCHES OF IT DID NOT MAKE ANY GOOD SLEIGHING.

No Disturbance of Trolley or Steam Road Traffic—A Big Storm Was Expected.

Yesterday's prediction by the weather sharps that a heavy snow storm was due this section failed to be verified. Plainfield came in for the usual share, a little more than enough to cover the ground but not sufficient for good sleighing.

Altogether while the storm lasted, three inches of snow fell. At one time the fall was quite heavy and there was a possibility that deep drifts would follow. The fact that the prognosticators declared it would continue to snow all last night and today lent strength to this belief. It was dispelled late last evening when the fall practically ceased. A little snow fell this morning but it was at no time heavy.

At no time was the traffic on the trolley or steam roads disarranged and everyone was taken home on time last evening. The street railway sweeper was out but it had little to do. Street Commissioner Gavett's men looked after the city sidewalks and in the borough, the municipal snow plow did similar duty.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet in its rooms this evening. A full attendance of the members is desired as business of importance will be transacted.

"Dr. North and His Stories" was the topic discussed at the Young Peoples' Literary Society meeting held in the Methodist church, last night.

Henry O. Drake, who has been ill with pneumonia for several days, was not so well Wednesday and his condition is considered critical.

The members of the Epworth League are arranging to hold a cake and apron sale in the near future.

"Still Another Voice" will be the subject of the revival meeting held in the Baptist church this evening.

John Albert is out with a new rubber-tired buggy to meet the increasing demands of his livery business.

The Township Committee will meet in the town rooms, Excelsior Hall, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Corona are happy over the arrival of a young son at their home.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. Ephriam Boice has undergone a successful operation at Muhlenberg hospital to save her from becoming totally blind. The sight of one eye has been totally destroyed by a clot of blood and this was affecting the remaining sight. Mrs. Boice will be dismissed from the hospital tomorrow.

Raymond, the youngest son of George Reighton, of Park avenue, is ill with scarlet fever. The fever has also broken out in the home of George Harrison, of New Dover. It is thought that the disease originated from a case of scarlet rash at Oak Tree.

The Piscataway Township Committee will meet at New Market, tomorrow afternoon. It is expected that action will be taken at this time in regard to the petition which has been presented to the committee requesting a polling place at South Plainfield.

Alfred Young has resumed his work with the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company after a week's illness caused by a severe "take" of vaccination.

Robert Horn is working the engine and pumps overtime at the Middlesex Water Company's pumping station.

Simple exercises in honor of the anniversary of McKinley's birthday were held at the school yesterday.

The addition, including a new bathroom, to the local residence of Fred LaTourette, has been completed.

William H. Randolph, of North Plainfield, formerly of this town, is confined to the house by illness.

Thomas H. Brantingham attended the funeral of an aunt on Staten Island, yesterday.

The repairs to the furnace of the Baptist church have been completed by Watson Payne.

Mrs. William Manning has returned home after a visit with relatives in New Brunswick.

Mrs. E. P. Kellogg, of Park avenue, has been entertaining out of town friends.

George W. Smith is suffering from a light attack of the grip.

Company K Invited to Ball.

Company L, of Princeton, has extended an invitation to Company K, of this city, to attend a ball to be given by them in the near future.

THE BOROUGH POSSIBILITIES

F. J. BLATZ HAS BEEN MENTIONED FOR RECORDER.

Some Other Places to be Filled When the New Council is Organized.

Immediately after the borough election in March the reorganization of the Borough Council will be effected. This will bring with it various appointments and the selection of committees.

It is a trifle early to guess what the completion of these committees will be and harder still to define who will be favored with appointments. There is some talk of booming Francis J. Blatz to succeed Thomas Doud as recorder. Whether the latter desires reappointment is not known, but even should he not be adverse to continuing in office it is understood that the mayor will be asked to consider other names. Mr. Blatz, it is contended, by reason of his profession as a lawyer, is admirably qualified to discharge the duties of recorder. He has a host of friends in the borough and it is believed that his appointment would be favorably received by the people generally.

As for the offices of chief of the fire department and overseer of the poor it is improbable that any change will be made J. J. Stahl as the incumbent of the former place and William G. Debele, of the latter, it is declared have attended to their duties well, and there is no reason for making any changes.

Together with these two appointees, Dr. Albert Pittis will in all likelihood receive a reappointment as borough physicain, in which capacity he has shown so much energy. The office is not a lucrative one, the fact being that it is rather expensive to the holder. Dr. Arthur H. Dundon's name has been broached in this connection, but, although he stands well with the political powers that be, it is considered that Dr. Pittis is the man entitled to the place.

BAZAAR BEGUN.

Ladies' Aid Society of German Reformed Church Conducting It.

A bazaar, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, was opened last evening in the German Reformed church Snuday-school room. Despite the condition of the weather it proved quite successful and will be continued.

Fancy articles, groceries, household goods, candy and other things are on sale and the members of the society are striving to make rapid sales. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Joseph Angerbauer, chairman, Mrs. Philip Bach, Mrs. William Krausse, and Mrs. Charles Hook.

The fair will be open this afternoon and this evening. It will close tomorrow evening. Entertainment and refreshments will be the features for this evening.

Christening and Reception.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pugh, of Elizabeth, was christened Sunday afternoon. Subsequently a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fay, and it was followed by a dinner. Guests were present from Elizabeth, Garwood, this city and the borough. Mr. and Mrs. Pugh formerly resided in this city.

At Reform Club.

The entertainment at the Reform Club hall this evening, by the California tragedian, Richard Foote, and others, will be preceded by the usual temperance service. Addresses will be made by President John Goodwin, B. W. Hand and W. C. Smith. Miss Suzanne Kranz will also sing some of her best selections.

Back to Work.

Hector Smith, of Prospect avenue, who recently secured an excellent position at Joplin, Mo., and who has been spending a few days at home, will return to Joplin in a few days. He may move his family to the latter place as his work of surveying for a railroad may keep him in Missouri for some time to come.

Endeavorers to Celebrate.

The twenty-first anniversary of the Christian Endeavor Society will be commemorated Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Newton Cadwell will make an address.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. GOVERNOR'S NEW RESIDENCE

OLIPHANT HOME HAS BEEN RENTED BY FRANKLIN MURPHY.

Will Take Possession Next Wednesday—A New Residence of Colonial Type.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 30—After much difficulty Governor Murphy has succeeded in getting a desirable residence here to serve as a temporary executive mansion. He has now rented the handsome home of Hughes Oliphant, which is located in the block immediately west of the State House.

Mr. Oliphant and his wife, who is a writer of some note, are about to make an extensive trip abroad, and for this reason decided to let the Governor have their home. Mrs. Oliphant was Miss Blossom Drum, a daughter of General Drum, of Washington. Mr. Oliphant is a brother of Adjutant-General Oliphant, at whose home Mr. Murphy has been staying while here.

The Governor and his family will take possession of the house next Wednesday. The house is eight doors above the State House, and was built less than a year ago. It is of the colonial type, being fashioned after the old Virginia homes. The plot on which it stands extends from State street back to the Delaware river, a distance of about 300 feet. Governor Murphy will only occupy the premises in the early part of each week, returning to his home in Newark for the balance of the week.

It is the expectation that the Legislature will purchase the property of Mrs. Charles E. Green, just west of the Capitol, as recommended by Governor Voorhees in his last annual message. This will provide a permanent executive mansion, the same as maintained in other States.

BUTCHERS' WAR.

Somebody Spoiled Kugler's New Delivery Wagon and Trouble Followed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 30—There is a butcher war in the town of Raritan. John Helfin, who is of long standing in the business, has a rival in the person of Henri Kugler. Both are Hungarians.

A few days since Kugler purchased a bran-new delivery wagon, which made a very fine appearance on the steets of the town. Helfin looked at it jealously, and, it is said, offered three boxes of beer to the person who would cut the top. He approached several of his friends but without avail, seemingly.

One night, however, someone slitted the top of the wagon, entirely spoiling it. Kugler was enraged and swore vengeance. He made a complaint before Justiee Kitchen, of this place, and John Young, who is on intimate terms with Helfin, was arrested. A hearing was given Young last night, but owing to the non-appearance of certain witnesses it was adjourned for one week.

Young and Helfin both claim they know nothing whatever about the matter. Kugler declares someone must suffer for the damage done to his wagon.

Harvesting Ice Again.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company started a gang of fifty men at work on the Watchung lake, yesterday, cutting the second covering of ice. It will take 10,000 more tons to fill the houses. It is the intention of the company to place more men in the gang as soon as they can be procured.

Real Estate Transfer.

The following real estate transfer has been recorded at the office of the county clerk at Elizabeth: Clara S. Rose and husband, to George W. Mundy, 35.07 feet along northeast line of Monroe avenue, 115.18 feet southwest of West Fourth street, Plainfield, $1,200.

MESSAGE TO ENDEAVORERS

ANNIVERSARY OF THE FIRST ENDEAVOR SOCIETY COMES SUNDAY.

Wonderful Growth During Last Twenty-One Years—Dr. Clark's Message.

Christian Endeavorers all over the world will celebrate on February 2 the twenty-first anniversary of the first Christian Endeavor Society organized by Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, in his church at Portland, Me. In this section, at least, the indications are that the event will be more elaborately observed than usual.

Nearly all the local societies will hold special services, some using the special programme prepared by Secretary John Willis Baer.

From the one society of fifty-four members in Dr. Clark's church, the movement has spread to every country until there are now 60,000 societies with a membership of 3,500,000. The work then existing in only one denomination has widened until forty branches of the church militant are included in its ranks. The small amount of literature, all in one tongue, has increased until today from the two publishing houses of the United Society, as well as from the headquarters of the movement in various lands, go forth thousands upon thousands of "leaves."

Dr. Clark, before sailing abroad, issued this anniversary message for the societies:

"This Christian Endeavor Day is to remind us of that day which is sure to come. Our Scripture passage gives us a vivid picture of it; the marvellous appearing in the air, the music and the glory, the throngs, the suspense, the unchangeable verdict, as life after life passes in review before the Judge of all.

"What will be Christ's opinion of our Christian Endeavorers? This is the great question. Not what men will think. Not what the committees may report. Not even the praise of our pastor. But what will Christ say?

"For Christ can search our hearts. He knows whether our Christian Endeavorers are for love of Him, or merely from a sense of duty, or to please men. He knows whether we are doing our best or only our second best or third best. He knows whether we are sullen workers or joyous workers. And in the light of that infinite knowledge of us, we are to be judged."

THIMBLE PARTY.

Given by Mrs. Geo. Homan in Honor of Guests From Chicago.

An event of interest was that of yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. George L. Homan, of Hillside avenue, gave a thimble party to a small company of friends. The affair was given for the purpose of having a number of former acquaintances meet Mrs. Langworthy and her sister Mrs. Parsons, both of Chicago, who are visiting their parents, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Lewis, of West Seventh street.

There were guests present to the number of sixteen. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in a social way, while incidentally it was one of profit, as the young women brought their sewing along and accomplished much in this way. Later in the afternoon refreshments were served by the hostess, after which the happy affair terminated.

Arcanumites to Meet.

Arrangements are now being made for a large district meeting of the members of the Royal Arcanum in this part of the State, to be held at Cranford Tuesday, February 4. The session will be a very important one as many matters of great interest to the members will be brought up.

Excitement Over.

President Charles J. Fisk, of the Board of Health, has ceased making his daily trips from New York to Plainfield. He now only comes to this city occasionally. He expects to remain in New York till spring.

THINGS ONE CANNOT DO.

Some Limitations Which Nature Has Imposed Upon the Most of Mankind.

A man cannot rise from a chair without bending forward, or putting his feet under the chair or outside of it, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Many a man will back himself to give another a start of 50 yards in a race of 100, provided the man having the start hops all the way. But no runner, however swift, can give that amount of start to an ordinary man. For the first five yards they go at practically the same pace. Therefore the runner, to go 95 yards while the "hopper" goes 45, would have to run more than twice as fast, and it would be a weak man who could not hop 45 yards at a pace equal to 20 seconds for 100 yards; and that would mean that the runner, in order to win, would have to beat all previous records.

If a man boasts that his penknife is particularly sharp, ask him to cut with one stroke of the blade one of those yellow ribbons, mostly of silk, which are around bundles of cigars. In 999 cases out of 1,000 the knife is not sharp enough to do this. It will cut through all the ribbon but the last strand, and that will pull out long, and the more he tries to cut it the longer it will pull out.

No one except a blind man can stand without support of any kind for five minute at a stretch, if he is thoroughly blindfolded, without moving his feet. If he does not move his feet he is pretty sure to topple over in about a minute.

JOHN ADAMS' MIRROR.

The Historic Relic Rescued from the Capitol Storeroom by Senator McMillan's Secretary.

When John Adams was vice president of the United States (more than 100 years ago) he paid $40 for a little gilt-framed mirror and there has been trouble about it ever since, says the New York Sun. Several senators in the course of the debate over the payment for its purchase took occasion to censure Mr. Adams for having set an example of unwarranted extravagance. The mirror was purchased in New York, brought to Washington and put in place in the room occupied by the vice president, and for a great many years was pointed out to rural visitors, who were entertained with more or less accurate tales of its history. As years went on and the vice president's room grew in elegance, the little historic mirror seemed to grow smaller and less ornate. Three years ago it was sent to the storeroom, whence it was resurrected and placed on the wall of the District of Columbia committee room by the clerk, Charles Moore, who appreciated the beauty of its simple design and its value as a relic. Shortly afterward Senator Hoar and some of his colleagues heard the story of the exiled mirror and grew very indignant. So, with the consent of Senator Frye, the president of the senate, it was brought back and a place of honor given it on the wall of the vice president's chamber, which it is hoped will be its final resting place.

NEGROES MOST TROUBLE.

Proportion of Colored People Arrested in Chicago Largest and of Whites Smallest.

It may not be true that the average Chicagoan is a Chinaman, but it appears pretty well proven by the statistics of the police department that the Chinaman is an average Chicagoan, states the Tribune. The quiet Celestial, who shuffles around in soft shoes and overalls, makes less noise than the colored population and more than the whites. In fact, the evil in nature and the proclivity to do things that will lead to arrest appear to grade pretty nearly by color, so that the white man has the least of it, the Chinaman a little more and the dusky people the most.

Chicago has 2,000 Chinamen, the majority of whom live within the boundaries of the old First ward and are under the care of the police of the Harrison Street station. Police statistics for last year show that of these 2,000 only 128 were arrested last year according to the police figures. This is a ratio of a little more than one to 20. Of the 2,000,000 white population nearly 70,000 were arrested, or about one of every 30. Of the 35,000 colored folks living in the city 7,000 were arrested, or one in every five.

"The Chinese don't trouble us much," said the desk sergeant of the Harrison Street Police station, speaking of this fact. "They are quiet, peaceable and get along pretty well without bothering anybody."

It Keeps Good Time.

An interesting exhibit in the Smithsonian Institute, at Washington, is an old German clock that was ticking about 15 years before the birth of the great American republic. It keeps good time and is 140 years old. It is made of hardwood and the work was all done by hand. Every piece of the mechanism is highly polished, and it is put together with hand-wrought rivets of brass. The parts show very little wear, and the timepiece is so carefully constructed that it does not vary a second in time during 24 hours.

A New Russian City.

The Russian authorities are as alert for trade as Americans. At and near Dalny, the commercial seaport of the Siberian railroad, they have 24,000 men at work to make a 30-foot harbor. They are rushing up docks, dry docks, shops and buildings, and also are building a great modern city. The Russian minister in charge of this enterprise recently arrived there, having taken 21 days by rail from St. Petersburg.

MORE EVIDENCE.

It is Coming in Rapidly in Plainfield.

Evidence on the following subject will prove of interest to every Plainfield reader. So many people go through the same experience daily. This public statement should be proof positive to every wavering doubter. Read it carefully.

Mr. George S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of R. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Manufacturing Company, says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would soon pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment, by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Did I find relief? Yes, I did. I am no more a sufferer. Ripans Tabules did it. I can eat anything I want to. Before I commenced using them I could not eat highly seasoned food without suffering with my stomach. With truth I can recommend Ripans Tabules to any one suffering as I was. REGARDING COATS.

What Fashion Dictates For Carriage, Street and House Wear.

A lovely carriage cloak recently seen was of red cloth trimmed with straps of red velvet and edged around with Persian lamb. The high collar was of Persian lamb, and the wide sleeves were lined with the same fur. There were also deep, tight cuffs which buttoned at the back.

Short coats with long stoles in front are entirely of fur. They are made to look extra handsome by the addition of jeweled buttons.

Fur of every description is trimming costumes at present, and skunk is to the fore again.

A popular English innovation is the tea coat. This is made of lace brocade, moire or velvet. It is worn over a lace chemisette with a pearl dog collar instead of the usual lace collar. Speaking of lace, many handsome evening coats are being made of it. They are trimmed with rich bands of dark fur and are made over linings of chiffon and rich silks.

A simple blouse costume is today's subject for a sketch. It is made of gun metal gray camel's hair. The coat is made with a stitched band simulating a yoke and a series of strapped points down both sides of the front. The stand up collar and narrow revers are of violet velvet, and the crush belt is of the same. The sleeves are full and gathered into a cuff of the velvet. The skirt is made with the side seams ornamented with the same tiny strappings which characterize the jacket. Otherwise it is perfectly plain. The blouse opens over a front of heavy cream lace.

The severe little tailor made hat is of pearl gray felt trimmed with bands of the violet velvet.

SHOES AND SLIPPERS.

The Day of the Mannish Foot Has Passed—Evening Styles.

All evening shoes have long, narrow toes and are very much embroidered. It seems that footwear is sharing in the general elaborateness of dress. Useful and effective shoes of white kid are embroidered with gold beads. Morocco leather is now dyed in the most delicate tints, which are charming with black or white gowns. In black shoes embroidered in jet there are many novelties, among which the Louis XV. models are extremely chic.

The illustration shows an evening gown for a young girl. It is made of pin dotted net over pale green taffeta. The skirt has a graduated flounce hidden beneath a multitude of ruffles. The waist is made decollete, with tiny sleeves reaching half way between the shoulder and the elbow.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

I gave him a shilling for his information and then left the house. Once more I had missed Gideon Hayle by a few minutes, but I had received some information that might help me to find him again. Unfortunately, however, he was now well on his way to Southampton, and in a few hours might be out of England. My respect for that astute gentleman was increasing hourly, but it did not deter me, only made me the more resolved to beat him in the end. Making my way to Waterloo, I inquired when the next train left for Southampton. Finding that I had more than an hour and a half to wait, I telegraphed to the man I had sent to Southampton to watch the docks, and then took the electric railway to the city, and made my way to my office, where a pile of correspondence awaited me on my table. Calling my managing clerk to my assistance, I set to work to examine it. He opened the letters while I perused them and dictated the various replies. When he came to the fifth he uttered an exclamation of surprise.

"What is it?" I inquired. "Anything wrong?"

In reply he handed me a letter written on good note paper, but without an address. It ran as follows:

"Mr. Gideon Hayle returns thanks for kind inquiries, and begs to inform Mr. Fairfax that he is leaving England to day for Algiers."

"If he thinks he is going to bluff me with that sort of tale, he's very much mistaken," I said. "I happen to be aware of the fact that he left for Southampton by the nine o'clock train this morning. If I might hazard a guess as to where he was going, I should say that his destination is the Cape. But let him go where he will, I'll have him yet. In the meantime, send Williams to Charing Cross at once, Roberts to Victoria, and Dickson to St. Paul's. Furnish each with a description of the man they are to look after, be particular about the scar upon his left cheek, and if they see him tell them that they are not to lose sight of him, happen what may. Let them telegraph should they discover anything definite, and then go in pursuit. In any case I shall return from Southampton to-night, and shall call here at once."

Half an hour later I arrived at Waterloo, took my ticket and boarded the train for Southampton. When I reached the port I was met at the station by my representative, who informed me that he had seen nothing of the man I had described, although he had carefully looked for him.

"We'll try the various shipping offices first," I said. "I feel positively certain that he came down here by the nine o'clock train."

We drove from shipping office to shipping office, and made the most careful inquiries, but in every case without success. Once we thought we had discovered our man, only to find, after wasting a precious hour, that the clerk's description was altogether a wrong one, and that he resembled Hayle in no sort of way. We boarded the South African mailboat, but he was not among her passengers; we overhauled the American liner, with an equally barren result. We paid cursory visits to the principal hotels, but could hear no tidings of him in any one of them. As a matter of fact, if the man had journeyed to Southampton, as I had every reason to suppose he had done, he must have disappeared into thin air when he got there. The whole affair was most bewildering, and I scarcely knew what to think of it. That the boots at the hotel had not been hoodwinking me I felt assured in my own mind. His anger against the man was too real to allow any doubt upon that point. At last, having exhausted all our resources, and not seeing what I could do further, I returned to my subordinate's lodgings, where it had been arranged that telegrams should be addressed to me. On my arrival there a yellow envelope was handed to me. I tore it open eagerly and withdrew the contents. It proved to be from Dickson, and had been sent off from Dover. I took my code-book from my pocket and translated the message upon the back of the telegraph form. It ran as follows:

"Man with triangular scar upon left cheek, brown bag and traveling rug, boarded train at Herne Hill, went through to Dover, and has booked to Paris. Am following him according to instructions."

"Then he slipped me after all," I cried. "He must have gone on to Waterloo, crossed to Cannon street, then on to London bridge. The cunning scoundrel! He must have made up his mind that the biggest bluff he could play upon me was to tell the truth, and, by Jove! he was not very far wrong. However, those laugh best who laugh last, and though he has had a very fair innings so far, we will see whether he can beat me in the end. I'll get back to town now, run down to Bishopstowe to-morrow morning to report progress, and then be off to Paris after him on Monday."

At 8:45 that night I reached London. At the same moment Mr. Gideon Hayle was sitting down to a charming little dinner at the Cafe des Princes, and was smiling to himself as he thought of the success that had attended the trick he had played upon me.

CHAPTER VII.

When I reached the charming little Surrey village of Bishopstowe, I could see that it bore out Kitwater's description of it. A prettier little place could scarcely have been discovered, with its tree-shaded high road, its cluster of thatched cottages, its blacksmith's shop, rustic inn with the sign-board on a high post before the door, and, last but not least, the quaint little church standing some hundred yards back from the main road, and approached from the lych-gate by an avenue of limes.

"Here," I said to myself, "is a place where a man might live to be 100, undisturbed by the rush and bustle of the great world."

That was my feeling then, but since I have come to know it better, and have been permitted an opportunity of seeing for myself something of the inner life of the hamlet, I have discovered that it is only the life of a great city, on a small scale. There is the same keen competition in trade, with the same jealousies and bickerings. However, on this peaceful Sunday morning it struck me as being delightful. There was an old-world quiet about it that was vastly soothing. The rooks cawed lazily in the elms before the church as if they knew it were Sunday morning and a day of rest. A dog lay extended in the middle of the road, basking in the sunshine, a thing which he would not have dared to do on a weekday. Even the little stream that runs under the old stone bridge, which marks the center of the village, and then winds its tortuous course round the churchyard, through the Squire's park, and then down the valley on its way to the sea, seemed to flow somewhat more slowly than was its wont.

Dear Sirs—Two years ago I had very bad corns and callouses on my feet, I went to a chiropodist and paid him $5.75 for taking them off. In less than a month they were back again. I then tried your CORN CURE and used only three bottles, costing 45c, and am happy to say it has taken them off completely. They have not troubled me now for over a year. I consider your HEPBURN'S CORN CURE the best I have ever used.—

KEEP OFF THE EARTH
During the cold and wet weather as much as possible—that is, keep as much shoe leather between the soles of your feet and Mother Earth as you can conveniently carry. It's wisest in the beginning and cheaper in the end to provide yourself with shoes having good solid soles—cold-proof and water-proof, if possible.
We are selling exceptionally good shoes of just this sort for men and women; children, too.
Well built, with broad, heavy soles and with stout uppers.
They're a very paradise of rest for weary feet, and a paradise of economy for weary purses.

OSTEOPATHS THROWN DOWN.

New York Legislative Committee Kills Brackett Bill.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 30.—The bill of Senator Brackett regulating the practice of osteopathy in this state will not be reported by the senate judiciary committee. This practically kills the bill. At the conclusion of the hearing the committee considered the measure in executive session, and the sentiment of the members was unanimously against the measure.

The presence in Albany of several hundred members of the New York State Medical society, which is holding its annual session, was the principal reason for the large attendance at the hearing given on the bill by the joint legislative committees on judiciary. While the representatives of the osteopaths and those who appeared in favor of the bill numbered less than a dozen, among whom was ex-Governor Fisk of Vermont, the opponents to the measure were present in force. At least 350 licensed practitioners of both the allopathic and homeopathic schools were present as well as a large contingent of citizens and clergymen. Such prominent men of medicine as Dr. Abraham Jacobi of New York and Dr. Albert Van Derveer of Albany spoke in opposition to the bill. Right Rev. Bishop William Crosswell Doane appeared as a member of the board of regents to oppose the bill.

There was an animated hearing before the assembly committee on general laws on the Ulmann bill to compel installment dealers to take out a state license at an annual fee of $1,000.

The bill of Senator Cocks limiting the speed of automobiles was amended by the senate codes committee and reported favorably.

Signals From Marconi.

FALMOUTH, England, Jan. 30.—Marconi began his wireless communication with the Lizard when the steamer Philadelphia was 120 miles distant and continued his messages for several hours. The first message to be transmitted to him was a welcoming and congratulatory communication from The Daily Express of London. To this Marconi responded with his thanks and added a request to send some American news. A series of news items of interest to Mr. Richard Croker and the other passengers on board the Philadelphia was then sent, and subsequently The Daily Express held the first wireless telegraph interview with the inventor.

Louisville Honors Schley.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 30.—Admiral Schley yesterday moved through the heaviest sleetstorm that Louisville has seen in many years while following the programme of entertainment prepared for him by the board of trade. In spite of the bad weather more than 2,000 persons visited the board rooms in the morning and shook the admiral's hand. Lunch at the Pendennis club followed, and at night the admiral was the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the board of trade. He responded with a bow to the cheers that greeted his entry to the banquet hall.

Rate Cutting Admitted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Some important admissions of rate cutting were made at a hearing given by the interstate commerce commission in continuance of the investigation begun at Kansas City on Jan. 9. Vice Presidents Paul Norton of the Atchison and J. M. Johnson of the Rock Island and J. M. Monroe, traffic manager of the Union Pacific, testified. All the witnesses admitted that the published tariff rates on grain moving in and out of Kansas City, Mo., had not been observed.

Germany Will Not Meddle.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—The statement emanating from Paris that the powers were privy to the proposals of Dr. Kuyper, the Dutch premier, to Great Britain on the subject of peace in South Africa and approved this step beforehand is denied without reservation here in so far as the German government is concerned. The German cabinet is maintaining an absolute neutral attitude and will not concern itself with anything that has the appearance of meddling in this matter.

Sheets to Be Hung.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Jan. 30.—March 11 has been fixed as the date for the execution of Milton Sheets, who is now in jail. Sheets was convicted in December, 1899, of murdering Augustus Glessner at Berlin and was sentenced to be hanged on March 9, 1900. Before the day of execution Sheets escaped from prison and was captured last week at Athens, O., where he was known as Harry Bell, a bartender.

ADVANCING POLICE WORK

BOARD WILL MEET THIS EVENING TO TALK OF NEW ORDINANCE.

Will Change Title of Captain Kiely to Chief of Police—Talk of Commissioners.

The police board will meet this evening and discuss the advisability of having an ordinance drafted whereby the title of Captain Kiely will be changed to Chief of Police Kiely. This was recommended by Mayor Jenkins in his annual message and the board has been quick to take action upon the recommendation.

It is believed by the Mayor, as well as by the board, that the dignity of the office will be maintained more satisfactorily by making the change. This will give the head of the police department a better standing throughout the State and in other States, when that department has any official business with the various police departments.

It is not unlikely that some day in the near future there may be established a police commissioner or commissioners. This would be in the line of progress and it is understood that this plan is considered favorably by those who have to do with police matters. Efforts will be made from time to time to increase the efficiency of the police department. It is expected that some new men may be appointed this year. The force at present is not as efficient in markmanship as it should be and more attention may be given to this during the coming year.

CHILDREN TOO.

All Will Enjoy Entertainment at the Casino Saturday.

The entertainment in aid of the Women's Exchange which takes place Saturday afternoon and evening of this week promises to be an exceptionally enjoyable one for the children as well as their elders.

The management has been most considerate of the children's amusement and has arranged for a children's matinee which will begin promptly at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The programme will be both instructive and entertaining. The piano recital by Miss Harriette Cady will be a boon to the lovers of classical music, and the two "farcelets" which conclude the entertainment will cause unlimited fun for the children and the ludicrous situations and humorous dialogue will be often described, repeated and laughed over for months afterwards. Tickets may be purchased at the Women's Exchange and at Armstrong's drug store.

"SUBURBAN" ENGINES FOR JERSEY CENTRAL

New Type of Locomotive to be Installed on Newark and New York Division.

IT WILL SHORTEN TRIP

THESE NEW ENGINES WILL ALSO BE USED FOR ROSELLE-NEWARK TRAINS.

Are Built to be Used in Either Direction—Reasons For Their Use—Other New Rolling Stock Ordered.

With the elevation of its tracks in Newark the Central Railroad of New Jersey intends to make several new departures in the manner of handling its traffic there. The most important of the changes will be the adoption of new rolling stock, which will shorten the running time between that city and New York about five minutes.

About May 15 a type of locomotive new to Newark residents will be placed on the Newark division. It is known as the "suburban" model, and has been used with great success on the Illinois Central for its traffic near Chicago, and is used by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad for its rapid transit service.

It was the original intention of the officials of the New Jersey Central to place a turntable in the freight yards below Mulberry street, but this would entail the loss of the width of three tracks for some distance, and the room could not be spared. After a consultation between the heads of the various operating departments, it was decided to adopt the "suburban" type of locomotive for the Newark division, and accordingly a hurry order for fifteen of them was placed with the Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia. The company expects to have the locomotives at work by June 1.

Among railroad men the "suburban" locomotive is known as a "saddle-back boiler double-header," and has many advantages for hauling trains on short runs. The principal objection to running an ordinary passenger locomotive backward is that the weight is not evenly distributed over the trucks. With the new style the weight is balanced over the driving wheels. This model of passenger locomotive has the advantage of getting under headway after leaving a station very quickly and is very easily controlled.

Officials of the New Jersey Central, in the department of motive power, estimate that the new locomotive will be capable, if desired, of making sixty miles an hour. The driving wheels are to be sixty-three inches in diameter, and, considering the stroke of the piston and boiler surface, it is estimated that the "suburban" should make a mile an hour for every inch in the diameter of her drivers.

It is the intention of the officials to substitute modern passenger coaches for the old ones now in service on the Newark division, and an order has been placed with the Harlan and Hollingsworth Company, of Wilmington, Del., for forty new passenger, combination and vestibule cars of the latest type.

That the Central intends to improve its facilties over its whole system, is indicated by recent orders placed with the Brooks Locomotive Works, of Dunkirk, N. Y., and with the Baldwin Locomotive Works, of Philadelphia, which calls for sixty locomotives, classified as follows: Fifteen switching, twelve suburban, twenty-five ten-wheel passenger, three "Chautauqua" fast express type, three "Atlantic" fast express type and two ten-wheel fast freight locomotives of the "483" type.

Of the new locomotives, as many of the "suburban" class as are necessary to handle the traffic between Newark and New York will be placed on that division, and probably three of the switch engines will be used in the Newark freight yards.

As soon as the new freight depot on Mulberry street is completed, the old row of buildings on Lafayette street, now used as a freight station, will be removed, and the space filled with switches. When this is done, excursionists can be landed, if desired, on the sidewalk on Lafayette street.

With the completion of the elevated tracks change will be made in the schedule, and it is said that during the rush hours trains will be run at fifteen minute intervals. The "suburban" class of locomotives will also be run on trains to Elizabeth, Elizabethport and Roselle, and the schedule on that branch will be run improved.

Social Evening.

The Misses Vodemeyer, of Fairview avenue, gave a sociable to a few of their friends, Tuesday evening. Games and music were the features which passed several hours very pleasantly. Among those present were the Misses Lu Windham, Carry Beiter and the Misses Bartlow.

WAS RAISING THE MONEY

"DOC" DOTY EXPLAINED WHY HE HAD SKIPPED THE TOWN.

But His Mission Was Not Successful and a Friend of His Helped Him Out.

After eluding the police since January 14, "Doc" Doty returned to this city yesterday and was at once placed under arrest. He was held on an old charge of fast and reckless driving committed on West Front street. He was arrested at the time but on being released in the custody of his counsel, William G. DeMeza, to appear for trial later, he conveniently disappeared.

When arraigned before City Judge Runyon, this morning, Doty pleaded guilty to the charge. He explained his long absence by saying he had simply gone away to raise funds enough to get him out of his trouble. The court observed that he had been away long enough to raise $10 and if he hadn't he could work it out at Elizabeth at the rate of fifty cents a day. Doty didn't have the money, but it was produced later by some friend.

In his complaint to the police yesterday, James Burke declared Doty was one of the men who had robbed him at Elizabeth, but this charge was withdrawn.

THE TURKEY WAS KING AT TRINITY'S SUPPER

Many Assembled to Partake of the Excellent Meal Which Was Offered.

A MUSICAL PROGRAMME.

ANNUAL AFFAIR OF THE LADIES' CHRISTIAN WORK SOCIETY.

Held in Lecture Room of Trinity Reformed Church Last Evening—Will be Continued There This Evening.

In every sense of the word, the turkey supper given by the Ladies' Christian Work Society, of Trinity Reformed church, in the lecture room of the edifice, last evening, was a successful affair. A choice menu had been prepared and there was an abundance of everything to satisfy the appetite.

As might be expected the cooking was excellent, and while the turkey formed the main item of the bill of fare, the array of other dishes proved particularly palatable. The hours for supper were from 6 until 9 o'clock and all during that time there was a steady stream of "boarders." Everyone received attention as quickly as possible and there was no excuse for one not thoroughly appeasing his hunger. During the evening 294 suppers were served.

What made the supper all the more enjoyable was the tasteful adornments of the tables. This was a feature of the affair for it made the appearance of the room all the more inviting.

A short informal prorgamme was given. It consisted of instumental music. Those participating in this feature were Mrs. N. E. Buckley, piano; Mrs. E. W. Saums, violin; and Elmer Wheeler, flute.

The supper will be given again this evening during the same hours, from 6 until 9 o'clock. There will be plenty to eat and a large crowd is expected.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Mrs. Seaman Wiliams, chairman, Mrs. P. M. Demarest, Mrs. A. M. Gillem, Mrs. E. Van Doren, Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver, Mrs. H. P. Pugh, Mrs. O. W. Dunham and Mrs. Caspar Bosterli. Presiding at the various tables are Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. S. C. Baker, Mrs. Ellen Disborough, Mrs. H. B. Paul, Mrs. Charles J. Baxter, and Mrs. H. W. Marshall, assisted by Mrs. J. Williams. The waitresses are the Misses Berg, Jessie Little, Grace Emmons, Nettie Young, Grace Rowland, Sadie Holmes, Minnie Wyman, May Van Fleet, Ada VanDoren, Bessie Martin, Emma Cutter, Gertrude Tier, and Mrs. Wm. Wyman.

The candy table was in charge of Mrs. E. H. Bird, Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle, and Miss Minnie M. Williams, and the cake table was in charge of Mrs. H. C. VanName and Mrs. P. D. Stuart. Mrs. B. D. Newell acted as cashier for the candy and cake tables, with Mrs. J. C. VanDyke as her assistant, while E. H. Bird was at the door. Shadow pictures were taken during the evening by William H. Olmsted.

He told City Judge Runyon, this morning, that he had just commenced the oil treatment but had taken several parting drinks of gin, which combined his former prescription. When the two got acqainted, he lost his bearings. Sentence was suspended on condition that the oil be his only antidote in the future.

WILL BE CHIEF OF POLICE

POLICE BOARD ACTED ON MAYOR JENKINS' RECOMMENDATION.

Will Introduce Ordinance at Next Council Meeting—One Officer Fined.

The Police Board met last evening for the first time this year. There was not a great deal of business to consider. As previously stated in The Daily Press, the board took action on the recommendation of Maycr Jenkins and at the regular meeting of the Council next Monday evening, an ordinance will be introduced changing the official title of Captain Kiely to Chief of Police Kiely. There is no doubt but what the ordinance will go through as the majority of the Council favor it.

Patrolman Nicholas Myers appeared before the board last evening charged with an infraction of the rules. As he was found guilty the usual fine was imposed. Aside from these matters mentioned there was nothing else of importance to engage the attention of the members and the meeting adjourned early.

JUNIORS' NIGHT.

Benevolent Council's Fair at Washington Hall Attracted Many of That Order Last Evening.

The fair being held in Washington Hall this week under the auspices of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., was continued last evening with much success. It was known as "Junior night" and the largest attendance of the week was recorded. All of the booths did a good business and the dancing was one of the greatest pleasures.

A feature was the slack-wire and juggling performance given by Frank Sheppard and the tumbling by Clarence Pope. During the forepart of the evening Mr. Sheppard gave his performance, while Mr. Pope appeared later. The work of these artists won much applause from the audience and they appreciated it by giving some of their best tricks.

The various contests continue merrily and it is said that the race for the various prizes is very close. The fair will be continued this evening with new attractions.

DRAMATICS GIVEN FOR REFORM CLUB MEMBERS

Richard Foote, Assisted by Others, Gave Them a Pleasing Programme.

EVERY SEAT WAS TAKEN

FIRST PART OF EVENING DEVOTED TO SHORT TEMPERANCE TALKS.

A One-Act Play, a Scene From "Othello," and a Temperance Sketch Found Very Much Favor With Audience.

Every seat was taken in Reform Hall, last evening, when a dramatic entertainment was given under the auspices of the Reform Club.

The meeting opened with the customary song service led by the president, John Goodwin, Scripture reading by Chaplain W. F. Richards and prayer by Lewis E. Barkalew. Short temperance talks were then given by the president, B. W. Hand and W. C. Smith.

The rest of the evening was then devoted to the entertainment which was under the direction of Richard Foote, the California tragedian. This part of the programme opened with a one-act play entitled "The Sculptor's Daughter." Mr. Foote took the part of the sculptor, "Hugo," the hunchback. Miss Adele Ohl was "Tisa," the sculptor's daughter, while Miss Hoffman was "Bianca," the betrayed wife. Miss Suzanne Kranz was "Elena," the maid in waiting.

In part second the well-known handkerchief scene from "Othello" was given. In this Mr. Foote took the part of "Othello." Miss Kranz was "Desdemona," while Miss Hoffman played the part of "Emelia." The programme closed with an original sketch entitled "The Fallen Angel," by Mr. Foote. The sketch was given by Mr. Foote and John Goodwin, and pictured the death of a brilliant mind crazed by rum and morphine. Mr. Goodwin took the part of the rum seller, while Mr. Foote played the part of "The Fallen Angel."

During the evening Miss Kranz sang the famous "Magnetic Waltz," a masterpiece of Arditi, and she was recalled, when she sang for an encore, "Comin' tho' the Rye." W. C. Smith made a strong appeal for signers to the pledge. Mr. Foote was heartily thanked for his efforts on behalf of the club.

REPAIRING BRIDGE.

Bridge Between the Amboys Was Discovered to be Weak in Several Places.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Perth Amboy, Jan. 31—The New York and Long Branch Railroad Company has a large force of men at work on the drawbridge over the Raritan river, between Perth Amboy and South Amboy.

For several weeks the company's repair gang has been working on the bridge, and it is believed that weak places, not suspected, were discovered, resulting in a large addition to the force. Piling that is unsteady is being replaced and the iron work is being thoroughly examined.

It is reported among the men at work that $15,000 is to be spent at once strengthening the bridge. The bridge has been in use nearly twenty-five years, and for two years it has been reported at intervals that a new structure is to take its place.

COMPLETE POWER FOR CROSS-COUNTRY LINES

Senator McKee's Bill Will Give Them Rights to Cross the Highways.

HE HAS ANOTHER BILL.

WHICH PLACES STATE LIMIT ON AUTOMOBILE ORDINANCES.

Cannot Compell Them to Run Less Than Eight Miles an Hour in Cities and Less Than Fifteen in Rural Districts.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Jan. 31—A bill intended to deprive township committees, borough councils and boards of freeholders of any and all jurisdiction over roads under their care and supervision so far as imposing regulations or restrictions upon trolley companies desiring to cross such highways are concerned, has been introduced by Senator Wood McKee, of Passaic.

The measure, which was presented at the request of a Bergen county traction company, will, if it becomes law, allow cross-county trolleys to be built and grade crossings to be established when and where the company's plans require them, in any manner they please, without asking the permission or consent of the local authorities or making any terms other than to obtain rights of way from the property owners whose lands they cross.

So far as its immediate effect is concerned the bill is intended to help out one of the cross-country lines being built through the northern part of the State, where the company has acquired rights of way through private land and is being held up by a township committee, which demands certain concessions from the company before it will give the desired permission to cross a country road at grade. If the McKee bill passes, the crossing can be made without any permission from the authorities, the only restrictions being that such crossings are to be at right angles and the companies are to keep the crossings in passable condition.

The bill, it is believed, would aid the several trolley companies recently organized to build lines to all parts of the State, across country, at no other cost or difficulty than obtaining the rights of way across private lands. The bill does not apply to trolley companies whose lines are laid in and occupy any portion of the streets and highways longitudinally, and confers no privileges upon the corporations so far as city streets are concerned.

Another measure, fathered by Senator McKee, will meet with the unanimous approval of automobilists, but is likely to bring out a storm of protests from farmers and residents of rural localities, as well as pedestrians and drivers. At present the law allows each municipality to regulate the speed of all vehicles using its streets, the State law making a maximum speed of eight miles an hour.

In the McKee bill it is provided that no local ordinances shall restrict the speed of automobiles to less than eight miles an hour in populous sections, while in rural or sparsely localities the horseless carriages are to be allowed to scorch at the rate of at least fifteen miles an hour, and no penalty for violation of speed ordinances or laws by an automobilist to be greater than $10 for each offence.

CHANGES IN MARSHALS.

Probable That Campbell Will Remain at Head of Borough Police.

It is currently reported that several changes will be made in the force of marshals after the reorganization of the Borough Council in March. What the complexion of the new force will be cannot be learned at this time, for the proper officials refuse to discuss the matter. Whatever changes may be made, it is quite certain that Chief Marshal Campbell will continue in his present capacity as head of the force.

ALL SCOTCH PLAINS HONORED HIS MEMORY

Business Was Suspended During John R. Marsh's Funeral Yesterday.

HELD IN AFTERNOON.

FUNERAL SERMON PREACHED BY REV. J. S. BRAKER, FORMER PASTOR.

Assisted in Conducting Services by Rev. G. M. Shott—An Impressive Service—There Were Beautiful Floral Tributes.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Jan. 31—The funeral services of John Radley Marsh were held yesterday afternoon from the late home when the residents of this town and vicinity gathered to pay respect to one of its oldest and most respected citizens. The business of the town was practically suspended during the hours of the service, in recognition of one who for nearly a half century had been identified with its every interest.

The service was held at 2:30 o'clock. When Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, began the obsequies, the house was filled with sorrowing friends. The sermon was preached by Rev. J. S. Braker, formerly pastor of the Baptist church and a personal friend of the deceased. Mr Braker chose for his text Epistle of James 4:14:—"What is your life? It is even as a vapor that appears for a little while and then passes away."

The speaker said that at such a time a minister was expected to speak words of admonition and consolation. Death was likened to an intermingling of him who had gone on before, while those left were to look to Him who doeth all thing well. Mr. Braker said that he would not speak reminescently of the deceased, for he had lived and moved among the townspeople for many years and all could learn some helpful lesson from the life just closed.

During the service Elmer E. Runyon sang tenderly the favorite hymn of the deceased, "There is a Green Hill Far Away." The expressions of sympathy in the way of flowers were many including set pieces and cut flowers. At the close of the service all were given an opportunity to look upon him who was respected in life and honored in death. Interment was made in the family plot in the Baptist cemetery.

NEW JAIL.

Present One in the Borough is Far From Satisfactory—Change May be Expected.

There is some discussion in the borough over the advisability of abandoning the jail. A new one is felt to be sorely needed. The present structure, according to the statement of one councilman, is a disgrace to the municipality.

The interior is ill fitted; it is horribly cramped and there is no ventilation. After being closed all night the air is foul. This is the opinion of the councilman in question and there are many citizens who agree with his testiments in the matter.

As one boroughite says the time is fast approaching when it will be absolutely necessary to have a new structure for the purpose and there is no reason why one should not be secured at once. The mayor won't talk on the subject, but it will not be surprising if an early date action towards the desired end is taken by the Borough Council.

Prize to Section Foreman.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has awarded to John Burke, of Phillipsburg, a section foreman on the Belvidere-Delaware division, the first prize, $50, for having sub-division L., his section of track, in superior condition to all the other sections at the last inspection by the road officials.

To Take Possession.

Druggist R. J. Shaw will take possession of his new store on West Front street the first of next week.

FREE DAY.

Pupils in Borough High School Who Have Been Industrious Get a Day.

This is "free day" in the North Plainfield public schools. To the average person this term has no significance, but to the children it comes as a reward for industry and progress in their studies.

The day is observed once a month, but today the holiday is given only to the meritorious pupils in the High School. The reason for this is that Monday is promotion day, and the pupils of the grammar and primary departments are preparing for the change.

PUT MONEY BACK AGAIN

GEO. M'ENTEE EXPLAINED WHAT HAPPENED AT ELIZABETH.

But He Was Held on Bail on Charge of Robbing James Burke.

George McEntee, the West End hay carter, who is accused by James Burke, of Plainfield avenue, with robbing him of $40 in the Elizabeth depot, Wednesday morning, was arraigned before Justice Nash at police headquarters, this morning. He pleaded not guilty to the charge but enough evidence was furnished to warrant his being held for the Grand Jury in $200 bail. S. S. Swackhamer handled the case for the State and McEntee's interests were looked after by Counsellor John Owens.

Burke testified in his own behalf but his case really rested on the story of David Merritt, night porter at the depot. He testified that he saw McEntee take a roll of bills from Burke's pocket but as he understood they were brothers he said nothing.

The defendant went on the stand, unsworn, and declared he picked the money off the floor but afterward placed it back in Burke's clothing. He intimated that it might have been taken by other men who were loitering about the place.

The lantern slides were operated by A. V. Searing, Jr.

After the entertainment a social time followed and refreshments were served.

EPWORTH SOCIAL.

A benefit dance was given in Saengerbund Hall last evening, to raise funds for the relief of John Cary, a colored man, who lost his household goods in a recent fire at his home on Manning avenue.

Beside dancing, music and refreshments were the attractions. Eugene O'Rielly's orchestra was in attendance. The committee on arrangements consisted of Wililam H. Jones, James Scott, James Walker, Abraham Brown and George Henderson.

POSSIBLE SITE FOR NEW BOROUGH SCHOOL

Warren Chapel Suggested as an Available Location for New Schoolhouse.

MIGHT MOVE BUILDING.

SOME OBJECTIONS TO THE PROPOSED LOCATION ON VINE STREET.

The Watchung School Cannot be Enlarged Satisfactorily—Some Other Sites Suggested—The Warren Chapel Plan.

Already the agitation for more school accommodations in the borough is growing, and there appears to be an unaminous opinion favorable to the erection of a new building, as was suggested in Wednesday's Daily Press. In all probability the matter will engage the attention of the Borough Board of Education at its next regular meeting.

Some are inclined to oppose the selection of the Vine street site. This location is in part of the Somerset street school property. The opposition arises from the fact that the tract is deemed too small for the purpose. It is argued that for appearance's sake, at least, there should be ample grounds surrounding the building when erected. In this case the location would be objectionable. Since the idea of erecting a public library has been broached, the Vine street site has received less favor for it is there that a number of citizens believe the proposed institution should be built.

The board has already discussed the advisibility of making an addition to the Watchung school, but for two reasons at least this plan has been abandoned. The first is that the present structure is not suited for enlargement or additions. Such a course would have the effect of shutting out the light from the part of the building now used and the style of architecture would suffer much inconvenience to the pupils. The majority of these are now housed in the Somreset street school, and they live in the western section of the borough.

Some one has suggested that a suitable site could be found in the neighborhood of Grove street and Prospect place, but this has its drawbacks also. A bright idea has occurred to one boroughite who has volunteered the suggestion that Warren chapel be purchased for use by the school board. It is well known that the congregation of Warren chapel desires to dispose of its present church edifice, in order to be able to erect a larger structure. The edifice could be obtained at a reasonable figure.

If this were done, many alterations would have to be made. The building would accommodate at least four classes and relieve the present over crowded condition in the Somerset street schools. There is no cellar, of any size, under the structure at present, and one would have to be built.

The citizen who made this suggestion advanced the opinion that it would not be a bad idea to purchase the building in question and then remove it. On the site, he said, could be erected a commodious structure, which would reflect credit on the borough. One of the chief advantages would be the matter of location. The subject is still in its infancy and before long something substantial may be expected.

COMMUTERS DELAYED.

Derailed Car at Elizabeth Stopped Central Traffic for an Hour.

By the derailment of a car on the New Jersey Central at Elizabeth, yesterday morning, many of the Plainfield commuters were late in getting to their offices. The trains leaving here at 7:25, 7:38, 7:48 and 7:55 were delayed for some time as were the Roselle trains also. The blockade lasted altogether about one hour.

Of Historic Value.

Of much historic value, and of especial interest to genealogists, are the folowing books given to the Public Library by Col. Mason W. Tyler: Aunual Register of the Society of Colonial Wars, Year Book of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, and the Year Book of the New York Society of the Sons of the Revolution. These books are finely illustrated and form a valuable addition to the reference department.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Four years ago the Minnesota Legislature provided that the nominations in Hennepin county, where Minneapolis is situated, should be made by popular vote at the primaries. It has been so satisfactory in that county, which polls over 40,000 votes, that the Legislature has now applied the law to the whole State.

This Minnesota law is something like what the Democrats thought they were going to get here some years ago, when they adopted the Record plan. It does away with middlemen, and makes the individual voters the judges of candidates. An average representative of a party is secured, but there is no possibility of shading the ticket for race or locality.

In casting about for means to reform the primaries in New Jersey it is not probable that the Minnesota plan will be adopted.

It would be cheaper and more effective to provide a primary election law that would require the regular election officers to serve in the voting districts as they do in regular elections, and have all parties make their nominations in the same manner as they elect the candidates.

There is no reason why the people could not go to regular polling places and vote for any set of candidates, just as they now vote the regular party ticket.

Each party could get out primary election tickets, and Republicans, Democrats and others could go to the same polling places and vote one ticket, any ticket the voter pleased.

This would provide a genuine registry list for all voters, and would be eminently fair. It would prevent rowdyism at the primaries, and would allow the people to have a voice in the selection of candidates.—Jersey City Journal.

LITERARY.

Western subjects and contributors are receiving much attention in the Century Magazine this year. Upon the conclusion of Mr. Hough's three papers on "The Settlement of the West," illustrated by Remington, and before the beginning of those by Ray Stannard Baker on "The Great Southwest," for which the distinguished artist Maxfield Parrish has been sent to make illustrations, a number of miscellaneous articles of special interest to the west will appear. In the February number these comprise "Chicago's Great River-Harbor," by Elliott Flower, illustrated by Reuterdahl, in which the subject is treated in its commercial and picturesque aspects; a story of Oklahoma entitled "A Government of the People," by J. W. Piercy, a new Indiana writer, with pictures by Justice; a tale of the Southwest, entitled "A Desert Romance," by Frederic Remington, with his own pictures; a paper on "Lincoln and Kentucky," by Cicero T. Sutton, with a new Lincoln portrait; and lastly, a group of "Poems of the West," dealing with gold-digging, the old Santa Fe trail, the prairie and the Sierra. An article underlined for an early number is "The Plains Across," by Noah Brooks, a record of personal experience in the early fifties, for which Mr. Remington has made some of his most novel and dramatic pictures.

Apparently the St. Nicholas has made a change pleasing to its readers in substituting a "long short-story" complete in each number for the usual instalment of a serial. In the March number the long story is a bright bit of fanciful, humorous nonsense by Bennet W. Musson, of Rochester, N. Y. "Through Fairyland in a Hanson Cab" is the title, and this title strikes the note of incongruity that characterizes the jolly story. Little Gretchen, the heroine, the Giant Gnome, the Poet and the Objector are sure to become favorites with lovers of Snarks and Boojums. It is enriched by Miss Cory's illustrations. Next to this in length is the story called "An Anglo-American Alliance," which is based upon the adventures of two American boys in the Bermudas. "Old Strategy" is a story of the hunting of mountain lions—A sport made popular by President Roosevelt's yet recent hunting-trip in the west. Minor features of the number include bright poems by Margaret Johnson, Grace Fraser and Edwin L. Sabin, and several short articles and stories. To the children themselves of the departments of the magazine offers great attractions, there being awards of prizes in three out of the four departments.

To Elect Deputy Grand Chancellor.

The members of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will celebrate their fifteen hundredth meeting this evening. Prior to the festivities there will be a meeting of Knights from district 14, when a deputy grand chancellor will be elected.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Assorted chocolates, caramels and bon bons are some of the specials at Fowler's candy kitchen. All goods made on the premises and guaranteed to be pure. Call and see them made.

A miniature Flowery Kingdom exists on North avenue. It is Stanley's floral store, where the daintiest bunch of carnations can be had at little cost. Stop in and admire the beautiful roses.

Don't have any "winter of discontent." W. W. Wilson, the West Third street grocer, has a full line of canned goods which are selling at prices exceedingly small. His shelves look like the store room of a canning factory, but the stock will rapidly disappear

How does a fancy vest strike you? One of the seasonable kind in any shade you wish. Harry Werner, the men's furnisher, has just received a large lot and the prices are the most reasonable ever offered. Better drop in and see them before they are all spoken for.

It is a recognized fact that good health is largely promoted through a proper covering of the feet. Neglect this and one is bothered with colds which lead to serious complications. John H. Doane, the West Front street shoe dealer, has the proper kind of shoes at popular prices.

Powlison & Jones are still at their old stand. Their's is the reliable furniture house that you hear spoken of so often. Been in their own store for years and have built up a splendid trade. No need of going to New York for household goods while Powlison & Jones continue to exhibit such large stocks.

With such a large stock of seasonable goods it is easy to understand why Crosby & Hill's store is so popular. Everything to be found in a well-kept dry goods house is there in large variety and at prices that are sure to suit everyone. This firm also makes a specialty of certain goods and offer great bargains.

THEATRICAL.

Proctor's, Newark, continues to present the best vaudeville attractions obtainable. This policy has established the theatre in immediate favor. The daily bargain matinees are thronged with women and children and the theatre is packed at night. Mme. Herrmann, the widow of Herrmann the Great, is the headliner. She will present an act entitled "A Night in Japan," introducing all of the famous feats of legerdemain which brought her husband into such remarkable reknown as a magician. Hoyt's "A Midnight Bell" will be the dramatic offering of the Proctor Stock Company at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street. The bill of continuous vaudeville at the Twenty-third Street will be headed by May Edouin who will be assisted by Fred Edwards in the presentation of a little comedy entitled "All in the Family." Shean and Warren will present a travestry act under the title "Kidding the Captain." The Fifth Avenue will have one of the late Roland Reed's best starring pieces, "Innocent as a Lamb," presented by the Proctor Stock Company as the leading feature of its bill. Clay M. Green has written a new travestry, following up the success of "Surelock Holmes," and the Proctor Stock will tell of "Four Times Foiled, or, the Marriage of Hamaronec Marsh." These travesties by Mr. Greene will be a feature of the Proctor entertainments, hereafter. The return of Peter F. Dailey to Broadway will be a special event in next week's happenings at the Fifth Avenue. He will be seen in a sketch especially written to bring out his peculiar talents and will be supported by a special company. The Proctor Stock Company will present "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" at the Fifty-eighth Street, preceeded by the clever little curtain raiser, "His Little Error."

To Move Barber Shop.

George Richter, the barber, will remove his place of business from the Silbert building on Somerset street, to a store further up the same thoroughfare, owned by J. Heidloff. The change will be made in the early part of the coming month.

Child Worth Millons.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird, of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. L. W. Randolph.

LUNACY BILL PASSED.

New York Assembly Votes to Abolish State Hospital Boards.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 31.—The Rogers bill abolishing state hospital boards of managers and extending the duties and powers of the state lunacy commission has been passed in the assembly by a vote of 97 yeas to 45 nays.

The vote was not reached until after a protracted debate which lasted until 3:45 p. m. During the progress of the bill nearly every member was heard at more or less length. On the final passage all of the Republicans who voted in the negative, eleven in number, explained their reasons for so doing.

Much interest was taken in the hearing on the bill of Assemblyman Burke compelling railroad companies to pay their employees semimonthly. The bill was opposed by William P. Rudd, representing the New York Central railroad, who declared that the company he represented employed 39,931 men. He declared that it would be a physical impossibility to comply with the provisions of such a law.

A letter from John B. Stanchfield in opposition to the bill was read. He represented the Erie railroad and declared the adoption of such a bill would work a hardship on that road.

No State Tax Levy.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 31.—The state board of tax commissioners in its annual report to the legislature says that it is probable that during the current year it may be unnecessary to prepare an equalization table, as it is anticipated that the constitutional requirements of a small exaction for canal bonded indebtedness may be satisfactorily provided for without any direct tax levy. This will permit the state board in its annual conferences with the local assessors to pay more attention to equalization between tax districts and to give instruction to assessors along the lines of local duties. There was an increase in 1891 in the assessed valuation of real and personal property of $105,161,629, which represented an increase in real of $75,620,217 and in personal of $29,541,412.

BRIBE WAS OFFERED.

Some Important Developments at the Trial of Lawyer Patrick.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The most important feature of the cross examination of Millionaire Rice's nephew at the Patrick trial yesterday was his statement that he had a written agreement with the William M. Rice institute, through Captain Baker, whereby he was to get $75,000 if the will of 1896 was probated.

As the will of 1896 only provided $5,000 for the witness Patrick's lawyers made much of this fact as showing that Captain Baker and the Rice institute were willing to pay the heirs more than the will allowed in order to prevent a contest.

Rice's nephew testified that Jones wired him of Rice's death on the Monday following the alleged murder, that he saw Patrick on his arrival here and that Patrick told him he was heir to $30,000 and his son heir to $60,000.

Preparing For the Prince's Voyage.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—The North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm, which will carry Prince Henry to the United States, is being fitted out in the Kaiser dock at Bremerhaven. The liner's machinery has been gone over with unusual care. The apartments set aside for the use of Prince Henry consist of a salon, bedroom and bathroom on the promenade deck. The arrangements seem to indicate that Prince Henry will take his meals in the public dining room, as he has done upon previous voyages, when he showed himself to be a companionable traveler and fond of the smoking room. The officers of the Kronprinz Wilhelm believe that their vessel will make the dock at New York in the morning of Feb. 22.

Additional Warrants For Bribers.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—It is stated that several additional bench warrants have been ordered issued by the grand jury that is investigating the Suburban Street railway bribery cases. Neither the number of warrants nor the names of the men for whom they were issued have been made public. Among the witnesses before the grand jury are John H. Blessing, a member of the defunct commission firm of Gaylord & Blessing, who acted as promoter of the north and south bill; Harry A. Faulkner, member of the house of delegates, and Zach Tinker, treasurer of the Columbia Brewing company. Subpœnas for a great number of other witnesses have been issued.

Virginia Town Destroyed.

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 31.—The little town of Ivanhoe, in Wythe county, has been almost entirely destroyed by fire. The stores of J. W. Miller, E. H. Huddles, J. C. Lawson and Pierce & Co., a brick building just completed and intended for a bank, two grocery stores, the postoffice and several dwellings were burned. The building in which the postoffice was located was also used by Postmaster Jewett and family as a dwelling.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Snow and frost impeded traffic and work in England.

Charles F. Sprague, former member of congress from Massachusetts, died in Providence, R. I.

The navy department announced that Rear Admiral Sampson will be retired Feb. 9 on account of age.

Rear Admiral Rodgers telegraphed that hope had been abandoned for the safety of the ten marines lost in Samar.

A jury at Frankfort, Ky., found James Howard guilty of the assassination of Governor Goebel and fixed punishment at life imprisonment.

IS ALMOST PACIFIED.

Philippine Archipelago Is Assuming Peaceful Conditions.

SAMAR THE CHIEF STORM CENTER.

General Chaffee Hopes by the End of February to Announce Complete Control With the Exception of That Island.

MANILA, Jan. 31.—The general outlook for pacification in the archipelago everywhere outside of the island of Samar has never been more favorable than at the present time since the original outbreak of the Filipino insurrection. The insurgents have been broken up into small bands and are everywhere fleeing for shelter. Daily they surrender, are captured or are killed.

The policy of reconcentration and the stern measure of closing the ports to commerce have accomplished everything expected of them. General Chaffee still hopes that by the end of February the island of Samar alone will remain not pacified.

Those provinces bordering on the provinces of Batangas and Laguna, in southern Luzon, have been patrolled by the native constabulary, who have done excellent work and who have received the commendation of General J. Franklin Bell, commanding in those provinces.

The members of the United States Philippine commission are proud of this constabulary, which was organized following their suggestion, and the greatest care is exercised in the selection of officers for this force. During the past month eighty-two military posts have been handed over to the native constabulary.

General Chaffee has taken effective steps to make sure that there will be no friction between the military and civil authorities. The most positive orders have been issued to all military commanders to co-operate in every way with the civil authorities, without relaxing in severity, when they have occasion to deal with active insurgents.

A Mutinous Crew.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Jan. 31.—The British sloop of war Buzzard has arrived here from Barbados, leaving immediately for Mayaguez, Porto Rico, with the British consul to Porto Rico, W. P. Churchward, on board, to settle the mutiny among the crew of the British ship Ems, Captain Clough, which left Demerara Dec. 11 for New York, grounded on El Negro and put into Mayaguez Dec. 23 for examination. Two surveys were made of the Ems. Her hull was examined, and she was found to have sustained no damage. Her crew, however, which is composed of representatives of several nations, refused to handle the Ems, claiming she was unseaworthy. A new crew was brought from New York, but the old crew of the vessel refused to leave the ship. Being foreigners, they cannot be discharged here on account of the immigration laws.

The Shaws Locate In Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Ex-Governor Leslie M. Shaw of Iowa, the next secretary of the treasury, arrived here last night with Mrs. Shaw and went at once to the Arlington hotel. Their train was delayed three hours by snowstorms. Mr. Shaw called on the president this morning, when the time of his taking the oath of office to succeed Mr. Gage as secretary of the treasury was fixed for tomorrow morning. This is in accordance with the understanding reached with Secretary Gage before he went back to Iowa to close his affairs there. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw did not go to the White House reception last evening, but remained in their apartments, where they received a few callers. They have taken apartments at the Arlington hotel for the winter.

Lord Milner's Plan.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A blue book just issued gives details of an extensive plan proposed by Lord Milner, the British high commissioner in South Africa, for handling the question of native labor in the mining region. Lord Milner proposes to abolish flogging and to rigidly control the liquor traffic among the blacks. The high commissioner admits the latter to be a tremendous undertaking, but says: "While I realize the difficulties, I also feel that we are bound by hook or by crook to overcome them. The whole credit of the administration is at stake. I am confident that his majesty's government will support our view."

The Last State Levee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The last of the state levees, the reception in honor of the army and navy, was given at the White House last night by President and Mrs. Roosevelt. It was one of the most largely attended of the season. The decorations of the parlors were very effective. Mrs. Roosevelt's gown was of heavy spangled net over blue taffeta. She wore a diamond necklace and three blue ostrich tips. Throughout the evening the Marine band played patriotic airs. Among those behind the line were the members of the cabinet and their ladies.

Famous Pianist Arrives.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, the celebrated pianist, arrived here on the steamship Oceanic, accompanied by his wife. The musician had a narrow escape during the trip from being seriously injured by a piano which became detached from the walls of his statercom by the motion of the ship. Paderewski will remain in the United States ten weeks.

MURDERERS ESCAPE.

Warden's Wife Accused of Aiding Pittsburg Slayers.

THE GUARDS ARE OVERPOWERED.

Provided With Revolvers and Saws the Biddle Brothers, Under Sentence of Death, Make Bold Break For Liberty.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 31.—Two murderers, brothers, under sentence of death, set free by the aid of the wife of the warden of the Allegheny county jail, escaped yesterday from their cells, overpowered three guards, shot two, hurled one man over a corridor railing to the stone floor below, locked all three up in a cell, stole their keys, fled with the woman who had betrayed her husband's trust for love of one of them and are now at large.

Edward and John Biddle were awaiting execution in the county jail for the murder of Grocer Thomas D. Kahney of Mount Washington.

The escape had many sensational features. Both prisoners were armed with revolvers and had been provided with saws, with which they cut the bars in their cells and were ready at any moment to make an opening sufficiently large to pass through. The prisoners occupied adjoining cells on the second range.

Shortly before 4 o'clock in the morning one of them called to James McGeary, who had charge of the outside gate, and asked for some cramp medicine in a hurry, saying his brother was dangerously sick.

McGeary hastened to the cell with the medicine, when John Biddle sprang through the opening in the cell and, seizing the guard around the waist, hurled him over the railing to the stone floor beneath, a distance of sixteen feet.

Edward Biddle joined his brother immediately, and both, with drawn revolvers, hurried to the first floor, where they met Guard Reynolds and shot him.

There were but three men on duty, and the third was on one of the upper ranges. He was ordered down at the point of the revolvers, and the three guards were put in the dungeon.

During the day Warden Soffel made a statement, alleging that his wife is responsible for the furnishing of the revolvers and saws to the Biddles, which enabled them to escape.

In her infatuation for the handsome desperado, Edward Biddle, it is alleged that she has left her husband and her four children and it is supposed has met the escaped convicts at a place agreed upon.

Mrs. Soffel was the only person admitted to the jail since last Sunday.

It is reported that the Biddles took a train at the Fourth avenue station of the Panhandle railroad, which is within a block of the jail, and left for the west.

Warden Soffel is broken hearted. He is completely unnerved and with difficulty could repress his tears. It has been known for several weeks that Mrs. Soffel was taking an interest in the Biddles, and, it is said, she frequently furnished them with dainties outside their usual prison fare.

The county commissioners met during the afternoon and offered a reward of $5,000 for the recapture of the murderers.

Miners and Operators Meet.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 31.—The annual struggle between the operators of bituminous mine in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania and organized miners has been begun here, but the first session of the conference was short, and only preliminary matters were considered. President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America called the conference to order. About 700 delegates were present. President Mitchell was made temporary chairman. A motion that the different districts appoint their members of the committees on credentials and rules was adopted. Operators and miners and each state signing the competitive scale were allowed two members on each committee. The committee on credentials will report today on miners and operators who are entitled to seats in the convention.

Jamaica Hopes For the Canal.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 31.—Addresses presented to the governor, Sir Augustus Hemming, who is making a tour of the island, refer repeatedly to the decision of the United States to build an isthmian canal. Replying to one address, the governor said he had no doubt the canal would be constructed and that it could not fail to benefit Jamaica enormously. Much of the governor's hope of witnessing better times in this colony is believed to be centered in the canal project.

Severe Storms In Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 31.—Furious midwinter gales have been raging here for the past three days. There have been blizzards in some sections of the island. This is the first really severe period of storm this season, the winter up to the present time having proved unusually mild. The present storms have leveled the telegraph lines and blocked the roads in certain portions of the colony and have delayed steamers and generally interfered with traffic.

Casey to Entertain President.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 31.—Rear Admiral Silas Casey, U. S. N., commander in chief of the Pacific station, who arrived here Tuesday from Valparaiso, where his flagship, the battleship Wisconsin, is at anchor, has invited President Riesco to attend a reception in his honor on board the Wisconsin tomorrow. It promises to be a grand affair.

SCHLEY'S BUSY DAY.

As the Guest of the Louisville Knights Templars.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 31.—Admiral Schley as the guest of the Louisville Knights Templars had little opportunity to rest yesterday. From 10 o'clock in the morning, when he visited the Girls' High school, until he left the Knights Templars' ball at midnight every moment of his time was occupied. The greater portion of the day was spent among children, and the admiral shook hands with about 1,000 boys and girls, who expressed their pleasure by cheering their visitor and presenting him with flowers.

The most enthusiastic demonstration of Admiral Schley's visit took place in the afternoon as he was leaving the Pendennis club in the carriage which was to take him to the Masonic Widows and Orphans' home. As he stepped into the vehicle it was surrounded by hundreds of cheering men, women and children, who had been gathering in the street for half an hour and who pressed around him, eager to shake his hand. The forward movement of the admiral's carriage and a platoon of mounted police, who acted as a guard of honor, finally got the admiral clear of the crowd.

The day's programme for the entertainment of the admiral consisted of a visit to the Girls' High school, followed by a breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Jefferson, a trip to the tobacco brakes, a luncheon at the Pendennis club and in the afternoon a visit to the Masonic home and the Industrial School of Reform.

The chief event, however, was the Knights Templars' reception and ball at the Galt House at night. Several hundred uniformed knights and their ladies were present, and the ballroom of the hotel was elaborately decorated with electrical designs, potted plants, flowers and festoons of evergreen.

A QUIET SESSION.

Tillman Entertains the Senate on Revolutionary Matters.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Yesterday's session of the senate was entirely void of the tumultuous scenes which characterized the sessions of the past three days. After the Philippine tariff measure was taken up at 2 o'clock Mr. Tillman delivered a speech devoted almost entirely to a discussion of the part his state took in the war for the independence of the colonies. Incidentally he referred occasionally to the pending bill, drawing morals, as he said, for the benefit of the majority that they might be applied to the Philippines. Prior to taking up the Philippine bill the senate passed a number of unobjected bills on the calendar.

The house passed the bill for the creation of a permanent census bureau. The friends of the civil service law who were opposed to making the employees of the bureau eligible for transfer or retention were overwhelmingly defeated. By the terms of the bill the permanent organization will succeed the present temporary organization July 1, 1902, and all employees on the rolls upon the date of the passage of the act will become eligible for transfer to other departments or retention in the permanent organization. The bill also provides for a manufacturing census in 1905 and for the collection of certain special statistics annually. Early in the session a bill was passed for the protection of the lives of miners in the territories.

A Reason For Schofield's Suicide.

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Louis E. Whicher, junior member of the firm of Schofield, Whicher & Co., made a statement yesterday afternoon to the effect that the personal affairs of Lane B. Schofield, who committed suicide Wednesday, were in such an unsatisfactory condition that had he not ended his life there undoubtedly would have been a change in the firm. Mr. Whicher intending to carry on the business alone. At present he declared it impossible to say just how deeply the firm is involved because of Schofield's injudicious speculations. Letters have been sent by the firm to every client, announcing the death of the senior partner, asking co-operation in the liquidation of the firm's affairs and stating that "it is expected that there will be more than enough to pay in full."

Independent Window Glass Workers

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31.—Forty representatives of the Federated Co-operative Window Glass company, representing more than 800 pots, met here yesterday. The factories represented are the principal independent plants in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The principal business of the meeting was for the reorganization of the company, which was originated last May. A committee was appointed to secure a charter under the laws of New Jersey for the organization of a strong company similar to that formerly operated by the American Glass company.

Set Fire to Boy's Cot.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 31.—Because Frank Arato, an inmate of the County Home For Boys, carried a report of misconduct on the part of Frank W. Wyman, another inmate, aged nine years, Wyman set fire to the cot on which Arato was sleeping. The fire was extinguished before great damage was done. In the city court Wyman was sent to the reform school on a charge of arson. Young Arato was painfully but not seriously burned.

Druggist Blackmailed.

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 31.—J. C. Johnson, a well known druggist of this city, has recovered a postal card warning him that if he does not deposit $1,000 in greenbacks at a certain place by a stated time he will be killed. There is no clew to the writer of the postal card.

TO REPEAL WAR TAX

Committee Decides Upon Almost a Clean Sweep.

TAX ON MIXED FLOUR RETAINED.

Democrats Offer Many Amendments, but Are Defeated by Party Vote. Treasury Has Sufficient Cash to Warrant the Change.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The ways and means committee by unanimous vote has instructed Chairman Payne to prepare a bill repealing all the war revenue taxes except the tax on mixed flour. The action taken was in the form of a resolution to the effect that the bill should provide for the repeal of the remaining war taxes, to take effect on July 1, 1902, except that the repeal of the duty on tea should go into effect Jan. 1, 1903. The only division in committee was on amendments proposed by Democratic members.

Representative Richardson (Tenn.) proposed an amendment to put trust made articles on the free list. This was defeated by a party vote, as was the amendment of Representative Robertson (La.) to continue the tax on "bucket shops."

Representative Newlands (Nev.) offered two amendments, one excepting from the repeal the tax on petroleum and sugar refineries and another imposing a tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent on the gross receipts of any industrial corporation having receipts of $1,000,000 annually. Both amendments were defeated by party votes.

Chairman Payne made the following statement on the proposed repeal:

"The treasury now has an available cash balance of something over $174,000,000. It is not likely that this will be increased materially during the present fiscal year, as the treasury is buying bonds at a rate that will use up the surplus to accumulate between this and the end of the fiscal year, June 30 next. The secretary of the treasury's report estimated a surplus for this year of $100,000,000, and subsequent results seem to confirm this estimate.

"The committee therefore thought it was entirely safe to repeal the remainder of the war revenue taxes, amounting to $68,000,000, and the tax on tea of $9,000,000, in the aggregate $77,000,000, at this time. This will still leave a surplus, estimated upon this year's receipts and expenses, of $22,000,000 or $23,000,000 for the year, while we start upon the next fiscal year with $174,000,000 available cash in the treasury.

"The committee deems it wise to have the repeal of the tax on tea take effect on the 1st of January next in order to enable those, especially retailers and small dealers who have small stocks of the duty paid goods on hand, to dispose of them before the repeal takes effect.

"We can provide a rebate on the tobacco tax and guard against any fraud upon the revenue for the reason that the internal revenue department has this trade under close surveillance and can and will take an account of the stock in the dealers' hands on the 1st of July next. But this will be impossible as to teas, which come in as customs duties and of which the government has no account save as they are imported in large quantities by the importers. Continuing this tea tax to the 1st of January will give us six months' revenue in the next fiscal year upon tea and will make the ultimate reduction for the next year considerably less than $75,000,000. The bill will be presented to the house as soon as it can be prepared."

The Kaiser Turns Artist.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—Three diagrams mounted on cardboard, drawn by Emperor William and showing the naval strength of the United States, Russia and Japan, have been hung in a lobby of the reichstag. These diagrams simply show the vessels of these countries belonging to different classes now built, building or projected. The fact that the diagrams were drawn by the emperor's own hand attracted attention to them and served, as the emperor intended, to stir up interest in foreign naval development.

Preaching Policeman Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—William Henry Crampton, widely known as the "Preaching Policeman," is dead in Philadelphia. Crampton left the police department to become an evangelist. About a year ago a cancer appeared upon his tongue, and in April, 1900, his tongue was removed. Before the operation Crampton repeated all of his sermons into a phonograph with the idea of continuing his work after losing the power of speech.

Schwab Will Not Talk.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation, was seen here in connection with the Wall street rumor that he had resigned the presidency of that concern. Mr. Schwab refused to confirm or deny this report. He repeated twice emphatically, "I won't say anything."

British War Losses.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The war office's casualty list, just issued, shows that in a hitherto unreported engagement at Abraham's kraal, near Koffyfontein, Orange River Colony, Jan. 28, Colonel L. E. Du Moulin of the Sussex regiment and eight men were killed and seven men were wounded.

Horses From Prussia.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—The British war office has ordered 10,000 horses to be bought in Prussia for use in South Africa.

A LIBRARY FOR THE BOROUGH.

While at first thought, the idea of a public library for North Plainfield may seem an excellent one, yet careful consideration tends to show that the plan is not an advisible one. Although Plainfield and North Plainfield are separate municipalities and are likely to be so for some time to come, they possess many interests in common and it is only a question of time when some arrangement will be made to consolidate them. With a Public Library, which is particularly well equipped, on this side of the brook, it would be the height of folly to build another in the borough when Plainfield's institution can be made to answer the double purpose.

There are some residents of North Plainfield who much prefer to be entirely independent of Plainfield in all things. They have opposed any scheme of annexation or consolidation from the start and may be counted on to continue that policy. They do not, however, represent the entire population of North Plainfield. The two municipalities can accomplish a great deal if they act in unison. This subject of a Public Library can certainly be worked jointly with advantage.

Under the present arrangements, residents of the borough can take out books by the payment of a small fee. This is only fair as the city alone provides for its maintenance. If, however, the people of the borough are anxious to have a library, then let the Borough Council take up the matter and make some arrangement with the city authorities which will give the desired result. One effect would certainly be to increase the efficiency of the Public Library for both places.

A school library is an excellent thing. In this city, however, the schools have the use of the Public Library and find no use for an individual one. Some similar method might be used in the borough and then the North Plainfield schools would have the use of a much finer library than they could ever hope to acquire.

When small-pox was first discovered in Plainfield, The Daily Press pursued the policy of giving the full facts concerning the progress of the disease in this city. At that time, we declared that there was little to be feared. As was predicted, the efforts of the Board of Health promptly checked the spread of the disease and now the patients at the isolation hospital are rapidly improving. The danger of contagion from other cities still remains as great as ever but this city's Health Board has demonstrated its ability to control the trouble within the city limits.

It is only fair to the owners of both the Smalley and Coward buildings that the Common Council should not delay in deciding which quarters it will occupy this year. While there has been no expression of opinion as far as the public knows, it has been generally rumored about the city that the decision would be in favor of the new and more modern quarters in the Smalley building on North avenue. By this time, there ought not to be any trouble in knowing how the members of the Common Council feel on the subject.

It will be well for the Common Council to take another step in providing the city with suitable trolley service. A communication was sent to the company some time ago. The result was that the company paid the money still due the city. It failed, however, to provide any better cars or service. When the Common Council meets Monday evening, a very proper thing will be to stir up the company again.

The head of a mercantile establishment in New York has formulated the principles on which his advertising is based, remarks the Philadelphia Record. He has more than a dozen rules, but they can be reduced to this: "To be effective an 'ad' must be a clear, simple, truthful statement of such facts as the advertiser wants to make known, and as detailed as may be considered necessary."

It looks very much as if the constitutional amendments would have to be delayed for three more years before the people of New Jersey will get a chance to vote on them. Such is the view which Governor Murphy appears to have taken and he has communicated with the State Legislature to that effect. The Legislature has, in turn, asked for an opinion from the State Attorney General.

Mayor Jenkins had the right idea when he recommended that the title of chief of police be substituted for captain as head of the city police force. It gives to the officer a better standing outside of the community and makes not the slightest particle of difference to the city itself.

The men of the Seventh-Day Baptist church have demonstrated the fact that they are not entirely out of place in the kitchen and are able to prepare food for the body as well as the mind in very delectable fashion.

It is too bad that Plainfield cannot ring in somewhere in Prince Henry's visit to this country. To be so near the scene of action and yet not able to figure at all is hard luck.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The result of trolley competition in local travel is demonstrated by the schedule of the New Jersey Central's "mosquito" line, between Newark and Elizabeth. Where formerly forty trains were run daily between these points, only seventeen are run at present.

The new block system of signals on the New Jersey Central extends from Jersey City to White Haven, a distance of 142 miles. The longest block is a mile long, while near Jersey City there are many sections much shorter. The system seems to work with perfect satisfaction, as there are very few accidents on the road attributed to the signal system.

A good story is told at the expense of James E. Martine. He is proud of his title "the farmer orator," but the street urchin has added another designation. The other day "Jim," for that's what he says everyone calls him, was standing on the street discussing seriously some topic, probably the price of oats, with a friend. The conversation became quite interesting from all appearances, when a little "street arab" came along and planted himself directly in front of the debaters. Martine, it is said, grew eloquent, and the lad watched the movement of his lips and his every gesture with apparent wonderment. Suddenly he broke his silence and shouted "Hey, Patsy, come here; here's the man what talks." Another little dirty faced urchin hurried to the scene as fast as his frail legs could carry him. The call of the youth had interrupted Mr. Martine. He burst into a hearty laugh and said something. What he said is needless to be told to those familiar with "the man what talks."

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. H. W. Randolph.

Patrick McDonough narrowly escaped drowning in the mill pond, yesterday. While testing the ice to ascertain its thickness and to learn whether or not it was safe to drive a horse over, he suddenly broke through and disappeared from sight. There were several men about cleaning the snow from the ice but they did not see Mr. McDonough break through and he was unable to attract attention for five minutes. At last Edward Conroy attempted to come to the rescue but followed McDonough in the water. Then a combined shout from the shivering men brought several of the nearby workers to the scene and they succeeded in getting Mr. McDonough and Conroy from the water. (Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Jan. 31 — Death claimed another of the village's oldest residents, yesterday morning, when Henry O. Drake passed away at his home after an illness of only a few days with pneumonia.

Nearly two months ago Mr. Drake broke his arm in a collision with a bicycle. Since then he has been kept away from business, but was improving so nicely that he expected to return to work again in a few days. Several days ago he contracted a severe cold which rapidly developed into pneumonia. Other complications set in and yesterday morning at 9:30 the end came.

Mr. Drake was probably the veteran grocery clerk of this section. When a young man he entered the employ of the late James A. Baker, later the firm of Baker & Bead. When this firm ceased with the death of Mr. Baker, several years ago, he entered the employ of Sheelen Brothers, of Fanwood, and remained with them until his last illness.

Mr. Drake was in his sixtieth year of age and is survived by a brother, Randolph, and two sisters, Miss Sarah Drake and Miss Louisa Drake. Notice of funeral later.

THE MODERN NOVEL.

"The Tale and The Character Study" Were Discussed by Miss Carroll.

"The Tale and the Character Study" formed the burden of the delightful talk given by Miss Antoniette Carroll, of New York, in the fourth of her series of lectures on "The Construction of the Modern Novel," at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon. As at the previous talks there was a large audience present, in addition to the forty-three women subscribers to the course.

Miss Carroll pointed out the many distinctions between the novel of plot and incident on the one hand and that of character on the other. One is a story or narrative and the other a study of people. Scott, Stevenson and Crawford were cited as novelists dealing with plots and Thackery, Hawthorne, Eliot and Mrs. Ward as writers of character study.

To Open a Store.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day." L. W. Randolph.

Endeavor Day.

This evening the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will observe "Endeavor Day," with an appropriate programme.

The Telephone.

It has not been many years since a noted scientist, in an exhaustive article, satisfied himself and thousands of others that the telephone could never be brought into practical use. To-day it is estimated there are 2,278,000 telephones in use in the United States alone. No man attempts to do business now without the aid of the 'phone. Business is transacted over the telephone, although the parties are separated by thousands of miles. The home and the office are brought together by means of the telephone. These instruments have now invaded the country districts, and the telephone and the free delivery of mail are going hand in hand. Here in Ohio thousands of farmers have the telephone in their homes, and they find it of immense advantage in a business and social way, and yet the telephone is not many years old.—Toledo Blade.

At Law Since 1856.

The Melbourne law courts have their Miss Flite, a character immortalized by Dickens in "Bleak House." An elderly woman may frequently be seen in the corridors, addressing the empty air—sometimes in passionate tones with outstretched arms, and again in low, threatening mutterings. During the progress of an argument in the county court, before Acting Judge Johnston, some reference was made to the absence of evidence on a certain point. Suddenly the court was startled at hearing a female cry out in irate tones: "I have given plenty of evidence since '56!" A glance around showed that the interrupter was the old lady of the corridors, who was advancing with determination toward the barristers' table.—London Globe.

Valley Forge.

My impression had been that Valley Forge was a wild glen high among the mountains, where winter frosts and snows held unrelaxing sway for many long, dark months every year. But really its situation is neither lofty nor remote, and the rigors of the cold are not nearly what they would be in our more northerly states. Comparatively little snow falls, and often there is not a week's sleighing the winter through. The valley is only 23 miles from Philadelphia, with which it has direct communication by a railroad that skirts along the Schuylkill river.—Clifton Johnson, in Woman's Home Companion.

A Royal Dislike for Finery.

The young empress of Russia, it is said, cares little or nothing about jewels, or, indeed, about any kind of finery, and in this respect presents a striking contrast to her mother-in-law, the still young-looking and even pretty Marie Feodorovna, whose jewel casket in the days when she was empress was the most famous in the world from a gem point of view, hardly second even in the matter of pearls to the collection of the empress of Austria.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Papa's Motto.

Papa—Who is that young man from whom you are receiving such attention, Jane?

Jane—He is a gentleman, papa, of exceedingly bright prospects; and one who is destined to be a man of mark.

"Ah, indeed! Well, Jane, don't forget that it is my motto in life to toe the mark."—Pick-Me-Up.

COLLEGE BOYS COMING.

Concert of Columbia University Musical Clubs at the Casino.

The coming of the Columbia University Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Clubs and their appearance in a concert to be given at the Casino, Thursday night, Feb. 6, is an event of some moment in the social and musical world. No more pleasing college entertainment has visited this city in many years. The musical abilities of the several members of the organization, are said to be far superior to many professionals and a programme of popular and pleasing selections will be presented. A popular scale of prices has been determined on, and reserved seats can be secured as per advertisement.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME.

Epworth League of Monroe Avenue Church Gave an Entertainment.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League, a delightful musical entertainment was given at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last evening. It was attended by a large number of the young people connected with the church.

The programme as rendered consisted of vocal solos by Miss Elsie Stoekel, recitations by Miss Edith L. Burt, piano selections by Miss Florence Morrison, recitations by Jerry Manning and vocal selections by Raymond A. McGee. Each number was followed by an encore.

REPAIRING ROAD.

Jersey Central Will Make Improvements Where Washouts Occurred.

The New Jersey Central is improving the L. & S. division, between Mauch Chunk and White Haven, where the tracks were washed away by the recent flood. An entirely new rock ballasted roadbed has been built and several bad curves which heretofore existed between these points have been done away with. It is said that the company will also build a tunnel near White Haven and make other improvements involving the expenditure of a large sum.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 2, "Time For Refreshment." Text, Mark vi, 30-44.

Tension of mind and soul as well as of muscle needs relaxation to maintain strength and health. Quietness and rest must alternate with activity if we would keep up our power of doing well. Jesus took the disciples apart into a quiet place frequently after He had become worn with teaching and healing. We must have time for thought and feeling as well as hours for practical labor.

In too many Christian lives there is no time given to this essential thing. The "quiet hour" is coming to be recognized as of great value. Let all our young people plan so as to get some time each day to be alone and think a little while. Those who work hard and long in shop, in store, in school or home, on farm or in factory find few minutes of leisure in all the working hours. Many homes have no nooks where there is any privilege of privacy. But ingenuity will always find some place and some time when the pressure of care and ordinary toil can be laid by and the heart can quiet itself for a little talk with Jesus.

How precious these little breathing spaces become as we grow accustomed to use them! At first we may adopt the custom from a sense of duty, but soon we get to looking forward to the hour and planning for it with eager anticipation.

What do you do? How characteristic that is of our busy, rushing life to ask about doing! Why, just do nothing in particular. Sit still a few minutes. Think how good God has been today. What kindness to give health, friends, home, work, food, and so run over the blessings we have had so freely! What privilege to be now alive in God's world; to realize Jesus as present in spirit as truly as He was on the shores of Galilee with the returning disciples! How He talked with them of their work! Talk with me, blessed Lord, of my work, of Thy work! Have I done my work well today for Thy sake? How can I do it better tomorrow? Does it make any difference to Thee how I do my tasks? Help me, then, to do all cheerfully, faithfully. Am I weary, troubled, anxious, let me feel Thy arms of everlasting love folding me around. If Thou dost love me and help me, I can do all so much more gladly and well.

A few passages from the Bible, a verse or two of a hymn, some sentences from a book of devotion, a few minutes on the knees, some words or thoughts of prayer—any or all of these, and whatever else is simple and natural and brings the heart into peace and the quiet contentment and restfulness of God is the right thing for this "quiet time."

On all convention programmes we place some announcement of "refreshments." Why should we not make our daily programme of work to include some place and time for the soul refreshment?

Do not make the mistake of letting any other person share this time with you. Conversation is good in its place, but not in this place. Counsel and consult with others as you can, but never let any one intrude on the time of silence and conference with Jesus. "Come apart awhile."

"Enter into your closet and pray to your Father in secret."

Cultivate the art of quiet meditation if you would be strong and happy in Christ.

Truth First.

The truth is worth more than the man. The more truly a man pursues truth for truth's sake the more does he lose sight of himself in gaining sight of the truth. Many an investigator is more disturbed about his own priority than he is about the priority of the value of the truth. Few finer things could be said of any discoverer than what has been said of the eminent physicist Helmholtz, "He never indulged in one of those reclamations of priority into which scientific vanity is sure to be betrayed, but several times published notes to show that his own results were not so new as he and the scientific world had believed them to be." When the world is doing homage to one whom it acknowledges as its great master in science, what grim delight must he find in reminding his admirers that the truth is first, even though it compel them to regard him as second! Yet this is the true spirit, not alone for the distinguished scientist, but for every plain, obscure man, woman and child. Truth first.—American Friend.

The Test of Jesus.

King Jesus has a test for the loyalty of His followers which towers above every test, "By their fruits ye shall know them." Words will not answer with Him who looks upon the heart, where, concealed from mortal gaze, lie the springs of action. It is not the providence of the believer to judge a fellow Christian in respect of motive, but it is a privilege to discern fruits. Men do not gather grapes from thorn bushes nor figs from thistles.—Christian Herald.

The Discipline of Prayer.

What is prayer for? Not to inform God or to move Him, unwillingly, to have mercy, as if, like some proud prince, He required a certain amount of recognition of His greatness as the price of His favor, but to fit our own hearts by conscious need and the true desire and dependence to receive the gift which He is ever willing to give, but we are not always ready to receive.—Alexander Maclaren.

Divine Kindness.

If gracious kindness God bestows
On those who act against His will,
More surely kind He'll be to those Who strive His bidding to fulfill.
—Rev. Isidor Myers, From The Talmud.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning Feb. 2. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Christian Endeavor day. (Twenty-fifth birthday.)—Matt. xxv, 31-46.

The Christian Endeavor movement is twenty-one years old today. It has reached its majority and is worthy the congratulations of all upon its past achievements and its future promise. Twenty-one years ago today Rev. Francis E. Clark, an unknown, obscure minister of Christ of Portland, Me., gathered the young people of his church together that he might organize them for service "for Christ and the church." Who could have dreamed of the farreaching consequences of that meeting? In the providence of God the movement there started grew to vast proportions. It became a worldwide movement and the name of its founder a household name throughout Christendom.

But what has Christian Endeavor done in twenty-one years? Doing has been its leading characteristic. It has been called "the church at work," and every line of church work has felt the influence of this great providential movement.

1. It has magnified loyalty—loyalty to Christ, to the church, to the Bible, to the midweek services of the church. Christian Endeavor, though so powerful in itself, has ever sought to lose sight of itself in order that it might be loyal to Christ and His church. Its motto is "For Christ and the Church," and its life has proved the appropriateness of its motto. In an age when there has been indifference, doubt and disloyalty the young people of Christendom have been kept loyal.

2. It has magnified Christian service. The Christian Endeavor movement has been a practical movement. It has enlisted the young people of the church in Christian work; it has taught them that they have been saved to serve; it has educated them not only to say "Lord, Lord," but to do the will of the Father in heaven. Endeavorers have fed the hungry, given drink to the thirsty, clothed the naked and visited the sick and imprisoned. Only eternity itself will reveal the tremendous work of this organization both in the church and out of the church. It has indeed been the "church at work," and its work has been blessed and owned by God.

3. It has emphasized Christian fellowship. Being interdenominational in character, it has brought the Christian denominations together as never before. It has taught and practiced the brotherhood of all Christians in Jesus Christ; it has led Christians of all denominations to know each other better, and thus generated a fraternal spirit such as has never before been found in our church life.

4. It has magnified personal devotion and consecration. Daily Bible reading and prayer have been developed, and the consecration service has led thousands to a new idea and practice of consecration.

BIBLE READINGS.

Zech. ix, 10; Matt. v, 16; John ix, 4; Rom. xii, 1, 2; ix, 21; I Cor. x, 31; xv, 58; Col. iii, 17; Jas. i, 22-27; Rev. xxii, 12.

The Establishment of Thought.

That our thoughts may not be dissipated they need a central purpose. That the soul may not float adrift it needs an anchor. Our thoughts take the direction of our works. So it is a proverb of wisdom which says, "Commit thy works unto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be established." Our thoughts are committed to the same that our works are, and it is for the training of thought and inward character that works are supplied. The alternative would be, Commit thy works unto self, and thy thoughts shall be made selfish, continually meaner and unstable. The rescue and salvation of our thoughts and mind are the committal of our works to the Lord, doing them all as unto Him, consulting Him about all that we propose to do, that He may be the central authority of our deeds to whom the gathering of our thoughts shall be.—Friend.

Indecision.

Indecision is many a man's ruin. This is true spiritually as well as temporally. The soul's safety demands prompt action. Favorable opportunities for salvation must be seized at once. Gracious calls are to be heeded without delay. When the Spirit is working in a human heart, it is a risky and fearful thing to say: "Go Thy way for this time. At a more convenient season I will call for Thee." The wise will immediately fall into line with His emotions and accept the Saviour and live as He directs. "Now is the accepted time. Now is the day of salvation." Close in with the overtures of mercy. Run no risks. Time presses. Eternity is near. The judgment is at hand. It may be now or never with you.—Presbyterian.

The Sum of All the Virtues.

Love is not self centered; it is not a selfish principle, nor is it quiescent or indifferent. Love is the soul of action, the essence of service. Disinterested deeds are only love made visible. Love acts not only upon appeal, but it is forever appealing for help. Love differentiates itself in brave deeds, in patient endurance, willingness to bear reproach, in undertaking for others, in dying, if need be, for them. Love is not easily provoked, thinkest no evil. "Love beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things." Love is the sum of all the virtues.—Methodist Recorder.

Directed by God.

Our advancement in the Christian life may be said to depend on one thing—namely, whether we wish to direct God or are willing to resign ourselves to be wholly directed by Him.—Lutheran Observer.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "DR. NIKOLA," "THE BEAUTIFUL WHITE DEVIL," "PHAROS, THE EGYPTIAN," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

Feeling just in the humor for a little moralizing, I opened the lychgate, and entered the churchyard. The congregation were singing the last hymn, the Old Hundredth, if I remember rightly, and the sound of their united voices fitted perfectly into the whole scheme, giving it the one touch that was lacking. As I strolled along I glanced at the inscriptions on the various tombstones, and endeavored to derive from them some notion of the lives and characters of those whose memories they perpetuated.

"Sacred to the memory of Erasmus Gunning, 27 years schoolmaster of this parish. Born 24th of March, 1806, and rested from his labors on September the 19th, 1876." Seating myself on the low wall that surrounded the churchyard, I looked down upon the river, and, while so doing, reflected upon Erasmus Gunning. What had he been like, this knight of the ferrule, who for 27 years acted as pedagogue to this tiny hamlet? What good had he done in his world? Had he realized his life's ambition? Into many of the congregation now worshiping yonder he must have driven the three R's, possibly with the assistance of the faithful ferrule aforesaid, yet how many of them gave a thought to his memory! In this case the assertion that he "rested from his labors" was a trifle ambiguous. Consigning poor Erasmus to oblivion, I continued my walk. Presently my eyes caught an inscription that made me halt again. It was dedicated to the "Loving Memory of William Kitwater, and Susan, his wife." I was still looking at it, when I heard a step on the gravel-path behind me, and turning round, I found myself standing face to face with Miss Kitwater. To use the conventional phrase, church had "come out," and the congregation was even now making its way down the broad avenue towards the high-road.

"How do you do, Mr. Fairfax?" said Miss Kitwater, giving me her hand as she spoke. "It is kind indeed of you to come down. I hope you have good news for us?"

"I am inclined to consider it good news myself," I said. "I hope you will think so too."

She did not question me further about it then, but, asking me to excuse her for a moment, stepped over the little plot of ground where her dear ones lay, and plucked some of the dead leaves from the flowers that grew upon it. To my thinking she was just what an honest English girl should be; straightforward and gentle, looking the whole world in the face with frank and honorable simplicity. When she had finished her labor of love, which only occupied her a few moments, she suggested that we should stroll on to her house.

"My uncle will be wondering what has become of me," she said, "and he will also be most anxious to see you."

"He does not accompany you to church, then?"

"No," she answered. "He is so conscious of his affliction that he cannot bear it to be remarked. He usually stays at home and walks up and down a path in the garden, brooding, I am afraid, over his treatment by Mr. Hayle. It goes to my heart to see him."

"And Mr.-Codd?"

"He, poor little man, spends most of his time reading such works on archaeology as he can obtain. It is his one great study, and I am thankful he has such a hobby to distract his mind from his own trouble."

"Their coming to England must have made a great change in your life," I remarked.

"It has made a difference," she answered. "But one should not lead one's life exactly to please one's self. They were in sore distress, and I am thankful that they came to me, and that I had the power to help them."

This set me thinking. She spoke gravely, and I knew that she meant what she said. But underlying it there was a suggestion that, for some reason or another, she had not been altogether favorably impressed by her visitors. Whether I was right in my suppositions I could not tell then, but I knew that I should in all probability be permitted a better opportunity of judging later on. We crossed the little bridge, and passed along the high road for upwards of a mile, until we found ourselves standing at the entrance to one of the prettiest little country residences it has ever been my lot to find. A drive, some 30 yards or so in length, led up to the house and was shaded by overhanging trees. The house itself was of two stories and was covered by creepers. The garden was scrupulously neat, and I fancied that I could detect its mistress' hand in it. Shady walks led from it in various directions, and at the end of one of these I could discern a tall, restless figure, pacing up and down.

"There is my uncle," said the girl, referring to the figure I have just described. "That is his sole occupation. He likes it because it is the only part of the garden in which he can move about without a guide. How empty and hard his life must seem to him now, Mr. Fairfax?"

"It must, indeed," I replied, my thinking blindness is one of the worst ills that can happen to a man. It must be particularly hard to one who has led such a vigorous life as your uncle has done."

We are selling exceptionally good shoes of just this sort for men and women; children, too.

ARKANSAS' GREAT LOSS.

Damage by the Fierce Sleetstorm May Reach Millions.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 31.—Telegraph and telephone lines are prostrated, railway traffic interrupted and business practically at a standstill as the result of the unprecedented sleet storm in many portions of Arkansas. Advices from Jonesboro, Pine Bluff and many other points indicate that the property damage is heavy. In Little Rock the losses to mercantile stocks and buildings will aggregate $500,000.

The damage was due to the storm of sleet, snow and rain which prevailed from Tuesday morning until after daylight Wednesday. The sleet fell to a depth of about six inches and immediately packed into a solid mass of ice. The weight was too much for the roofs of both business houses and residences, and the inevitable happened. The roofs sagged, and the seams of the tin on roofs of that kind being separated, a melting mass ran through.

Communication cannot be had with many parts of the state, and it is believed when belated reports are in the damage will foot up in the millions. It is the worst visitation of the kind in the history of Arkansas.

COLOMBIAN FLEET SAILS.

Ordered to Again Attempt to Communicate With General Castro.

PANAMA, Colombia, Jan. 31.—The fleet of the Colombian government, composed of the gunboats Boyaca and Chucuito and the armed launch General Campo, has sailed from here, having received orders to communicate with the Colombian general Castro by all means.

General Castro is on the Azuero peninsula, southwest of Panama, and has not been heard from in some time.

An engagement between the vessels of the government and the fleet of the Colombian Liberals, composed of the gunboats Padilla, Darien and Gaitan, will probably take place at Yeguala, thirty miles from here, the place where the government and Liberal vessels had an indecisive encounter Wednesday.

Upon investigation it is learned that the reported defeat of General Castro at the hands of the Liberals is without foundation.

It is said on good authority that within one month the government of Colombia will have 5,000 men on the isthmus.

General Greene's Body to Be Buried.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 31.—The bones of General Nathanael Greene have rested in a zinc box in a vault of the Southern bank for ten months, since they were discovered in the Colonial cemetery by a committee headed by Colonel Asa Bird Gardiner of New York, representing the Rhode Island Society of the Cincinnati. It has now been determined that the remains shall be reinterred under the auspices of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution. The interment probably will be at the foot of the Greene monument, which stands in Johnson square in this city. President Roosevelt is a member of the Georgia Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. He will be invited to attend and participate in the exercises. The Rhode Island Cincinnati will participate.

Belgian Lawmakers Fight.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 31.—The chamber of deputies here was the scene of a free fight yesterday between the Socialist and Catholic factions. The trouble grew out of a proposal to prosecute M. Smeets, a Socialist, for a recent revolutionary speech. The disorder began in the galleries, which were eventually cleared by force. Thereafter the uproar was continued on the floor. The Socialists advanced in a body against the benches of the Catholics, shouting taunts and epithets. The deputies finally engaged in fisticuffs, and the sitting was suspended, but when the session was resumed the disturbance recommenced and prevented the transaction of business.

No Signs of Missing War Sloop.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 31.—Esquimalt is divided with hopes and fears for the safety of the sloop of war Condor and her crew of 140 officers and men, who were last seen on Dec. 2. News is being eagerly awaited from the four cruisers now searching for her, two of which are skirting the coasts for wreckage and two of them scouring the sea, hoping to find the vessel adrift. The finding of what undoubtedly was one of the Condor's boats has caused the gravest apprehension.

AFTER THE COUNTY SEAT

COAST TOWNS TRYING TO GET IT AWAY FROM FREEHOLD.

Bill Will Probably be Introduced into the Legislature to That Effect.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Red Bank, Jan. 31—Is the county seat of Monmouth county to be transferred from Freehold to some coast town? This is a question again being agitated, and which is likely to receive some consideration by the Legislature this winter. It is not a new idea, by any means. Several years ago, the thing was talked about, but it resulted in nothing more than talk.

The people of the shore townships insist that they pay the largest share of taxes, which is a fact undisputed by the residents of the inland communities. Freehold, the latter argue, is a more central location, but the shore folks then say the greater amount of court business comes from the shore.

Some years ago an effort was made to have the county divided; the same reasons being advanced. A hard fight was made for division, but the "anti-dividers" won.

From returns made by the assessors, it is shown that the coast towns and townships pay taxes on real estate assessed at about $45,000,000, against about $13,000,000 paid by the inland territory.

A bill, it is said, will be introduced in the Legislature during the winter removing the county seat. Asbury Park wants it; so do Long Branch and Red Bank.

A GOOD SHOW.

Is That Arranged For Tomorrow Evening at the Casino.

The amateur and musical entertainment, which is booked for a matinee and evening performance at the Casino, tomorrow, promises to be an artistic and financial success.

Much time has been expended by the promoters of the affair, and as the plays to be presented are distinctly professional in character rehearsals have been numerous and hard work demanded from those volunteering to take part.

Douglas S. Houghton, of New York, who is dramatic coach for the "Players' Club," and many other soical dramatic clubs throughout New York and New Jersey, is directing the rehearsals of the two farces, "My Awful Chum" and "A Needless Stratagem," which constitute part second and third of the programme.
